EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

16TH YEAR. NO. 270. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1901—12 PAGES. TWO CENTS

FOUGHT ABOUT A YOUNG MAN

Three Chester Girls Landed In Court After an Exciting Conflict.

EACH OF THEM WAS FINED

They Demurred But Paid When They Found They Must Do So or Go to Jail—A Noisy Hearing Before the 'Squire.

The most sensational case ever brought before a justice in Chester was disposed of in 'Squire Johnson's court late last evening. Misses Mary Cole and Ethel Campbell were arraigned on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Mrs. Viola, mother of Mary Smith. She alleged that her daughter, Mary, had been grossly abused by the said Ethel Campbell and Mary Cole.

The two girls were arrested at their boarding house near the park by Constable Allison at 7 o'clock last evening. As soon as they reached the 'squire's office one of them swore out a warrant for Miss Mary Smith on the same charge. All three of the participants in the affair were now under arrest and Mrs. Viola Smith, who preferred the first charge, was very much out of humor. An eye witness states that she laid down the law to the justice in a very emphatic manner.

The girls then started to tell their troubles all at the same time, and neither constable nor justice could persuade one to keep quiet until the other had finished. The only facts developed were that Miss Mary Smith had asserted that a certain young man would keep company with her, but would not do so with the Misses Cole and Campbell. They took exception to this and gave Miss Smith a severe hair-pulling and thumping.

The justice lectured the girls severely and fined each $7.60. They said they couldn't pay and he said: "Ten days in the county jail." The girls all wept bitterly, but to no avail, and after a great deal of trouble paid their fines and were released.

ATTACKED BY A COW

A Child of George Allison Saved By the Father And a Hatchet.

A vicious cow belonging to John Boulton attacked a party of children who were playing near the Second street bridge and would doubtless have seriously injured the six-year-old son of George Allison had it not been for the timely interference of Mr. Allison.

The enraged animal was in pursuit of his boy and he saw that it would catch him before he could get between them. He had a hatchet in his hand, which he threw with full force and the edge of it struck the cow in the neck, inflicting a deep wound. The cow fell to the ground and the lad escaped.

MIGHTY CURT WELCH.

HOW HE WON A GAME THAT WAS MOST DECISIVE.

Disobeyed Orders But Made His Point And Made His Club World's Champions.

Mayor Davidson is in receipt of a letter from William Blythe, of Chicago, an old resident of this city, in which he recalls an incident that was one of the many extraordinary feats performed by the old-time champion, Curt Welch.

In a Chicago paper of Wednesday Mr. Blythe has marked the following:

"When St. Louis beat Chicago in the world's series of '85 the feeling was intense, and when the same teams won in their respective leagues it was agreed to play a series of first four in seven games for the entire gate receipts, losers to pay their own expenses.

"Chicago won two out of the three first games played here. Then Anson's men went down to St. Louis, where the Browns took two straight. The sixth game was thus all essential to the White Stockings. For nine innings the contest was even and the Browns went to bat in the last half of the ninth with the score 3 to 3. With one out and Bushong at bat Curt Welch got around to third, and the foxy Kelly and Tom Burns decided to catch him off the base by a quick throw.

"Kelly signaled Clarkson for a high in-shoot so as to make a better throw to third. Welch was playing way up, and Comisky on the coach lines saw the signal and warned him. But Welch was impetuous and refused the warning. Clarkson put on extra speed for the effort. The ball hit the end of Kelly's mitt and bounded about five feet away. Welch already had a big lead, and ran with a headlong dive for the plate and was safe. That passed ball decided the world's championship and the ownership of more than $20,000 gate receipts, half of which went to the club and half to the players, a matter of more than $800 each."

Scarcely a week passes during the base ball season that some reference is not made to Curt Welch, and the fact that Mr. Blythe took the trouble to forward the story, indicates that he has not forgotten East Liverpool and the days when she had the proud distinction of contributing to the national game the greatest base ball player who ever donned a uniform.

PROBATE MATTERS.

Executors And Administrators Named By Court.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—The will of the late Eliza T. Atchison, of Unity township, was admitted to probate this morning and Thomas and James A. Atchison are named as executors.

Frank H. Menough, late of Wellsville, left no will, and Mary A. Menough today qualified as administrator with $6,000 bond. H. B. Nicholson, J. C. Catlett and W. C. Morrow will make the appraisement.

John Close, as guardian of Ernest Hunter et al, was given an order of private sale for an 80-acre tract of land in Washington township.

OHIO WILL BE A MIGHTY SHIP

The New Battleship Will Be a Great Addition to Uncle Sam's Navy.

SISTER OF THE ILL-FATED MAINE

She Will Cost Almost $3,000,000 for Hull And Machinery—Her Complement Will Be 35 Officers And 511 Men—A Description of the Vessel.

Washington, April 26.—Another powerful addition to the navy will be the battleship Ohio, the launching of which President McKinley and cabinet are to witness, and she is expected to join the squadron of Rear Admiral Casey before the close of the present year.

A sister ship of the Maine, building at Cramps', and of the Missouri, building at Newport News, the Ohio will represent the most advanced stage of naval development and will have no equal afloat as a gun platform. Her battery will be a marvel of power, and, while her guns will not be mounted in superposed turrets, she will have most effective broadsides.

The occasion will be the first where any distinguished persons of the government have witnessed launches on the Pacific, and the Ohio will be the first warship the president has seen launched.

The Ohio is 388 feet long and 72 feet extreme beam and on a draft of 23 feet 6 inches displaces 12,230 tons.

The hull is protected abreast of the boilers and engines by a side armor belt extending 3 feet 6 inches above the loadwater line and 4 feet below it, having a thickness of 11 inches for a depth of 4 feet 6 inches, tapering to 7½ inches at the bottom of the belt, and by the casemate armor 6 inches thick, which extends from the side belt to the upper deck and is worked from the center of the forward to the center of the after barbette.

In the casemate are placed 10 of the six-inch guns. Above this, on the upper deck, four of the six-inch guns are placed, in the vicinity of which six-inch armo ris worked far enough forward and aft to afford protection to the crews of these guns.

Protection is afforded the vitals of the ship below the water line by a protective deck worked flat within the casemate and with slopes forward and aft of it. Cofferdams are built on the protective deck from the diagonal armor bulkheads to the bow and stern in the vicinity of the water line and on the berth deck for nearly the length of the vessel. All of these cofferdams are filled with cellulose.

The main battery will consist of four 12-inch guns, placed in two balanced turrets, and 16 six-inch rapid-fire guns.

The turrets are turned by electricity and the motors used for this purpose can revolve one of these through 360 degrees in one minute. The armor of both the turrets and barbettes is 12 inches thick.

Ten of the six-inch guns are within the casemate, two cthers are on the berth forward in six-inch armored sponsons and four are on the upper deck. Those in the sponsons forward and two on the upper deck can fire directly ahead and the other two on the upper deck can fire directly astern, in addition to having a broadside fire.

The secondary battery consists of six three-inch rapid-fire guns, eight six-pound rapid-fires, six one-pound rapid-fires, two Colts and two three-inch rapid-fire field guns.

A new feature introduced in the offensive power of this Ohio is the submerged torpedo tube. While they are not new abroad, German warships having been equipped with them for a number of years, the Ohio class is the first of our navy to be supplied with them. Prior to her construction many

Continued on Fifth Page.

BOY THIEF CAUGHT

ACCUSED OF STEALING BRASS RINGS FROM A POTTERY.

Junk Dealer Arrested for Receiving the Goods—Hearing This Evening.

Thomas McGuire, a 15-year-old lad, was arrested by Chief Thompson this morning on a charge of petit larceny.

Last Saturday five dozen brass cup mold rings were stolen from the C. C. Thompson pottery. The theft was reported to Chief Thompson on Monday and he immediately started to work upon the case. Today he landed the culprit.

Officer Dawson found 22 of the rings under the platform of the freight station on Monday and they have bten stored in the mayor's office ever since. The remaining 37 were located by Chief Thompson at the junk shop kept by Wesley Roberts at the foot of Broadway, and they also were deposited at city hall.

The chief concluded he had sufficient evidence to convict young McGuire and this morning arrested him. The boy will be given a hearing this evening.

A charge was also filed against Roberts for receiving stolen property, and Thompson arrested him this morning. The law is very strict on the regulation of junk dealers. The authorities have been greatly annoyed from time to time by reason of the junk men's alleged indifference as to the stuff they buy, and an attempt will be made in this case to make a lasting impression.

GRAND JURY CASES

Three More From East Liverpool to be Acted on, Making 73 for a Year.

The local police department now have three cases pending on which the grand jury will take action at the next setting. This makes a total of 73 sent over during the year.

Of the 70 that have already been passed upon 59 convictions have been secured. It is doubtful if any magistrate who ever occupied the position of mayor has had a record that will compare with it. Mayor Davidson and Chief Thompson are receiving credit for the caution and good judgment exercised in the conduct of criminal cases.

The prisoners now in the county jail awaiting the action of the grand jury are Dave Brown, Sam Dawson and Drexel Lowrey. It is more than probable that indictments will be found against all.

MRS. BARNES' COMPLAINT

Says She Is Not Allowed to Talk to the Child Frances Hewitt. Hearing Tuesday.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—The habeas corpus proceedings instituted in probate court today by John Barnes and wife, of East Liverpool, against Emma Vincent, has been set for a hearing next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The proceedings are brought to recover possession of Frances Hewitt, aged 11, adopted by Barnes and wife. The application states that Mrs. Vincent has taken possession of the child, confining her in her home in East Liverpool, and refuses to allow her to talk with the Barnes family. The girl was brought here this morning and is in charge of Sheriff Noragon.

HOW TO GET ON IN BUSINESS

Lecture to Young Men on the Subject by Charles T. Hard.

CHANCES FOR YOUTH GOOD

But the Man Who Would Succeed Must Be Earnest, Active and Honest—No Room for Triflers—Must Not Wait But Work.

The first of the free lectures to young people at the Second M. E. church in the East End was delivered last evening to a large and interested audience. The speaker was Charles T. Hard, of this city, and his theme, "The Young Man in Business," was handled by one fully familiar with the subject. Mr. Hard said in part:

"Perhaps you will say 'I am not in business, so this subject will not interest me.' But you are in business. Being in business is the state of being actively employed, and I don't think I'm talking to any one who is not employed at something, be it in factory or store, or office, or on the farm.

"So, as we are in business in spite of ourselves, let us see how to get to the top. In the first place it doesn't want blotches. It won't take any foolishness form any one. Life is real, life is earnest, is the unspoken sentiment of every successful business man and enterprise. The world is too full of clean-cut, earnest, thorough young men to waste any time on the happy-go-lucky careless youth, who either thinks life was made for him to have a good time in or who spends his time kicking because he is not lucky.

"You must be earnest, enthusiastic and ambitious. You must want to do something and be something. Unless you want to climb a tree no amount of boosting will put you up there. Then when you have decided what you want to do, you must have confidence enough in yourself to believe you can do it."

The speaker next dwelt on the importance of doing well whatever task one has to do. Another trait to be cultivated is speed, but thoroughness should never be sacrificed for it. If you cannot be both, be thorough first. Sir Benjamin West became the best painter of his day. His rule was: "First, I make every picture my best; second, I try to work a little faster every day."

Instead of there being no chance for a young man now, there are ten chances where there was one for his grandfather. To catch a chance one must be up with the times—up-to-date.

"Man made machinery and invented telegraphs and harnessed electricity. They are his servants, and servants cannot be greater than the master, unless the master wills it. So if you want one of these chances, take it. Don't ask for it, take it. Compel the world to recognize you. The world won't pay much attention to you unless you make it do so. Great brains are needed to guide the tremendous enterprises of the times, and the people who are risking the money are will-

(Continued on Fifth Page.)

BRIGHT WELLSVILLE LAD FALLS AND IS DROWNED.

Houston Kelly, son of Elmer S. Kelly, the well known newsdealer and stationer of Wellsville, was drowned this morning about 11 o'clock. He was a bright little lad, 6 years of age, and a general favorite with all who knew him.

Houston lost his knife this morning and felt very badly about it. He was crying over his loss when Fred McFall, about 10 years of age, came along. Fred had a basket and was going to carry dinner to some of the men at the rolling mill. Houston asked to go along and Fred, thinking it would divert the child's mind, consented. They proceeded along the railroad track. The little fellow was still grieving and appeared very much downcast. As they were crossing the railroad bridge over Little Yellow creek the McFall boy, noting that his companion was walking on the outer edge of the bridge and looking down, cautioned him to walk in the middle of the track, as he might stumble and fall.

Scarcely had he spoken when the Kelly boy struck his foot against the guard rail and in an instant had fallen into the water. Young McFall at once gave the alarm. He said Houston did not rise after he struck the water. Apparently his body was drawn under by the current and carried away. Half a dozen skiffs were soon out with men searching for the tiny corpse. The accident occurred at 11 o'clock this morning, but up to 2 the body had not been recovered.

ALL THE PRELIMINARIES HAVE BEEN ARRANGED.

The conference committees who have in hand the task of dealing with the controversy between the operative potters of the west and the manufacturers, met in the Potters' club last night. The session was a brief one, and the time was spent for the most part in arranging the preliminaries for a meeting to be held next Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

A full representation was present from both sides of the question, and each of the several requests made by the operatives was briefly outlined by the committee representing the Brotherhood in order that a start might be made in the matter of discussing the issues later on. The session lasted less than an hour, and while there was nothing accomplished that will affect the final decision, it is gratifying to many hundreds of potters here and elsewhere to know that a start has been made. The feeling throughout the meeting was most cordial and there is every reason for the belief that it will continue.

EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

16TH YEAR. NO. 270. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1901—12 PAGES. TWO CENTS

FOUGHT ABOUT A YOUNG MAN

Three Chester Girls Landed In Court After an Exciting Conflict.

EACH OF THEM WAS FINED

They Demurred But Paid When They Found They Must Do So or Go to Jail—A Noisy Hearing Before the 'Squire.

The most sensational case ever brought before a justice in Chester was disposed of in 'Squire Johnson's court late last evening. Misses Mary Cole and Ethel Campbell were arraigned on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Mrs. Viola, mother of Mary Smith. She alleged that her daughter, Mary, had been grossly abused by the said Ethel Campbell and Mary Cole.

The two girls were arrested at their boarding house near the park by Constable Allison at 7 o'clock last evening. As soon as they reached the 'squire's office one of them swore out a warrant for Miss Mary Smith on the same charge. All three of the participants in the affair were now under arrest and Mrs. Viola Smith, who preferred the first charge, was very much out of humor. An eye witness states that she laid down the law to the justice in a very emphatic manner.

The girls then started to tell their troubles all at the same time, and neither constable nor justice could persuade one to keep quiet until the other had finished. The only facts developed were that Miss Mary Smith had asserted that a certain young man would keep company with her, but would not do so with the Misses Cole and Campbell. They took exception to this and gave Miss Smith a severe hair-pulling and thumping.

The justice lectured the girls severely and fined each $7.60. They said they couldn't pay and he said: "Ten days in the county jail." The girls all wept bitterly, but to no avail, and after a great deal of trouble paid their fines and were released.

ATTACKED BY A COW

A Child of George Allison Saved By the Father And a Hatchet.

A vicious cow belonging to John Boulton attacked a party of children who were playing near the Second street bridge and would doubtless have seriously injured the six-year-old son of George Allison had it not been for the timely interference of Mr. Allison.

The enraged animal was in pursuit of his boy and he saw that it would catch him before he could get between them. He had a hatchet in his hand, which he threw with full force and the edge of it struck the cow in the neck, inflicting a deep wound. The cow fell to the ground and the lad escaped.

MIGHTY CURT WELCH.

HOW HE WON A GAME THAT WAS MOST DECISIVE.

Disobeyed Orders But Made His Point And Made His Club World's Champions.

Mayor Davidson is in receipt of a letter from William Blythe, of Chicago, an old resident of this city, in which he recalls an incident that was one of the many extraordinary feats performed by the old-time champion, Curt Welch.

In a Chicago paper of Wednesday Mr. Blythe has marked the following:

"When St. Louis beat Chicago in the world's series of '85 the feeling was intense, and when the same teams won in their respective leagues it was agreed to play a series of first four in seven games for the entire gate receipts, losers to pay their own expenses.

"Chicago won two out of the three first games played here. Then Anson's men went down to St. Louis, where the Browns took two straight. The sixth game was thus all essential to the White Stockings. For nine innings the contest was even and the Browns went to bat in the last half of the ninth with the score 3 to 3. With one out and Bushong at bat Curt Welch got around to third, and the foxy Kelly and Tom Burns decided to catch him off the base by a quick throw.

"Kelly signaled Clarkson for a high in-shoot so as to make a better throw to third. Welch was playing way up, and Comisky on the coach lines saw the signal and warned him. But Welch was impetuous and refused the warning. Clarkson put on extra speed for the effort. The ball hit the end of Kelly's mitt and bounded about five feet away. Welch already had a big lead, and ran with a headlong dive for the plate and was safe. That passed ball decided the world's championship and the ownership of more than $20,000 gate receipts, half of which went to the club and half to the players, a matter of more than $800 each."

Scarcely a week passes during the base ball season that some reference is not made to Curt Welch, and the fact that Mr. Blythe took the trouble to forward the story, indicates that he has not forgotten East Liverpool and the days when she had the proud distinction of contributing to the national game the greatest base ball player who ever donned a uniform.

PROBATE MATTERS.

Executors And Administrators Named By Court.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—The will of the late Eliza T. Atchison, of Unity township, was admitted to probate this morning and Thomas and James A. Atchison are named as executors.

Frank H. Menough, late of Wellsville, left no will, and Mary A. Menough today qualified as administrator with $6,000 bond. H. B. Nicholson, J. C. Catlett and W. C. Morrow will make the appraisement.

John Close, as guardian of Ernest Hunter et al, was given an order of private sale for an 80-acre tract of land in Washington township.

OHIO WILL BE A MIGHTY SHIP

The New Battleship Will Be a Great Addition to Uncle Sam's Navy.

SISTER OF THE ILL-FATED MAINE

She Will Cost Almost $3,000,000 for Hull And Machinery—Her Complement Will Be 35 Officers And 511 Men—A Description of the Vessel.

Washington, April 26.—Another powerful addition to the navy will be the battleship Ohio, the launching of which President McKinley and cabinet are to witness, and she is expected to join the squadron of Rear Admiral Casey before the close of the present year.

A sister ship of the Maine, building at Cramps', and of the Missouri, building at Newport News, the Ohio will represent the most advanced stage of naval development and will have no equal afloat as a gun platform. Her battery will be a marvel of power, and, while her guns will not be mounted in superposed turrets, she will have most effective broadsides.

The occasion will be the first where any distinguished persons of the government have witnessed launches on the Pacific, and the Ohio will be the first warship the president has seen launched.

The Ohio is 388 feet long and 72 feet extreme beam and on a draft of 23 feet 6 inches displaces 12,230 tons.

The hull is protected abreast of the boilers and engines by a side armor belt extending 3 feet 6 inches above the loadwater line and 4 feet below it, having a thickness of 11 inches for a depth of 4 feet 6 inches, tapering to 7½ inches at the bottom of the belt, and by the casemate armor 6 inches thick, which extends from the side belt to the upper deck and is worked from the center of the forward to the center of the after barbette.

In the casemate are placed 10 of the six-inch guns. Above this, on the upper deck, four of the six-inch guns are placed, in the vicinity of which six-inch armo ris worked far enough forward and aft to afford protection to the crews of these guns.

Protection is afforded the vitals of the ship below the water line by a protective deck worked flat within the casemate and with slopes forward and aft of it. Cofferdams are built on the protective deck from the diagonal armor bulkheads to the bow and stern in the vicinity of the water line and on the berth deck for nearly the length of the vessel. All of these cofferdams are filled with cellulose.

The main battery will consist of four 12-inch guns, placed in two balanced turrets, and 16 six-inch rapid-fire guns.

The turrets are turned by electricity and the motors used for this purpose can revolve one of these through 360 degrees in one minute. The armor of both the turrets and barbettes is 12 inches thick.

Ten of the six-inch guns are within the casemate, two others are on the berth forward in six-inch armored sponsons and four are on the upper deck. Those in the sponsons forward and two on the upper deck can fire directly ahead and the other two on the upper deck can fire directly astern, in addition to having a broadside fire.

The secondary battery consists of six three-inch rapid-fire guns, eight six-pound rapid-fires, six one-pound rapid-fires, two Colts and two three-inch rapid-fire field guns.

A new feature introduced in the offensive power of this Ohio is the submerged torpedo tube. While they are not new abroad, German warships having been equipped with them for a number of years, the Ohio class is the first of our navy to be supplied with them. Prior to her construction many

Continued on Fifth Page.

BOY THIEF CAUGHT

ACCUSED OF STEALING BRASS RINGS FROM A POTTERY.

Junk Dealer Arrested for Receiving the Goods—Hearing This Evening.

Thomas McGuire, a 15-year-old lad, was arrested by Chief Thompson this morning on a charge of petit larceny.

Last Saturday five dozen brass cup mold rings were stolen from the C. C. Thompson pottery. The theft was reported to Chief Thompson on Monday and he immediately started to work upon the case. Today he landed the culprit.

Officer Dawson found 22 of the rings under the platform of the freight station on Monday and they have bten stored in the mayor's office ever since. The remaining 37 were located by Chief Thompson at the junk shop kept by Wesley Roberts at the foot of Broadway, and they also were deposited at city hall.

The chief concluded he had sufficient evidence to convict young McGuire and this morning arrested him. The boy will be given a hearing this evening.

A charge was also filed against Roberts for receiving stolen property, and Thompson arrested him this morning. The law is very strict on the regulation of junk dealers. The authorities have been greatly annoyed from time to time by reason of the junk men's alleged indifference as to the stuff they buy, and an attempt will be made in this case to make a lasting impression.

GRAND JURY CASES

Three More From East Liverpool to be Acted on, Making 73 for a Year.

The local police department now have three cases pending on which the grand jury will take action at the next setting. This makes a total of 73 sent over during the year.

Of the 70 that have already been passed upon 59 convictions have been secured. It is doubtful if any magistrate who ever occupied the position of mayor has had a record that will compare with it. Mayor Davidson and Chief Thompson are receiving credit for the caution and good judgment exercised in the conduct of criminal cases.

The prisoners now in the county jail awaiting the action of the grand jury are Dave Brown, Sam Dawson and Drexel Lowrey. It is more than probable that indictments will be found against all.

MRS. BARNES' COMPLAINT

Says She Is Not Allowed to Talk to the Child Frances Hewitt. Hearing Tuesday.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—The habeas corpus proceedings instituted in probate court today by John Barnes and wife, of East Liverpool, against Emma Vincent, has been set for a hearing next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The proceedings are brought to recover possession of Frances Hewitt, aged 11, adopted by Barnes and wife. The application states that Mrs. Vincent has taken possession of the child, confining her in her home in East Liverpool, and refuses to allow her to talk with the Barnes family. The girl was brought here this morning and is in charge of Sheriff Noragon.

HOW TO GET ON IN BUSINESS

Lecture to Young Men on the Subject by Charles T. Hard.

CHANCES FOR YOUTH GOOD

But the Man Who Would Succeed Must Be Earnest, Active and Honest—No Room for Triflers—Must Not Wait But Work.

The first of the free lectures to young people at the Second M. E. church in the East End was delivered last evening to a large and interested audience. The speaker was Charles T. Hard, of this city, and his theme, "The Young Man in Business," was handled by one fully familiar with the subject. Mr. Hard said in part:

"Perhaps you will say 'I am not in business, so this subject will not interest me.' But you are in business. Being in business is the state of being actively employed, and I don't think I'm talking to any one who is not employed at something, be it in factory or store, or office, or on the farm.

"So, as we are in business in spite of ourselves, let us see how to get to the top. In the first place it doesn't want blotches. It won't take any foolishness form any one. Life is real, life is earnest, is the unspoken sentiment of every successful business man and enterprise. The world is too full of clean-cut, earnest, thorough young men to waste any time on the happy-go-lucky careless youth, who either thinks life was made for him to have a good time in or who spends his time kicking because he is not lucky.

"You must be earnest, enthusiastic and ambitious. You must want to do something and be something. Unless you want to climb a tree no amount of boosting will put you up there. Then when you have decided what you want to do, you must have confidence enough in yourself to believe you can do it."

The speaker next dwelt on the importance of doing well whatever task one has to do. Another trait to be cultivated is speed, but thoroughness should never be sacrificed for it. If you cannot be both, be thorough first. Sir Benjamin West became the best painter of his day. His rule was: "First, I make every picture my best; second, I try to work a little faster every day."

Instead of there being no chance for a young man now, there are ten chances where there was one for his grandfather. To catch a chance one must be up with the times—up-to-date.

"Man made machinery and invented telegraphs and harnessed electricity. They are his servants, and servants cannot be greater than the master, unless the master wills it. So if you want one of these chances, take it. Don't ask for it, take it. Compel the world to recognize you. The world won't pay much attention to you unless you make it do so. Great brains are needed to guide the tremendous enterprises of the times, and the people who are risking the money are will-

(Continued on Fifth Page.)

BRIGHT WELLSVILLE LAD FALLS AND IS DROWNED.

Houston Kelly, son of Elmer S. Kelly, the well known newsdealer and stationer of Wellsville, was drowned this morning about 11 o'clock. He was a bright little lad, 6 years of age, and a general favorite with all who knew him.

Houston lost his knife this morning and felt very badly about it. He was crying over his loss when Fred McFall, about 10 years of age, came along. Fred had a basket and was going to carry dinner to some of the men at the rolling mill. Houston asked to go along and Fred, thinking it would divert the child's mind, consented. They proceeded along the railroad track. The little fellow was still grieving and appeared very much downcast. As they were crossing the railroad bridge over Little Yellow creek the McFall boy, noting that his companion was walking on the outer edge of the bridge and looking down, cautioned him to walk in the middle of the track, as he might stumble and fall.

Scarcely had he spoken when the Kelly boy struck his foot against the guard rail and in an instant had fallen into the water. Young McFall at once gave the alarm. He said Houston did not rise after he struck the water. Apparently his body was drawn under by the current and carried away. Half a dozen skiffs were soon out with men searching for the tiny corpse. The accident occurred at 11 o'clock this morning, but up to 2 the body had not been recovered.

ALL THE PRELIMINARIES HAVE BEEN ARRANGED.

The conference committees who have in hand the task of dealing with the controversy between the operative potters of the west and the manufacturers, met in the Potters' club last night. The session was a brief one, and the time was spent for the most part in arranging the preliminaries for a meeting to be held next Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

A full representation was present from both sides of the question, and each of the several requests made by the operatives was briefly outlined by the committee representing the Brotherhood in order that a start might be made in the matter of discussing the issues later on. The session lasted less than an hour, and while there was nothing accomplished that will affect the final decision, it is gratifying to many hundreds of potters here and elsewhere to know that a start has been made. The feeling throughout the meeting was most cordial and there is every reason for the belief that it will continue.

SHOES at WHOLESALE PRICES at GASS' We have some Big Bargains in SHOES. Too many styles to itemize, but they are all good, honest goods, and late styles in ladies' and gents'.

No. 1—Lot of Ladies' and Gents' Vici stock and st. Calf Lace, worth $1.25, go at..... 98c

No. 2—Lot Ladies' and Gents' Vici Lace, also st. Calf Lace, worth $2, go at $1.50

YOU CAN GET THESE AT OUR STORE ONLY.

W. H. GASS — 220 Diamond — W. H. GASS

EAST END.

NO WORD FROM THEM

The Two East End Boys And a Borrowed Boat Are Still Missing.

No word has been received in the East End of the whereabouts of John Patterson and Sam Cochran, who disappeared with Fred Riley's skiff Tuesday morning.

The rumor was circulated last night that the boys had been apprehended by the officers in Wheeling, but the officers here had heard nothing from that city. John Patterson has three brothers and one sister who reside here, but they know nothing of his whereabouts or the cause that prompted him to leave so suddenly.

TOOK CHANCES AND MISSED.

East End People Not Lucky in Lottery Business.

A number of employes at the National plant are looking in vain for the return of a smooth young lady, who, they say, sold 130 chances on an organ a few days ago and then concluded to keep the organ. They claim that they bought the chances and that the organ was to be turned over to the lucky man yesterday.

The lady failed to appear at the proper time and inquiry elicited the fact that she had left the city and taken her organ and other effects with her, so they say.

Decided in His Favor.

Henry Chambers has received a telephone message from Lisbon stating that his suit against the city of East Liverpool was decided in his favor. The action was brought to permanently enjoin the city from collecting an extra assessment for the paving of Pennsylvania avenue.

House Was Crowded.

At the Second U. P. church last night it was necessary to use the Sunday school room in addition to the church auditorium to accommodate the large audience in attendance.

EAST END BREVITIES.

The Dixonville base ball team will play at Georgetown tomorrow.

W. A. Orin is suffering from an attack of neuralgia of the heart.

Al Crider has purchased the draught horse "Jim Crow" from Joseph Anderson.

William Campbell, a kilnhand at the National plant, is very ill at his home in Smith's Ferry.

Mrs. Ed Riley, who was injured by a fall Tuesday evening, is somewhat improbed, but is unable to be out.

The first bear show of the season occurred in the East End this morning. Two Italians entertained the boys by making a large brown bear perform.

Business is so brisk at the National plant that it may be necessary to put on a night force to fill the orders which are more numerous now than at any time since this pottery was built.

Everything Good to Eat.

Strawberries, tomatoes, asparagus, cucumbers, green beans, parsley, water cress, lettuce, rhubarb and onions, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

We have many styles of hats shown in the windows, but if you don't see what you want step inside and ask for it. 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Cruikshank's Strawberry Preservene, best in the market. Geon Bros. 270-h

A novelty in ladies' fine cloth top shoes, fetching style, $3.00. Frank, Shumaker & Co. 270-h

Full line of Trimmed Hats at Perry's, 202 Market street. 270-i

Country butter, eggs, cabbage, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

WEST END MATTERS.

Small Boys in Danger of Arrest for Annoying Pedestrians—Personal Notes.

John Owens is ill at his home on Jethro street.

Benjamin Jones, of Pleasant Heights is ill with the grip.

Alfred Cartwright was in Salineville on business yesterday.

William Barton, Sr., of Lisbon road, is confined to his home with grip.

The West End Athletics baseball club will open the season at Irondale Saturday. Captain Hester will have charge of the team.

Edward Palmer, of Pleasant Heights is suffering from a very sore foot, the result of a slight accident in which a sagger fell upon the member.

Mrs. Sarah Day, of Lisbon street, who has been ill with consumption for some time, is worse. It is stated that she can live but a few days.

A number of West End ladies will be entertained at the home of Miss Mary Earle, of Fourth street, tonight, the occasion being Miss Earle's nineteenth birthday.

The residents of Jethro are growing very weary of the "fun" of a number of small boys who, they claim, assemble nightly on the bridge across Jethro hollow and amuse themselves by throwing dirt and stones at people who pass near in the hollow below. Last night about twenty lads gathered here and passed the time at throwing mud balls at the people who happened to pass. Several ladies were among those annoyed. It is stated that an older boy who tried to stop the trouble was "mud pelted" all the way back to his home. A resident stated today that the police would be informed of the nuisance, and the boys would probably be placed under arrest unless the practice was stopped at once.

AT THE NORTH END.

Personal Items And Other Matters of Interest—A Very Painful Accident.

Miss Emma Bennett is confined to her home on Avondale street by illness.

Mrs. George Barnish has returned to her home on Prospect street after a visit with friends at Sebring.

Miss Vallie Powell, who has been very ill at her home on Avondale street for the past week, is able to sit up.

Mrs. James Jones, who has been very ill at her home on Avondale street for several weeks with an attack of typhoid fever, is again able to be out.

W. C. Todd, of McKinnon avenue, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon. He was working at the new residence of R. McKinnon on Calcutta road when he stepped on a rusty nail, which penetrated the right foot for almost two inches. The foot was very sore today and although able to get around he will not be able to return to work for several days.

Our Dress Negligee Shirts are the wonder and admiration of every man, young or old, who has been fortunate enough to see these prices, 50c to $3.
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.
270-i

MILLER RECOVERING.

The Man Shot by Curtis Staub Last Week, is Likely to Get Well.

Minerva, O., April 26.—(Special)—Andrew Miller, the aged farmer who was shot last week by Curtis Staub, is steadily improving, and it is thought he will recover.

Sciatic Rheumatism Cured After Fourteen Years of Suffering.

"I have been afflicted with sciatic rheumatism for fourteen years," says Josh Edgar, of Germantown, Cal. "I was able to be around, but constantly suffered. I tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Palm, which I did and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured, and I am happy to say it has not since returned." Why not use this liniment and get well? It is for sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

Just received, a nice lot of French patterns for Saturday and Monday. New flowers from 10 cents to $3.50 per bunch. Hats made of the best material at all prices, at
L. S. WILSON CO.
270-i 138 Sixth street.

Our Business Blouse and our Sailor Blouse Suits are the cutest things in the market, we have the blue sailor caps to match, at 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Hassey's Saturday Sale.

Fine mixed Bon Bons and Chocolates, 15c a pound at Hassey's. 270-h

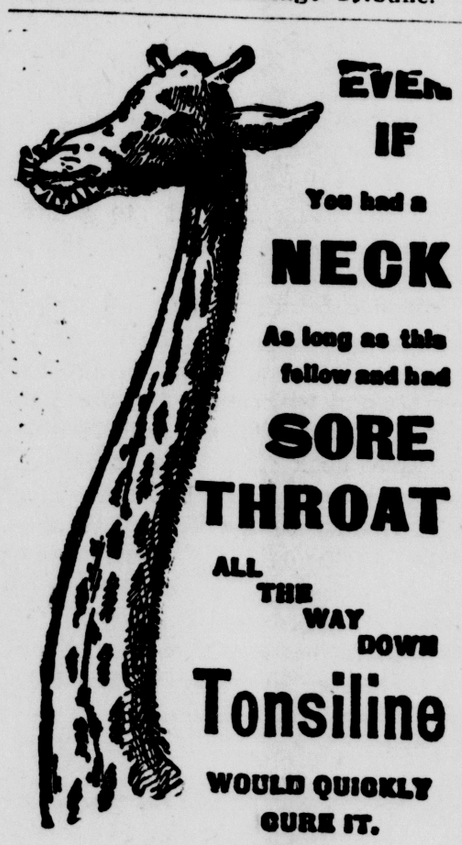
See our window display of fine shoes. FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Forever Settled.

She—I tell you the moral superiority of woman is recognized in the language itself. There isn't any feminine for "rascals," is there?

He—Of course not, but that's because—

She—That's because there are no feminine rascals!—Chicago Tribune.



WANTS $300,000,000.

Amount of Indemnity Conger Said China Should Pay—Arrived In 'Frisco With Family.

San Francisco, April 26.—Edwin H. Conger, United States minister to China, accompanied by his wife, daughter and Miss Pierce, arrived from China Thursday afternoon on the steamer Nippon Maru. He did not reach his hotel until about 5 o'clock last evening. When asked if he cared to make any expression as to the talked-of gubernatorial nomination in Iowa, he said:

"I do not care to make any public declaration at this time. I have not yet had time to read the correspondence which has met me here. So far as I am at present advised, I see no reason to change my position, as expressed about two months ago, before I left China. I received two telegrams from the United States. One asked me if I were a candidate for governor. I answered: 'I am not.' The other telegram asked if I would accept the nomination if tendered me. I replied that I would accept if the nomination came to me, but that I was in no sense a candidate. I do not care to, nor will I say anything further in the matter until I reach Des Moines. I do not know what the situation in Iowa is, and do not care to say anything definite until I am fully advised. My present intention and desire is to return to China and finish my work."

Mr. Conger was particularly anxious to know what had been done by the powers in the matter of indemnity. He was asked for his opinion as to the amount of indemnity China could pay. "Three hundred million dollars," he replied, accompanying his answer by the statement that it would be necessary for the government to practice economy. The time of payment, too, should extend over a long term of years.

Concerning events in China, Mr. Conger said that there was nothing new to be said in that direction, as everything that happened had been told fully, together with many things that never occurred. Tales of brutality had, he thought, been exaggerated. Of course, there were cases of outrage by individual soldiers that were not sanctioned by officers. These were but incidents of war, which found some palliation in the fact that the Chinese had killed 40,000 native Christians and 100 Europeans.

THOMAS HAYES HUNG.

He Murdered William Lowden, Near Dunbar, Pa.

Uniontown, Pa., April 26.—Thomas Hayes was hanged here for the murder of William Lowden. He walked to the scaffold unflinchingly. He was pronounced dead in about 10 minutes and was cut down shortly after. He had nothing whatever to say. He refused religious consolation of any kind and met death phlegmatically.

The execution was witnessed by only about 50 persons, in accordance with the expressed wishes of Mrs. Hayes. Deputy Sheriff William German, of Allegheny county, assisted Sheriff McCormick in the preliminary arrangements for the execution.

Hayes apparently was not one bit daunted by the fact that he was facing death, and when on the scaffold was inclined to joke. He said to Deputy German, of Pittsburg: "Sheriff, if there is any message you want to send to the other side, tell me and I'll take it. Or if there is anything I can do for you across the way, just say so and I will do it."

Hayes was hanged for the murder of William Lowden, at Hill Farm mine, near Dunbar, on July 4, 1899. Hayes maintained that he had no intention of killing Lowden, but was preparing to fire a Fourth of July salute when his gun was accidentaly discharged. Several witnesses testified that Hayes complained that Lowden had abused him and called him a coward, and that he had said that he was satisfied that Lowden was done for. The plea of the defense was insanity and lack of motive.

Seven dates had been fixed for hanging Hayes. Governor Stone first set June 12, 1900. Pending failure of the pardon board to take final action the subsequent dates fixed were July 12, August 14, November 20, 1900; January 22 and April 25, 1901.

THE MARKETS.

Pittsburg, April 25.

WHEAT—No. 2 red, 72@73c.

CORN—No. 2 yellow shelled, 49@50c; No. 2 yellow ear, 51@52c.

OATS—No. 2 white, 32¼@32¾c; extra No. 3 white, 31¾@32c; regular No. 3, 31@31½c.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $15.50@15.75; No. 2, $14.75@15.00; No. 1 mixed hay, $13.50@14.00; No. 1 clover hay, $13.00@13.25; No. 1 prairie hay, $11.50@12.00.

BUTTER—Elgin prints, 23@23½c; tubery, 22½@23c; Ohio and Pennsylvania creamery, 20@20½c; dairy butter, 17@18c; country roll, 13@14c; cooking butter, 12@13c.

EGGS—Fresh at mark, 13½@14c; fresh candled, 14½@15c.

CHEESE—Ohio, three-fourths cream, 10½@10¾c; full cream, Ohio, 11¾@12c; New York state brand, 12@12½c; Limberger, new, 13½@14c; Wisconsin block Swiss, 15@15½c; Wisconsin ring Swiss, 14@15c; brick, five-pound average, 14@14¼c.

POULTRY—Live—Springers, 10½@11c; hens, 10½@11c; roosters, 5@6c; turkeys, 11@11½c; ducks, 10@11c; geese, $1.00@1.50 per pair. Dressed—Springers, 14@15c; turkeys, 15@16c; ducks, 15@16c; geese, 11@12c per pound.

Pittsburg, April 25.

CATTLE — Receipts light; market steady. We quote: Extra heavy, $5.00@5.75; prime, $5.25@5.50;; good, $5.00@5.20; heifers, $3.00@4.50; common to good fresh cows, $25.00@50.00; springers and common cows, $25.00@35.00.

HOGS—Receipts fair; 10 double decks; demand only fair; market slow at a decline of 5 cents. We quote: Best medium and heavy Yorkers, $6.15; light Yorkers, $6.05@6.10; heavy hogs, $6.10@6.15; pigs, $5.90@6.00; roughs, $4.00@5.00.

SHEEP AND LAMBS—Receipts 6 loads; market slow. We quote: Best wethers, $4.50@4.60; good, $4.25@4.60; mixed, $3.75@4.15; common, $2.00@3.50; choice lambs, $5.25@5.35; common to good lambs, $4.00@5.20; veal calves, $5.00@6.00; heavy and thin, $3.50@4.00; spring lambs, $5.00@9.00

New York, April 25.

WHEAT—Spot market firm; No. 2 red, 83¼c f. o. b. afloat; No. 2 red, 80⅝c in elevator; No. 1 Northern Duluth, 88½c f. o. b. afloat; No. 1 hard Duluth, 92c f. o. b. afloat.

CORN—Spot market strong; No. 2, 53c in elevator and 52½c f. o. b. afloat.

OATS—Spot market firmer; No. 2, 31½c; No. 3, 31c; No. 2 white, 33¼@33½c; No. 3 white, 32¾c; track mixed western, 31@32½c; track white, 32@36½c.

CATTLE—Nearly all consigned direct; nothing doing; feeling steady.

SHEEP AND LAMBS—Market for sheep nominal; lambs steady to firm; wooled lambs, $6.25@6.40; clipped do, $5.00@5.75; spring lambs, $5.50@5.50.

HOGS—Feeling weak; quotations, $6.15@6.40.

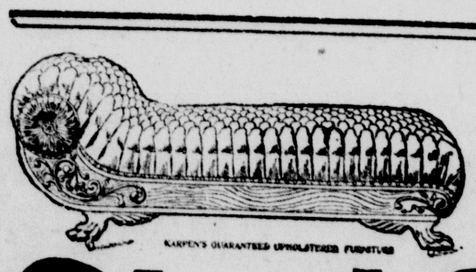
'Phone, your order for groceries to Ferguson. He has everything good to eat. 270-h

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50 Gloves $1.00
$1.25 " .79
$1.00 " .79

This week only.

THE LEADER,
Washington St.



Special Sale OF Steel Constructed Couches

The kind guaranted to stand firm and not lose its buttons.

YES, WE SELL ON PAYMENTS!
Ask Lewis Bros. About It.

KARPEN GUARANTEED COUCH

SHOES at WHOLESALE PRICES at GASS' We have some Big Bargains in SHOES. Too many styles to itemize, but they are all good, honest goods, and late styles in ladies' and gents'.

No. 1—Lot of Ladies' and Gents' Vici stock and st. Calf Lace, worth $1.25, go at..... 98c

No. 2—Lot Ladies' and Gents' Vici Lace, also st. Calf Lace, worth $2, go at $1.50

YOU CAN GET THESE AT OUR STORE ONLY.

W. H. GASS 220 Diamond W. H. GASS

EAST END.

NO WORD FROM THEM

The Two East End Boys And a Borrowed Boat Are Still Missing.

No word has been received in the East End of the whereabouts of John Patterson and Sam Cochran, who disappeared with Fred Riley's skiff Tuesday morning.

The rumor was circulated last night that the boys had been apprehended by the officers in Wheeling, but the officers here had heard nothing from that city. John Patterson has three brothers and one sister who reside here, but they know nothing of his whereabouts or the cause that prompted him to leave so suddenly.

TOOK CHANCES AND MISSED.

East End People Not Lucky in Lottery Business.

A number of employes at the National plant are looking in vain for the return of a smooth young lady, who, they say, sold 130 chances on an organ a few days ago and then concluded to keep the organ. They claim that they bought the chances and that the organ was to be turned over to the lucky man yesterday.

The lady failed to appear at the proper time and inquiry elicited the fact that she had left the city and taken her organ and other effects with her, so they say.

Decided in His Favor.

Henry Chambers has received a telephone message from Lisbon stating that his suit against the city of East Liverpool was decided in his favor. The action was brought to permanently enjoin the city from collecting an extra assessment for the paving of Pennsylvania avenue.

House Was Crowded.

At the Second U. P. church last night it was necessary to use the Sunday school room in addition to the church auditorium to accommodate the large audience in attendance.

EAST END BREVITIES.

The Dixonville base ball team will play at Georgetown tomorrow.

W. A. Orin is suffering from an attack of neuralgia of the heart.

Al Crider has purchased the draught horse "Jim Crow" from Joseph Anderson.

William Campbell, a kilnhand at the National plant, is very ill at his home in Smith's Ferry.

Mrs. Ed Riley, who was injured by a fall Tuesday evening, is somewhat improbed, but is unable to be out.

The first bear show of the season occurred in the East End this morning. Two Italians entertained the boys by making a large brown bear perform.

Business is so brisk at the National plant that it may be necessary to put on a night force to fill the orders which are more numerous now than at any time since this pottery was built.

Everything Good to Eat.

Strawberries, tomatoes, asparagus, cucumbers, green beans, parsley, water cress, lettuce, rhubarb and onions, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

We have many styles of hats shown in the windows, but if you don't see what you want step inside and ask for it. 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Cruikshank's Strawberry Preservene, best in the market. Geon Bros. 270-h

A novelty in ladies' fine cloth top shoes, fetching style, $3.00. Frank, Shumaker & Co. 270-h

Full line of Trimmed Hats at Perry's, 202 Market street. 270-i

Country butter, eggs, cabbage, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

WEST END MATTERS.

Small Boys in Danger of Arrest for Annoying Pedestrians—Personal Notes.

John Owens is ill at his home on Jethro street.

Benjamin Jones, of Pleasant Heights is ill with the grip.

Alfred Cartwright was in Salineville on business yesterday.

William Barton, Sr., of Lisbon road, is confined to his home with grip.

The West End Athletics baseball club will open the season at Irondale Saturday. Captain Hester will have charge of the team.

Edward Palmer, of Pleasant Heights is suffering from a very sore foot, the result of a slight accident in which a sagger fell upon the member.

Mrs. Sarah Day, of Lisbon street, who has been ill with consumption for some time, is worse. It is stated that she can live but a few days.

A number of West End ladies will be entertained at the home of Miss Mary Earle, of Fourth street, tonight, the occasion being Miss Earle's nineteenth birthday.

The residents of Jethro are growing very weary of the "fun" of a number of small boys who, they claim, assemble nightly on the bridge across Jethro hollow and amuse themselves by throwing dirt and stones at people who pass near in the hollow below. Last night about twenty lads gathered here and passed the time at throwing mud balls at the people who happened to pass. Several ladies were among those annoyed. It is stated that an older boy who tried to stop the trouble was "mud pelted" all the way back to his home. A resident stated today that the police would be informed of the nuisance, and the boys would probably be placed under arrest unless the practice was stopped at once.

AT THE NORTH END.

Personal Items And Other Matters of Interest—A Very Painful Accident.

Miss Emma Bennett is confined to her home on Avondale street by illness.

Mrs. George Barnish has returned to her home on Prospect street after a visit with friends at Sebring.

Miss Vallie Powell, who has been very ill at her home on Avondale street for the past week, is able to sit up.

Mrs. James Jones, who has been very ill at her home on Avondale street for several weeks with an attack of typhoid fever, is again able to be out.

W. C. Todd, of McKinnon avenue, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon. He was working at the new residence of R. McKinnon on Calcutta road when he stepped on a rusty nail, which penetrated the right foot for almost two inches. The foot was very sore today and although able to get around he will not be able to return to work for several days.

Our Dress Negligee Shirts are the wonder and admiration of every man, young or old, who has been fortunate enough to see these prices, 50c to $3.
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.
270-i

MILLER RECOVERING.

The Man Shot by Curtis Staub Last Week, is Likely to Get Well.

Minerva, O., April 26.—(Special)—Andrew Miller, the aged farmer who was shot last week by Curtis Staub, is steadily improving, and it is thought he will recover.

Sciatic Rheumatism Cured After Fourteen Years of Suffering.

"I have been afflicted with sciatic rheumatism for fourteen years," says Josh Edgar, of Germantown, Cal. "I was able to be around, but constantly suffered. I tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Palm, which I did and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured, and I am happy to say it has not since returned." Why not use this liniment and get well? It is for sale by Alvin H. Bulger, drug gist.

Just received, a nice lot of French patterns for Saturday and Monday. New flowers from 10 cents to $3.50 per bunch. Hats made of the best material at all prices, at
L. S. WILSON CO.
270-i 138 Sixth street.

Our Business Blouse and our Sailor Blouse Suits are the cutest things in the market, we have the blue sailor caps to match, at 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Hassey's Saturday Sale.

Fine mixed Bon Bons and Chocolates, 15c a pound at Hassey's.
270-h

See our window display of fine shoes. FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO.
270-h

Forever Settled.

She—I tell you the moral superiority of woman is recognized in the language itself. There isn't any feminine for "rascals," is there?

He—Of course not, but that's because—

She—That's because there are no feminine rascals!—Chicago Tribune.

EVEN IF You had a NECK As long as this fellow and had SORE THROAT ALL THE WAY DOWN Tonsiline WOULD QUICKLY CURE IT.

25c and 50c. All Druggists.

THE TONSILINE CO. CANTON, O.

WANTS $300,000,000.

Amount of Indemnity Conger Said China Should Pay—Arrived In 'Frisco With Family.

San Francisco, April 26.—Edwin H. Conger, United States minister to China, accompanied by his wife, daughter and Miss Pierce, arrived from China Thursday afternoon on the steamer Nippon Maru. He did not reach his hotel until about 5 o'clock last evening. When asked if he cared to make any expression as to the talked-of gubernatorial nomination in Iowa, he said:

"I do not care to make any public declaration at this time. I have not yet had time to read the correspondence which has met me here. So far as I am at present advised, I see no reason to change my position, as expressed about two months ago, before I left China. I received two telegrams from the United States. One asked me if I were a candidate for governor. I answered: 'I am not.' The other telegram asked if I would accept the nomination if tendered me. I replied that I would accept if the nomination came to me, but that I was in no sense a candidate. I do not care to, nor will I say anything further in the matter until I reach Des Moines. I do not know what the situation in Iowa is, and do not care to say anything definite until I am fully advised. My present intention and desire is to return to China and finish my work."

Mr. Conger was particularly anxious to know what had been done by the powers in the matter of indemnity. He was asked for his opinion as to the amount of indemnity China could pay. "Three hundred million dollars,' he replied, accompanying his answer by the statement that it would be necessary for the government to practice economy. The time of payment, too, should extend over a long term of years.

Concerning events in China, Mr. Conger said that there was nothing new to be said in that direction, as everything that happened had been told fully, together with many things that never occurred. Tales of brutality had, he thought, been exaggerated. Of course, there were cases of outrage by individual soldiers that were not sanctioned by officers. These were but incidents of war, which found some palliation in the fact that the Chinese had killed 40,000 native Christians and 100 Europeans.

THOMAS HAYES HUNG.

He Murdered William Lowden, Near Dunbar, Pa.

Uniontown, Pa., April 26.—Thomas Hayes was hanged here for the murder of William Lowden. He walked to the scaffold unflinchingly. He was pronounced dead in about 10 minutes and was cut down shortly after. He had nothing whatever to say. He refused religious consolation of any kind and met death phlegmatically.

The execution was witnessed by only about 50 persons, in accordance with the expressed wishes of Mrs. Hayes. Deputy Sheriff William German, of Allegheny county, assisted Sheriff McCormick in the preliminary arrangements for the execution.

Hayes apparently was not one bit daunted by the fact that he was facing death, and when on the scaffold was inclined to joke. He said to Deputy German, of Pittsburg: "Sheriff, if there is any message you want to send to the other side, tell me and I'll take it. Or if there is anything I can do for you across the way, just say so and I will do it."

Hayes was hanged for the murder of William Lowden, at Hill Farm mine, near Dunbar, on July 4, 1899. Hayes maintained that he had no intention of killing Lowden, but was preparing to fire a Fourth of July salute when his gun was accidentaly discharged. Several witnesses testified that Hayes complained that Lowden had abused him and called him a coward, and that he had said that he was satisfied that Lowden was done for. The plea of the defense was insanity and lack of motive.

Seven dates had been fixed for hanging Hayes. Governor Stone first set June 12, 1900. Pending failure of the pardon board to take final action the subsequent dates fixed were July 12, August 14, November 20, 1900; January 22 and April 25, 1901.

THE MARKETS.

Pitsburg, April 25.

WHEAT—No. 2 red, 72@73c.

CORN—No. 2 yellow shelled, 49@50c; No. 2 yellow ear, 51@52c.

OATS—No. 2 white, 32¼@32¾c; extra No. 3 white, 31¾@32c; regular No. 3, 31@31½c.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $15.50@15.75; No. 2, $14.75@15.00; No. 1 mixed hay, $13.50@14.00; No. 1 clover hay, $13.00@13.25; No. 1 prairie hay, $11.50@12.00.

BUTTER—Elgin prints, 23@23½c; tubs, 22½@23c; Ohio and Pennsylvania creamery, 20@20½c; dairy butter, 17@18c; country roll, 13@14c; cooking butter, 12@13c.

EGGS—Fresh at mark, 13½@14c; fresh candled, 14½@15c.

CHEESE—Ohio, three-fourths cream, 10½@10¾c; full cream, Ohio, 11¾@12c; New York state brand, 12@12½c; Limberger, new, 13½@14c; Wisconsin block Swiss, 15@15½c; Wisconsin ring Swiss, 14@15c; brick, five-pound average, 14@14¼c.

POULTRY—Live—Springers, 10½@11c; hens, 10½@11c; roosters, 5@6c; turkeys, 11@11½c; ducks, 10@11c; geese, $1.00@1.50 per pair. Dressed—Springers, 14@15c; turkeys, 15@16c; ducks, 15@16c; geese, 11@12c per pound.

Pitsburg, April 25.

CATTLE — Receipts light; market steady. We quote: Extra heavy, $5.00@5.75; prime, $5.25@5.50;; good, $5.00@5.20; heifers, $3.00@4.50; common to good fresh cows, $25.00@50.00; springers and common cows, $25.00@35.00.

HOGS—Receipts fair; 10 double decks; demand only fair; market slow at a decline of 5 cents. We quote: Best medium and heavy Yorkers, $6.15; light Yorkers, $6.05@6.10; heavy hogs, $6.10@6.15; pigs, $5.90@6.00; roughs, $4.00@5.00.

SHEEP AND LAMBS—Receipts 6 loads; market slow. We quote: Best wethers, $4.50@4.60; good, $4.25@4.60; mixed, $3.75@4.15; common, $2.00@3.50; choice lambs, $5.25@5.35; common to good lambs, $4.00@5.20; veal calves, $5.00@6.00; heavy and thin, $3.50@4.00; spring lambs, $5.00@9.00

New York, April 25.

WHEAT—Spot market firm; No. 2 red, 83¼c f. o. b. afloat; No. 2 red, 80⅝c in elevator; No. 1 Northern Duluth, 88½c f. o. b. afloat; No. 1 hard Duluth, 92c f. o. b. afloat.

CORN—Spot market strong; No. 2, 53c in elevator and 52⅛c f. o. b. afloat.

OATS—Spot market firmer; No. 2, 31½c; No. 3, 31c; No. 2 white, 33¼@33½c; No. 3 white, 32¾c; track mixed western, 31@32½c; track white, 32@36½c.

CATTLE—Nearly all consigned direct; nothing doing; feeling steady.

SHEEP AND LAMBS—Market for sheep nominal; lambs steady to firm; wooled lambs, $6.25@6.40; clipped do, $5.00@5.75; spring lambs, $8.50@9.50.

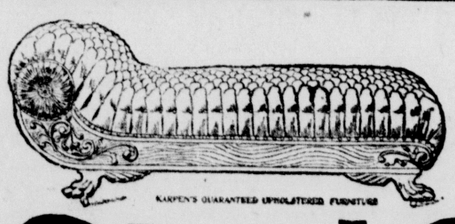
HOGS—Feeling weak; quotations, $6.15@6.40.

'Phone, your order for groceries to Ferguson. He has everything good to eat. 270-h

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50 Gloves $1.00
$1.25 " .79
$1.00 " .79
This week only.

THE LEADER, Washington St.



Special Sale OF Steel Constructed Couches

The kind guaranted to stand firm and not lose its buttons.

YES, WE SELL ON PAYMENTS!
Ask Lewis Bros. About It.

KARPEN GUARANTEED COUCH

GIRL WIFE A SUICIDE

Miss Lloyd Van Epps, of Youngstown, Takes a Dose of Carbolic Acid.

TRAGIC END TO ELOPEMENT

A Bride of About Six Weeks Killed Herself While Suffering From Melancholia—Was Only 17—Husband Yet In His Teens.

Youngstown, O., April 26.—The girl wife of 19-year-old Lloyd Van Epps committed suicide in their apartment here by swallowing carbolic acid, presumably in a fit of melancholy to which she had been subject for two years or more.

The suicide, whose maiden name was Emma Smith, and who was not yet 17 years of age, eloped from her home in this city with young Van Epps only about six weeks ago, going to Warren, where they were married. Upon their return to this city they went directly to the home of the young man's step-father, Arthur G. Young, a prominent and wealthy contractor, where they remained until they took the apartments on Elm street.

Van Epps, who has been employed as a night recorder at the Ohio Steel works, was sleeping, when he was awakened by his wife falling upon the bed, exclaiming that she had taken carbolic acid. He hastily dressed himself and summoned a physician, but when the latter arrived the suicide was breathing her last. The following note, addresed to Mrs. Van Epps' mother, was found:

"Dear Mother—I have learned what married life is. When you get this I will be dead. Emma."

Van Epps was a victim in Pittsburg on Christmas night, 1899, of an accident which almost cost him his life. While sitting in his room he was overcome by fumes from a gas stove, and, falling against it, his arm slowly roasted until his plight was discovered. He was removed to the Mercy hospital, where the member was amputated close to the shoulder, and the victim hovered between life and death for many weeks.

ELEPHANT KILLED TRAINER.

Animal Poisoned With Arsenic and Then Shot.

Peru, Ind., April 26.—Henry Huffman, a well-known animal trainer, with the Wallace shows, met a horrible death here, being killed by "Big Charley," a monster elephant, while the animal was bathing in the Mississinewa river. "Big Charley" wound his trunk about Keeper Huffman and hurled him far into the stream. The man was uninjured, and when he returned he said: "Why, Charley, I didn't think that of you; aren't you ashamed of yourself?" The next instant Huffman was grabbed by the big elephant and thrown to the bottom of the river and held there by the forefeet of the animal. Then with a roar the elephant ran away.

Several showmen shot at him with no effect. He broke down fences and roamed about in a big field, keeping everybody at a distance. Apples loaded with strychnine were thrown near him and he ate one. An hour later he laid down and was in terrible agony. A rifle shot settled him.

DR. PARKHURST'S HOT SHOT.

Moral Men Needed at Head of New York Government.

New York, April 26.—Dr. Parkhurst, with a large party, including John D. Rockefeller, Jr., returned from his extended southern trip. He talked about the alleged insult offered to his wife by a New York policeman three weeks ago. He says he will give particulars to Commissioner Murphy if that official asks for them. He said among other things: "Give us good moral men at the head of the government and we will get good subordinates. There must be an upheaval. This thing cannot go on. I don't think that the chances for the anti Tammanyites next fall are particularly bright, for the reason that the Republican machine will be for sale next fall, as it was in 1897. The Republican machine is just as corrupt as the Democratic machine, and we can never get good government until we stamp and blot out both of them."

Mrs. McKinley Can't Attend Funeral.

Washington, April 26.—News of the death of Mrs. Saxton was received at the white house. Mrs. McKinley was very much attached to her aunt, but will be unable to attend the funeral, which occurs Saturday, owing to the departure of the presidential party for the western trip on Monday.

Presbyterian Creed Committee Met.

Pittsburg, April 26.—Some of the most eminent divines and laymen of the Presbyterian church in the United States came to the Monongahela house Thursday. The constitute the committee on the revision of the creed, appointed by the general assembly, meeting in May, 1900, in St. Louis. Each member absolutely declined to state the object of the session.

The Deer's Eyes.

A Canadian hunter tells this incident of how he once came face to face with his quarry and hadn't the heart to fire: "It wasn't a case of 'buck fever,' such as a novice might experience, for I had been a hunter for many years, and had killed a good many deer. This was a particularly fine buck that I had followed for three days. A strong man can run any deer to earth in time, and at last I had my prey tired out. From the top of a hill I sighted him a few miles away. He had given up the fight, and had stretched himself out on the snow. As I stalked him, he changed his position and took shelter behind a bowlder, and, using the same bowlder for a shelter, I came suddenly face to face with him. He didn't attempt to run away, but stood there looking at me with the most piteous pair of eyes I ever saw.

"Shoot? I could have no more shot him than I could have shot a child. Had the chance come from a distance of 100 yards, I would have shot him down and carried his antlers home in triumph, but once having looked into those eyes it would have been nothing less than murder. I have hunted deer since then, but I find the sport affords me little pleasure. Whenever I draw a bead, the picture of those mute, appealing eyes comes before me, and, though it has not prevented me from pulling the trigger, I have always felt glad somehow when my bullet failed to find its mark."—Washington Post.

How Lithuanians Play Dice.

A peculiar dice game is indulged in by the gambling element of Lithuanians in Baltimore.

Gathering about the dice tables in the saloons kept by their fellow countrymen they quickly lose all interest in everything outside of that which is transpiring upon the cloth before them. As they sit or stand about the tables the careworn features of old men contrast strongly with the ruddy faces of the youths. The eagerness with which the players seek the numbers upon the falling pieces is wolfish in its intensity. Comparatively small sums are placed upon the game, and side bets run from 5 cents to $1.

Although resembling in the manner in which it is operated the high dice game as played by the Anglo-Saxon races, the dice of the Lithuanians, instead of numbering from 1 to 6, run from 1 to 10, the numbering of the six sides being 1, 2, 3, 4, 8, 10. The game is played with four pieces, and a possible 40 is the point striven for instead of 24, which is high mark in the similar American game.—Baltimore Sun.

A Fiend Collector Snubbed.

Collectors of autographs, postcards, etc., are not always conscious of the importunacy of their demands, and the following anecdote, which comes from Triest, gives a striking example of their failing and of the humorous way in which the intended victim treated his tormentor. An Italian painter received a letter in the following terms:

Dear Sir—I should like to ask you a great favor and hope you will excuse the liberty I take. I am making a collection of painted postcards and should feel myself highly flattered if you would kindly send me one, with a little picture painted on it by yourself. It will certainly be the most treasured card of my collection, as I should be able to say that you were one of the first to honor me in this way. Hoping to receive one, I beg to thank you in advance.

The artist replied:

Dear Sir—I should like to ask you a great favor and hope you will excuse the liberty I take. I am making a collection of thousand franc notes and should feel myself highly flattered if you would kindly send me one. It will certainly be the most highly treasured thousand franc note of my collection, as I should be able to say that you were one of the first to honor me in this way. Hoping to receive one, I beg to thank you in advance.

Bread and Cheese.

A couple advanced in years got married lately.

The husband had a room in the house securely locked, the inside of which his wife had never seen, and, being curious as to its contents, she begged again and again to see the room.

At last he consented, and, lo and behold, the room was full of whole cheeses!

He explained matters by telling her that for every sweetheart he had in his young days he bought a cheese.

His wife began to cry.

"Don't cry, dear," he continued. "I've had no sweetheart since I met you."

"It's not that," she replied, still sobbing. "I only wish I had been as thoughtful as you and bought a loaf of bread for every man that kissed me. We could have had bread and cheese enough to last us all our days."—London Tit-Bits.

Wheels and Wheels.

The woman who had been abroad was describing some of the sights of her trip to her friends. "But what pleased me as much as anything," she continued, "was the wonderful clock at Strassburg."

"Oh, how I should love to see it!" gushed the girl in pink. "I am so interested in such things. And did you see the celebrated watch on the Rhine too?"—Kansas City Star.

Ferguson's coffees and teas are fine. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

NO ELECTION SINCE '86.

Black So Asserted as to Pennsylvania In Pennsylvania Senate—Urged Constitutional Convention.

Harrisburg, April 26.—Former Lieutenant Governor Chauncey F. Black, of York, was a visitor in the senate chamber Thursday. When his presence became known Senator Grady, of Philadelphia, the only senatorial survivor of the senate over which Mr. Black presided, moved a recess of 20 minutes so as to allow the members of the senate to greet the distinguished visitor and allow him to make a few remarks.

Mr. Black, after being escorted to the chair by Mr. Grady and Senator Haines, of York, made a short address, the burden of which was ballot reform. He said:

"It is about time that on certain vital questions party lines should be wiped out and walked over and that members of all parties come together for one service. You gentlemen of the Republican party have an enormous majority in the state. You want an honest vote and a fair count. We, of the Democratic party, want the same, and nothing else. You have bills before you now that pretend to be ballot reform bills. You have none. One is known as the Focht bill—it is Republican. There is another known as the Guffey bill—it is Democratic.

"We have no elections in Pennsylvania and have had none since I was defeated in 1886. The steam roads have 196,000 employes and add to that army the employes of other corporations and see what the people have to say at our elections. So long as thousands of voters go into the election booths under the lash of their employers you cannot have an honest election. Neither can you have such a ballot so long as the electors can go into a booth with another voter for the purpose of assisting him in the preparation of his ballot."

Mr. Black then went on to say that under the present constitution and remedies were to be found in a constitutional convention. He intimated that Governor Pattison had failed to advocate that remedy when he was elected governor. In conclusion he said:

"Do the right thing now. You can't agree on and pass any of the ballot bills you have before you, and you know it. Senators, it is either a constitutional convention or no ballot reform. I am in favor of ballot reform, a republican form of government and free elections."

DENIED BILL WAS TOO BIG.

Dr. Browning Talked on Services to Late Senator C. L. Magee.

Pittsburg, April 26.—Dr. W. C. Browning, the physician who attended the late Senator C. L. Magee, and, whose bill for services rendered to the senator, totals $190,000, arrived in Pittsburg to consult with attorneys in regard to the contest which the executors threaten against the bill. In speaking of the matter, the doctor said in part:

"I can and will produce at the proper time over 200 witnesses from this city, who have been attended by me and who will testify that I have charged at the rate of $20 an hour for office services and $40 an hour for outside visits, and that these figures were my regular prices.

"Many of these patients came from Bellevue and Sewickley and other towns in this neighborhood, and they will testify that I charged $5 for 15 minutes of office consultation and advice. During the time when I was in attendance upon Senator Magee, I was forced to turn away hundreds of patients and my practice was injured greatly. Nevertheless, as the senator was a very able man, with a wide circle of usefulness and hosts of friends, I thought it my duty to attend him, to the exclusion of other patients. There never was much thought of material consideration between us. The senator told me that I had saved his life for many months, during which he had been enabled to make large sums of money, and I could have named any figure for my services.

"At 2 o'clock the morning before he died he put his arms around my neck and said: 'Doctor, you have been more than a doctor to me; you have been a doctor and a mother combined. Your services can never be forgotten by me nor my friends.' The senator felt there was no price for my services and he O Ked all the statements I gave him without question, and told me himself that he had turned them over to a man who would see that the bills were paid. Who this man was I do not feel at liberty to say just now."

WEATHER FORECAST.

Ohio and Western Pennsylvania—Fair today and tomorrow; probably warmer tomorrow in nothern portion; fresh north to east winds.

West Virginia—Fair today and tomorrow; warmer tomorrow in eastern portion; north to east winds.

Everything Good to Eat.

Strawberries, tomatoes, asparagus, cucumbers, green beans, parsley, water cress, lettuce, rhubarb and onions, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

Fine Roquefort Cheese at Geon Bros. 270-h

Boys' tennis shoes 40c at Frank, Shumaker & Co. 270-h

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

Irondale pays its solicitor but $20 per year.

James M. Todd, of Lisbon, has been granted a pension of $24 a month.

The Ohio Press, Steubenville, is now a Republican daily newspaper.

There is now but one case of smallpox at Yorkville and the quarantine has been raised.

Mrs. George W. Roan ,who died at Massillon recently, was a cousin of Gen. Fred. Funston.

S. P. Stone, Esq., of Beaver, has been appointed U. S. Marshal of the Western District of Pennsylvania.

Wilson Ekey, a prominent farmer residing two miles south of New Alexandria, died Wednesday, aged 50 years.

Canton is to have a special election May 10 to vote on the question of bonding the city for $100,000 for park purposes.

H. H. Barnes, representing himself to be a lumber merchant, swindled esveral persons at Akron, by giving them worthless checks.

Philip Yost and Augustus Danemiller, of Canton, formerly of Company I, Eighth Ohio, have been appointed lieutenants in the regular army.

The Northern Ohio Traction company, at Akron, gave the motormen and conductors on all its local and suburban lines a voluntary advance of 10 cents per day.

The East Palestine town council proposes to enforce the law compelling each citizen of the village to do two days' work on the streets or pay its equivalent in cash.

R. G. Campbell, of Wilkinsburg, Pa., an official of the Knights of the Maccabees of the World, is alleged to be $5,000 short in his accounts with the order.

The Goulds have entered the Youngstown markets and placed with the National Steel company, a contract for about 30,000 tons of rails, which will be turned out at the Ohio Steel plant.

The Wellsville China company, now operating the old Pioneer pottery, is negotiating for the purchase of additional ground on which to build a switch. The company will have two switches, one on each side of the plant.

TIME TABLE OF C. & P. TRAINS.

Leave East Liverpool as follows, city time: East—4:56, 7:51 a. m.; 12:21, 4:06, 8.00 p. m. West—1:36, 8:05, 10:06 a. m.; 3:50, 7:13 p. m. Sunday—West, 10:06 a. m.; East, 6:25 p. m.

PANHANDLE—SOUTHSIDE.

East—6:57, 9:40 a. m.; 3:30 p. m.
West—7:05, 12:35 a. m.; 3:35 p. m.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING.

Wanted, For Sale, To Rent, Financial, Exchange, Personals, three insertions 25 cents, 50 cents the week, $1.50 the month. Weekly, 25 cents, one time; 75 cents the month. Cash, invariably in advance.

WANTED.

WANTED—A girl for general housework; good wages to right party. W. J. Day's restaurant, E. E., opposite Laughlin plant No. 2. 270-r

WANTED—A dining room girl. Apply at the Hotel Lakel. 269-r

WANTED—Male finisher at Smith & McNicol's pottery, Wellsville. Apply at once. 268-r

WANTED—A middle-aged lady with one or two small children, to take charge of house and one child 9 years old. Apply or address 104 Cadmus street, East Liverpool, O. 267-r

WANTED—General janitor work, by middle aged man. Address 312 Fifth street. 266-m

WANTED—An apprentice to learn dressmaking. Inquire of Miss Martin at the L. S. Wilson millinery. 245 tf

FOR RENT.

FOR RENT—Six room of suburban house within one mile of the city. Address P. O. Box 449, city. 266-j

TO LET—Furnished rooms, at 340 Walnut street. 268-r

FOR SALE.

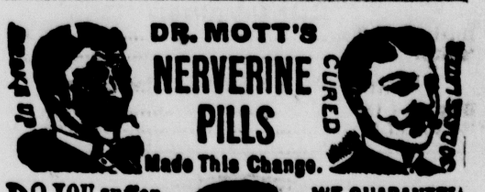
FOR SALE—Standard books, elegantly bound, at less than half price. Look at these: "Beacon Lights of History," by Lord; Victor Hugo's works, Fenimore Cooper's works, Gibbon's Roman History, Conquest of Mexico, Chamber's Encyclopedia, Lives of Sherman, Grant, Sheridan and McKinley. Other interesting miscellany. Harry Palmer, 133 Forest street. 270-r

When you have any parcels to go to any part of the city telephone for Brown's 5 and 10 Cent Express. Prompt service at lowest price.

Telephone No. 110.

John H. Brown,

250 Market Street.



For sale by Will Reed, C. F. Craig and O. F. Larkin.

New Era Restaurant,

Billiard Hall and Cafe,

J. C. WALSH, Prop.

110 and 112 Sixth Street,

East Liverpool, O.

Tobacco and Cigar department stocked with the finest cigars and Tobacco in the maaket. Dining room up to date. Table de hote meals 25c. Banquets a specialty. Best furnished billiard and pool room in the state. Lighted with electric lights. Bar open from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m.

Devine's Stag

IS THE PLACE.

125 and 127 Second Street. Next to the C. & P. R. R. Station.

The Coffee we serve has made this Restaurant famous.

FINE STEAKS A SPECIALTY.
OYSTERS R IN SEASON.

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50 Gloves $1.00
$1.25 " .79
$1.00 " .79

This week only.

THE LEADER,

Washington St.

PEK-ON TEA.

Possesses Great Strength. Rich and Full Flavor.

Our PEK-ON Tea is the result of skillful blending of high grade Teas, increasing their strength and retaining the fine rich flavor of each, making a most delicious drink. Put up in one-half pound packages and sold for 30 cents a pockage. Don't fail to give PEK-ON a trial and you will use no other. Sold only by us.
20 lbs. Light Brown Sugar.....$1

ATLANTIC TEA CO.

ABRAHAM BURLINGAME

Wucherer's Addition,

Up-to-date Carpet Cleaning, latest improved machinery. Will take up, clean and relay carpet at reasonable rates

GIRL WIFE A SUICIDE

Miss Lloyd Van Epps, of Youngstown, Takes a Dose of Carbolic Acid.

TRAGIC END TO ELOPEMENT

A Bride of About Six Weeks Killed Herself While Suffering From Melancholia—Was Only 17—Husband Yet In His Teens.

Youngstown, O., April 26.—The girl wife of 19-year-old Lloyd Van Epps committed suicide in their apartment here by swallowing carbolic acid, presumably in a fit of melancholy to which she had been subject for two years or more.

The suicide, whose maiden name was Emma Smith, and who was not yet 17 years of age, eloped from her home in this city with young Van Epps only about six weeks ago, going to Warren, where they were married. Upon their return to this city they went directly to the home of the young man's step-father, Arthur G. Young, a prominent and wealthy contractor, where they remained until they took the apartments on Elm street.

Van Epps, who has been employed as a night recorder at the Ohio Steel works, was sleeping, when he was awakened by his wife falling upon the bed, exclaiming that she had taken carbolic acid. He hastily dressed himself and summoned a physician, but when the latter arrived the suicide was breathing her last. The following note, addresed to Mrs. Van Epps' mother, was found:

"Dear Mother—I have learned what married life is. When you get this I will be dead. Emma."

Van Epps was a victim in Pittsburg on Christmas night, 1899, of an accident which almost cost him his life. While sitting in his room he was overcome by fumes from a gas stove, and, falling against it, his arm slowly roasted until his plight was discovered. He was removed to the Mercy hospital, where the member was amputated close to the shoulder, and the victim hovered between life and death for many weeks.

ELEPHANT KILLED TRAINER.

Animal Poisoned With Arsenic and Then Shot.

Peru, Ind., April 26.—Henry Huffman, a well-known animal trainer, with the Wallace shows, met a horrible death here, being killed by "Big Charley," a monster elephant, while the animal was bathing in the Mississinewa river. "Big Charley" wound his trunk about Keeper Huffman and hurled him far into the stream. The man was uninjured, and when he returned he said: "Why, Charley, I didn't think that of you; aren't you ashamed of yourself?" The next instant Huffman was grabbed by the big elephant and thrown to the bottom of the river and held there by the forefeet of the animal. Then with a roar the elephant ran away.

Several showmen shot at him with no effect. He broke down fences and roamed about in a big field, keeping everybody at a distance. Apples loaded with strychnine were thrown near him and he ate one. An hour later he laid down and was in terrible agony. A rifle shot settled him.

DR. PARKHURST'S HOT SHOT.

Moral Men Needed at Head of New York Government.

New York, April 26.—Dr. Parkhurst, with a large party, including John D. Rockefeller, Jr., returned from his extended southern trip. He talked about the alleged insult offered to his wife by a New York policeman three weeks ago. He says he will give particulars to Commissioner Murphy if that official asks for them. He said among other things: "Give us good moral men at the head of the government and we will get good subordinates. There must be an upheaval. This thing cannot go on. I don't think that the chances for the anti Tammanyites next fall are particularly bright, for the reason that the Republican machine will be for sale next fall, as it was in 1897. The Republican machine is just as corrupt as the Democratic machine, and we can never get good government until we stamp and blot out both of them."

Mrs. McKinley Can't Attend Funeral.

Washington, April 26.—News of the death of Mrs. Saxton was received at the white house. Mrs. McKinley was very much attached to her aunt, but will be unable to attend the funeral, which occurs Saturday, owing to the departure of the presidential party for the western trip on Monday.

Presbyterian Creed Committee Met.

Pittsburg, April 26.—Some of the most eminent divines and laymen of the Presbyterian church in the United States came to the Monongahela house Thursday. The constitute the committee on the revision of the creed, appointed by the general assembly, meeting in May, 1900, in St. Louis. Each member absolutely declined to state the object of the session.

The Deer's Eyes.

A Canadian hunter tells this incident of how he once came face to face with his quarry and hadn't the heart to fire: "It wasn't a case of 'buck fever,' such as a novice might experience, for I had been a hunter for many years, and had killed a good many deer. This was a particularly fine buck that I had followed for three days. A strong man can run any deer to earth in time, and at last I had my prey tired out. From the top of a hill I sighted him a few miles away. He had given up the fight, and had stretched himself out on the snow. As I stalked him, he changed his position and took shelter behind a bowlder, and, using the same bowlder for a shelter, I came suddenly face to face with him. He didn't attempt to run away, but stood there looking at me with the most piteous pair of eyes I ever saw.

"Shoot? I could have no more shot him than I could have shot a child. Had the chance come from a distance of 100 yards, I would have shot him down and carried his antlers home in triumph, but once having looked into those eyes it would have been nothing less than murder. I have hunted deer since then, but I find the sport affords me little pleasure. Whenever I draw a bead, the picture of those mute, appealing eyes comes before me, and, though it has not prevented me from pulling the trigger, I have always felt glad somehow when my bullet failed to find its mark."—Washington Post.

How Lithuanians Play Dice.

A peculiar dice game is indulged in by the gambling element of Lithuanians in Baltimore.

Gathering about the dice tables in the saloons kept by their fellow countrymen they quickly lose all interest in everything outside of that which is transpiring upon the cloth before them. As they sit or stand about the tables the careworn features of old men contrast strongly with the ruddy faces of the youths. The eagerness with which the players seek the numbers upon the falling pieces is wolfish in its intensity. Comparatively small sums are placed upon the game, and side bets run from 5 cents to $1.

Although resembling in the manner in which it is operated the high dice game as played by the Anglo-Saxon races, the dice of the Lithuanians, instead of numbering from 1 to 6, run from 1 to 10, the numbering of the six sides being 1, 2, 3, 4, 8, 10. The game is played with four pieces, and a possible 40 is the point striven for instead of 24, which is high mark in the similar American game.—Baltimore Sun.

A Fiend Collector Snubbed.

Collectors of autographs, postcards, etc., are not always conscious of the importunacy of their demands, and the following anecdote, which comes from Triest, gives a striking example of their failing and of the humorous way in which the intended victim treated his tormentor. An Italian painter received a letter in the following terms:

Dear Sir—I should like to ask you a great favor and hope you will excuse the liberty I take. I am making a collection of painted postcards and should feel myself highly flattered if you would kindly send me one, with a little picture painted on it by yourself. It will certainly be the most treasured card of my collection, as I should be able to say that you were one of the first to honor me in this way. Hoping to receive one, I beg to thank you in advance.

The artist replied:

Dear Sir—I should like to ask you a great favor and hope you will excuse the liberty I take. I am making a collection of thousand franc notes and should feel myself highly flattered if you would kindly send me one. It will certainly be the most highly treasured thousand franc note of my collection, as I should be able to say that you were one of the first to honor me in this way. Hoping to receive one, I beg to thank you in advance.

Bread and Cheese.

A couple advanced in years got married lately.

The husband had a room in the house securely locked, the inside of which his wife had never seen, and, being curious as to its contents, she begged again and again to see the room.

At last he consented, and, lo and behold, the room was full of whole cheeses!

He explained matters by telling her that for every sweetheart he had in his young days he bought a cheese.

His wife began to cry.

"Don't cry, dear," he continued. "I've had no sweetheart since I met you."

"It's not that," she replied, still sobbing. "I only wish I had been as thoughtful as you and bought a loaf of bread for every man that kissed me. We could have had bread and cheese enough to last us all our days."—London Tit-Bits.

Wheels and Wheels.

The woman who had been abroad was describing some of the sights of her trip to her friends. "But what pleased me as much as anything," she continued, "was the wonderful clock at Strassburg."

"Oh, how I should love to see it!" gushed the girl in pink. "I am so interested in such things. And did you see the celebrated watch on the Rhine too?"—Kansas City Star.

Ferguson's coffees and teas are fine. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

NO ELECTION SINCE '86.

Black So Asserted as to Pennsylvania In Pennsylvania Senate—Urged Constitutional Convention.

Harrisburg, April 26.—Former Lieutenant Governor Chauncey F. Black, of York, was a visitor in the senate chamber Thursday. When his presence became known Senator Grady, of Philadelphia, the only senatorial survivor of the senate over which Mr. Black presided, moved a recess of 20 minutes so as to allow the members of the senate to greet the distinguished visitor and allow him to make a few remarks.

Mr. Black, after being escorted to the chair by Mr. Grady and Senator Haines, of York, made a short address, the burden of which was ballot reform. He said:

"It is about time that on certain vital questions party lines should be wiped out and walked over and that members of all parties come together for one service. You gentlemen of the Republican party have an enormous majority in the state. You want an honest vote and a fair count. We, of the Democratic party, want the same, and nothing else. You have bills before you now that pretend to be ballot reform bills. You have none. One is known as the Focht bill—it is Republican. There is another known as the Guffey bill—it is Democratic.

"We have no elections in Pennsylvania and have had none since I was defeated in 1886. The steam roads have 196,000 employes and add to that army the employes of other corporations and see what the people have to say at our elections. So long as thousands of voters go into the election booths under the lash of their employers you cannot have an honest election. Neither can you have such a ballot so long as the electors can go into a booth with another voter for the purpose of assisting him in the preparation of his ballot."

Mr. Black then went on to say that under the present constitution and remedies were to be found in a constitutional convention. He intimated that Governor Pattison had failed to advocate that remedy when he was elected governor. In conclusion he said:

"Do the right thing now. You can't agree on and pass any of the ballot bills you have before you, and you know it. Senators, it is either a constitutional convention or no ballot reform. I am in favor of ballot reform, a republican form of government and free elections."

DENIED BILL WAS TOO BIG.

Dr. Browning Talked on Services to Late Senator C. L. Magee.

Pittsburg, April 26.—Dr. W. C. Browning, the physician who attended the late Senator C. L. Magee, and, whose bill for services rendered to the senator, totals $190,000, arrived in Pittsburg to consult with attorneys in regard to the contest which the executors threaten against the bill. In speaking of the matter, the doctor said in part:

"I can and will produce at the proper time over 200 witnesses from this city, who have been attended by me and who will testify that I have charged at the rate of $20 an hour for office services and $40 an hour for outside visits, and that these figures were my regular prices.

"Many of these patients came from Bellevue and Sewickley and other towns in this neighborhood, and they will testify that I charged $5 for 15 minutes of office consultation and advice. During the time when I was in attendance upon Senator Magee, I was forced to turn away hundreds of patients and my practice was injured greatly. Nevertheless, as the senator was a very able man, with a wide circle of usefulness and hosts of friends, I thought it my duty to attend him, to the exclusion of other patients. There never was much thought of material consideration between us. The senator told me that I had saved his life for many months, during which he had been enabled to make large sums of money, and I could have named any figure for my services.

"At 2 o'clock the morning before he died he put his arms around my neck and said: 'Doctor, you have been more than a doctor to me; you have been a doctor and a mother combined. Your services can never be forgotten by me nor my friends.' The senator felt there was no price for my services and he O Ked all the statements I gave him without question, and told me himself that he had turned them over to a man who would see that the bills were paid. Who this man was I do not feel at liberty to say just now."

WEATHER FORECAST.

Ohio and Western Pennsylvania—Fair today and tomorrow; probably warmer tomorrow in nothern portion; fresh north to east winds.

West Virginia—Fair today and tomorrow; warmer tomorrow in eastern portion; north to east winds.

Everything Good to Eat.

Strawberries, tomatoes, asparagus, cucumbers, green beans, parsley, water cress, lettuce, rhubarb and onions, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

Fine Roquefort Cheese at Geon Bros. 270-h

Boys' tennis shoes 40c at Frank, Shumaker & Co. 270-h

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

Irondale pays its solicitor but $20 per year.

James M. Todd, of Lisbon, has been granted a pension of $24 a month.

The Ohio Press, Steubenville, is now a Republican daily newspaper.

There is now but one case of smallpox at Yorkville and the quarantine has been raised.

Mrs. George W. Roan ,who died at Massillon recently, was a cousin of Gen. Fred. Funston.

S. P. Stone, Esq., of Beaver, has been appointed U. S. Marshal of the Western District of Pennsylvania.

Wilson Ekey, a prominent farmer residing two miles south of New Alexandria, died Wednesday, aged 50 years.

Canton is to have a special election May 10 to vote on the question of bonding the city for $100,000 for park purposes.

H. H. Barnes, representing himself to be a lumber merchant, swindled esveral persons at Akron, by giving them worthless checks.

Philip Yost and Augustus Danemiller, of Canton, formerly of Company I, Eighth Ohio, have been appointed lieutenants in the regular army.

The Northern Ohio Traction company, at Akron, gave the motormen and conductors on all its local and suburban lines a voluntary advance of 10 cents per day.

The East Palestine town council proposes to enforce the law compelling each citizen of the village to do two days' work on the streets or pay its equivalent in cash.

R. G. Campbell, of Wilkinsburg, Pa., an official of the Knights of the Maccabees of the World, is alleged to be $5,000 short in his accounts with the order.

The Goulds have entered the Youngstown markets and placed with the National Steel company, a contract for about 30,000 tons of rails, which will be turned out at the Ohio Steel plant.

The Wellsville China company, now operating the old Pioneer pottery, is negotiating for the purchase of additional ground on which to build a switch. The company will have two switches, one on each side of the plant.

TIME TABLE OF C. & P. TRAINS.

Leave East Liverpool as follows, city time: East—4:56, 7:51 a. m.; 12:21, 4:06, 8.00 p. m. West—1:36, 8:05, 10:06 a. m.; 3:50, 7:13 p. m. Sunday—West, 10:06 a. m.; East, 6:25 p. m.

PANHANDLE—SOUTHSIDE.

East—6:57, 9:40 a. m.; 3:30 p. m.
West—7:05, 12:35 a. m.; 3:35 p. m.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING.

Wanted, For Sale, To Rent, Financial, Exchange, Personals, three insertions 25 cents, 50 cents the week, $1.50 the month. Weekly, 25 cents, one time; 75 cents the month. Cash, invariably in advance.

WANTED.

WANTED—A girl for general housework; good wages to right party. W. J. Day's restaurant, E. E., opposite Laughlin plant No. 2. 270-r

WANTED—A dining room girl. Apply at the Hotel Lakel. 269-r

WANTED—Male finisher at Smith & McNicol's pottery, Wellsville. Apply at once. 268-r

WANTED—A middle-aged lady with one or two small children, to take charge of house and one child 9 years old. Apply or address 104 Cadmus street, East Liverpool, O. 267-r

WANTED—General janitor work, by middle aged man. Address 312 Fifth street. 266-m

WANTED—An apprentice to learn dressmaking. Inquire of Miss Martin at the L. S. Wilson millinery. 245 tf

FOR RENT.

FOR RENT—Six room of suburban house within one mile of the city. Address P. O. Box 449, city. 266-j

TO LET—Furnished rooms, at 340 Walnut street. 268-r

FOR SALE.

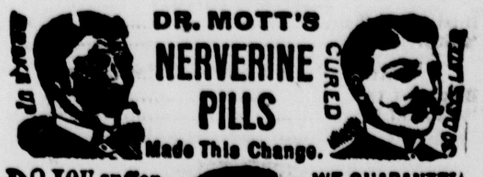
FOR SALE—Standard books, elegantly bound, at less than half price. Look at these: "Beacon Lights of History," by Lord; Victor Hugo's works, Fenimore Cooper's works, Gibbon's Roman History, Conquest of Mexico, Chamber's Encyclopedia, Lives of Sherman, Grant, Sheridan and McKinley. Other interesting miscellany. Harry Palmer, 133 Forest street. 270-r

When you have any parcels to go to any part of the city telephone for Brown's 5 and 10 Cent Express. Prompt service at lowest price.

Telephone No. 110.

John H. Brown,

250 Market Street.



DO YOU suffer from Nervous Prostration, Failing or Lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emission, Shrunken or Undeveloped Organs, Youthful Errors, Excessive Use of Tobacco or Opium? Sent by mail on receipt of price. DR. MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, Ohio.

WE GUARANTEE to cure you or refund money, and we stand by our guarantee. Sold at 61 per Box, 6 Boxes for $5.

For sale by Will Reed, C. F. Craig and C. F. Larkin.

New Era Restaurant,

Billiard Hall and Cafe,

J. C. WALSH, Prop.

110 and 112 Sixth Street,

East Liverpool, O.

Tobacco and Cigar department stocked with the finest cigars and Tobacco in the maaket. Dining room up to date. Table de hote meals 25c. Banquets a specialty. Best furnished billiard and pool room in the state. Lighted with electric lights. Bar open from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m.

Devine's Stag

IS THE PLACE.

125 and 127 Second Street. Next to the C. & P. R. R. Station.

The Coffee we serve has made this Restaurant famous.

FINE STEAKS A SPECIALTY.

OYSTERS R IN SEASON.

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50 Gloves $1.00
$1.25 " .79
$1.00 " .79

This week only.

THE LEADER,

Washington St.

PEK-ON TEA.

Possesses Great Strength. Rich and Full Flavor.

Our PEK-ON Tea is the result of skillful blending of high grade Teas, increasing their strength and retaining the fine rich flavor of each, making a most delicious drink. Put up in one-half pound packages and sold for 30 cents a pockage. Don't fail to give PEK-ON a trial and you will use no other. Sold only by us.
20 lbs. Light Brown Sugar.....$1

ATLANTIC TEA CO.

ABRAHAM BURLINGAME

Wucherer's Addition,

Up-to-date Carpet Cleaning, latest improved machinery. Will take up, clean and relay carpet at reasonablerates

The News Review

Published Daily Except Sunday by

THE EAST LIVERPOOL PUBLISHING COMPANY

LOUIS H. BRUSH, Manager.

The News Review, Daily, established 1885 By mail, one year, $5.00; six months, $3.00, three months, $1.75; by carrier, $5.00; ten cents per week.

The Saturday Review, Weekly, established 1880. By mail, one year, $1.00 in advance six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents.

Official Papers of the city of East Liverpool and Columbiana County.

OFFICE 196 WASHINGTON STREET.

Bell Telephone.

Business Office.....No. 122
Editorial Room.....No. 122

Columbiana County Telephone.

Business Office.....No. 122
Editorial Room.....No. 346

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL E. LIVERPOOL, O.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1901.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

COUNTY AND DISTRICT.

Common Pleas Judge—H. W. HARTER.
State Senator—CHARLES C. CONNELL.
Representative—SAMUEL BUELL.
Representative—D. W. CRIST.
Sheriff—SAMUEL D. NORAGON.
Auditor—J. F. ADAMS.
Treasurer—W. A. THOMPSON.
Commissioner—EDEN REEDER.
Infirmary Director—G. W. ARMSTRONG.

THE TAGALS GIVE IN.

The best news that has come from Manila in many a day is that contained in a dispatch telling of the complete pacification of the Tagals or Tagalogs. More important than the capture of Aguinaldo or the surrender of the rebel chiefs of Panay is the announcement that the Tagals have seen the error of their ways and enthusiastically welcome the efforts of the United States commission to establish liberty and government among them.

It was the Tagals who were the original insurrectionists. They are the most determined and best skilled fighters in all the Philippines. Bulacan, their old capital, was the seat and center of the insurrection. Malolos, the largest town of their province, was Aguinaldo's capital, and the hotbed of revolution. The commission has been sitting at Bulacan, and a Manila dispatch says of its work: "To the people of Bulacan and especially to the delegates from the Malolos district the sessions of the commissions were a revelation. They came cowed and curious, and departed many of them with tears in their eyes, full of confident hopes for the future of their country. They came in factions chiefly imbued with the idea of landing their respective candidates in the provincial offices; they left satisfied with the results and en rapport with American principles."

Only happy results can follow, for the other rebellious tribes have been following Tagal leadership. The Filipino war is at an end and the people of the islands will soon be enjoying a measure of liberty that would be impossible under any government save that of the United States. With peace will come prosperity, progress, education and all of liberty's priceless blessings. It is indeed good news to America, to Filipinos and to the world.

SCARCITY OF LABOR.

There is a scarcity of farm laborers, a scarcity of ironworkers, and a scarcity of kilnhands; in fact, according to accounts from all industrial centers, the demand for labor, both skilled and unskilled, is greater than was ever before known; greater than the supply. This means that millions of workingmen are all at work.

Theodore Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Association, talking the other day of conditions in the iron industry, said he had had calls for various classes of ironworkers and was unable to find a single man unemployed. He had received a call for plate mill workers for the first time since he had been in office. "There is every indication," said he, "of a prosperous condition of affairs in the iron and steel industries of the country." The cause is the resumption of long-idle mills and the opening of a big season among the builders.

And what is true of the iron business is true of other industries. Indeed, it is a recognized truth that when the iron industry flourishes, others follow suit. For the wage earners, the first year of the twentieth century is more than promising; it is already rich in results.

A ONE-MAN PARTY.

The Ohio Democrats need not hold any convention unless they want to get together for a good time, indulging in their faovrite amusement of abusing the party in power. As far as the ticket is concerned the bosses will decide it without asking the advice or consent of anyone. According to report it is all fixed already—fixed Tom Johnson's way. Might as well give him full discretionary powers; he will have his own way, anyhow.

Indiana proposes to honor the memory of ex-President Benjamin Harrison by erecting a $100,000 monument. It will be a fitting testimonial to a great man.

The towns along the Mahoning and the Shenango would rather see almost anything booming than the rivers.

Philadelphia grave diggers are on a strike and that poky town is as near being excited as it ever gets.

His eagerness for office leaves no room for doubt that ex-Attorney General Monnett is a Democrat.

OBITUARY

John Woodruff.

Wellsville, April 26.—John Woodruff, an aged and influential citizen, died at his home here Wednesday of Bright's disease. He was born in Youngstown in 1825 and upon attaining his majority went upon the road as salesman. He was a prominent politician and for more than half a century had been an Odd Fellow. He is survived by two sons, Charles and George, and one daughter, Mrs. Thomas Butler, all of whom reside in Wellsville. His wife died about six months ago.

Alice D. Sawyer.

Alice Doreen Sawyer, aged 6 years, died last week at Muskegon, Mich., and was buried on Sunday. She was an attractive child, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sawyer. Mrs. Sawyer was formerly Miss Myrtle Wilson, of this city, who has a host of friends here.

Death of an Infant.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. William Barlow died at their home on Calcutta road yesterday morning. It was buried at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

If you need a pair we want you to look at our trouser window on East Market street. 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Water cress and parsley at Oysters'. 270-h

Men's Foot Glove shoes beat competition and win trade, $3.00 and $3.50.
FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Cut flowers and potted plants, at 270-h T. B. MURPHY & SON.

New potatoes and lettuce at Oysters'. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

Strawberries at Frank E. Oysters'. 270-h

Eloquence and the Pea.

Our worthy forefathers were fond of rhetoric—particularly of funereal rhetoric—and were not always quick to perceive the dividing line between the sublime and ridiculous. They seem, moreover, to have regarded the extraordinary as contributing an added and kindred element to the impressive. Many of their epitaphs show this, but few more completely than that of an estimable matron who perished untimely in Newburyport in the eighteenth century.

Her tombstone on the crest of the burying hill is yet easily legible, with no more trouble than scraping a bit of lichen here and there and kneeling to push away the long grass and intruding daisies. Thus it reads:

Sacred to the Memory of
Mrs. Mary McHard

The virtuous and estimable Consort of Captain William McHard of Newbury Port, who midst the laudable exertions of a very useful and desirable Life, in which her Christian Profession was well adorned, and a fair copy of every social virtue displayed, was, in a state of health, Suddenly Summoned to the Skies & snatched from ye eager embraces of her friends (and the throbbing hearts of her disconsolate family confess'd their fairest prospects of sublunary bliss were in one moment dash'd) by Swallowing a Pea at her own table, whence in a few hours she sweetly breathed her Soul away on the 8th day of March 1778, aged 47.

This Mournful Stone as a faithful Monument of Virtue fled to Realms Above and a solemn Monitor to all below the Stars, is Erected by her Husband.

—Youth's Companion.

Weekly, but Couldn't Write.

"Hotels entertain a good many people who can't write," said the clerk of a large hotel, "and the bad pen comedy is enacted quite frequently. Of course the clerk has to be very careful not to let the guest suspect that he is on to the dodge, for such folks are very sensitive about their educational infirmities.

"I once knew a man who paid $1,200 a year solely to keep hotel clerks from knowing that he couldn't write his own name. He began life as a day laborer, drifted out west and made a fortune through leasing a supposed worthless mine in Montana. When he accumulated about $150,000, he sold out and started in to travel and have a good time. He was naturally shrewd, but he had never had a particle of schooling, and dodging registers at new hotels became the chief worry of his life.

"At first he used to tie up his hand in a handkerchief and pretend it was hurt, but he realized that the trick was pretty transparent, and at last he employed a young newspaper man at $100 a month to travel with him as his 'secretary.' The ex-miner never sent or received any letters, he didn't care for reading, and the secretary's one and only duty was to sign hotel registers. They would walk in together, and the young chap would say deferentially, 'Shall I do the registering for us both, colonel?' 'If you please,' his boss would reply, and he would thereupon write, 'Col. —— and secretary, Montana.'"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Force of Habit.

One of the neatest arrests on record was effected by a policeman near Bourne, England, not long ago. Suspecting two men of being deserters, he stepped up behind them and called out sharply, "Attention!" Taken unawares, the men sprang to position in true military style, only to find themselves the next moment in the arms of the law.

As to Gushers.

"My dear," said a careful mother to her daughter, "don't gush."

"Very well, mamma," replied the dutiful girl, "but you know that in the oil regions it is the gushing wells that are thought the most of."

"But you must also bear in mind that it is the unrefined oil which gushes."—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Reduced Rates to Northwest, West, South and Southeast.

The sale of special fare colonists tickets to California, and settlers' tickets to the Northwest, West, South and Southeast has been resumed via Pennsylvania lines. Particular information about fares, through time and other details will be furnished upon application to passenger and ticket agents

All Good to Eat.

New green beans, pineapples, asparagus, cucumbers, beets, rhubarb, parsnips, spinach, new cabbage, blood oranges, tomatoes, celery, radishes, onions, lettuce, apples, sweet potatoes and Natural Cry, at 270-h T. B. MURPHY & SON.

Kemp Goes to Jail.

Salem, April 26.—(Special.)—Harry Kemp, the negro burglar, was held for court in the sum of $500 and goes to jail.

Come and see the display of Fancy Fruits and Vegetables, at Heddleston Bros. 270-h

Latest styles in Millinery at Perry's. 270-i

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

Carrots and parsley at Oysters'. 270-h

If you have that tired feeling and have lost your appetite

You should have for breakfast some of our select Ham or Bacon with Fresh Eggs, or a Tender, Juicy Steak with a cup of Satisfaction Coffee.

For Lunch—Boiled Ham, Beef Loaf and Jagger's Maple Syrup.

For Dinner—a Prime Roast of Beef, Veal or Lamb.

Our high grade Columbus Butterine at all meals.

A. E. M'LEAN,
243 Fifth Street.
Both Phones 205.
Quick Delivery.

Best Values In Shoes at Bendheim's

This is an ideal shoe store. You may come here and select a pair of shoes and be sure of getting a style and shape that is up to date and furthermore you need not be an expert to insure yourself against getting poor qualities as none but reliable shoes are sold here and our guarantee for satisfactory wear goes with every pair.

Women's Genuine Patent Kid Shoe with cloth tops and flexible soles..... $3.00 a pair

Women's Patent Leather Shoes with kid tops, flexible soles..... $2.00 a pair

Girls' Patent Leather Shoes with cloth tops, sizes 11½ to 2½..... $1.50 a pair

Boys' Patent Leather Shoes, extension soles, sizes 13 to 5½..... $2.00 a pair

Women's Patent Leather Oxford Ties, extension welt soles and military heels $2.50 a pair

Women's Vici Kid Oxford Ties with patent leather tips, extension welt soles $2.00 a pair

Women's Juliet House Shoes, with elastic sides, plain and tipped toes

$1.00, $1.25, $1.50 a Pair.

Bendheim's.

Wanted His Full Share.

Little Willie, sitting down to tea with his grandmother, who is just about to cut the cake. Willie (hastily)—Grannie, before you cut my piece of cake I want to ask you a question.

Grannie—Well, dear, what is it?

Willie—I want to know if your spectacles magnify?

Grannie—Yes; a little, dear.

Willie—Well, then, will you please take them off while you cut my cake?

The Theory.

"So he regards himself as a senatorial possibility?" said one politician.

"Undoubtedly," answered the other.

"On what theory?"

"I don't know unless it's the theory that the unexpected always happens."

Men's patent leather Oxfords, snappy styles, $1.50 to $3.50, at FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Our "No-Name" Hats will go a long way to help you put on the finishing touches to look real swell. 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Pure, Clean And Wholesome.

Mother's bread; no mother's bread as good. Sold by Heddleston Bros. 270-h

The Telegram Came.

Bingo—Has a telegram come for me?

Mrs. Bingo—Have you been expecting one?

Bingo—Oh, no; of course not. (Sarcastically) You don't suppose I would ask you that question if I expected one, do you?

Mrs. Bingo (sweetly)—You might, dear. What would you say now if I should say that a telegram has come for you?

Bingo—Aha! I knew it. I've been expecting that telegram all the afternoon. (Impatiently) Where is it?

Mrs. Bingo—I'll get it. But, dear, I thought it best to open it. You didn't mind, did you, dearest?

Bingo—Certainly not. It's only a matter of business. From Jack Enslow, isn't it?

Mrs. Bingo—Yes, dear.

Bingo—Important meeting tonight. Says I must be there, doesn't he?

Mrs. Bingo—Yes, dear.

Bingo (rubbing his hands)—I knew it. Well, I'll have to rush off after dinner. Sorry for you, my dear, but, you know, business must be attended to.

Mrs. Bingo—Oh, that's all right, darling. But don't you want to see the message?

Bingo—Why should I? You opened it like a good wife that you are, and of course I can trust you. Jack wants me (delightedly), that's all, and I must go.

Mrs. Bingo—But there was one thing more he said, my pet.

Bingo (suspiciously)—Oh, there was. Well, what was it?

Mrs. Bingo (all smiles)—He says he's got front row seats.—Pearson's.

Do You Eat?

Let us supply you with a nice cake for Sunday dinner. Baked by expert bakers; nothing but the best of material used. Heddleston Bros. 270-h

Call and see our layout for Saturday. We are prepared to please you
2701h GEON BROS.

Your spring suit won't be the real thing unless you get it at 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

A new fine shoe that every lady admires for $2.50, at FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Nobby Trimmed Hats at Perry's. 270-i

Big Plant for Warren.

Warren, April 26.—The McMyler hoisting works, now being removed from Cleveland to Warren, will incorporate with a capital of $500,000. It it calculated by those in a position to know that within a year 700 to 800 men will be employed where six months ago was a stumpy wood lot.

STRIKING THE RIGHT SPOT.

That's the Great Secret of East Liverpool Praise Given to Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills.

There come times to every life when a lack of strength—failing appetite—poor circulation—weak heart action and many other symptoms may break in. They are not diseases—the person may not be laid up until they have existed a long time. The influence of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills is to create nerve force, and immediately people find themselves getting well because nerve force controls every vital organ of the body.

Mr. W. S. Gaston, of No. 264 Fifth street, East Liverpool, O., says: "Owing to a functional or nervous trouble and an impaired digestion my heart action was weak and irregular. The condition was far from pleasant and I was induced to get a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets. I am pleased that I did so, as the medicine has so strengthened the nervous system and digestion that the heart action is regular and strong and feel otherwise well and generally pleased with the result."

Dr A. W. Chase's Nerve pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medical company Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signiture of A. W. Chase,, M. D., are on every package.

The News Review

Published Daily Except Sunday by

THE EAST LIVERPOOL PUBLISHING COMPANY

LOUIS H. BRUSH, Manager.

The News Review, Daily, established 1885 By mail, one year, $5.00; six months, $3.00, three months, $1.75; by carrier, $5.00; ten cents per week.

The Saturday Review, Weekly, established 1880. By mail, one year, $1.00 in advance six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents.

Official Papers of the city of East Liverpool and Columbiana County.

OFFICE 196 WASHINGTON STREET.

Bell Telephone.

Business Office.....No. 122
Editorial Room.....No. 122

Columbiana County Telephone.

Business Office.....No. 122
Editorial Room.....No. 346

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL E. LIVERPOOL, O.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1901.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

COUNTY AND DISTRICT.

Common Pleas Judge—H. W. HARTER.
State Senator—CHARLES C. CONNELL.
Representative—SAMUEL BUELL.
Representative—D. W. CRIST.
Sheriff—SAMUEL D. NORAGON.
Auditor—J. F. ADAMS.
Treasurer—W. A. THOMPSON.
Commissioner—EDEN REEDER.
Infirmary Director—G. W. ARMSTRONG.

THE TAGALS GIVE IN.

The best news that has come from Manila in many a day is that contained in a dispatch telling of the complete pacification of the Tagals or Tagalogs. More important than the capture of Aguinaldo or the surrender of the rebel chiefs of Panay is the announcement that the Tagals have seen the error of their ways and enthusiastically welcome the efforts of the United States commission to establish liberty and government among them.

It was the Tagals who were the original insurrectionists. They are the most determined and best skilled fighters in all the Philippines. Bulacan, their old capital, was the seat and center of the insurrection. Malolos, the largest town of their province, was Aguinaldo's capital, and the hotbed of revolution. The commission has been sitting at Bulacan, and a Manila dispatch says of its work: "To the people of Bulacan and especially to the delegates from the Malolos district the sessions of the commissions were a revelation. They came cowed and curious, and departed many of them with tears in their eyes, full of confident hopes for the future of their country. They came in factions chiefly imbued with the idea of landing their respective candidates in the provincial offices; they left satisfied with the results and en rapport with American principles."

Only happy results can follow, for the other rebellious tribes have been following Tagal leadership. The Filipino war is at an end and the people of the islands will soon be enjoying a measure of liberty that would be impossible under any government save that of the United States. With peace will come prosperity, progress, education and all of liberty's priceless blessings. It is indeed good news to America, to Filipinos and to the world.

SCARCITY OF LABOR.

There is a scarcity of farm laborers, a scarcity of ironworkers, and a scarcity of kilnhands; in fact, according to accounts from all industrial centers, the demand for labor, both skilled and unskilled, is greater than was ever before known; greater than the supply. This means that millions of workingmen are all at work.

Theodore Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Association, talking the other day of conditions in the iron industry, said he had had calls for various classes of ironworkers and was unable to find a single man unemployed. He had received a call for plate mill workers for the first time since he had been in office. "There is every indication," said he, "of a prosperous condition of affairs in the iron and steel industries of the country." The cause is the resumption of long-idle mills and the opening of a big season among the builders.

And what is true of the iron business is true of other industries. Indeed, it is a recognized truth that when the iron industry flourishes, others follow suit. For the wage earners, the first year of the twentieth century is more than promising; it is already rich in results.

A ONE-MAN PARTY.

The Ohio Democrats need not hold any convention unless they want to get together for a good time, indulging in their faovrite amusement of abusing the party in power. As far as the ticket is concerned the bosses will decide it without asking the advice or consent of anyone. According to report it is all fixed already—fixed Tom Johnson's way. Might as well give him full discretionary powers; he will have his own way, anyhow.

Indiana proposes to honor the memory of ex-President Benjamin Harrison by erecting a $100,000 monument. It will be a fitting testimonial to a great man.

The towns along the Mahoning and the Shenango would rather see almost anything booming than the rivers.

Philadelphia grave diggers are on a strike and that poky town is as near being excited as it ever gets.

His eagerness for office leaves no room for doubt that ex-Attorney General Monnett is a Democrat.

OBITUARY

John Woodruff.

Wellsville, April 26.—John Woodruff, an aged and influential citizen, died at his home here Wednesday of Bright's disease. He was born in Youngstown in 1825 and upon attaining his majority went upon the road as salesman. He was a prominent politician and for more than half a century had been an Odd Fellow. He is survived by two sons, Charles and George, and one daughter, Mrs. Thomas Butler, all of whom reside in Wellsville. His wife died about six months ago.

Alice D. Sawyer.

Alice Doreen Sawyer, aged 6 years, died last week at Muskegon, Mich., and was buried on Sunday. She was an attractive child, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sawyer. Mrs. Sawyer was formerly Miss Myrtle Wilson, of this city, who has a host of friends here.

Death of an Infant.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. William Barlow died at their home on Calcutta road yesterday morning. It was buried at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

If you need a pair we want you to look at our trouser window on East Market street. 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Water cress and parsley at Oysters'. 270-h

Men's Foot Glove shoes beat competition and win trade, $3.00 and $3.50.
FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Cut flowers and potted plants, at
270-h T. B. MURPHY & SON.

New potatoes and lettuce at Oysters'. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

Strawberries at Frank E. Oysters'. 270-h

Eloquence and the Pea.

Our worthy forefathers were fond of rhetoric—particularly of funereal rhetoric—and were not always quick to perceive the dividing line between the sublime and ridiculous. They seem, moreover, to have regarded the extraordinary as contributing an added and kindred element to the impressive. Many of their epitaphs show this, but few more completely than that of an estimable matron who perished untimely in Newburyport in the eighteenth century.

Her tombstone on the crest of the burying hill is yet easily legible, with no more trouble than scraping a bit of lichen here and there and kneeling to push away the long grass and intruding daisies. Thus it reads:

Sacred to the Memory of
Mrs. Mary McHard

The virtuous and estimable Consort of Captain William McHard of Newbury Port, who midst the laudable exertions of a very useful and desirable Life, in which her Christian Profession was well adorned, and a fair copy of every social virtue displayed, was, in a state of health, Suddenly Summoned to the Skies & snatched from ye eager embraces of her friends (and the throbbing hearts of her disconsolate family confess'd their fairest prospects of sublunary bliss were in one moment dash'd) by Swallowing a Pea at her own table, whence in a few hours she sweetly breathed her Soul away on the 8th day of March 1778, aged 47.

This Mournful Stone as a faithful Monument of Virtue fled to Realms Above and a solemn Monitor to all below the Stars, is Erected by her Husband.

—Youth's Companion.

Worthy, but Couldn't Write.

"Hotels entertain a good many people who can't write," said the clerk of a large hotel, "and the bad pen comedy is enacted quite frequently. Of course the clerk has to be very careful not to let the guest suspect that he is on to the dodge, for such folks are very sensitive about their educational infirmities.

"I once knew a man who paid $1,200 a year solely to keep hotel clerks from knowing that he couldn't write his own name. He began life as a day laborer, drifted out west and made a fortune through leasing a supposed worthless mine in Montana. When he accumulated about $150,000, he sold out and started in to travel and have a good time. He was naturally shrewd, but he had never had a particle of schooling, and dodging registers at new hotels became the chief worry of his life.

"At first he used to tie up his hand in a handkerchief and pretend it was hurt, but he realized that the trick was pretty transparent, and at last he employed a young newspaper man at $100 a month to travel with him as his 'secretary.' The ex-miner never sent or received any letters, he didn't care for reading, and the secretary's one and only duty was to sign hotel registers. They would walk in together, and the young chap would say deferentially, 'Shall I do the registering for us both, colonel?' 'If you please,' his boss would reply, and he would thereupon write, 'Col. —— and secretary, Montana.'"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Force of Habit.

One of the neatest arrests on record was effected by a policeman near Bourne, England, not long ago. Suspecting two men of being deserters, he stepped up behind them and called out sharply, "Attention!" Taken unawares, the men sprang to position in true military style, only to find themselves the next moment in the arms of the law.

As to Gushers.

"My dear," said a careful mother to her daughter, "don't gush."

"Very well, mamma," replied the dutiful girl, "but you know that in the oil regions it is the gushing wells that are thought the most of."

"But you must also bear in mind that it is the unrefined oil which gushes."—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Reduced Rates to Northwest, West, South and Southeast.

The sale of special fare colonists tickets to California, and settlers' tickets to the Northwest, West, South and Southeast has been resumed via Pennsylvania lines. Particular information about fares, through time and other details will be furnished upon application to passenger and ticket agents

All Good to Eat.

New green beans, pineapples, asparagus, cucumbers, beets, rhubarb, parsnips, spinach, new cabbage, blood oranges, tomatoes, celery, radishes, onions, lettuce, apples, sweet potatoes and Natural Cry, at 270-h T. B. MURPHY & SON.

Kemp Goes to Jail.

Salem, April 26.—(Special.)—Harry Kemp, the negro burglar, was held for court in the sum of $500 and goes to jail.

Come and see the display of Fancy Fruits and Vegetables, at Heddleston Bros. 270-h

Latest styles in Millinery at Perry's. 270-i

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

Carrots and parsley at Oysters'. 270-h

If you have that tired feeling and have lost your appetite

You should have for breakfast some of our select Ham or Bacon with Fresh Eggs, or a Tender, Juicy Steak with a cup of Satisfaction Coffee.

For Lunch—Boiled Ham, Beef Loaf and Jagger's Maple Syrup.

For Dinner—a Prime Roast of Beef, Veal or Lamb.

Our high grade Columbus Butterine at all meals.

A. E. M'LEAN,
243 Fifth Street.
Both Phones 205.
Quick Delivery.

Best Values In Shoes at Bendheim's

This is an ideal shoe store. You may come here and select a pair of shoes and be sure of getting a style and shape that is up to date and furthermore you need not be an expert to insure yourself against getting poor qualities as none but reliable shoes are sold here and our guarantee for satisfactory wear goes with every pair.

Women's Genuine Patent Kid Shoe with cloth tops and flexible soles..... $3.00 a pair

Women's Patent Leather Shoes with kid tops, flexible soles..... $2.00 a pair

Girls' Patent Leather Shoes with cloth tops, sizes 11½ to 2½..... $1.50 a pair

Boys' Patent Leather Shoes, extension soles, sizes 13 to 5½..... $2.00 a pair

Women's Patent Leather Oxford Ties, extension welt soles and military heels $2.50 a pair

Women's Vici Kid Oxford Ties with patent leather tips, extension welt soles $2.00 a pair

Women's Juliet House Shoes, with elastic sides, plain and tipped toes

$1.00, $1.25, $1.50 a Pair.

Bendheim's.

Wanted His Full Share.

Little Willie, sitting down to tea with his grandmother, who is just about to cut the cake. Willie (hastily)—Grannie, before you cut my piece of cake I want to ask you a question.

Grannie—Well, dear, what is it?

Willie—I want to know if your spectacles magnify?

Grannie—Yes; a little, dear.

Willie—Well, then, will you please take them off while you cut my cake?

The Theory.

"So he regards himself as a senatorial possibility?" said one politician.

"Undoubtedly," answered the other.

"On what theory?"

"I don't know unless it's the theory that the unexpected always happens."

Men's patent leather Oxfords, snappy styles, $1.50 to $3.50, at FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Our "No-Name" Hats will go a long way to help you put on the finishing touches to look real swell. 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Pure, Clean And Wholesome.

Mother's bread; no mother's bread as good. Sold by Heddleston Bros. 270-h

The Telegram Came.

Bingo—Has a telegram come for me?

Mrs. Bingo—Have you been expecting one?

Bingo—Oh, no; of course not. (Sarcastically) You don't suppose I would ask you that question if I expected one, do you?

Mrs. Bingo (sweetly)—You might, dear. What would you say now if I should say that a telegram has come for you?

Bingo—Aha! I knew it. I've been expecting that telegram all the afternoon. (Impatiently) Where is it?

Mrs. Bingo—I'll get it. But, dear, I thought it best to open it. You didn't mind, did you, dearest?

Bingo—Certainly not. It's only a matter of business. From Jack Enslow, isn't it?

Mrs. Bingo—Yes, dear.

Bingo—Important meeting tonight. Says I must be there, doesn't he?

Mrs. Bingo—Yes, dear.

Bingo (rubbing his hands)—I knew it. Well, I'll have to rush off after dinner. Sorry for you, my dear, but, you know, business must be attended to.

Mrs. Bingo—Oh, that's all right, darling. But don't you want to see the message?

Bingo—Why should I? You opened it like a good wife that you are, and of course I can trust you. Jack wants me (delightedly), that's all, and I must go.

Mrs. Bingo—But there was one thing more he said, my pet.

Bingo (suspiciously)—Oh, there was. Well, what was it?

Mrs. Bingo (all smiles)—He says he's got front row seats.—Pearson's.

Do You Eat?

Let us supply you with a nice cake for Sunday dinner. Baked by expert bakers; nothing but the best of material used. Heddleston Bros. 270-h

Call and see our layout for Saturday. We are prepared to please you.
2701h GEON BROS.

Your spring suit won't be the real thing unless you get it at 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE

A new fine shoe that every lady admires for $2.50, at FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Nobby Trimmed Hats at Perry's. 270-i

Big Plant for Warren.

Warren, April 26.—The McMyler hoisting works, now being removed from Cleveland to Warren, will incorporate with a capital of $500,000. It it calculated by those in a position to know that within a year 700 to 800 men will be employed where six months ago was a stumpy wood lot.

STRIKING THE RIGHT SPOT.

That's the Great Secret of East Liverpool Praise Given to Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills.

There come times to every life when a lack of strength—failing appetite—poor circulation—weak heart action and many other symptoms may break in. They are not diseases—the person may not be laid up until they have existed a long time. The influence of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills is to create nerve force, and immediately people find themselves getting well because nerve force controls every vital organ of the body.

Mr. W. S. Gaston, of No. 264 Fifth street, East Liverpool, O., says: "Owing to a functional or nervous trouble and an impaired digestion my heart action was weak and irregular. The condition was far from pleasant and I was induced to get a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets. I am pleased that I did so, as the medicine has so strengthened the nervous system and digestion that the heart action is regular and strong and feel otherwise well and generally pleased with the result."

Dr A. W. Chase's Nerve pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medical company, Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signiture of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS.

Mrs. John Carran, of the West End, is ill.

Jesse Fisher was in Beaver yesterday on business.

E. B. Hawkins was a Pittsburg business visitor today.

Frank Bright, of Salineville, was a city visitor yesterday.

E. W. Rosensteel spent the day in Pittsburg on business.

J. P. Hernan, of Summitville, was in the city yesterday calling on friends.

Mrs. Henry Davis left yesterday afternoon for a visit with relatives at Irondale.

Mrs. William Barlow is confined to her home on Calcutta road with a severe illness.

Frank O'Hanlon left yesterday afternoon for a visit with relatives at McKees Rocks.

Mrs. George Switzer returned home yesterday afternoon after a visit with relatives at Toronto.

Miss Mary Brown returned home yesterday afternoon after a visit with relatives at Steubenville.

W. Morris left yesterday afternoon for a western trip in the interest of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery.

Homer J. West returned home last night from Denver, Col., where he has been spending two months with friends.

Miss Mary Alice Buckley has resigned her position with Job R. Manley, and her place is being filled by Miss Harriet Owens.

Mrs. W. L. Kingsley and daughter, Miss Helen, of La Belle, Wyo., left yesterday for New York, after a visit of several days in this city.

Mrs. Dr. Beane and little son have returned to their home in Calcutta after a visit with Mrs. Beane's mother, Mrs. M. F. Edwards, Third sreet.

A little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. D. Shea is afflicted with measles.

Mrs. G. W. McConnell has returned to her home in Carrollton after a visit with relatives in this city.

RIGHT FOR COAL BOATS.

Shipments By River Are Again Looked For.

The marks at the wharf this morning registered 22 feet and falling. The Lorena and Greenwood passed up yesterday afternoon and the Ben Hur passed down. The Greenwood will be down tonight.

As the river is now just about right for a coal boat stage, it is thought a large amount of coal will be shipped from Pittsburg tomorrow for southern points.

Work Still Unfinished.

The committee of council to secure the property of the city which still remains in the hands of ex-City Engineer George, have not yet completed their work. Several meetings of the committee have been held, but nothing has been accomplished. At 3 o'clock this afternoon Messrs. Cripps, Bullock and McLane will make another attempt to finish up the work.

Left Substantial Orders.

E. C. Knox, one of the largest buyers who visits East Liverpool, was here this week placing orders. Substantial ones were left with the Taylor, Lee & Smith, Dresden, United States and National. Mr. Knox left this morning for his home in St. Paul.

Making Repairs.

W. Griffis and a force of men left for force of men left this morning for Salineville, where they today repaired the damage done to lines of the Columbiana County Telephone company by the storm last Saturday.

Verdict for Defendant.

Judgment was given the defendant in the sum of $17 in the case of Prosser versus Sterling, which was heard by Justice Johnson yesterday afternoon.

Jumped the Track.

The shifting engine jumped the track in the upper freight yards this morning and the wreck train was called from Wellsville to again place the engine on the rails.

A Changed Man.

"It's funny how marrying changes a man," said Spriggs' caller.

"Yes," replied Spriggs dreamily. "It used to be that I was devoted to baseball and football and basket ball, and now I give all my spare time to baby's bawl," and he arose hurriedly and went into the adjoining room.—Detroit Free Press.

HOW TO GET ON IN BUSINESS

Continued from First Page.

ing to pay for the men who have them.

"You say there are not many of these places; and plenty of men to fill them. True, but go after them, anyway. The man who receives the highest salary in the world was a laborer 20 years ago; you have as much chance as he had. If you can't get a $100,000 place, you may get one at $10,000 or perhaps even $1,000 a year, which is more than your grandfather received."

The speaker cited a numbtr of examples of success in business life and how success in business was won. Promptness in work and promptness in meeting financial obligations are requisites. On the question whether higher education is of any use in business, Mr. Hard said: "Yes, if it is correctly used. High schools and colleges do not teach a man business, but they train the mind and show you how to think and how to learn. The educated lad will learn a business twice as rapidly as another, equally bright, but without schooling, and at the end of three years will be getting twice the pay of the other, because he will be worth it.

"Be honest and work faithfully; be careful of others' property; don't lie for yourself or any one else; be polite, and be careful in dress and personal appearance. Don't think you know it all; it is self-conceit which makes people think, if they don't get along, it is lack of luck.

"No matter what your habits are, no matter what your age, no matter what opportunities you have neglected—stop trifling. Resolves that from this on you will make use of the talents God gave you; that you will be a successful man. You can do it. You can do it with your own strength. But you can do it easier and quicker if you ask God's help."

POLITICAL MATTERS.

Hon. William B. Crew, of McConnelsville, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for supreme judge, to succeed Judge T. A. Minshall, of Chillicothe. While not a word can be said derogatory to Judge Minshall, Judge Crew's friends urge that much can be said in favor of his nomination. For the last 12 years Judge Crew has held the position of common pleas judge in the subdivision, comprised of Morgan, Muskingum, Guernsey and Noble counties, in the southeastern section of the state. Judge Minshall will, at the expiration of his term, have served 16 years—three consecutive terms.

On Saturday, May 4, the Republicans of Stark county will hold their primaries for the nomination of county officers. For sheriff there are five entries and the names are: O. F. Wilson, L. L. Down, Thomas J. Bidwell, Frank McKinney and James W. Calhoun. In the treasurer's race are J. Royal Snyder, the present deputy; Ephraim Pickens and Aaron S. Stoner. For clerk of courts there are three entries: Jacob J. Wise, John F. Spitler and Harry L. Keys. The contest for county auditor has dwindled down to two candidates, J. H. McConnell, the present city clerk, of Alliance, and M. W. Oberlin, of Massillon.

Defiance county has always been noted as one of the Democratic strongholds, but the general prosperity is ameliorating partisan spirit. The good times from 1897 onward caused many a voter, politically arrayed as an opponent of the Republican party, to vote for McKinley and the whole ticket last fall. This spring the two parties "broke about even" in the Defiance city election, and the sterling Republicans are encouraged to hope that they may eventually redeem the county as well.

The latter half of June will be early enough for the Republican state convention. Ohio Republicans know their business this year and can whip the Democratic party on short notice.—Toledo Blade.

By a very decisive vote, the Lincoln club, of Toledo, passed a resolution, requesting ex-Senator A. D. Fassett to resign his membership, because he has voted and worked against Republican candidates.

Cleveland is making a strong bid to secure the Democratic state convention.

OHIO A MIGHTY SHIP.

(Continued from First Page.)

vessels of the navy, were fitted with torpedo tubes above the water line. The Ohio will have two of these tubes, one on either side, situated about 50 feet from the bow and about 10 feet 6 inches below the water line.

The magazines and shell rooms can stow 240 rounds of twelve-inch ammunition, 3,200 rounds of six-inch ammunition, 9,600 rounds of six-pound and 4,000 rounds of one-pound ammunition. The forward magazines are located immediately forward of the dynamo rooms and the after ones just abaft the engine rooms.

There are two military masts fitted with the usual signal yards, tops and topmasts; two tops are built to each of these masts. The armor of the forward conning tower is 10 inches thick, and that of the after or signal tower is 6 inches thick. A steel tube 12 inches in diameter inside and 7 inches in thickness extends from the forward conning tower down to the protective deck, and protects the voice tubes and telegraphs from the commanding officer to the important stations in the vessel.

The Ohio will carry 14 boats, of which one is a forty-foot steam cutter and another a thirty-six-foot steam cutter of the usual naval type.

Hydraulic gear is used in steering the vessel, and can put the rudder from hard aport to hard astarboard in 20 seconds when the vessel is moving at full speed.

Four powerful searchlights, two of which are placed on the top of the pilot house an dtwo on the mainmast above th upper bridge, will give warning ofthe approach of hostile vessels, and for night signaling the ship carries two sets of electric signaling apparatus.

The normal coal supply is 1,000 tons, and the capacity of the bunkers is 2,000 tons.

The Ohio and her class are the first battleships of the United States navy in which water tube boilers were provided. Steam for the propelling machinery is supplied by the water tube boilers of the Thornycroft type, placed in four water-tight compartments. There are three smokepipes.

The collective indicated horse-power of the main engines, with their air and circulating, is about 16,000 when the vessel is making a speed of 18 knots. It should be stated here that the Ohio ranks next to the Georgia class of battleships in our navy in regard to speed.

The Georgia and class, which will have the greatest speed of any battleships yet authorized by congress, are designed to make 19 knots.

The construction of the Ohio class was authorized by congress on May 4, 1898, when the Spanish war demonstrated the wisdom of a greater increase in the navy. The keel was laid on April 22, 1899, and the contract price of hull and machinery is $2,899,000. Her complement is 35 officers and 511 men.

Died Very Suddenly.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—Miss Sallie Armstrong, the crippled daughter of the late Andrew Armstrong, died at the home of B. A. Young, in Elk Run township yesterday. She was 48 years of age and was ill only a few minutes. This makes the third death in the family within a year.

Arranging for the County Fair.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—The Columbiana County Agricultural board met in the petit jury room this afternoon for the purpose of revising the premium list and arranging for the annual fair next September.

AMERICAN GAMES YESTERDAY.

Chicago 7, 10, 2. Sullivan and Shopec. Cleveland 3, 5, 2. Yeager and Moore. Umpire—Connolly. Attendance, 2,800.

Detroit 14, 19, 7. Buelow, Miller and Frisk. Milwaukee 13, 16, 4. Leahy, Hawley, Dowling and Husting. Umpires—Sheridan and Manassan. Attendance large.

Baltimore-Boston, rain.

Philadelphia-Washington, rain.

No League Games Yesterday.

No league games yesterday—rain or wet grounds.

Western Games Yesterday.

Louisville 2; Indianapolis, 7.
Dayton, 14; Columbus, 1.
Grand Rapids, 2; Marion, 3.
Toledo, 8; Ft. Wayne, 0.

New Baseball League.

A league composed of the independent baseball teams of Youngstown, Warren, Kent, Canton, Painesville and Ashtabula, O., and Jamestown and Dunkirk, N. Y., was organized at a meeting of representatives of the cities named, held at Youngstown. A schedule will be arranged providing for games from May 15 to July 25. If the venture shall prove successful the schedule will be extended to the autumn. The American league rules and ball were adopted.

HIGH GRADE READY TAILORED SUITS

HAVE the same good qualities as a Suit made to measure. The coat is hand made and padded. The shoulder, collar and lapel of coat are made so as to set close and at the same time hang gracefully. The front of coat is lined with canvas and haircloth so that the coat holds its shape and the lapel stays to its proper place when unbuttoned.

All These Good Qualities We Have in Our Ready Tailored Suits.

The tailor gives you no more, only an increased price. The day for tailors to charge such exorbitant prices is past. You will believe it when you see the stylish made suits that we are showing this spring. Prices range from $10 to $18.

THE CLOTHING THAT MADE Rochester Famous

Solomon Bros. & Lempert

This firm's make we ask particular people to examine. Their line of suits is the finest beyond question. Men who want the best will consult their interests in looking at this noted line of ready tailored Suits.

Boys' Suits

Two and Three piece Suits, Knee Pants, age 3 to 8 years, all the newest styles; prices $1.25 to $6.00.

Boys' Suits

Two and three piece Suits, age 4 to 16 years; prices $1.50 to $7.00.

Hats

New styles we are showing this week. Hats of an individuality style that have just come out---first showing in the city.

Knox Hats

Everybody knows the Knox make, all hatters copy their styles: Knox's stands foremost in quality and style.

We have the exclusive sale of this hat in our city for ladies' and men's wear.

JOSEPH BROS.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS.

Mrs. John Carran, of the West End, is ill.

Jesse Fisher was in Beaver yesterday on business.

E. B. Hawkins was a Pittsburg business visitor today.

Frank Bright, of Salineville, was a city visitor yesterday.

E. W. Rosensteel spent the day in Pittsburg on business.

J. P. Hernan, of Summitville, was in the city yesterday calling on friends.

Mrs. Henry Davis left yesterday afternoon for a visit with relatives at Irondale.

Mrs. William Barlow is confined to her home on Calcutta road with a severe illness.

Frank O'Hanlon left yesterday afternoon for a visit with relatives at McKees Rocks.

Mrs. George Switzer returned home yesterday afternoon after a visit with relatives at Toronto.

Miss Mary Brown returned home yesterday afternoon after a visit with relatives at Steubenville.

W. Morris left yesterday afternoon for a western trip in the interest of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery.

Homer J. West returned home last night from Denver, Col., where he has been spending two months with friends.

Miss Mary Alice Buckley has resigned her position with Job R. Manley, and her place is being filled by Miss Harriet Owens.

Mrs. W. L. Kingsley and daughter, Miss Helen, of La Belle, Wyo., left yesterday for New York, after a visit of several days in this city.

Mrs. Dr. Beane and little son have returned to their home in Calcutta after a visit with Mrs. Beane's mother, Mrs. M. F. Edwards, Third sreet.

A little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. D. Shea is afflicted with measles.

Mrs. G. W. McConnell has returned to her home in Carrollton after a visit with relatives in this city.

RIGHT FOR COAL BOATS.

Shipments By River Are Again Looked For.

The marks at the wharf this morning registered 22 feet and falling. The Lorena and Greenwood passed up yesterday afternoon and the Ben Hur passed down. The Greenwood will be down tonight.

As the river is now just about right for a coal boat stage, it is thought a large amount of coal will be shipped from Pittsburg tomorrow for southern points.

Work Still Unfinished.

The committee of council to secure he property of the city which still emains in the hands of ex-City Engineer George, have not yet completed their work. Several meetings of he committee have been held, but othing has been accomplished. At o'clock this afternoon Messrs. ripps, Bullock and McLane will ake another attempt to finish up he work.

Left Substantial Orders.

E. C. Knox, one of the largest uyers who visits East Liverpool, was ere this week placing orders. Subantial ones were left with the Tayr, Lee & Smith, Dresden, United tates and National. Mr. Knox left is morning for his home in St. Paul.

Making Repairs.

W. Griffis and a force of men left for rce of men left this morning for lineville, where they today repaired e damage done to lines of the Combiana County Telephone company the storm last Saturday.

Verdict for Defendant.

Judgment was given the defendant the sum of $17 in the case of Prosr versus Sterling, which was heard Justice Johnson yesterday afteron.

Jumped the Track.

The shifting engine jumped track in the upper freight yards s morning and the wreck train s called from Wellsville to again ce the engine on the rails.

A Changed Man.

It's funny how marrying changes a n," said Spriggs' caller.

Yes," replied Spriggs dreamily. "It d to be that I was devoted to base- l and football and basket ball, and w I give all my spare time to baby's wl," and he arose hurriedly and ut into the adjoining room.—Detroit e Press.

HOW TO GET ON IN BUSINESS

Continued from First Page.

ing to pay for the men who have them.

"You say there are not many of these places and plenty of men to fill them. True, but go after them, anyway. The man who receives the highest salary in the world was a laborer 20 years ago; you have as much chance as he had. If you can't get a $100,000 place, you may get one at $10,000 or perhaps even $1,000 a year, which is more than your grandfather received."

The speaker cited a numbtr of examples of success in business life and how success in business was won. Promptness in work and promptness in meeting financial obligations are requisites. On the question whether higher education is of any use in business, Mr. Hard said: "Yes, if it is correctly used. High schools and colleges do not teach a man business, but they train the mind and show you how to think and how to learn. The educated lad will learn a business twice as rapidly as another, equally bright, but without schooling, and at the end of three years will be getting twice the pay of the other, because he will be worth it.

"Be honest and work faithfully; be careful of others' property; don't lie for yourself or any one else; be polite, and be careful in dress and personal appearance. Don't think you know it all; it is self-conceit which makes people think, if they don't get along, it is lack of luck.

"No matter what your habits are, no matter what your age, no matter what opportunities you have neglected—stop trifling. Resolves that from this on you will make use of the talents God gave you; that you will be a successful man. You can do it. You can do it with your own strength. But you can do it easier and quicker if you ask God's help."

POLITICAL MATTERS.

Hon. William B. Crew, of McConnelsville, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for supreme judge, to succeed Judge T. A. Minshall, of Chillicothe. While not a word can be said derogatory to Judge Minshall, Judge Crew's friends urge that much can be said in favor of his nomination. For the last 12 years Judge Crew has held the position of common pleas judge in the subdivision, comprised of Morgan, Muskingum, Guernsey and Noble counties, in the southeastern section of the state. Judge Minshall will, at the expiration of his term, have served 16 years—three consecutive terms.

On Saturday, May 4, the Republicans of Stark county will hold their primaries for the nomination of county officers. For sheriff there are five entries and the names are: O. F. Wilson, L. L. Down, Thomas J. Bidwell, Frank McKinney and James W. Calhoun. In the treasurer's race are J. Royal Snyder, the present deputy; Ephraim Pickens and Aaron S. Stoner. For clerk of courts there are three entries: Jacob J. Wise, John F. Spitler and Harry L. Keys. The contest for county auditor has dwindled down to two candidates, J. H. McConnell, the present city clerk, of Alliance, and M. W. Oberlin, of Massillon.

Defiance county has always been noted as one of the Democratic strongholds, but the general prosperity is ameliorating partisan spirit. The good times from 1897 onward caused many a voter, politically arrayed as an opponent of the Republican party, to vote for McKinley and the whole ticket last fall. This spring the two parties "broke about even" in the Defiance city election, and the sterling Republicans are encouraged to hope that they may eventually redeem the county as well.

The latter half of June will be early enough for the Republican state convention. Ohio Republicans know their business this year and can whip the Democratic party on short notice.—Toledo Blade.

By a very decisive vote, the Lincoln club, of Toledo, passed a resolution, requesting ex-Senator A. D. Fassett to resign his membership, because he has voted and worked against Republican candidates.

Cleveland is making a strong bid to secure the Democratic state convention.

OHIO A MIGHTY SHIP.

(Continued from First Page.)

vessels of the navy were fitted with torpedo tubes above the water line. The Ohio will have two of these tubes, one on either side, situated about 50 feet from the bow and about 10 feet 6 inches below the water line.

The magazines and shell rooms can stow 240 rounds of twelve-inch ammunition, 3,200 rounds of six-inch ammunition, 9,600 rounds of six-pound and 4,000 rounds of one-pound ammunition. The forward magazines are located immediately forward of the dynamo rooms and the after ones just abaft the engine rooms.

There are two military masts fitted with the usual signal yards, tops and topmasts; two tops are built to each of these masts. The armor of the forward conning tower is 10 inches thick, and that of the after or signal tower is 6 inches thick. A steel tube 12 inches in diameter inside and 7 inches in thickness extends from the forward conning tower down to the protective deck, and protects the voice tubes and telegraphs from the commanding officer to the important stations in the vessel.

The Ohio will carry 14 boats, of which one is a forty-foot steam cutter and another a thirty-six-foot steam cutter of the usual naval type.

Hydraulic gear is used in steering the vessel, and can put the rudder from hard aport to hard astarboard in 20 seconds when the vessel is moving at full speed.

Four powerful searchlights, two of which are placed on the top of the pilot house an dtwo on the mainmast above th upper bridge, will give warning ofthe approach of hostile vessels, and for night signaling the ship carries two sets of electric signaling apparatus.

The normal coal supply is 1,000 tons, and the capacity of the bunkers is 2,000 tons.

The Ohio and her class are the first battleships of the United States navy in which water tube boilers were provided. Steam for the propelling machinery is supplied by the water tube boilers of the Thornycroft type, placed in four water-tight compartments. There are three smokepipes.

The collective indicated horse-power of the main engines, with their air and circulating, is about 16,000 when the vessel is making a speed of 18 knots. It should be stated here that the Ohio ranks next to the Georgia class of battleships in our navy in regard to speed.

The Georgia and class, which will have the greatest speed of any battleships yet authorized by congress, are designed to make 19 knots.

The construction of the Ohio class was authorized by congress on May 4, 1898, when the Spanish war demonstrated the wisdom of a greater increase in the navy. The keel was laid on April 22, 1899, and the contract price of hull and machinery is $2,899,000. Her complement is 35 officers and 511 men.

Died Very Suddenly.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—Miss Sallie Armstrong, the crippled daughter of the late Andrew Armstrong, died at the home of B. A. Young, in Elk Run township yesterday. She was 48 years of age and was ill only a few minutes. This makes the third death in the family within a year.

Arranging for the County Fair.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—The Columbiana County Agricultural board met in the petit jury room this afternoon for the purpose of revising the premium list and arranging for the annual fair next September.

AMERICAN GAMES YESTERDAY.

Chicago 7, 10 2. Sullivan and Shopec. Cleveland 3, 5, 2. Yeager and Moore. Umpire—Connolly. Attendance, 2,800.

Detroit 14, 19, 7. Buelow, Miller and Frisk. Milwaukee 13, 16, 4. Leahy, Hawley, Dowling and Husting. Umpires—Sheridan and Manassan. Attendance large.

Baltimore-Boston, rain.

Philadelphia-Washington, rain.

No League Games Yesterday.

No league games yesterday—rain or wet grounds.

Western Games Yesterday.

Louisville 2; Indianapolis, 7.
Dayton, 14; Columbus, 1.
Grand Rapids, 2; Marion, 3.
Toledo, 8; Ft. Wayne, 0.

New Baseball League.

A league composed of the independent baseball teams of Youngstown, Warren, Kent, Canton, Painesville and Ashtabula, O., and Jamestown and Dunkirk, N. Y., was organized at a meeting of representatives of the cities named, held at Youngstown. A schedule will be arranged providing for games from May 15 to July 25. If the venture shall prove successful the schedule will be extended to the autumn. The American league rules and ball were adopted.

HIGH GRADE READY TAILORED SUITS

HAVE the same good qualities as a Suit made to measure. The coat is hand made and padded. The shoulder, collar and lapel of coat are made so as to set close and at the same time hang gracefully. The front of coat is lined with canvas and haircloth so that the coat holds its shape and the lapel stays to its proper place when unbuttoned.

All These Good Qualities We Have in Our Ready Tailored Suits.

The tailor gives you no more, only an increased price. The day for tailors to charge such exorbitant prices is past. You will believe it when you see the stylish made suits that we are showing this spring. Prices range from $10 to $18.

THE CLOTHING THAT MADE Rochester Famous

Solomon Bros. & Lempert

This firm's make we ask particular people to examine. Their line of suits is the finest beyond question. Men who want the best will consult their interests in looking at this noted line of ready tailored Suits.

Boys' Suits

Two and Three piece Suits, Knee Pants, age 3 to 8 years, all the newest styles; prices $1.25 to $6.00.

Boys' Suits

Two and three piece Suits, age 4 to 16 years; prices $1.50 to $7.00.

Hats

New styles we are showing this week. Hats of an individuality style that have just come out---first showing in the city.

Knox Hats

Everybody knows the Knox make, all hatters copy their styles: Knox's stands foremost in quality and style.

We have the exclusive sale of this hat in our city for ladies' and men's wear.

JOSEPH BROS.

TALK WITH CUBANS

Delegation of Islanders Sees the President and Confers With Root.

PLATT AMENDMENT STANDS

Secretary Assured Them Executive Department Couldn't Interfere—Intervention Proposition Caused Most Discussion—Dinner at White House.

Washington, April 26.—The Cuban delegation from the convention framing a constitution for the new island republic saw President McKinley twice, once when there were introductions and a formal exchange of expressions of friendship between the United States and Cuba, and again at night, when the members of the delegation were the guests of honor at a state dinner at the white house.

The real business which brought the delegation here was transacted with Secretary Root, at the war department, the president in the first interview at the white house saying to the delegation that he would confer with the secretary, who would act as his representative in conferences over the Cuban situation. Afterward the delegation and Secretary Root were closeted for some hours in a discussion of the relations of the island to the United States.

Conference With Secretary Root.

The most important meeting of the day was a conference in Secretary Root's office. This was the first business meeting, the others having been social and formal. Those present were the five Cuban delegates, their interpreter, Secretary Root, General Wood, Assistant Secretary Sanger, Senor Conzalez, General Wood's secretary, who acted as interpreter a great portion of the time. The army officers who are acting as escort for the Cubans also were present. When the meeting adjourned no official statement was made as to the proceedings, but it can be said that the result was considered satisfactory, both by the Cubans and Secretary Root. The business was not completed and the conference will reassemble this afternoon. The fact that the entire conversation had to be through interpreters made it necessary to proceed slowly.

It was made plain to the Cubans by Secretary Root that no modification of the Platt amendment could be made by the executive department of the government, and the Cubans themselves understand that there is little possibility of congressional action in that direction, so the conference was devoted largely to the construction which could be placed upon the amendment. The law states that the propositions contained in the amendment shall be "substantially agreed to by the Cubans and the discussion revolved chiefly around what will be considered "substantial" agreement to the Platt amendment requirements. There was some very fine legal sparring between Secretary Root and Senor Capote, the president of the constitutional convention, and chairman of the delegation, as to the meaning of certain proposed drafts of the different propositions that were considered. Both the secretary and Senor Capote expressed their views quite freely. The intervention proposition caused the most discussion, and as this had received much consideration in the convention in Havana, the Cubans were familiar with all phases of the construction that might be placed upon it. All members of the delegation took more or less part in the discussion and the attention by Secretary Root.

Impressed With Desire to Deal Fairly.

It was understood that the Cubans are impressed with the desire on the part of this government to deal fairly by Cuba and the belief was expressed that the delegation will take home favorable reports of our intentions.

The delegation made no complaint of the present military government under General Wood.

After the conference adjourned the Cubans called on General Wood at the Richmond. Today Secretary Root will entertain the delegates at luncheon.

General Wood expected to leave here tonight, going to New York, thence to Cuba. It is not known when the Cubans will return, but the belief was expressed that the business which brought them here would be concluded at the conference today.

Cleveland Capitalists Secured Control.

Cleveland, April 26.—Cleveland capitalists secured control of the electric road now building between Springfield and from Xenia to Lebanon into Cincinnati. The company has a capitalization of $500,000. The road will go into Cincinnati along the Little Miami valley. The syndicate also owns the Southern Ohio Traction company, which already has entrance into Cincinnati.

Pineapples, oranges, bananas, apples, at FERGUSON'S.
270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound at Hassey's. 270-h

He Got the Business.

"There are tricks even in our trade," said the old life insurance man. "About ten years ago a couple of respectable old parties, man and wife, came to town with $100,000 or so that they wanted to put into an annuity. They had neither chick nor child, kith nor kin, and they wanted to finish their lives in as much ease and luxury as could be bought. So they made the rounds of the life insurance companies getting their annuity figures and had all the actuaries in town making calculations in the case.

"The head mathematician of the Blank Dash company was a little better than a mere figurer. He happened to hear what town the old parties came from, and he suddenly remembered that he had an old friend, a doctor, who lived there, whom he hadn't seen for years. He invited the medicine man down at once, took him out and showed him a real good, decent time. Then he edged around to the annuity hunters, and, lo and behold, the doctor was their family physician! Without appearing to pump him, the actuary learned enough about the old couple to enable him to make a most glittering inducement to the pair, and they bought their annuity of his concern. They were both dead inside of two years. I forgot just how much the company netted. I think it had paid out about one-tenth of what the old folks had paid in. The company was a gainer, and there were no losers except the other companies as a result of the actuary's shrewd move."—New York Sun.

"Spellbinders'" Ways.

"Spellbinding" is the happy name given to the platform speaking which plays such an important part in every campaign. The national chairman determines who shall be the stars in this department. An ex-president is most in demand, a speaker or an ex-speaker comes next as a rule, and senators and representatives are invited to speak in the order of their usefulness. One speech by an ex-president is worth half a dozen efforts by other men, though they may be more logical and eloquent.

The candidate himself, when an orator, will draw greater crowds than anybody else, but if he is wise he will let the national committee arrange his itinerary and schedule. Headquarters are always overrun with volunteers for the stump; the star, or man with a reputation, waits to be invited or urged. Most of the lesser men are laborers for hire, but others are ambitious to make a reputation as a stepping stone to political office, and some are intensely in earnest and eager to be useful to their party.

The national committee settles for the expenses of spellbinders, unless they insist on paying their own way, which is unusual. Some of the great orators receive handsome sums for their services and travel in state.—Home Magazine.

Senatorial Repartee.

Once in the senate chamber John J. Ingalls was directing some remarks to Senator Hoar of Massachusetts. The other senator from that state, Mr. Dawes, having come in while Mr. Ingalls was speaking, thought the words were meant for his ear, and so, interrupting, he asked Ingalls if he was directing the remarks at him. The tall senator turned slowly around, for Mr. Dawes sat behind him, and then, with delicious intonation, but an instant wit, he said, "I was directing my remarks to the successor of Charles Sumner and not to the successor of Daniel Webster."

The repartee has become traditional, and the utterance was at once placed alongside of that reply of Conkling to Senator Thurman, which is also traditional in the senate chamber.

Conkling was speaking, and Thurman had said, interrupting him, "Does the senator aim his remarks at me; he constantly turns to me?" when Mr. Conkling, with delicious gravity, bowing to Thurman, with whom he was very friendly, said: "When I turn to the senator, I turn as the Mussulman turns to Mecca; I turn as I would turn to the common law of England—the world's most copious fount of jurisprudence."

When Li Hung Chang Grinned.

Once during a dry season in China the viceroy, Earl Li Hung Chang, called on the American minister, Mr. Conger, and spoke of the weather.

"Yes," said Mr. Conger, "it seems to be dry everywhere. It is dry in my country too. I read in one of our papers the other day that in many places in the west the people were praying for rain."

"What!" said the earl. "Do your people pray to their God for rain?"

"Oh, yes," said the minister, "they often pray for rain."

"And does their God send it when they pray for it?" asked the earl.

"Yes, sometimes their prayers are answered, and sometimes they are not."

"All the same like Chinese joss, hey?" said the earl, with a grin and a chuckle

Everything good to eat at 270-h FERGUSON'S.

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

A Few Drops Of Rain

Won't hurt thoroughly good Shoes. At this time of year you will often be caught in a shower without rubbers. You should wear Shoes that will stand a few kinds of variable weather. We sell them. They are neat, dressy, durable and moderate priced.

Ask to see our $3 Men's Shoes, guaranteed to wear as good as any $3.50 Men's Shoe made. Kilnmen's special shoe $2.50.

The Sleepless Shoe Firm,

C. H. BENCE, Manager.

SYMPATHY FOR CATHOLICS.

Rev. Dr. Parker, Congregationalist, Spoke of Despicable Insult In King's Oath.

London, April 26.—In delivering the presidential address at the Congregational union to the City Temple, Dr. Parker somewhat astonished the meeting by his reference to King Edward, prefacing his remarks with the discriminatory words:

"God be thanked for Queen Victoria and God save her son, the king."

Dr. Parker proceeded to express the deepest sympathy with Roman Catholics under the "despicable insult" inflicted on them by the oath of accession. The non-conformists, said Dr. Parker, recognized the king as sovereign of the empire, but would never hail him as head of the church or defender of the faith.

J. FRANK CONDON SUICIDED.

He Was Official Court Reporter For Blair and Cambria Counties, Pa.

Altoona, Pa., April 26.—J. Frank Condon, for the past 20 years official court reporter for Blair and Cambria counties, committed suicide in his office in this city probably during Wednesday afternoon by blowing out his brains. His body was not found until Thursday. On his desk was a telegram addressed to his son in Johnstown, saying:

"Father is dead, come."

Sealed letters to friends were also found in his desk. Mr. Condon had been in poor health for a long time. He was 47 years of age.

Found Entombed Men Dead.

Shamokin, Pa., April 26.—The rescuing party at Luke Fidler colliery penetrated the breasts worked by Anthony Marcavich and Anthony Sharacavish, who were entombed in a gangway since noon Wednesday by a fall of coal. The men were found dead near the place where the rescuers broke through and from the condition of their bodies it is likely they were suffocated by gas soon after they had been entombed.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE

Making Preparations for the Annual Convention Here Next Summer.

The local Sons of St. George are to attend St. Stephen's church next Sunday morning, along with the Daughters of St. George. This lodge has initiated a large number of men this term and now has over 150 members.

Preparations are being made for the Grand Lodge convention next August. The reception will be held on Monday night, August 19. The famous Jaba Wah degree will be conferred on Tuesday night, and Rock Springs Park has been engaged for Wednesday, August 21. The convention is composed of delegates from the district of Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia.

To Abolish Grade Crossings.

Ravenna, O., April 26.—Pennsylvania railroad officials before the county commissioners yesterday asked Portage county to contribute $10,000 to help defray the expenses of abolishing grade crossings in this county. This met with a refusal and the company will pay the entire expense. Eight grade crossings on the new line from Ravenna to the Summit county line will go.

Florida oranges, naval oranges and seedless oranges, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

Big boys' suits, double breasted, square cut and the new style 3-piece suit, coat, pants and vest, at 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

MISSIONARIES MALIGNED.

Conger Pronounces Stories of Looting False—Dr. Ament Lied About.

Chicago, April 26.—A special to The Record-Herald from San Francisco gave the following expressions from Minister Edwin H. Conger, with reference to the alleged looting by missionaries in Pekin:

"Dr. Ament is the most lied-about man in China, unless it is myself.

"The stories of looting by missionaries and their collecting indemnities by force are absolutely false.

"The missionaries acted with nobility and heroism during the Pekin siege, fighting bravely alongside the soldiers and the rest of us."

San Francisco, April 26.—Dr. Ament, the missionary, arrived here.

Mrs. Maria G. Saxton Dead.

Canton, O., April 26.—Mrs. Maria G. Saxton, aunt of Mrs. McKinley, died here. Mrs. Saxton was with Mrs. McKinley at the white house for several weeks after the first inauguration. Deceased was the widow of Thomas Saxton, who established the Canton Evening Repository.

Funny Freaks of Yvette Guilbert.

Mlle. Yvette Guilbert in the heyday of her American success was in splendid spirits. In crossing a certain district on Sunday she was unable to get a bottle of claret.

"If I give it to you, madame," said the waiter, "I shall have to go to jail."

"Then go," said Mlle. Guilbert cheerfully, "but first get me my claret."

One afternoon in Chicago two blank cards were sent up to her by callers desiring her autograph. On the one she wrote, "Yvette Guilbert is a very good singer," and on the other, "Yvette Guilbert is a very naughty singer."

"Now," she said airily as she dropped them on the tray, "let them choose wheech is wheech."

Her wisdom was of a worldly description. "For who will give me bread when I no longer please by my songs, the dear publeee? No. Therefore I come to America, and I come high."—Saturday Evening Post.

The Source of Wisdom.

"I wonder how Solomon became the wisest man on earth?"

"That's easily explained," replied the man with the intellectual but worried face. "You see, Solomon had a large number of families, and of course his children asked questions, just as all children do. I have no doubt Solomon was like anybody else and had a certain dislike to exposing his ignorance. When one of the children would ask him something he didn't know, he'd make believe he wanted a drink of water and then go out and look in the back of the dictionary. I shouldn't be surprised if he were compelled to do this 50 or 60 times a day. Under such conditions a man couldn't help getting wise."—Washington Star.

An Awful Loss.

At a fire in Cambridge, Mass., an occupant of the damaged house was bewailing the loss of her purse. Several firemen joined in a search for the missing pocketbook, but after spending some time in their quest were still unsuccessful. Finally the chief said to the woman:

"How much was in the pocketbook?"

As she answered, "Fifty cents," the look of disgust on the chief's face was too evident to be mistaken.

Water.

Boiled water or distilled water should not be used either by grown people or children unless there is danger from contamination from the water in ordinary use. Pure cold water is preferable. A child may be given a glass of cool (never ice) water the first thing in the morning—say half an hour before breakfast, and may also take a glass on retiring

Men's linen shoes, big values, $1.
FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO.
270-h

Feed on Arsenic.

The practice of taking arsenic in minute doses is very prevalent among the peasantry of the mountainous districts of Austria-Hungary and France. They declare that the poison enables them to ascend with ease heights which they could not otherwise climb.

The women have a great deal to say about the necessity of a young married woman "beginning right with her husband," as if she ought to go at him like a horse trainer goes at a young colt.—Atchison Globe.

EAST LIVERPOOL MONUMENT WORKS
C. N. Everson, Prop.
Manufacturer and dealer in Granite and Marble Monuments and other Cemetery Work.
154 Third St., East Liverpool, O.

ORDER YOUR SPRING SUIT.
All the latest patterns now in to select from. All kinds of Clothing Cleaned, Pressed and Repaired.
Our Prices are Always the Lowest.
East Liverpool Tailoring and Cleaning Co.
224 Washington St., C. C. Phone 257.

S. J. MARTIN, RESTAURANT,
175 BROADWAY.
CHOICE MEALS. Only 25c.

Water Consumers' Notice

Water rents are due and payable semi-annually, in April and October of each year. April rent now due. Save the 10 per cent by paying promptly. Office open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., and Saturday evening.

J. W. GIPNER,
Secretary.
248-1mo

THE Crockery City Plumbing Co.

Have opened a first class plumbing, gas, steam and hot water heating shop on Walnut street, near the corner of Calcutta Road. Will cheerfully furnish estimates on all contract work. Jobbing promptly attended to. Bell telephone No. 29.

Walter B. Faulk,
MANAGER.

IT'S CLEAR
to any one who examines closely into the matter that our MEATS
are of the most desirable quality. They look attractive and are every bit as good as they look. The flesh is firm, tender and delicious. Contains the highest percentage of nutrient juices because cut from young, well fed animals.

CHAS. A. TRAINER,
274-2 East Market, 273 Broadway,
Cel. 203. Bell, 334-2.

TALK WITH CUBANS

Delegation of Islanders Sees the President and Confers With Root.

PLATT AMENDMENT STANDS

Secretary Assured Them Executive Department Couldn't Interfere—Intervention Proposition Caused Most Discussion—Dinner at White House.

Washington, April 26.—The Cuban delegation from the convention framing a constitution for the new island republic saw President McKinley twice, once when there were introductions and a formal exchange of expressions of friendship between the United States and Cuba, and again at night, when the members of the delegation were the guests of honor at a state dinner at the white house.

The real business which brought the delegation here was transacted with Secretary Root, at the war department, the president in the first interview at the white house saying to the delegation that he would confer with the secretary, who would act as his representative in conferences over the Cuban situation. Afterward the delegation and Secretary Root were closeted for some hours in a discussion of the relations of the island to the United States.

Conference With Secretary Root.

The most important meeting of the day was a conference in Secretary Root's office. This was the first business meeting, the others having been social and formal. Those present were the five Cuban delegates, their interpreter, Secretary Root, General Wood, Assistant Secretary Sanger, Senor Conzalez, General Wood's secretary, who acted as interpreter a great portion of the time. The army officers who are acting as escort for the Cubans also were present. When the meeting adjourned no official statement was made as to the proceedings, but it can be said that the result was considered satisfactory, both by the Cubans and Secretary Root. The business was not completed and the conference will reassemble this afternoon. The fact that the entire conversation had to be through interpreters made it necessary to proceed slowly.

It was made plain to the Cubans by Secretary Root that no modification of the Platt amendment could be made by the executive department of the government, and the Cubans themselves understand that there is little possibility of congressional action in that direction, so the conference was devoted largely to the construction which could be placed upon the amendment. The law states that the propositions contained in the amendment shall be "substantially agreed to by the Cubans and the discussion revolved chiefly around what will be considered "substantial" agreement to the Platt amendment requirements. There was some very fine legal sparring between Secretary Root and Senor Capote, the president of the constitutional convention, and chairman of the delegation, as to the meaning of certain proposed drafts of the different propositions that were considered. Both the secretary and Senor Capote expressed their views quite freely. The intervention proposition caused the most discussion, and as this had received much consideration in the convention in Havana, the Cubans were familiar with all phases of the construction that might be placed upon it. All members of the delegation took more or less part in the discussion and the attention by Secretary Root.

Impressed With Desire to Deal Fairly.

It was understood that the Cubans are impressed with the desire on the part of this government to deal fairly by Cuba and the belief was expressed that the delegation will take home favorable reports of our intentions.

The delegation made no complaint of the present military government under General Wood.

After the conference adjourned the Cubans called on General Wood at the Richmond. Today Secretary Root will entertain the delegates at luncheon.

General Wood expected to leave here tonight, going to New York, thence to Cuba. It is not known when the Cubans will return, but the belief was expressed that the business which brought them here would be concluded at the conference today.

Cleveland Capitalists Secured Control.

Cleveland, April 26.—Cleveland capitalists secured control of the electric road now building between Springfield and from Xenia to Lebanon into Cincinnati. The company has a capitalization of $500,000. The road will go into Cincinnati along the Little Miami valley. The syndicate also owns the Southern Ohio Traction company, which already has entrance into Cincinnati.

Pineapples, oranges, bananas, apples, at FERGUSON'S. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound at Hassey's. 270-h

He Got the Business.

"There are tricks even in our trade," said the old life insurance man. "About ten years ago a couple of respectable old parties, man and wife, came to town with $100,000 or so that they wanted to put into an annuity. They had neither chick nor child, kith nor kin, and they wanted to finish their lives in as much ease and luxury as could be bought. So they made the rounds of the life insurance companies getting their annuity figures and had all the actuaries in town making calculations in the case.

"The head mathematician of the Blank Dash company was a little better than a mere figurer. He happened to hear what town the old parties came from, and he suddenly remembered that he had an old friend, a doctor, who lived there, whom he hadn't seen for years. He invited the medicine man down at once, took him out and showed him a real good, decent time. Then he edged around to the annuity hunters, and, lo and behold, the doctor was their family physician! Without appearing to pump him, the actuary learned enough about the old couple to enable him to make a most glittering inducement to the pair, and they bought their annuity of his concern. They were both dead inside of two years. I forgot just how much the company netted. I think it had paid out about one-tenth of what the old folks had paid in. The company was a gainer, and there were no losers except the other companies as a result of the actuary's shrewd move."—New York Sun.

"Spellbinders'" Ways.

"Spellbinding" is the happy name given to the platform speaking which plays such an important part in every campaign. The national chairman determines who shall be the stars in this department. An ex-president is most in demand, a speaker or an ex-speaker comes next as a rule, and senators and representatives are invited to speak in the order of their usefulness. One speech by an ex-president is worth half a dozen efforts by other men, though they may be more logical and eloquent.

The candidate himself, when an orator, will draw greater crowds than anybody else, but if he is wise he will let the national committee arrange his itinerary and schedule. Headquarters are always overrun with volunteers for the stump; the star, or man with a reputation, waits to be invited or urged. Most of the lesser men are laborers for hire, but others are ambitious to make a reputation as a stepping stone to political office, and some are intensely in earnest and eager to be useful to their party.

The national committee settles for the expenses of spellbinders, unless they insist on paying their own way, which is unusual. Some of the great orators receive handsome sums for their services and travel in state.—Home Magazine.

Senatorial Repartee.

Once in the senate chamber John J. Ingalls was directing some remarks to Senator Hoar of Massachusetts. The other senator from that state, Mr. Dawes, having come in while Mr. Ingalls was speaking, thought the words were meant for his ear, and so, interrupting, he asked Ingalls if he was directing the remarks at him. The tall senator turned slowly around, for Mr. Dawes sat behind him, and then, with delicious intonation, but an instant wit, he said, "I was directing my remarks to the successor of Charles Sumner and not to the successor of Daniel Webster."

The repartee has become traditional, and the utterance was at once placed alongside of that reply of Conkling to Senator Thurman, which is also traditional in the senate chamber.

Conkling was speaking, and Thurman had said, interrupting him, "Does the senator aim his remarks at me; he constantly turns to me?" when Mr. Conkling, with delicious gravity, bowing to Thurman, with whom he was very friendly, said: "When I turn to the senator, I turn as the Mussulman turns to Mecca; I turn as I would turn to the common law of England—the world's most copious fount of jurisprudence."

When Li Hung Chang Grinned.

Once during a dry season in China the viceroy, Earl Li Hung Chang, called on the American minister, Mr. Conger, and spoke of the weather.

"Yes," said Mr. Conger, "it seems to be dry everywhere. It is dry in my country too. I read in one of our papers the other day that in many places in the west the people were praying for rain."

"What!" said the earl. "Do your people pray to their God for rain?"

"Oh, yes," said the minister, "they often pray for rain."

"And does their God send it when they pray for it?" asked the earl.

"Yes, sometimes their prayers are answered, and sometimes they are not."

"All the same like Chinese joss, hey?" said the earl, with a grin and a chuckle

Everything good to eat at 270-h FERGUSON'S.

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

A Few Drops Of Rain

Won't hurt thoroughly good Shoes. At this time of year you will often be caught in a shower without rubbers. You should wear Shoes that will stand a few kinds of variable weather. We sell them. They are neat, dressy, durable and moderate priced.

Ask to see our $3 Men's Shoes, guaranteed to wear as good as any $3.50 Men's Shoe made. Kilnmen's special shoe $2.50.

The Sleepless Shoe Firm,

C. H. BENCE, Manager.

SYMPATHY FOR CATHOLICS.

Rev. Dr. Parker, Congregationalist, Spoke of Despicable Insult In King's Oath.

London, April 26.—In delivering the presidential address at the Congregational union to the City Temple, Dr. Parker somewhat astonished the meeting by his reference to King Edward, prefacing his remarks with the discriminatory words:

"God be thanked for Queen Victoria and God save her son, the king."

Dr. Parker proceeded to express the deepest sympathy with Roman Catholics under the "despicable insult" inflicted on them by the oath of accession. The non-conformists, said Dr. Parker, recognized the king as sovereign of the empire, but would never hail him as head of the church or defender of the faith.

J. FRANK CONDON SUICIDED.

He Was Official Court Reporter For Blair and Cambria Counties, Pa.

Altoona, Pa., April 26.—J. Frank Condon, for the past 20 years official court reporter for Blair and Cambria counties, committed suicide in his office in this city probably during Wednesday afternoon by blowing out his brains. His body was not found until Thursday. On his desk was a telegram addressed to his son in Johnstown, saying:

"Father is dead, come."

Sealed letters to friends were also found in his desk. Mr. Condon had been in poor health for a long time. He was 47 years of age.

Found Entombed Men Dead.

Shamokin, Pa., April 26.—The rescuing party at Luke Fidler colliery penetrated the breasts worked by Anthony Marcavich and Anthony Sharacavish, who were entombed in a gangway since noon Wednesday by a fall of coal. The men were found dead near the place where the rescuers broke through and from the condition of their bodies it is likely they were suffocated by gas soon after they had been entombed.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE

Making Preparations for the Annual Convention Here Next Summer.

The local Sons of St. George are to attend St. Stephen's church next Sunday morning, along with the Daughters of St. George. This lodge has initiated a large number of men this term and now has over 150 members.

Preparations are being made for the Grand Lodge convention next August. The reception will be held on Monday night, August 19. The famous Jaba Wah degree will be conferred on Tuesday night, and Rock Springs Park has been engaged for Wednesday, August 21. The convention is composed of delegates from the district of Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia.

To Abolish Grade Crossings.

Ravenna, O., April 26.—Pennsylvania railroad officials before the county commissioners yesterday asked Portage county to contribute $10,000 to help defray the expenses of abolishing grade crossings in this county. This met with a refusal and the company will pay the entire expense. Eight grade crossings on the new line from Ravenna to the Summit county line will go.

Florida oranges, naval oranges and seedless oranges, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

Big boys' suits, double breasted, square cut and the new style 3-piece suit, coat, pants and vest, at 270-i THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

MISSIONARIES MALIGNED.

Conger Pronounces Stories of Looting False—Dr. Ament Lied About.

Chicago, April 26.—A special to The Record-Herald from San Francisco gave the following expressions from Minister Edwin H. Conger, with reference to the alleged looting by missionaries in Pekin:

"Dr. Ament is the most lied-about man in China, unless it is myself.

"The stories of looting by missionaries and their collecting indemnities by force are absolutely false.

"The missionaries acted with nobility and heroism during the Pekin siege, fighting bravely alongside the soldiers and the rest of us."

San Francisco, April 26.—Dr. Ament, the missionary, arrived here.

Mrs. Maria G. Saxton Dead.

Canton, O., April 26.—Mrs. Maria G. Saxton, aunt of Mrs. McKinley, died here. Mrs. Saxton was with Mrs. McKinley at the white house for several weeks after the first inauguration. Deceased was the widow of Thomas Saxton, who established the Canton Evening Repository.

Funny Freaks of Yvette Guilbert.

Mlle. Yvette Guilbert in the heyday of her American success was in splendid spirits. In crossing a certain district on Sunday she was unable to get a bottle of claret.

"If I give it to you, madame," said the waiter, "I shall have to go to jail."

"Then go," said Mlle. Guilbert cheerfully, "but first get me my claret."

One afternoon in Chicago two blank cards were sent up to her by callers desiring her autograph. On the one she wrote, "Yvette Guilbert is a very good singer," and on the other, "Yvette Guilbert is a very naughty singer."

"Now," she said airily as she dropped them on the tray, "let them choose wheech is wheech."

Her wisdom was of a worldly description. "For who will give me bread when I no longer please by my songs, the dear publeee? No. Therefore I come to America, and I come high."—Saturday Evening Post.

The Source of Wisdom.

"I wonder how Solomon became the wisest man on earth?"

"That's easily explained," replied the man with the intellectual but worried face. "You see, Solomon had a large number of families, and of course his children asked questions, just as all children do. I have no doubt Solomon was like anybody else and had a certain dislike to exposing his ignorance. When one of the children would ask him something he didn't know, he'd make believe he wanted a drink of water and then go out and look in the back of the dictionary. I shouldn't be surprised if he were compelled to do this 50 or 60 times a day. Under such conditions a man couldn't help getting wise."—Washington Star.

An Awful Loss.

At a fire in Cambridge, Mass., an occupant of the damaged house was bewailing the loss of her purse. Several firemen joined in a search for the missing pocketbook, but after spending some time in their quest were still unsuccessful. Finally the chief said to the woman:

"How much was in the pocketbook?"

As she answered, "Fifty cents," the look of disgust on the chief's face was too evident to be mistaken.

Water.

Boiled water or distilled water should not be used either by grown people or children unless there is danger from contamination from the water in ordinary use. Pure cold water is preferable. A child may be given a glass of cool (never ice) water the first thing in the morning—say half an hour before breakfast, and may also take a glass on retiring.

Men's linen shoes, big values, $1. FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Feed on Arsenic.

The practice of taking arsenic in minute doses is very prevalent among the peasantry of the mountainous districts of Austria-Hungary and France. They declare that the poison enables them to ascend with ease heights which they could not otherwise climb.

The women have a great deal to say about the necessity of a young married woman "beginning right with her husband," as if she ought to go at him like a horse trainer goes at a young colt.—Atchison Globe.

EAST LIVERPOOL MONUMENT WORKS

G. N. Everson, Prop.

Manufacturer and dealer in Granite and Marble Monuments and other Cemetery Work.

154 Third St., East Liverpool, O.

ORDER YOUR SPRING SUIT.

All the latest patterns now in to select from. All kinds of Clothing Cleaned, Pressed and Repaired.

Our Prices are Always the Lowest.

East Liverpool Tailoring and Cleaning Co.

224 Washington St., C. C. Phone 257.

S. J. MARTIN, RESTAURANT,

175 BROADWAY.

CHOICE MEALS. Only 25c.

Water Consumers' Notice

Water rents are due and payable semi-annually, in April and October of each year. April rent now due. Save the 10 per cent by paying promptly. Office open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., and Saturday evening.

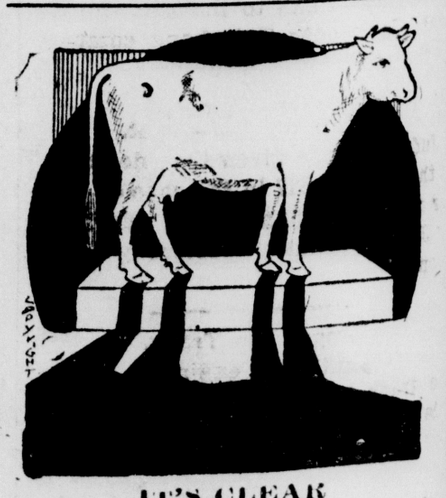
J. W. GIPNER, Secretary.

248-1mo

THE Crockery City Plumbing Co.

Have opened a first class plumbing, gas, steam and hot water heating shop on Walnut street, near the corner of Calcutta Road. Will cheerfully furnish estimates on all contract work. Jobbing promptly attended to. Bell telephone No. 29.

Walter B. Faulk, MANAGER.



IT'S CLEAR

to any one who examines closely into the matter that our

MEATS

are of the most desirable quality. They look attractive and are every bit as good as they look. The flesh is firm, tender and delicious. Contains the highest percentage of nutrient juices because cut from young, well fed animals.

CHAS. A. TRAINER,

274-2 East Market, 273 Broadway, Col. 203. Bell, 334-2.

NEARLY 200 VICTIMS

Fears That This Number Were Either Killed or Injured In Germany.

BOILERS IN FACTORY EXPLODED

Occurred Near Griesheim, In Smokeless Powder Works—Hard Fighting to Keep Flames From Spreading to Benzine Tanks In Neighborhood.

Frankfort, April 26.—A disastrous explosion occurred at the Electro Chemical works, near Griesheim, where smokeless powder is manufactured. Most of the boilers exploded. The noise was so tremendous that it was heard at great distances, including Frankfort and Mayence.

The factory became a mass of flames, and a northeast wind carried the sparks to neighboring villages, where several houses were also set on fire.

Eighteen cylinders, each containing about 100 hundred weight of smokeless powder, were in the room where the explosion occurred.

Troops were ordered to Griesheim to prevent the fire spreading to the large benzine reservoirs nearby. Fire brigades from places in the neighborhood hurried to the scene, but owing to the dangerous nature of the disaster and the fear of a renewal of the explosions, the greatest difficulty was experienced in stopping the progress of the flames. Only after about five hours of strenuous effort was the conflagration to some extent controlled and the danger passed, so as to make it possible to begin the work of extricating the bodies. It is feared that nearly 200 persons have been killed or injured.

ATTITUDE OF BRYAN.

No Present Intention of Seeking a Third Nomination—Has No Enemies to Punish.

Lincoln, Neb., April 26.—In a statement given publicity W. J. Bryan said in effect that he had no intention of seeking a third nomination for the presidency. Mr. Bryan's announcement is in answer to an article in an eastern paper speculating on his plans as a political leader. Mr. Bryan said:

"I am not planning for another presidential nomination. If I were I would not be editing a paper. If I ever become a candidate again it will be because it seems necessary for the advancement of the principles to which I adhere, and that does not now seem probable. I shall, however, take an interest in politics for several years yet, if I live, and can be relied upon to support those who as candidates advance Democratic principles and who can be trusted to enforce them if elected.

"I have no enemies to punish. No matter what a man may have said or done against the ticket in 1896 or in 1900, that man becomes my friend the moment he accepts Democratic principles. Neither have I any disposition to reward political friends at the expense of our cause. No matter what a man may have said or done for the ticket in 1896 or in 1900, that man becomes an opponent the moment he turns against Democratic principles. Political battles are fought not in the past or in the future, but in the present. The heretofore cannot be recalled, and the hereafter cannot be anticipated, but the now is all important."

FLOOD ABOUT STATIONARY.

Reached Height at Cincinnati and Some Points Above—Great Suffering In West Virginia.

Cincinnati, April 26.—The high water mark of the flood passed down this part of the Ohio valley earlier last night than was expected and the stage of water became almost stationary from about 6 to about 10 o'clock at fractions above 59.1 feet, and afterwards at about 59.2 feet, when it became stationary here and at upper points. Early in the evening the temporary rise in that district, caused by the Kanawha and Big Sandy, swelled the water at Portsmouth, but it was soon over, and may lose its force before it shall reach Cincinnati.

A careful estimate placed the number of men thrown out of employment in Cincinnati by the flood at about 2,000, and about half as many in Covington and Newport, Ky.

At Ironton it was reported that about 1,500 men had been thrown out of employment. Similar conditions existed at Cattlettsburg, Portsmouth and Huntington. An estimate was made at Huntington that more than 3,000 families are homeless in the southern part of West Virginia, and about 8,000 men are idle, and that the loss by the flood in that part of the state will exceed a million dollars.

Try the new remedy for costiveness, Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Every box guaranteed. Price, 25 cents. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

It Is Money

saved on clothing to store it in a Moth Proof Cedar Chest.

The moths do not like it.

Rainy, damp spring moths are more plentiful than usual, so we have just received a lot of these moth proof chests that you may protect your winter clothing.

We have two sizes at $10 and $12 and will be pleased to show them to you.

THE S. G. HARD CO.

THE BIG STORE

Wounded Soldier Returns.

Lisbon, April 26.—James Farrell, for two years a soldier in the Third regular infantry in the Philippines, has returned to his home in this city, having been discharged by reason of disability resulting from a gunshot wound, received by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of a comrade. The ball struck him in the stomach and passed entirely through his body, emergin at the back. He was in the hospital for two months.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE.

All members of Josiah Wedgewood Lodge, No. 235, (and members of sister lodges also), are requested to meet in their hall on Sunday morning next at 10 o'clock, to attend St. Stephen's church.

Very important business next Wednesday night. CYRUS BAYLEY, Secretary.

270-h

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Conrad Seibert, an aged resident of Johnstown, Pa., hanged himself to a bed post

The Pennsylvania railroad station at Miller's farm, near Titusville, Pa., was burned.

Joseph Serf, of Latrobe, Pa., developed a case of smallpox and had been quarantined.

Mrs. George McCracken was fatally wounded by the accidental discharge of a revolver at Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

Edward L. Irvin was on trial at Bellefonte, Pa., charged with the murder of Mrs. Ella B. Williams.

Fireman Lierd, standing on the pilot of his engine, saved the life of Mary Johnson, aged 5, at Driftwood, Pa., by snatching her from the track.

Rose and Emma Gilson, Martha Shaffer and Ella Mishow, of Williamsport, Pa., were attacked by tramps. They put their assailants to flight by the use of hat pins.

A search was being made for the relatives of Charles P. Hawk, a Baltimore and Ohio brakeman, of Keyser, W. Va. who was killed some time ago. He was insured for $1,500, and no beneficiaries have been found.

At Cambridge, O., a car on a Pennsylvania coal train jumped the track near the Baltimore and Ohio target house, completely demolishing the building. Engineer Frederick Johnson, of the Baltimore and Ohio, of Newark, was instantly killed. The operator, F. E. Coke, and Engineer Woodford, of the Baltimore and Ohio, were badly injured.

The jury in the case of J. C. Robinson, former secretary of the Cash, Globe Mutual and Industrial Building and Loan associations, who had been on trial on the charge of embezzlement, brought in a verdict at Pittsburg finding the defendant "not guilty" and placing the costs on the prosecution in the three cases against Robinson. There are still eight indictments upon which Robinson can be tried.

Albert C. Schroth, the former bookkeeper of the First National bank of Birmingham, Pittsburg, appeared before United States Commissioner W. T. Lindsey to answer the charges against him for embezzling $34,999.96 and falsifying the books of the bank. The defendant waived a hearing and gave bail in the sum of $10,000 for his appearance at the May term of the United States district court, which meets in Pittsburg the first Monday in May. Robert Phillips, who went on his bond when he was arrested, was his bondsman.

Strawberries, cucumbers, sparagus, radishes, lettuce, spinach, onions, rhubarb, etc., at FERGUSON'S.

270-h

BURLINGTON MERGER.

Announcement of Details Apparently Had Little Effect on That Stock.

New York, April 26.—Speculative sentiment showed a decided improvement Thursday over that which prevailed Wednesday, although the movement of prices continued very irregular and at times erratic. The heavy speculation liquidation which was accomplished Wednesday and on previous days of the week, relieving the overcongestion of the speculative holdings, doubtless had a great deal to do with the better tone of the market. The sustained strength of Union Pacific, even after Wednesday's remarkable spurt, and a disposition to take more account of the many rumors of actual developments concerning the property, relieved the feeling of uneasiness over Wednesday's extraordinary transactions in that stock, which in themselves led to some liquidation owing to the suspicion aroused that they were designed to cover heavy profit taking in other quarters of the list. There were further developments of strength Wednesday as a supplement to the Union Pacific movement, and the strength of the market was more generally diffused than at any previous time this week. The manner in which the market received the formal announcement of the terms of the Burlington merger had an encouraging effect on sentiment. There was little effect on Burlington itself, which moved narrowly by comparison with other stocks; but was very firm all day.

The most conspicuous movements of the day were distinctly the outgrowth of the current conviction that the perfecting of the Burlington deal will be followed by similar arrangements on the part of other railroad systems as an offset.

The strength of the Southern Pacific was due to the supposition that it will share in any advantages which accrue to Union Pacific. The official denials which were given of many of the rumors of Wednesday and Thursday were without the slightest effect on the market. Special strength was shown by the Chicago Terminal Transfer and Colorado Fuel stocks at advances of 3¾ to 5½ without news to explain it. Smelting broke 4½ on the announcement of another injunction against the stock issue proposed to take up the Guggenheim interests. The stock rallied 2½. The ease of call money precluded any anxiety over the money market.

The large buying of Union Pacific convertible bonds continued and the market generally was strong. Total sales, par value, $7,105,000.

U. S. refunding 2s declined ⅛ and the 3s, registered, ¼ per cent on the last call.

Guessed Wrongly.

"What do you expect to do with all your money?" asked the multimillionaire's spiritual adviser. "You can't take it with you where you are going."

"Yes, but I can," answered the multimillionaire. "I am going to Europe."—Chicago Tribune.

April 30, THE LAST DAY

That you can take advantage of Spencer's offer to secure

$5.00 Cabinet Photos For $3.00 a Dozen.

I have used up the stock card-mounts bearing the imprint of the old firm and if you desire to take advantage of this low price you must leave your order before close of month.

R. E. Spencer.

First National Bank Building.

G. R. PATTISON,

Bargains in Jewery.

Notice our window display of Brooches, Cuff Buttons, Scarf Pins, Hat Pins, Watch Chains, Bracelets, Hair Barrettes, Chatelaines, Watches, Charms, Sterling Silver Spoons, Plated Silverware, Sterling Silver Novelties, Brushes, Photo Frames and many other useful articles too numerous to mention.
Remember any article in the window for only $1.
This special sale will last for only a few days. Do not fail to take advantage of it.
We are also headquarters for Columbus Phonographs and Records.

G. R. Pattison,

JEWELER & OPTICIAN,

IN THE DIAMOND.

An Abbreviation.

A colonel of a British regiment in South Africa who was repairing a railroad after one of General De Wet's many breakages discovered a fine empty house, which he proceeded to occupy as headquarters.

When the news of the colonel's comfortable quarters reached Bloemfontein, he received a telegram which read:

"G. T. M. wants house."

The colonel was unable to make out what "G. T. M." meant and inquired of officers, who translated it "general traffic manager."

"All right," said the colonel. "If he can use hieroglyphics, so can I."

So he wired back:

"G. T. M. can G. T. H."

Two days later he received a dispatch from Bloemfontein ordering him to attend a board of inquiry. On appearing in due course he was asked what he meant by sending such an insulting message to a superior officer.

"Insulting?" repeated the colonel innocently. "It was nothing of the kind."

"But what do you mean," demanded his superior, "by telling me I can 'G. T. H.?'"

"It was simply an abbreviation," replied the colonel—"G. T. M. (general traffic manager) can G. T. H. (get the house)."

After a preacher has made a married couple one they each immediately set to work to find out which is the one.—Kansas City Times.

The Vaults of the Potters' National Bank are the strongest and best in Eastern Ohio and afford absolute protection for all kinds of valuables.

Rates Reasonable.

THE FIRST NATIONAL.... BANK

OF EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

President—David Boyce.
Vice President—J. M. Kelly.
Cashier—N. G. Macrum.
Asst. Cashier—Thos. H. Fisher.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

David Boyce, W. L. Thompson;
J. M. Kelly, O. C. Vodrey
B. C. Simms, Jno. C. Thompson,
Jas. N. Vodrey.

CAPITAL - - $100,000
SURPLUS - - $100,000

General Banking Business.

Invites Business and Personal Accounts.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT.

193 Washington Street.

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50 Gloves $1.00
$1.25 " .79
$1.00 " .79

This week only.

THE LEADER,

Washington St.

FRANK ALLEN'S O. K. Barber Parlors.
222 Washington Street.

Nothing but first-class Workmen Employed.
Hot and Cold Baths. Having just put in an instantaneous heating appliance there is no limit to hot water.

NEARLY 200 VICTIMS

Fears That This Number Were Either Killed or Injured In Germany.

BOILERS IN FACTORY EXPLODED

Occurred Near Griesheim, In Smokeless Powder Works—Hard Fighting to Keep Flames From Spreading to Benzine Tanks In Neighborhood.

Frankfort, April 26.—A disastrous explosion occurred at the Electro Chemical works, near Griesheim, where smokeless powder is manufactured. Most of the boilers exploded. The noise was so tremendous that it was heard at great distances, including Frankfort and Mayence.

The factory became a mass of flames, and a northeast wind carried the sparks to neighboring villages, where several houses were also set on fire.

Eighteen cylinders, each containing about 100 hundred weight of smokeless powder, were in the room where the explosion occurred.

Troops were ordered to Griesheim to prevent the fire spreading to the large benzine reservoirs nearby. Fire brigades from places in the neighborhood hurried to the scene, but owing to the dangerous nature of the disaster and the fear of a renewal of the explosions, the greatest difficulty was experienced in stopping the progress of the flames. Only after about five hours of strenuous effort was the conflagration to some extent controlled and the danger passed, so as to make it possible to begin the work of extricating the bodies. It is feared that nearly 200 persons have been killed or injured.

ATTITUDE OF BRYAN.

No Present Intention of Seeking a Third Nomination—Has No Enemies to Punish.

Lincoln, Neb., April 26.—In a statement given publicity W. J. Bryan said in effect that he had no intention of seeking a third nomination for the presidency. Mr. Bryan's announcement is in answer to an article in an eastern paper speculating on his plans as a political leader. Mr. Bryan said:

"I am not planning for another presidential nomination. If I were I would not be editing a paper. If I ever become a candidate again it will be because it seems necessary for the advancement of the principles to which I adhere, and that does not now seem probable. I shall, however, take an interest in politics for several years yet, if I live, and can be relied upon to support those who as candidates advance Democratic principles and who can be trusted to enforce them if elected.

"I have no enemies to punish. No matter what a man may have said or done against the ticket in 1896 or in 1900, that man becomes my friend the moment he accepts Democratic principles. Neither have I any disposition to reward political friends at the expense of our cause. No matter what a man may have said or done for the ticket in 1896 or in 1900, that man becomes an opponent the moment he turns against Democratic principles. Political battles are fought not in the past or in the future, but in the present. The heretofore cannot be recalled, and the hereafter cannot be anticipated, but the now is all important."

FLOOD ABOUT STATIONARY.

Reached Height at Cincinnati and Some Points Above—Great Suffering In West Virginia.

Cincinnati, April 26.—The high water mark of the flood passed down this part of the Ohio valley earlier last night than was expected and the stage of water became almost stationary from about 6 to about 10 o'clock at fractions above 59.1 feet, and afterwards at about 59.2 feet, when it became stationary here and at upper points. Early in the evening the temporary rise in that district, caused by the Kanawha and Big Sandy, swelled the water at Portsmouth, but it was soon over, and may increase its force before it shall reach Cincinnati.

A careful estimate placed the number of men thrown out of employment in Cincinnati by the flood at about 20,000, and about half as many in Covington and Newport, Ky.

At Ironton it was reported that about 1,500 men had been thrown out of employment. Similar conditions existed at Cattlettsburg, Portsmouth and Huntington. An estimate was made at Huntington that more than 1,000 families are homeless in the southern part of West Virginia, and that about 8,000 men are idle, and that the losses by the flood in that part of the state will exceed a million dollars.

Try the new remedy for costiveness, Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Every box guaranteed. Price, 25 cents. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

It Is Money

saved on clothing to store it in a Moth Proof Cedar Chest.

The moths do not like it.

Rainy, damp spring moths are more plentiful than usual, so we have just received a lot of these moth proof chests that you may protect your winter clothing.

We have two sizes at $10 and $12 and will be pleased to show them to you.

THE S. G. HARD CO.

THE BIG STORE

Wounded Soldier Returns.

Lisbon, April 26.—James Farrell, for two years a soldier in the Third regular infantry in the Philippines, has returned to his home in this city, having been discharged by reason of disability resulting from a gunshot wound, received by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of a comrade. The ball struck him in the stomach and passed entirely through his body, emergin at the back. He was in the hospital for two months.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE.

All members of Josiah Wedgewood Lodge, No. 235, (and members of sister lodges also), are requested to meet in their hall on Sunday morning next at 10 o'clock, to attend St. Stephen's church.

Very important business next Wednesday night. CYRUS BAYLEY,
270-h Secretary.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Conrad Seibert, an aged resident of Johnstown, Pa., hanged himself to a bed post

The Pennsylvania railroad station at Miller's farm, near Titusville, Pa., was burned.

Joseph Serf, of Latrobe, Pa., developed a case of smallpox and had been quarantined.

Mrs. George McCracken was fatally wounded by the accidental discharge of a revolver at Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

Edward L. Irvin was on trial at Bellefonte, Pa., charged with the murder of Mrs. Ella B. Williams.

Fireman Lierd, standing on the pilot of his engine, saved the life of Mary Johnson, aged 5, at Driftwood, Pa., by snatching her from the track.

Rose and Emma Gilson, Martha Shaffer and Ella Mishow, of Williamsport, Pa., were attacked by tramps. They put their assailants to flight by the use of hat pins.

A search was being made for the relatives of Charles P. Hawk, a Baltimore and Ohio brakeman, of Keyser, W. Va., who was killed some time ago. He was insured for $1,500, and no beneficiaries have been found.

At Cambridge, O., a car on a Pennsylvania coal train jumped the track near the Baltimore and Ohio target house, completely demolishing the building. Engineer Frederick Johnson, of the Baltimore and Ohio, of Newark, was instantly killed. The operator, F. E. Coke, and Engineer Woodford, of the Baltimore and Ohio, were badly injured.

The jury in the case of J. C. Robinson, former secretary of the Cash, Globe Mutual and Industrial Building and Loan associations, who had been on trial on the charge of embezzlement, brought in a verdict at Pittsburg finding the defendant "not guilty" and placing the costs on the prosecution in the three cases against Robinson. There are still eight indictments upon which Robinson can be tried.

Albert C. Schroth, the former bookkeeper of the First National bank of Birmingham, Pittsburg, appeared before United States Commissioner W. T. Lindsey to answer the charges against him for embezzling $34,999.96 and falsifying the books of the bank. The defendant waived a hearing and gave bail in the sum of $10,000 for his appearance at the May term of the United States district court, which meets in Pittsburg the first Monday in May. Robert Phillips, who went on his bond when he was arrested, was his bondsman.

Strawberries, cucumbers, sparagus, radishes, lettuce, spinach, onions, rhubarb, etc., at FERGUSON'S.
270-h

BURLINGTON MERGER.

Announcement of Details Apparently Had Little Effect on That Stock.

New York, April 26.—Speculative sentiment showed a decided improvement Thursday over that which prevailed Wednesday, although the movement of prices continued very irregular and at times erratic. The heavy speculation liquidation which was accomplished Wednesday and on previous days of the week, relieving the overcongestion of the speculative holdings, doubtless had a great deal to do with the better tone of the market. The sustained strength of Union Pacific, even after Wednesday's remarkable spurt, and a disposition to take more account of the many rumors of actual developments concerning the property, relieved the feeling of uneasiness over Wednesday's extraordinary transactions in that stock, which in themselves led to some liquidation owing to the suspicion aroused that they were designed to cover heavy profit taking in other quarters of the list. There were further developments of strength Wednesday as a supplement to the Union Pacific movement, and the strength of the market was more generally diffused than at any previous time this week. The manner in which the market received the formal announcement of the terms of the Burlington merger had an encouraging effect on sentiment. There was little effect on Burlington itself, which moved narrowly by comparison with other stocks; but was very firm all day.

The most conspicuous movements of the day were distinctly the outgrowth of the current conviction that the perfecting of the Burlington deal will be followed by similar arrangements on the part of other railroad systems as an offset.

The strength of the Southern Pacific was due to the supposition that it will share in any advantages which accrue to Union Pacific. The official denials which were given of many of the rumors of Wednesday and Thursday were without the slightest effect on the market. Special strength was shown by the Chicago Terminal Transfer and Colorado Fuel stocks at advances of 3¾ to 5½ without news to explain it. Smelting broke 4½ on the announcement of another injunction against the stock issue proposed to take up the Guggenheim interests. The stock rallied 2½. The ease of call money precluded any anxiety over the money market.

The large buying of Union Pacific convertible bonds continued and the market generally was strong. Total sales, par value, $7,105,000.

U. S. refunding 2s declined ⅛ and the 3s, registered, ¼ per cent on the last call.

Guessed Wrongly.

"What do you expect to do with all your money?" asked the multimillionaire's spiritual adviser. "You can't take it with you where you are going."

"Yes, but I can," answered the multimillionaire. "I am going to Europe."—Chicago Tribune.

April 30, THE LAST DAY

That you can take advantage of Spencer's offer to secure

$5.00 Cabinet Photos For $3.00 a Dozen.

I have used up the stock card-mounts bearing the imprint of the old firm and if you desire to take advantage of this low price you must leave your order before close of month.

R. E. Spencer.

First National Bank Building.

G. R. PATTISON,

Bargains in Jewery.

Notice our window display of Brooches, Cuff Buttons, Scarf Pins, Hat Pins, Watch Chains, Bracelets, Hair Barrettes, Chatelaines, Watches, Charms, Sterling Silver Spoons, Plated Silverware, Sterling Silver Novelties, Brushes, Photo Frames and many other useful articles too numerous to mention.
Remember any article in the window for only $1.
This special sale will last for only a few days. Do not fail to take advantage of it.
We are also headquarters for Columbus Phonographs and Records.

G. R. Pattison,

JEWELER & OPTICIAN,

IN THE DIAMOND.

An Abbreviation.

A colonel of a British regiment in South Africa who was repairing a railroad after one of General De Wet's many breakages discovered a fine empty house, which he proceeded to occupy as headquarters.

When the news of the colonel's comfortable quarters reached Bloemfontein, he received a telegram which read:

"G. T. M. wants house."

The colonel was unable to make out what "G. T. M." meant and inquired of officers, who translated it "general traffic manager."

"All right," said the colonel. "If he can use hieroglyphics, so can I."

So he wired back:

"G. T. M. can G. T. H."

Two days later he received a dispatch from Bloemfontein ordering him to attend a board of inquiry. On appearing in due course he was asked what he meant by sending such an insulting message to a superior officer.

"Insulting?" repeated the colonel innocently. "It was nothing of the kind."

"But what do you mean," demanded his superior, "by telling me I can 'G. T. H.?'"

"It was simply an abbreviation," replied the colonel—"G. T. M. (general traffic manager) can G. T. H. (get the house)."

After a preacher has made a married couple one they each immediately set to work to find out which is the one.—Kansas City Times.

The Vaults of the Potters' National Bank are the strongest and best in Eastern Ohio and afford absolute protection for all kinds of valuables.

Rates Reasonable.

THE FIRST NATIONAL.... BANK

OF EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

President—David Boyce.
Vice President—J. M. Kelly.
Cashier—N. G. Macrum.
Asst. Cashier—Thos. H. Fisher.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

David Boyce, W. L. Thompson;
J. M. Kelly, O. C. Vodrey
B. C. Simms, Jno. C. Thompson,
Jas. N. Vodrey.

CAPITAL - - $100,000
SURPLUS - - $100,000

General Banking Business.

Invites Business and Personal Accounts.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT.

193 Washington Street.

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50 Gloves $1.00
$1.25 " .79
$1.00 " .79

This week only.

THE LEADER,

Washington St.

FRANK ALLEN'S O. K. Barber Parlors.
222 Washington Street.

Nothing but first-class Workmen Employed.
Hot and Cold Baths. Having just put in an instantaneous heating appliance there is no limit to hot water.

EXTRA

Men's and Boys Negligee Shirts.

With separate cuffs to match, some with collars to match as well, warranted to be the usual 50c qualities, this week, limiting 3 to each customer, at..... 25c

Wm. Erlanger & Co.

Cor. Fifth & Washington St. E. Liverpool, Ohio.

EXTRA

Boys' and Children's All Wool Sweaters

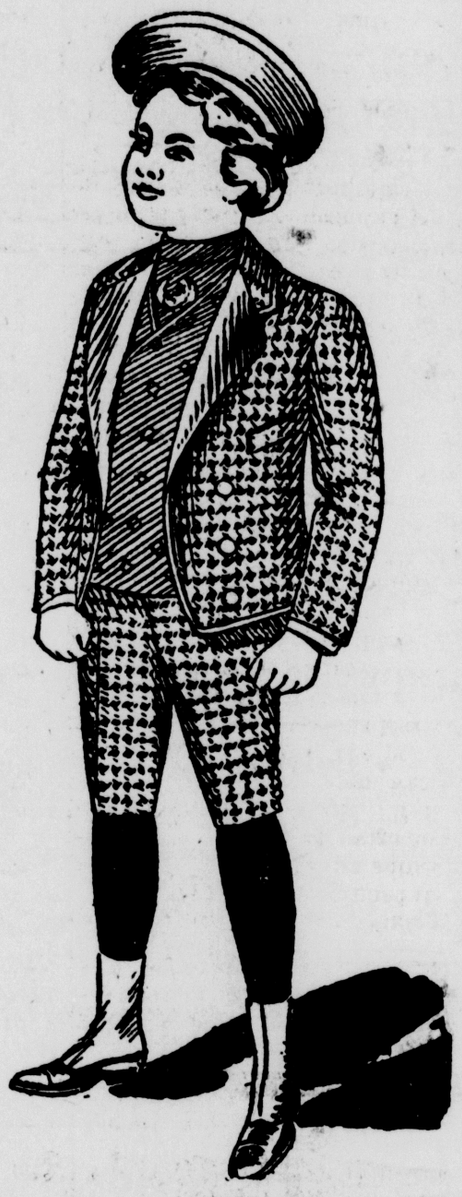
In Maroon, Oxford and navy, warranted the usual 75c qualities, limiting two to each buyer, at each..... 39c

SPECIAL VALUES IN OUR CUSTOM TAILORING DEPARTMENT. MEN'S $25 SUITS AND TOP COATS, To Order $18.50

EAST LIVERPOOL'S JUVENILE STORE,

Has the pleasure of announcing a capture of about 200 Sample Suits, 5 or 6 of each kind, and more than 50 kinds, boys', youths' and children's Suits, the newest and the best obtainable. All spring 1901 ideas.

All the choicest and most fashionable, from one of the best factories in America. The sale of which starts tomorrow and continues indefinately.



Boys $3 Suits for $2

Vestee styles for little lads, and double breasted styles for bigger boys wearing knee pants, choice assortments, in all sizes from 3 to 16 inclusive, neat patterns, and 50 per cent. underprice $2

Boys' Elegant $7 Suits for $5

We say $7 suits, because they will fully average that value. Some are however worth more. Some cost regularly $6 wholesale. All styles, novelty 3 piece suits and blouse suits, and Russian suits, high art goods, choice..... $5.00

Young Men's $12 and $13 Suits for $10

6 of each style and many styles, a rare chance for good dressers, some worth $1, or $2 or $3 more than others, but one round price for choice of all the sample Suits, an average $3 saving choice..... $10

Boy's 20c seamless ribbed black hose, spliced heels and knees, 11c.

Boy's 35c odd knee pants, all new spring colorings and patterns 17c.

Boys 25c fancy webbing suspenders, with leather ends, 15c.

Boys' blue bib Overalls ages 3 to 14, double seamed, 18c.

Boy's 50c Mother's Friend Percale and Cheviot Shirt waists, 31c.

Young Men's good $6.50 and $7 Suits for $5

$5 cheap for a good Suit you say, and well you might say so. Samples, 6 of each kind or pattern, including sizes from 13 to 20 years, double or single breasted, plain or mixtures, stylish, serviceable..... $5

In this line we can supply your wants and satisfy you in prices. You must have the goods and we want to sell them to you at

BULGER'S Pharmacy.

Sixth and West Market St.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Married on Wednesday—Clarence Douglass and Miss Lena Johnson were married in this city on Wednesday. They will reside here.

"Pinkeye" Prevalent — "Pinkeye" has made its appearance in East Liverpool, and a large number of people have contracted the malady.

Pension Increased—Josiah Greene, of this city, has been granted an increase in his pension from $6 to $8 per month.

Circus License Issued—Mayor Davidson yesterday issued a license for the Robinson circus, which exhibits here next month.

Buying Ware Here—John E. West, of New York, is here buying crockery ware for a store which he is about to open in Minneapolis. He is a brother of George West, traveling salesman for the Vodrey plant, and formerly lived here.

Taken Suddenly Ill—Mrs. Clements, teacher at the Grant street school, was taken suddenly ill yesterday afternoon and had to be taken home in a carriage.

Fans Will Be There—A number of base ball enthusiasts of this city will go to Pittsburg on Monday to witness the first league game of the season in that city.

Postponed Until Tuesday—The hearing in the Barnes-Hewitt case has been postponed until next Tuesday. The testimony will be taken by Probate Judge Boone.

Awaiting a Challenge — Manager Weston, of the Taylor, Lee & Smith pottery base ball team, is anxiously awaiting a challenge from Manager Woodburn, of the E. M. Knowles pottery team.

Circus in Chester—James Rigby yesterday afternoon closed the deal with Agent Wood, whereby the John Robinson circus will show on the Rigby tract on the Southside. The lot is becoming popular as a show ground. Ringling Bros. having occupied it last year.

Quick Dessert easily prepared with JELLYCON

REQUIRES no cooking, no baking, but only the labor of a minute. It is composed of purest calfs-foot gelatine, powdered sugar and pure flavor, all carefully combined to save housekeepers trouble, delay, labor and doubt. Only necessary to dissolve the contents of a package in hot water and set away to harden.

Flavors: Lemon, Peach, Orange, Strawberry, Raspberry and Wild Cherry.

Order a package from your grocer

Bilge Water.

I am quite well aware that there are objections to hospital ships in the tropics. When they are moored, there is the burning question of bilge water. I will not discourse on the subject of bilge water, as inexperience thereof might make the explanation wearisome. Any one acquainted with the bilge water question knows it is of engrossing interest. Bilge is a prince among smells, and if you have ever fallen under its power you will always think that every terrific thing in smells is a manifestation of bilge water.

I remember on one occasion when on board a moored hulk, not a hospital ship, smelling in the evening something that called for mention, so I mentioned it. "Oh," said my companions, more under the sway of bilge water than I was, from their greater knowledge of its power, "it's only our bilge water." In the morning we found it was the rotting carcass of an elephant that had floated down the river and now hung in the mooring chain.

After a considerable time was spent in getting rid of the carcass I said, "For goodness' sake, gentlemen, stir up your bilge water, and let the smells fight it out together while we go ashore for a spell." "No," said my companions, terror stricken at the suggestion. "You do not know our bilge water when its back's up. It would stretch you if you were half way across Africa. This elephant is mere lavender water to it."

This was a more dreadful bilge water than a hospital ship would have. Still, though bad, bilge water is not necessarily fatal under proper management. —Chambers' Journal.

Dance tonight, at Rock Springs. Nowling's full orchestra. Everybody invited. 270-h

Rhubarb and mint at Oysters. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

Pineapples at Frank E. Oysters'. 270-h

Dance tonight, at Rock Springs. Nowling's full orchestra. Everybody invited. 270-h

Cucumbers and beets at Oysters'. 270-h

TRICKS IN THE SILK TRADE.

How Shoppers Are Fooled—Tests Which Show the Pure Material.

Pure silk, when it has been through all the processes necessary to bring out all its good qualities, is worth its weight in silver, said an expert the other day. Therefore the women who expect to buy pure silk at little more than the price of cotton must expect to be fooled, and there are lots of ways by which the manufacturer gets even with them.

They make stuff that is called silk and passes for it with credulous persons who don't know any better out of nearly any old thing now. One favorite imitation silk is made of cellulose treated with chemicals. It isn't a good material to get on fire in. Then there are south sea island cottons and some mercerized cotton which after treatment look something like silk, though of course they wear very differently, and their silken appearance soon vanishes.

But it is in adulterating goods which really have some silk in them that the greatest skill is exercised to deceive the buyer. To obtain the required rustle and body rough floss is often used for the woof of the material. This soon causes it to wear shiny.

Another trick is to increase the weight and apparent solidity of a flimsy silk material by using metallic salts in the dye vats. Pressing with some kinds of silk increases the weight also, but at the sacrifice of strength. Cheap, crackly, stiff silk which has heavy cords is good silk to avoid. It won't wear.

There are several tests which reveal readily the purity of a piece of silk. The microscope of course will show it at once, even to an unpracticed eye. Pure silk has the appearance of fine, smooth tubes. Another good test is by burning. Pure silk burns slowly, with a slight odor. Cotton flares up quickly and would throw off a decidedly disagreeable smell.

Then the tongue will readily reveal the presence of metallic salts. There is no mistaking their taste. But all these may be disregarded, said the expert, when silk is offered for the price of cotton. You need not bother to test that stuff.—New York Sun.

Asparagus and radishes at Oysters'. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

George III and the Wigmakers.

When George III ascended the throne of England, his wealthy subjects were beginning to leave off wigs and to appear in their own hair, "if they had any." As the sovereign was himself one of the offenders, the peruke makers, who feared a serious loss of trade, prepared a petition, in which they prayed his majesty to be graciously pleased to "shave his head" for the good of distressed workmen and wear a wig, as his father had done before him.

When the petitioners walked to the royal palace, however, it was noticed that they wore no wigs themselves. As this seemed unfair to the onlookers, they seized several of the leading processionists and cut their hair with any implement that came most readily to hand.

From this incident arose a host of curious caricatures. The wooden leg makers were said to have especial claims on the king's consideration, inasmuch as the conclusion of peace had deprived them of a profitable source of employment; hence the suggestion that his majesty should not only wear a wooden leg himself, but enjoin the people to follow his laudable example.

Little boy's vestee suits that will make your boy feel proud, at THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE. 270-t

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

For everything good to eat go to Oysters'. 270-h

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50 Gloves $1.00
$1.25 " .79
$1.00 " .79

This week only.

THE LEADER, Washington St.

EXTRA

Men's and Boys Negligee Shirts.

With separate cuffs to match, some with collars to match as well, warranted to be the usual 50c qualities, this week, limiting 3 to each customer, at..... 25c

Wm. Erlanger & Co.

Cor. Fifth & Washington St. E. Liverpool, Ohio.

EXTRA

Boys' and Children's All Wool Sweaters

In Maroon, Oxford and navy, warranted the usual 75c qualities, limiting two to each buyer, at each..... 39c

SPECIAL VALUES IN OUR CUSTOM TAILORING DEPARTMENT. MEN'S $25 SUITS AND TOP COATS. To Order $18.50

EAST LIVERPOOL'S JUVENILE STORE,

Has the pleasure of announcing a capture of about 200 Sample Suits, 5 or 6 of each kind, and more than 50 kinds, boys', youths' and children's Suits, the newest and the best obtainable. All spring 1901 ideas.

All the choicest and most fashionable, from one of the best factories in America. The sale of which starts tomorrow and continues indefinately.

Boys $3 Suits for $2

Vestee styles for little lads, and double breasted styles for bigger boys wearing knee pants, choice assortments, in all sizes from 3 to 16 inclusive, neat patterns, and 50 per cent. underprice $2

Boys' Elegant $7 Suits for $5

We say $7 suits, because they will fully average that value. Some are however worth more. Some cost regularly $6 wholesale. All styles, novelty 3 picce suits and blouse suits, and Russian suits, high art goods, choice..... $5.00

Young Men's $12 and $13 Suits for $10

6 of each style and many styles, a rare chance for good dressers, some worth $1, or $2 or $3 more than others, but one round price for choice of all the sample Suits, an average $3 saving choice..... $10

Boy's 20c seamless ribbed black hose, spliced heels and knees, 11c.

Boy's 35c odd knee pants, all new spring colorings and patterns 17c.

Boys 25c fancy webbing suspenders, with leather ends, 15c.

Boys' blue bib Overalls ages 3 to 14, double seamed, 18c.

Boy's 50c Mother's Friend Percale and Cheviot Shirt waists, 31c.

Young Men's good $6.50 and $7 Suits for $5

$5 cheap for a good Suit you say, and well you might say so. Samples, 6 of each kind or pattern, including sizes from 13 to 20 years, double or single breasted, plain or mixtures, stylish, serviceable..... $5

In this line we can supply your wants and satisfy you in prices. You must have the goods and we want to sell them to you at

BULGER'S Pharmacy.

Sixth and West Market St.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Married on Wednesday—Clarence Douglass and Miss Lena Johnson were married in this city on Wednesday. They will reside here.

"Pinkeye" Prevalent — "Pinkeye" has made its appearance in East Liverpool, and a large number of people have contracted the malady.

Pension Increased—Josiah Greene, of this city, has been granted an increase in his pension from $6 to $8 per month.

Circus License Issued—Mayor Davidson yesterday issued a license for the Robinson circus, which exhibits here next month.

Buying Ware Here—John E. West, of New York, is here buying crockery ware for a store which he is about to open in Minneapolis. He is a brother of George West, traveling salesman for the Vodrey plant, and formerly lived here.

Taken Suddenly Ill—Mrs. Clements, teacher at the Grant street school, was taken suddenly ill yesterday afternoon and had to be taken home in a carriage.

Fans Will Be There—A number of base ball enthusiasts of this city will go to Pittsburg on Monday to witness the first league game of the season in that city.

Postponed Until Tuesday—The hearing in the Barnes-Hewitt case has been postponed until next Tuesday. The testimony will be taken by Probate Judge Boone.

Awaiting a Challenge — Manager Weston, of the Taylor, Lee & Smith pottery base ball team, is anxiously awaiting a challenge from Manager Woodburn, of the E. M. Knowles pottery team.

Circus in Chester—James Rigby yesterday afternoon closed the deal with Agent Wood, whereby the John Robinson circus will show on the Rigby tract on the Southside. The lot is becoming popular as a show ground, Ringling Bros. having occupied it last year.

Quick Dessert easily prepared with JELLYCON

REQUIRES no cooking, no baking, but only the labor of a minute. It is composed of purest calfs-foot gelatine, powdered sugar and pure flavor, all carefully combined to save housekeepers trouble, delay, labor and doubt. Only necessary to dissolve the contents of a package in hot water and set away to harden.

Flavors: Lemon, Peach, Orange, Strawberry, Raspberry and Wild Cherry.

Order a package from your grocer

Bilge Water.

I am quite well aware that there are objections to hospital ships in the tropics. When they are moored, there is the burning question of bilge water. I will not discourse on the subject of bilge water, as inexperience thereof might make the explanation wearisome. Any one acquainted with the bilge water question knows it is of engrossing interest. Bilge is a prince among smells, and if you have ever fallen under its power you will always think that every terrific thing in smells is a manifestation of bilge water.

I remember on one occasion when on board a moored hulk, not a hospital ship, smelling in the evening something that called for mention, so I mentioned it. "Oh," said my companions, more under the sway of bilge water than I was, from their greater knowledge of its power, "it's only our bilge water." In the morning we found it was the rotting carcass of an elephant that had floated down the river and now hung in the mooring chain.

After a considerable time was spent in getting rid of the carcass I said, "For goodness' sake, gentlemen, stir up your bilge water, and let the smells fight it out together while we go ashore for a spell." "No," said my companions, terror stricken at the suggestion. "You do not know our bilge water when its back's up. It would stretch you if you were half way across Africa. This elephant is mere lavender water to it."

This was a more dreadful bilge water than a hospital ship would have. Still, though bad, bilge water is not necessarily fatal under proper management. —Chambers' Journal.

Dance tonight, at Rock Springs. Nowling's full orchestra. Everybody invited. 270-h

Rhubarb and mint at Oysters. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

Pineapples at Frank E. Oysters'. 270-h

Dance tonight, at Rock Springs. Nowling's full orchestra. Everybody invited. 270-h

Cucumbers and beets at Oysters'. 270-h

TRICKS IN THE SILK TRADE.

How Shoppers Are Fooled—Tests Which Show the Pure Material.

Pure silk, when it has been through all the processes necessary to bring out all its good qualities, is worth its weight in silver, said an expert the other day. Therefore the women who expect to buy pure silk at little more than the price of cotton must expect to be fooled, and there are lots of ways by which the manufacturer gets even with them.

They make stuff that is called silk and passes for it with credulous persons who don't know any better out of nearly any old thing now. One favorite imitation silk is made of cellulose treated with chemicals. It isn't a good material to get on fire in. Then there are south sea island cottons and some mercerized cotton which after treatment look something like silk, though of course they wear very differently, and their silken appearance soon vanishes.

But it is in adulterating goods which really have some silk in them that the greatest skill is exercised to deceive the buyer. To obtain the required rustle and body rough floss is often used for the woof of the material. This soon causes it to wear shiny.

Another trick is to increase the weight and apparent solidity of a flimsy silk material by using metallic salts in the dye vats. Pressing with some kinds of silk increases the weight also, but at the sacrifice of strength. Cheap, crackly, stiff silk which has heavy cords is good silk to avoid. It won't wear.

There are several tests which reveal readily the purity of a piece of silk. The microscope of course will show it at once, even to an unpracticed eye. Pure silk has the appearance of fine, smooth tubes. Another good test is by burning. Pure silk burns slowly, with a slight odor. Cotton flares up quickly and would throw off a decidedly disagreeable smell.

Then the tongue will readily reveal the presence of metallic salts. There is no mistaking their taste. But all these may be disregarded, said the expert, when silk is offered for the price of cotton. You need not bother to test that stuff.—New York Sun.

Asparagus and radishes at Oysters'. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

George III and the Wigmakers.

When George III ascended the throne of England, his wealthy subjects were beginning to leave off wigs and to appear in their own hair, "if they had any." As the sovereign was himself one of the offenders, the peruke makers, who feared a serious loss of trade, prepared a petition, in which they prayed his majesty to be graciously pleased to "shave his head" for the good of distressed workmen and wear a wig, as his father had done before him.

When the petitioners walked to the royal palace, however, it was noticed that they wore no wigs themselves. As this seemed unfair to the onlookers, they seized several of the leading processionists and cut their hair with any implement that came most readily to hand.

From this incident arose a host of curious caricatures. The wooden leg makers were said to have especial claims on the king's consideration, inasmuch as the conclusion of peace had deprived them of a profitable source of employment; hence the suggestion that his majesty should not only wear a wooden leg himself, but enjoin the people to follow his laudable example.

Little boy's vestee suits that will make your boy feel proud, at THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE 270-t

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

For everything good to eat go to Oysters'. 270-h

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50	Gloves	$1.00
$1.25	"	.79
$1.00	"	.79

This week only.

THE LEADER, Washington St.

IMPORTANT AND INTERESTING

IN all the years of our business experience we have never seen such bargains as we are offering to the people of East Liverpool, and also to those who come to our city to do their buying.

WHEN ARE YOU COMING IN?

SPECIAL inducements are offered to early buyers of Spring and Summer Clothing, not only as a matter of selection, but on account of the lateness of the season, we are offering extraordinary Bargains.

STEINFELD AND VINEY

SELL THE BEST CLOTHING SELL THE BEST

And our line of spring and summer suits for the men and young men outclass anything ever placed on our counters. They enable men in every walk of life to acquire meritable, serviceable and stylish garments, the like of which cannot be bought elsewhere short of from two dollars and fifty cents to five dollars more than our marked prices. We call particular attention to those we sell at..... $10 $12 $15

We have a great many nobby suits at prices ranging from $5 to $9.50 which in some instances are the equal of suits that are usually sold by other dealers at $10 to $15, and we are enabled to fit all sizes and different shaped men.

INTERESTING TO PARENTS.

We have completed one of the best stocks of Boy's Suits from which you can possibly select suitable wearing apparel, and all the latest dress effects such as Jacket and Pant Suits. Vestee, Russian Blouse and Sailor Blouse Suits, and ranging in prices from $1.50 to $5. We have the largest department of this kind in the city.

EXTRA PANTS.

The best Jean Pants in the United States for.....$1.00

Scotch Tweed Trousers at.....$1.50

New stripes in Worsted Trousers...$2.00

Dress Pants, extra well tailored...$3.00

Fine Worsted Fabrics, all the new stripes and checks.....$4.00

Our line of Boys' Long Pants, also Knee Breeches at 50c, 75c $1. are great values.

HATS AND CAPS

Extra good wool Crush Hats at..50c

Fine Fur Crushes at.....$1.00

Newest Derbys.$1.50

Pearl, Mode and Black Alpine Hats at $2.00

Exclusive styles in Men's Stiff Hats, made by leading manufacturers at $3.00

See our line of Men's and Boys Caps at .....25c and 50c

Dress Shirts

	at
Pleated	50c
Puffed Percales	75c
Madras	$1.00
Silks	$1.25
Bedfords with extra Collars	$1.50 & $2.00
Cuffs for Men and Boys

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

Summer Underwear Gauze, Balbriggan, Lisle Thread and Silk Finished at.....25c, 50c 75c $1.00 and $1.50.

All kinds of Men's Hosiery from 5c to 50c per pair.

NECK WEAR

New, Nobby @ 25c

Rich, Stylish @ 50c

Quality, Excellent, @ 75c

In Silks and Satins.

New Shapes in Collars & Cuffs.

A complete line Washable Neckwear.

OVERALLS AND WORKING SHIRTS.

Don't forget the Boy's or Little Man's Overalls. We have them at 25c, 35c and 50c.

The best white Demin. The best blue Drill Men's Overalls at 50c

We have some at 35c also for men.

We carry only the best makes of Working Shirts.

Call on us at your earliest convenience. We aim to please our customers.

STEINFELD AND VINEY,

Corner Sixth and Diamond,

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS

Satisfaction Guaranteed,

Or Money Cheerfully Refunded.

IMPORTANT AND INTERESTING

IN all the years of our business experience we have never seen such bargains as we are offering to the people of East Liverpool, and also to those who come to our city to do their buying.

WHEN ARE YOU COMING IN?

SPECIAL inducements are offered to early buyers of Spring and Summer Clothing, not only as a matter of selection, but on account of the lateness of the season, we are offering extraordinary Bargains.

STEINFELD AND VINEY

SELL THE BEST CLOTHING SELL THE BEST

And our line of spring and summer suits for the men and young men outclass anything ever placed on our counters. They enable men in every walk of life to acquire meritable, serviceable and stylish garments, the like of which cannot be bought elsewhere short of from two dollars and fifty cents to five dollars more than our marked prices. We call particular attention to those we sell at..... $10 $12 $15

We have a great many nobby suits at prices ranging from $5 to $9.50 which in some instances are the equal of suits that are usually sold by other dealers at $10 to $15, and we are enabled to fit all sizes and different shaped men.

INTERESTING TO PARENTS.

We have completed one of the best stocks of Boy's Suits from which you can possibly select suitable wearing apparel, and all the latest dress effects such as Jacket and Pant Suits. Vestee, Russian Blouse and Sailor Blouse Suits, and ranging in prices from $1.50 to $5. We have the largest department of this kind in the city.

EXTRA PANTS.

The best Jean Pants in the United States for.....$1.00

Scotch Tweed Trousers at.....$1.50

New stripes in Worsted Trousers...$2.00

Dress Pants, extra well tailored...$3.00

Fine Worsted Fabrics, all the new stripes and checks.....$4.00

Our line of Boys' Long Pants, also Knee Breeches at 50c, 75c $1. are great values.

HATS AND CAPS

Extra good wool Crush Hats at..50c

Fine Fur Crushes at.....$1.00

Newest Derbys.$1.50

Pearl, Mode and Black Alpine Hats at $2.00

Exclusive styles in Men's Stiff Hats, made by leading manufacturers at $3.00

See our line of Men's and Boys Caps at .....25c and 50c

Dress Shirts

	at
Pleated	50c
Puffed Percales	75c
Madras	$1.00
Silks	$1.25
Bedfords with extra Collars	$1.50
Cuffs for Men and Boys	& 2.00

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

Summer Underwear Gauze, Balbriggan, Lisle Thread and Silk Finished at.....25c, 50c 75c $1.00 and $1.50.

All kinds of Men's Hosiery from 5c to 50c per pair.

NECK WEAR

New, Nobby @ 25c

Rich, Stylish @ 50c

Quality, Excellent, @ 75c

In Silks and Satins.

New Shapes in Collars & Cuffs.

A complete line Washable Neckwear.

OVERALLS AND WORKING SHIRTS.

Don't forget the Boy's or Little Man's Overalls. We have them at 25c, 35c and 50c.

The best white Demin. The best blue Drill Men's Overalls at 50c

We have some at 35c also for men.

We carry only the best makes of Working Shirts.

Call on us at your earliest convenience. We aim to please our customers.

STEINFELD AND VINEY,

Corner Sixth and Diamond,

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS

Satisfaction Guaranteed,

Or Money Cheerfully Refunded.

Garrick and Murphy.

Conferring the "freedom of the playhouse" on playwrights and men of letters was common in Garrick's day, and without doubt the good natured manager was often pestered for the same favor by persons who had no such claim. It was evidently Garrick's custom to give tickets of admission, permanent orders, to those whom he desired to honor. It is recorded that the Irish writer, Murphy, annoyed at what he thought ill treatment or neglect, returned the ticket with the words, "As I do not foresee any further occasion for this obliging passport, I am not willing to trespass too long upon your civility."

Garrick's answer was such as to reflect the greatest possible credit upon himself: "If you choose to relinquish your right to the freedom of Drury Lane playhouse, you certainly will do as you please. But without the ticket, I imagine, Mr. Murphy will find the doors open to him, as usual, and be it further known to you, sir, that as I thought you were above an undue influence I never meant the ticket as the least tie upon the liberty of your pen or conversation."

It may be safely inferred that Garrick presented the same permanent passport to his gruff but faithful friend, Dr. Johnson. It is hardly too much to say that the great player's generosity was as notable as his acting, and his acting was probably such as the world has never surpassed.

How Foxes Get Rid of Fleas.

By an old hunter and naturalist of local repute a story has been told here confirming as absolutely true and trustworthy the published account, which has had few believers until now, of how foxes rid themselves of fleas. The fox, according to the book narrative, simply backs slowly into a stream of water with a portion of the pelt of a rabbit in his mouth after the fox has made a meal off the rabbit. The water drives the fleas first up the fox's legs and then toward his head and finally out on the piece of rabbit fur, and then the fox drops the fur, and his pests are done for.

The local hunter and naturalist referred to, strange to say, had never heard or read this story when he told of the actions of the fox which he observed in the waters of the Patapsco river. The little animal, he stated, backed into the river slowly with so much deliberation that he wondered what it meant. It carried something—he did not know what—in its mouth and dropped the something when out in deep water. Then the fox hurried away. The object left floated near to the observer, and he hauled it ashore with a stick. Fleas literally swarmed through the object, which was found to be a bit of raw rabbit fur. The observer had a puzzling mystery explained to him. He says his admiration for the shrewdness of the fox grows more and more as he grows older and learns his ways.—Baltimore Sun.

It Troubled the Customer.

"A funny thing occurred here the other day," said a barber as he was putting the finishing touches on a hair cut. "A fellow came in to be shaved who was somewhat under the influence of intoxicants. He took his place in the chair, and all proceeded well till I had shaved one side of his face, when he stopped me.

"'Hold on,' he cried. 'I want this thing 'splained.'

"I asked him what was the matter, and he replied: 'There's a fly on my cheek, and you have shaved the lather and whiskers off, but the fly didn't move. Now, what's the mazzer with him?'

"I told him there was no fly on him, but he pointed to the mirror and said: 'You think I can't see him. I ain't so drunk that I can't see a fly.'

"I turned to the glass, and there stood the fly on the mirror and in such a position that from my customer's range of vision it seemed to be on his cheek. He afterward said that he had felt that fly tickling him all the time and wondered how I could shave under it and not cut its legs off."—London Tit-Bits.

Wants a Diagram.

"That Fuddlethwait girl makes the flattest remarks of anybody I ever saw. And people laugh at them too. I can't understand it. It must be because she has money."

"What's she been saying now?"

"I was telling her the other evening that my parents had 13 children."

"Yes."

"Well, she looked at me awhile and said, 'Oh, are you the thirteenth?' Then everybody snickered. Now, will you kindly tell me what there was funny about that?"—Chicago Times-Herald.

Made Sure of the Pie.

A young girl who carried her dinner was observed to eat her pie first. When asked why, she replied, "Well, if there's anything left it won't be the pie, will it now?"—Boston Christian Register.

The typical Moro is never unarmed. He fights equally well on foot, on horseback, in his fleet war canoe or in the water, for he swims like a fish and dives like a penguin.

Before the discovery of sugar drinks were sweetened with honey.

His Opinion.

Fiddleback—Are you going around to Miss Muffin's tomorrow night, Mrs. Von Blumer?

Mrs. Von Blumer—She gives a chafing dish party, doesn't she?

Fiddleback—Yes.

Mrs. Von Blumer—We may. Are you?

Fiddleback (smiling)—Well, hardly.

Mrs. Von Blumer—Why, I thought you were fond of Miss Muffin.

Fiddleback—I am, but not of her chafing dish parties.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You mean—

Fiddleback—I mean the chafing dish part.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You don't like that?

Fiddleback—Well, I can stand a good deal, but the concoctions Miss Maffin gets up in that instrument of torture are too much for me.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You are too hard on her, I am sure.

Fiddleback—Hard on her, do you say! Well, I guess she is pretty hard on the rest of her victims.

Mrs. Von Blumer—What particular dish of hers don't you like?

Fiddleback—Well, I can't say that I am partial to any of them. I've tried them all, and there isn't much choice. Her lobster Newburg can produce about as much complex agony as anything else. But I think for suffering long drawn out, for steady, unintermittent, ablebodied pain, her Welsh rabbit takes the blue ribbon. Have you ever tried Miss Muffin's Welsh rabbit?

Mrs. Von Blumer—Oh, yes, indeed! Why, I have been giving her cooking lessons for the last six months!—Harper's Bazar.

His Moments of Joy.

Did you ever hear of the strange man who went out to a summer hotel once for a holiday? He impressed on the clerk the first day he was there that it was of vital importance that he be called at 6 o'clock next morning. He was called. He didn't come down stairs till 2 in the afternoon. The injunction to the clerk was repeated every day, and every day the mysterious guest staid in his room till late in the afternoon. When he had been at the place a week and was about to leave, the clerk said to him:

"I beg your pardon, sir; it's none of my business, but why have you left orders to be called at 6 o'clock every morning and never got out of bed till several hours later?"

"Well," he replied, "I'll tell you. Back in the city I've got a job that compels me to get up every morning, summer and winter, at 6 o'clock. This is my first vacation for five years. Every day when your bellboy has come up stairs and banged at the door I've started up to dress and get down to the office and then suddenly let the conviction steal blissfully over my brain that I didn't have to. Then I've gone back to bed, hugged the pillow and dreamed that I was in the Elysian fields. That moment of joy that has followed the banging on my door every morning has been worth three times the price of the bill."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Sympathy Misplaced.

One day during a cold snap last winter I saw an old man in a grocery acting rather suspiciously, and soon I saw him steal a potato from a barrelful of the tubers that stood outside the counter. The old fellow slipped out of the house as soon as he could conveniently and limped away. I followed him, thinking to give him what change I could spare, for I thought he must be desperately poor if he must steal a potato.

When I caught up with him and offered him a little money, the old man roared with laughter. When he had got his breath again, he said:

"You saw me steal the potato, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir, I did."

"Well, lemme tell you, my son, I've got potatoes to sell. I raise thousands of bushels of them. I've got the biggest market garden in this county, and I've got more money than you ever saw. Carryin a potato in your pocket will cure the rheumatiz, but for it to do any good you've got to steal the potato. See?

I saw. And I sawed wood.—Will Visscher in Woman's Home Companion.

All His Fault.

"Women beat the world."

"What's the matter now?"

"When my wife wants anything pretty to wear, she hints around until I persuade her to buy it, then after she has worn it out she pitches into me for encouraging her to be so extravagant."—Chicago Record.

Dimes to Offset Dollars.

"I can always tell when Harry has indulged himself in an extravagant luncheon down town."

"How do you tell?"

"He always comes home and wants to treat me to a trolley ride."—Detroit Free Press.

Impossible.

The Prosecutor—By the way, weren't you once arrested for horse stealing in Arizona?

The Witness—Fer horse stealin? In Arizony? I'm still a-livin, ain't I?—Indianapolis Press.

Uncle Bob's Hailstone Story.

"An old countryman I used to know when I was living in south Georgia," remarked a college professor apropos of sudden changes in the weather, "was in at least one respect a very remarkable character. To a casual listener he appeared to be a fluent and unconscionable liar, yet when you came to scrutinize any of his statements closely it was impossible to catch him in the slightest deviation from the truth."

"One day in early spring we had an unusually severe fall of hail, and next morning while driving down the road with a friend we happened to encounter the old fellow at his gate. 'Well, Uncle Bob,' I said, 'that was a pretty bad hailstorm we had yesterday.' 'I should say it was,' he replied. 'You just oughter seed some of the stones that come down in my back yard.' 'How big were they?' I asked. ''Bout as big as small watermelons,' said he. 'Well, we've caught him in a whopper at last,' chuckled my friend as we drove on. 'No, we haven't.' I groaned. 'As usual the old rascal has secured all the advantage of a fine, large lie and at the same time has adhered rigidly to the truth. Look at that vine.'

"An early watermelon vine was festooning the bottom rail of a fence by the roadside, and here and there it was studded with minute green spheres about the size of gooseberries. My friend made no comment. I never tried to catch Uncle Bob again."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

An Arab's Parlor.

A woman traveler in Egypt is amazed at the dearth of the natives' household goods, says a correspondent of the Chicago News. There is little furniture because the Arab needs little. His life is spent out of doors, and he can sleep in any handy gutter as peaceably and happily as a child, while most of his meals are eaten in the open air.

In one exceptionally luxurious house, that of a charwoman, the traveler found a parlor. It was regarded as a sort of shrine by Fatima. She had made it a fetich, devoting to its embellishment all the money she could spare and sacrificing to it even her children's wants. The visitor was shown through a broken down doorway into a squalid passage, where two rooms at either end revealed perspectives of greater squalor beyond. Children teemed from every entrance.

Arrived at the holy of holies, the door had to be unlocked. It was a brand new Birmingham lock. Distant Manchester had supplied a carpet blazing with roses and small creton curtains of brilliancy to match. Such things are in Cairo called "fellah" (vulgar), as none but fellahin are found to be purchasers of them, but poor Fatima's horrors are not yet quite catalogued. From some common shop in the Muski she had captured two or three glass vases, and in them—the last touch of triumph—were artificial flowers.

Chinese Superstition.

When General Grant was visiting China, Chester Holcombe, for many years secretary of the American legation at Peking, secured for him a privilege never before that time accorded to a foreigner, the privilege of admission into the sacred precincts of the Temple of Heaven in Peking.

Now, it is contrary to the settled belief of the Chinese to admit a member of the female sex, old or young, even to the temple ground, under any circumstances. It is said that should a Chinese guard venture even to carry a baby girl in his arms within the forbidden lines he would probably be punished with death. Not knowing of these restrictions, a number of ladies in General Grant's party ventured to follow him when he visited the sacred edifice.

Realizing the seriousness of this action, Mr. Holcombe afterward apologized to the emperor's representative for the conduct of his countrywomen and was informed that the intrusion would be overlooked, but must be kept as secret as possible, for should the populace learn of it an antiforeign outbreak would be likely to follow. They would not forgive such a pollution of their most sacred building.—Leslie's Weekly.

To Clean and Polish a Piano.

In cleaning and polishing a piano go over the woodwork with a cloth wet with paraffin oil, being generous with the oil where the woodwork is very much soiled. Let this remain two or three hours. This is to soften the dirt. Then wash with soap and water and a soft cloth, being careful not to let any water touch the works inside the piano. Use a good white or a white castile soap. Wipe dry with a soft cloth and polish with soft, old linen or chamois leather.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Marconi Objected.

There was a little dinner once given to William Marconi, of which one incident is still remembered by some of the guests. An oratorical member of the company, growing enthusiastic over a toast to the inventor of wireless telegraphy, made this climax to his peroration: "Gentlemen, I give you Marconi, the Franklin, the Faraday and the Helmholtz of Italy." When the toast had been drunk, the distinguished guest thanked the party for the honor and added, "But I must protest against the action of the preceding speaker in making me triplets."—Leslie's Monthly.

J. B. ROWE'S
Restaurant and Dining Hall
Board by Day or Week.
Single Meals, 25 Cents.
160 Washington St.

DR. WM. J. TAYLOR
HAS ADDED TO HIS OFFICE
Static and X-Ray Apparatus
To examine for all Fractured Limbs, Bullets and Needles, or any foreign substance in the human system.
OFFICE: COR. SECOND AND UNION STREETS

Incandescent Gas Lamps and Mantles.
For the best Mantles in the city and first class Plumbing and Gas Fitting call on Arbuthnot Bros.
PRACTICAL PLUMBERS,
Cor. Broadway and Fifth, City.
Mantles from 12½c to 30c.

The Willis|H. Kinsey Plumbing Co.,
131 Sheridan Ave.,
Opened for business on
MONDAY, April 15.
Estimate furnished on all kinds of Plumbing Work, Gas or Steam Fittings. Satisfaction and reasonable prices guaranteed.
Public Patronage Solicited.
THOS. F. STARKEY,
Secy. and Treas.

J. D. WEST,
76 SIXTH STREET,
Undertaking and Livery
In all its departments. Services prompt, day or night. Both phones, No. 38 at office. House. Bell phone No. 274.

Removed.
The Bon Ton Meat Market, formerly of Sixth street, has its new quarters at 250 West Market street where it will be pleased to meet all the patrons and as many new ones as may see fit to call.
BORING & COGSWELL.

A RECEIPT FOR EARNING AND SAVING MONEY.
For the next few days the Columbiana County Building Loan & Savings Co., will issue paid up stock and pay the highest rate of interest to be had anywhere. Will also accept small deposits in any amount. Make your money work for you.
The Columbiana County Building Loan & Savings Co.
COR. Fifth and Market Sts.

Night School
STUDENTS are given individual instruction. Now is a good time to enter. Special rates of tuition will be given night students who register before April 23, for a term of two months.
Ohio Valley Business College.

C. C. Bird Store,
192 Sixth Street.
Canaries, Parrots, Belgian Hares and Minnows.

FURNISHED ROOMS FOR RENT.
WITH USE OF BATH.
THE ANDERSON HOUSE
Cor. Walnut and Robinson Sts.

THE CRITERION DINING ROOM
having been removed to No. 176 Washington street, postoffice building, we are prepared to serve our patrons better and quicker than ever. The best Meal in the city for the money.
W. E. LYTLE.
Banquets and Suppers a Specialty.

ANY Time you are desirous of opening a bank account with us you will find a number of accommodating clerks who will give you any information you may desire, furnish you with a Bank Book, and show you what excellent facilities we have in the way of Safe Deposit Boxes for taking care of your valuables, important papers, jewels, etc,
CITIZENS' NATIONAL BANK,
East Liverpool, Ohio.

Life Insurance.
If you are going to take Life Insurance it would pay you to look at the Contract of the Northwestern.
To get Northwestern dividends you must carry Northwestern Insurance. Call and see Contracts and get rates.
Geo. H. Owen & Co.
General Insurance and Real Estate Agents.
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING,
Both Phones 49.

NEW LINE OF
Ice Boxes, Refrigerators, Hot Plate, Gasoline Stoves and Bakers.
Iron Beds and Furniture of all kinds.
John Schleiter,
130 2nd Street, opposite Passenger Depot.
BIG STOCK—LOW PRICES.

Call In and See . . .
The very latest styles of Hats, Shapes and Trimmings.
Everything up-to-date
No trouble to show Goods.
MRS. E. M. LEASURE.
Fifth St.

Garrick and Murphy.

Conferring the "freedom of the playhouse" on playwrights and men of letters was common in Garrick's day, and without doubt the good natured manager was often pestered for the same favor by persons who had no such claim. It was evidently Garrick's custom to give tickets of admission, permanent orders, to those whom he desired to honor. It is recorded that the Irish writer, Murphy, annoyed at what he thought ill treatment or neglect, returned the ticket with the words, "As I do not foresee any further occasion for this obliging passport, I am not willing to trespass too long upon your civility."

Garrick's answer was such as to reflect the greatest possible credit upon himself: "If you choose to relinquish your right to the freedom of Drury Lane playhouse, you certainly will do as you please. But without the ticket, I imagine, Mr. Murphy will find the doors open to him, as usual, and be it further known to you, sir, that as I thought you were above an undue influence I never meant the ticket as the least tie upon the liberty of your pen or conversation."

It may be safely inferred that Garrick presented the same permanent passport to his gruff but faithful friend, Dr. Johnson. It is hardly too much to say that the great player's generosity was as notable as his acting, and his acting was probably such as the world has never surpassed.

How Foxes Get Rid of Fleas.

By an old hunter and naturalist of local repute a story has been told here confirming as absolutely true and trustworthy the published account, which has had few believers until now, of how foxes rid themselves of fleas. The fox, according to the book narrative, simply backs slowly into a stream of water with a portion of the pelt of a rabbit in his mouth after the fox has made a meal off the rabbit. The water drives the fleas first up the fox's legs and then toward his head and finally out on the piece of rabbit fur, and then the fox drops the fur, and his pests are done for.

The local hunter and naturalist referred to, strange to say, had never heard or read this story when he told of the actions of the fox which he observed in the waters of the Patapsco river. The little animal, he stated, backed into the river slowly with so much deliberation that he wondered what it meant. It carried something—he did not know what—in its mouth and dropped the something when out in deep water. Then the fox hurried away. The object left floated near to the observer, and he hauled it ashore with a stick. Fleas literally swarmed through the object, which was found to be a bit of raw rabbit fur. The observer had a puzzling mystery explained to him. He says his admiration for the shrewdness of the fox grows more and more as he grows older and learns his ways.—Baltimore Sun.

It Troubled the Customer.

"A funny thing occurred here the other day," said a barber as he was putting the finishing touches on a hair cut. "A fellow came in to be shaved who was somewhat under the influence of intoxicants. He took his place in the chair, and all proceeded well till I had shaved one side of his face, when he stopped me.

"'Hold on,' he cried. 'I want this thing 'splained.'

"I asked him what was the matter, and he replied: 'There's a fly on my cheek, and you have shaved the lather and whiskers off, but the fly didn't move. Now, what's the mazzer with him?'

"I told him there was no fly on him, but he pointed to the mirror and said: 'You think I can't see him. I ain't so drunk that I can't see a fly.'

"I turned to the glass, and there stood the fly on the mirror and in such a position that from my customer's range of vision it seemed to be on his cheek. He afterward said that he had felt that fly tickling him all the time and wondered how I could shave under it and not cut its legs off."—London Tit-Bits.

Wants a Diagram.

"That Fuddlethwait girl makes the flattest remarks of anybody I ever saw. And people laugh at them too. I can't understand it. It must be because she has money."

"What's she been saying now?"

"I was telling her the other evening that my parents had 13 children."

"Yes."

"Well, she looked at me awhile and said, 'Oh, are you the thirteenth? Then everybody snickered. Now, will you kindly tell me what there was funny about that?"—Chicago Times-Herald.

Made Sure of the Pie.

A young girl who carried her dinner was observed to eat her pie first. When asked why, she replied, "Well, if there's anything left it won't be the pie, will it now?"—Boston Christian Register.

The typical Moro is never unarmed. He fights equally well on foot, on horseback, in his fleet war canoe or in the water, for he swims like a fish and dives like a penguin.

Before the discovery of sugar drinks were sweetened with honey.

His Opinion.

Fiddleback—Are you going around to Miss Muffin's tomorrow night, Mrs. Von Blumer?

Mrs. Von Blumer—She gives a chafing dish party, doesn't she?

Fiddleback—Yes.

Mrs. Von Blumer—We may. Are you?

Fiddleback (smiling)—Well, hardly.

Mrs. Von Blumer—Why, I thought you were fond of Miss Muffin.

Fiddleback—I am, but not of her chafing dish parties.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You mean—

Fiddleback—I mean the chafing dish part.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You don't like that?

Fiddleback—Well, I can stand a good deal, but the concoctions Miss Muffin gets up in that instrument of torture are too much for me.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You are too hard on her, I am sure.

Fiddleback—Hard on her, do you say! Well, I guess she is pretty hard on the rest of her victims.

Mrs. Von Blumer—What particular dish of hers don't you like?

Fiddleback—Well, I can't say that I am partial to any of them. I've tried them all, and there isn't much choice. Her lobster Newburg can produce about as much complex agony as anything else. But I think for suffering long drawn out, for steady, unintermittent, ablebodied pain, her Welsh rabbit takes the blue ribbon. Have you ever tried Miss Muffin's Welsh rabbit?

Mrs. Von Blumer—Oh, yes, indeed! Why, I have been giving her cooking lessons for the last six months!—Harper's Bazar.

His Moments of Joy.

Did you ever hear of the strange man who went out to a summer hotel once for a holiday? He impressed on the clerk the first day he was there that it was of vital importance that he be called at 6 o'clock next morning. He was called. He didn't come down stairs till 2 in the afternoon. The injunction to the clerk was repeated every day, and every day the mysterious guest staid in his room till late in the afternoon. When he had been at the place a week and was about to leave, the clerk said to him:

"I beg your pardon, sir; it's none of my business, but why have you left orders to be called at 6 o'clock every morning and never got out of bed till several hours later?"

"Well," he replied, "I'll tell you. Back in the city I've got a job that compels me to get up every morning, summer and winter, at 6 o'clock. This is my first vacation for five years. Every day when your bellboy has come up stairs and banged at the door I've started up to dress and get down to the office and then suddenly let the conviction steal blissfully over my brain that I didn't have to. Then I've gone back to bed, hugged the pillow and dreamed that I was in the Elysian fields. That moment of joy that has followed the banging on my door every morning has been worth three times the price of the bill."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Sympathy Misplaced.

One day during a cold snap last winter I saw an old man in a grocery acting rather suspiciously, and soon I saw him steal a potato from a barrelful of the tubers that stood outside the counter. The old fellow slipped out of the house as soon as he could conveniently and limped away. I followed him, thinking to give him what change I could spare, for I thought he must be desperately poor if he must steal a potato.

When I caught up with him and offered him a little money, the old man roared with laughter. When he had got his breath again, he said:

"You saw me steal the potato, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir, I did."

"Well, lemme tell you, my son, I've got potatoes to sell. I raise thousands of bushels of them. I've got the biggest market garden in this county, and I've got more money than you ever saw. Carryin a potato in your pocket will cure the rheumatiz, but for it to do any good you've got to steal the potato. See?

I saw. And I sawed wood.—Will Visscher in Woman's Home Companion.

All His Fault.

"Women beat the world."

"What's the matter now?"

"When my wife wants anything pretty to wear, she hints around until I persuade her to buy it, then after she has worn it out she pitches into me for encouraging her to be so extravagant."—Chicago Record.

Dimes to Offset Dollars.

"I can always tell when Harry has indulged himself in an extravagant luncheon down town."

"How do you tell?"

"He always comes home and wants to treat me to a trolley ride."—Detroit Free Press.

Impossible.

The Prosecutor—By the way, weren't you once arrested for horse stealing in Arizona?

The Witness—Fer horse stealin? In Arizony? I'm still a-livin, ain't I?—Indianapolis Press.

Uncle Bob's Hailstone Story.

"An old countryman I used to know when I was living in south Georgia," remarked a college professor apropos of sudden changes in the weather, "was in at least one respect a very remarkable character. To a casual listener he appeared to be a fluent and unconscionable liar, yet when you came to scrutinize any of his statements closely it was impossible to catch him in the slightest deviation from the truth."

"One day in early spring we had an unusually severe fall of hail, and next morning while driving down the road with a friend we happened to encounter the old fellow at his gate. 'Well, Uncle Bob,' I said, 'that was a pretty bad hailstorm we had yesterday.' 'I should say it was,' he replied. 'You just oughter seed some of the stones that come down in my back yard.' 'How big were they?' I asked. ''Bout as big as small watermelons,' said he. 'Well, we've caught him in a whopper at last,' chuckled my friend as we drove on. 'No, we haven't,' I groaned. 'As usual the old rascal has secured all the advantage of a fine, large lie and at the same time has adhered rigidly to the truth. Look at that vine.'

"An early watermelon vine was festooning the bottom rail of a fence by the roadside, and here and there it was studded with minute green spheres about the size of gooseberries. My friend made no comment. I never tried to catch Uncle Bob again."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

An Arab's Parlor.

A woman traveler in Egypt is amazed at the dearth of the natives' household goods, says a correspondent of the Chicago News. There is little furniture because the Arab needs little. His life is spent out of doors, and he can sleep in any handy gutter as peaceably and happily as a child, while most of his meals are eaten in the open air.

In one exceptionally luxurious house, that of a charwoman, the traveler found a parlor. It was regarded as a sort of shrine by Fatima. She had made it a fetich, devoting to its embellishment all the money she could spare and sacrificing to it even her children's wants. The visitor was shown through a broken down doorway into a squalid passage, where two rooms at either end revealed perspectives of greater squalor beyond. Children teemed from every entrance.

Arrived at the holy of holies, the door had to be unlocked. It was a brand new Birmingham lock. Distant Manchester had supplied a carpet blazing with roses and small creton curtains of brilliancy to match. Such things are in Cairo called "fellah" (vulgar), as none but fellahin are found to be purchasers of them, but poor Fatima's horrors are not yet quite catalogued. From some common shop in the Muski she had captured two or three glass vases, and in them—the last touch of triumph—were artificial flowers.

Chinese Superstition.

When General Grant was visiting China, Chester Holcombe, for many years secretary of the American legation at Peking, secured for him a privilege never before that time accorded to a foreigner, the privilege of admission into the sacred precincts of the Temple of Heaven in Peking.

Now, it is contrary to the settled belief of the Chinese to admit a member of the female sex, old or young, even to the temple ground, under any circumstances. It is said that should a Chinese guard venture even to carry a baby girl in his arms within the forbidden lines he would probably be punished with death. Not knowing of these restrictions, a number of ladies in General Grant's party ventured to follow him when he visited the sacred edifice.

Realizing the seriousness of this action, Mr. Holcombe afterward apologized to the emperor's representative for the conduct of his countrywomen and was informed that the intrusion would be overlooked, but must be kept as secret as possible, for should the populace learn of it an antiforeign outbreak would be likely to follow. They would not forgive such a pollution of their most sacred building.—Leslie's Weekly.

To Clean and Polish a Piano.

In cleaning and polishing a piano go over the woodwork with a cloth wet with paraffin oil, being generous with the oil where the woodwork is very much soiled. Let this remain two or three hours. This is to soften the dirt. Then wash with soap and water and a soft cloth, being careful not to let any water touch the works inside the piano. Use a good white or a white castile soap. Wipe dry with a soft cloth and polish with soft, old linen or chamois leather.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Marconi Objected.

There was a little dinner once given to William Marconi, of which one incident is still remembered by some of the guests. An oratorical member of the company, growing enthusiastic over a toast to the inventor of wireless telegraphy, made this climax to his peroration: "Gentlemen, I give you Marconi, the Franklin, the Faraday and the Helmholtz of Italy." When the toast had been drunk, the distinguished guest thanked the party for the honor and added, "But I must protest against the action of the preceding speaker in making me triplets."—Leslie's Monthly.

J. B. ROWE'S
Restaurant and Dining Hall
Board by Day or Week.
Single Meals, 25 Cents.
160 Washington St.

DR. WM. J. TAYLOR
HAS ADDED TO HIS OFFICE
Static and X-Ray Apparatus
To examine for all Fractured Limbs, Bullets and Needles, or any foreign substance in the human system.
OFFICE: COR. SECOND AND UNION STREETS

Incandescent Gas Lamps and Mantles.
For the best Mantles in the city and first class Plumbing and Gas Fitting call on Arbuthnot Bros.
PRACTICAL PLUMBERS,
Cor. Broadway and Fifth, City.
Mantles from 12½c to 30c.

The Willis H. Kinsey Plumbing Co.,
131 Sheridan Ave.,
Opened for business on MONDAY, April 15.
Estimate furnished on all kinds of Plumbing Work, Gas or Steam Fittings. Satisfaction and reasonable prices guaranteed.
Public Patronage Solicited.
THOS. F. STARKEY,
Secy. and Treas.

J. D. WEST,
76 SIXTH STREET,
Undertaking and Livery
In all its departments. Services prompt, day or night. Both phones, No. 38 at office. House. Bell phone No. 274.

Removed.
The Bon Ton Meat Market, formerly of Sixth street, has its new quarters at 250 West Market street where it will be pleased to meet all the patrons and as many new ones as may see fit to call.
BORING & COGSWELL.

A RECEIPT FOR EARNING AND SAVING MONEY.
For the next few days the Columbiana County Building Loan & Savings Co., will issue paid up stock and pay the highest rate of interest to be had anywhere. Will also accept small deposits in any amount. Make your money work for you.
The Columbiana County Building Loan & Savings Co.
COR. Fifth and Market Sts.

Night School
STUDENTS are given individual instruction. Now is a good time to enter. Special rates of tuition will be given night students who register before April 23, for a term of two months.
Ohio Valley Business College.

C. C. Bird Store,
192 Sixth Street.
Canaries, Parrots, Belgian Hares and Minnows.

FURNISHED ROOMS FOR RENT.
WITH USE OF BATH.
THE ANDERSON HOUSE
Cor. Walnut and Robinson Sts.

THE CRITERION DINING ROOM
having been removed to No. 176 Washington street, postoffice building, we are prepared to serve our patrons better and quicker than ever. The best Meal in the city for the money.
W. E. LYTLE.
Banquets and Suppers a Specialty.

ANY Time you are desirous of opening a bank account with us you will find a number of accommodating clerks who will give you any information you may desire, furnish you with a Bank Book, and show you what excellent facilities we have in the way of Safe Deposit Boxes for taking care of your valuables, important papers, jewels, etc,
CITIZENS' NATIONAL BANK,
East Liverpool, Ohio.

Life Insurance.
If you are going to take Life Insurance it would pay you to look at the Contract of the Northwestern.
To get Northwestern dividends you must carry Northwestern Insurance. Call and see Contracts and get rates.
Geo. H. Owen & Co.
General Insurance and Real Estate Agents.
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING,
Both Phones 49.

NEW LINE OF
Ice Boxes, Refrigerators, Hot Plate, Gasoline Stoves and Bakers.
Iron Beds and Furniture of all kinds.
John Schleiter,
130 2nd Street, opposite Passenger Depot.
BIG STOCK—LOW PRICES.

Call In and See . . .
The very latest styles of Hats, Shapes and Trimmings.
Everything up-to-date
No trouble to show Goods.
MRS. E. M. LEASURE,
Fifth St.

Confiscation In Morocco.

It is a custom in Morocco that all the property of an official reverts at death to the crown. The logic which leads to such a result is simple, for the government argues that all fortunes thus accumulated consist of moneys illegally retained by the authorities. A governor when appointed is probably possessed of no considerable fortune. When he dies, he may be a millionaire. Whence came his wealth? Squeezed most certainly from the tribes under his authority and therefore amassed only by the prerogatives of the position in which the sultan had placed him.

It has never struck the Moorish government that these great fortunes might more honorably be returned to the people from whom they were stolen. The result is entire confiscation to the crown, including often such private property as the governor may have been possessed of before his appointment and not seldom, too, of the property of his relatives.

When the mighty fall in Morocco, the crash brings down with them their families, even uncles and cousins and all connected with them, and it is not seldom that the sons of great governors, who have been brought up in the luxury of slaves and horses and retinues of mounted men, have to go begging in the streets.—Blackwood's.

A Horse's Blinders.

A horse's blinders are usually concave on the inside. True, the surface usually is a dead black, but not absolutely so, so that a glimmer of light may be reflected from them. By constant cleansing this dead surface is made more or less smooth if not actually glossy and shiny. Moreover, the blinders are usually set at an angle, so that as a result of the law of reflection rays of light concentrated by the convex surface are reflected into the eyes, not directly in the axis of vision, but more or less transversely or obliquely, the result being even more injurious. As a result of this reflection the vision is weakened if not destroyed.

Moreover, the mirrorlike blinders not only reflect sunlight, but they reflect objects as well, so that a "blinded" horse sees not only objects directly ahead of him, but has a more or less blurred vision of other objects, intermixing with and confusing the image of objects directly before him, and as a consequence he is rendered uncertain in his movements and is easily scared. No further proof of this is needed than the fact that a nervous horse with a reputation for shying and running away often becomes tractable if the blinders are removed, because he can then see distinctly what before he could only see indistinctly and confusedly.—Our Animal Friends.

A Puzzler.

An ancient epitaph in Latin in the chateau of Chantilly, France, may be translated thus:

Aelia Laelia Crispis
Neither man, nor woman, nor hermaphrodite,
Neither infant, young nor old,
Neither chaste, depraved, nor modest,
But all these.
Removed neither by hunger, sword or poison,
But by all,
She lies neither in the sky nor in the water, but everywhere.
Lucius Agatha Crispis.
Neither husband, lover nor friend,
But all these.
Neither weeping nor rejoicing,
But both.
Has erected this, neither a mausoleum, a pyramid nor a sepulcher,
But all three,
Both knowing and not knowing to whom he hath erected it.
This is a tomb that holds no body,
This is a body held in no tomb,
But is its own body and its own tomb.

The answer is not known, and so every nimble wit is invited to exercise itself on the tough old puzzle.

Whiter Than a Shirt.

Inventors have a power of abstraction which serves them a good turn on some occasions and is liable to betray them into strange statements on others.

"So you think you've perfected your little machine at last, do you?" asked the lawyer of his dreamy eyed client.

"Yes; it's all right now. There's not a flaw in it," said the inventor. "But I can assure you, sir, that when it came to making the final test I was frightened. I happened to see my face in a mirror when the thing was safely over, and it was as white as your shirt, sir. In fact," he added, bending an impartial gaze on the lawyer's shirt front, "it was whiter—considerably whiter, I should say."—Youth's Companion.

A Melodious Spot.

There is more melody in Andreasburg, Prussia, in the Harz mountains, than in any other town in the world. There 250,000 canaries are annually reared, and four-fifths of them are sent to the United States. "Professor birds," perfect singers, are placed among the young birds, so that the latter may imitate the trills of the experienced warblers.

A Two Edged Joke.

Sometimes a joke reacts, as the Bangor (Me.) Commercial proceeds to prove by relating that a young man in Auburn, to play a joke on a barber, paid him 35 old fashioned cents. Later, when he found that the barber had sold one of the coins for $35, he did not feel so well satisfied with his joke or at least thought it had become misplaced.

EXTRA SPECIAL

50 Japanese Silk Waists in all colors, worth $3.50 tomorrow and Monday only $2.19

Rainy Day Skirts.

25 rainy day skirts, cheap at $2.50, will go for $1.49.

25 rainy day skirts in black, brown and gray, worth $4.50, will go for $2.98.

50 rainy day skirts in all colors, with deep flounce and stitched, the best $5 skirt made, for $3.98.

Extra good rainy day skirts, with deep flounce and trimmed, worth $8, our special price $5.98.

Men's Furnishings.

A great line of shirts, 75c values for 49c.

Pleated bosom shirts, the best $1 grade, our special price 75c.

Balbriggan underwear for 22 1-2c.

Balgriggan underwear for 37 1-2c.

Fancy sox, worth 19c, for 12 1-2c.

Fine fancy sox, 25c grade, for 19c; three pairs for 50c.

Ribbons

25 pieces of fancy ribbon, the 20c grade, our price 12c.

Persian and other new ribbons, 35c and 39c grade, for 25c.

We show the largest line of velvet ribbons, in all widths, in which we will save you considerable.

A full line of taffeta ribbons in all widths, at the lowest prices.

Ladies' Underskirts.

Black mercerized underskirts, pleated and ruffled, cheap at $1.50, our special price 98c.

Fine mercerized underskirts, the newest style, worth every cent of $2.50, our price $1.75.

Better grades at $1.98, $2.49, $2.98 and $3.49.

Best gingham and percale underskirts for 50c, 75c and 98c.

Millinery

All the new styles in walking hats received this week, which we put on sale at special low prices. Be sure to see them before purchasing. A new line of shapes at great saving prices. A new line of ladies trimmed hats at fully one third less than anywhere in town.

A new line of childrens' trimmed hats and leghorns at matchless low prices.

EXTRA SPECIAL

20 pieces of 42 in. chiffon, always sold for 50c, will go for 29c a yard, and the 75c grade, in all colors, for 50c.

Star Bargain Store.

Exordinary offerings all through the store. Read every word of this advertisement for your benefit.

Special Offerings in Tailor-Made Suits

For Tomorrow and Monday which you do not want to miss.

25 tailor made suits in brown, castor and black, made of all Venetian cloth, nothing better sold for $10, tomorrow and Monday only at $6.98.

Four styles tailor made suits, in the newest Eton effects, in black, castor, blue, brown and red, $11.98 and $12.98 values, tomorrow and Monday only $8.98.

Collarless Eton suits in the latest style jacket, silk lined skirt and jacket nicely trimmed, the best $15 suit made tomorrow and Monday only $10.98.

All our other suits at special prices for tomorrow and Monday.

Dressing Sacques

Percale dressing sacques, ruffled and trimmed, worth 75c, our price 39c.

Fine lawn dressing sacques, with ruffle and lace trimmed, a $1.50 value, for 98c.

Children's Dresses

We received this week a great line of childrens' dresses which we offer at special prices. A full line of cashmere dresses at saving prices.

Ladies' Jackets

The latest style Eton jackets, in black and castor, worth $7, our special price $4.98.

Black cheviot Eton jackets, silk lined, lapels faced with peau-de-soie, worth $10, for $7.50.

Tan and black coats, lined all through, worth $7.50, for $4.98.

Muslin Underwear

Embroidery trimmed gowns, cheap at 50c, for 39c.

Fine lace trimmed gowns, 75c grade, for 59c.

Fine gowns, embroidery trimmed and hemstitched, $1.25 grade, for 89c.

Higher priced gowns at great saving prices.

Hemstitched skirts, cheap at $1, for 75c.

Fine lace or embroidery trimmed skirts, $1.50 values, for 98c.

Special values in skirts at $1.39, $1.75 and up to $2.98.

A Great Showing and Sale of Lace and Ruffled Curtains.

Now is your time and our store the place to buy your Curtains. We have them from 39c a pair up to $6.98. We show the best line of popular priced Curtains in tne city, and our prices are fully ¼ less than anywhere in town. Our Curtain department will convince you to that effect. Full line of Ruffled Curtains from 50c a pair up to $2.98 a pair. Special good values in Ruffled Curtains at 75c, 98c and $1.19 a pair. A great line of Swiss Goods by the yard from 10c up to 35c a yard. A full line of silk and cotton draperies.

Portieres and Rugs.

We can save you from $1 to $2 on your Portieres and we show the largest line of popular priced Portieres in town.

A full line of Mouquete and Symrna Rugs at saving prices.

A full line of Tapestry and Velour for furniture covering.

Deal at our store and save your hard earned dollars.

Star Bargain Store, 138 and 140 Fifth St.

25 Black Silk Waists

Tucked all over front and back and sleeves, cheap at $7.50, tomorrow and Monday for.....$4.98

Dress Skirts.

25 more of our black cloth skirts, nicely trimmed for $2.49. They are worth $4.

Another lot of our famous all-wool Venetian skirts at $4.98, nothing in town to match it for $7.

Very fine Venetian skirts, in black blue and castor, with three rows of taffeta bands, a $9 value for $6.98.

Black taffeta silk skirts, nicely trimmed, worth $12, our special price $8.98

Beautiful black taffeta silk skirts at $10.98, $12.50 and $15 which you cannot match in town for our price.

A Great Show and Sale of Wash Goods

Our line this season is more than twice as large as ever before, and we are quite busy in our wash goods department. Now is the time to get the best selection.

Nice dimities, 7c grade for 5c.

25 pieces of dimity, worth 10c, for 7 1-2c.

A beautiful line of dimities and lawns at 12 1-2c and 15c.

25 pieces of fine dimities, as good as any shown at 25c, our special price 19c

A beautiful line of mercerized Foulards at 25c.

A great line of ginghams at 15c and 25c.

Silk mouseline in stripes and dots, worth 75c, for 48c.

A full line of challies in beautiful patterns at 35c, 50c, 68c and 75c.

We show the best values in white India linen at 8c, 10c, 12 1-2c, 15c and 19c.

White Persian lawn at 25c.

White organdie, 50 inches wide, at 39c and 50c.

Shirt Waists.

Good wash waists worth 50c, our price 35c.

Percale waists, with two rows of embroidery insertion, real 75c grades, for 49c.

Best percale and gingham waists, the best $1 waists made, for 75c.

Fine mercerized waists, in pearl, blue and helio, tucked and hemstitched front and back, worth $1.50, for 98c.

A beautiful line of white waists, from 98c to $2.98.

Extra Special in Wash Goods.

Mercerized Cotton Pongee in beautiful patterns, looks like silk, the best 39c grade shown, will go for.....25c.

Two Painters.

During a holiday ramble Sir Frederick Leighton came across a little roadside inn, the signboard of which was being somewhat coarsely painted by a local artist. For some little time Sir Frederick watched the progress of the painting, till the rural artist, glancing down, remarked, "It be a foine day, masther?"

Leighton assented, adding that a figure on the signboard was out of proportion.

"Wheer be it out?" asked the aggrieved artist. "I'm thinkin yer've summer wrong in yer soight."

"If you get off that ladder, I'll put it right for you," replied the R. A. good humoredly.

"Eh, boot can ye paint?" queried the other doubtfully. "Ye ken I dinna want my work spiled."

"It's all right; I've done a little painting in my time," answered Leighton, as the other clambered down the ladder. Then, taking the palette, he climbed up and commenced to paint and did not desist until he had completed the signboard.

"Er, boot tha's nae so bad," was the rural artist's comment. "Art is nae so paying now; still if ye like to do mair work for me, I'll gie ye mair siller than I do as a rule."

"Thanks," replied Sir Frederick dryly. "My name is Leighton."

"Verra pleased to ken ye, Mr. Leighton," replied the man, ignorant of what the name meant. "My name is Tam."—St. James Gazette.

One of Webster's Drinks.

"Daniel Webster," said a Boston man, "as all the world knows, had a penchant for looking on wine when it glowed rosy red. At one time he was driving to Cambridge from Boston. He was billed to make a speech at the home of Harvard, and his companion in the old fashioned gig was a member of the reception committee and a resident of the town.

"On the way to Cambridge Mr. Webster turned to his fellow traveler with an inquiry whether there was not some place in the neighborhood where they could obtain a drink. 'If you will drive a short distance out of your way to my house,' was the courteous response, 'I think I can promise you as good a drink of Jamaica rum as you ever tasted.'

"To the house the twain accordingly journeyed, and once there the host, true to his promise, set before the statesman a decanter of extremely fine rum. The great Massachusetts senator poured out a brimming beaker and quaffed it off without wincing. His host tentatively pushed toward him the water jug, but Senator Webster after eying it a moment said: 'Thank you, no. I wanted a drink, but I am not thirsty.' He then went on to Cambridge and delivered one of his masterly efforts."

Won by His Retort.

At one of their joint discussions which took place in Kentucky some years ago Tom Stuart, then editor of the Winchester Democrat, gave his opponent, I. N. Boone, a descendant of the great Daniel, a blow that fairly knocked him out of the race for the legislature.

Boone was making his regular speech, and at the proper place in it he referred to the matter of his relation to the toiling masses. "My friends," said he, holding up a pair of hands that looked as if they had not been washed in a week, "to let you see for yourself that I am a horny handed son of toil, I ask you to look at these hands, and," turning to Stuart, "I would ask my pale faced young friend from the city what he thinks of them?"

Stuart was on his feet in a minute. "I do not desire to embarrass my distinguished opponent, ladies and gentlemen," he said, with a bow, "but I would say that I think that they need soap and water."

It was such an apparent case that the crowd took hold at once with a shout, and Boone was completely floored, and later Stuart was elected.—Argonaut.

A Mean Interruption.

"Don't trifle with me, Miss McCurdy!" pleaded the young man desperately. "Wait till I have finished. Do I need to tell you, after all these weeks, how completely and absolutely your image fills my heart? Have you not seen? Do you not know? Have I not betrayed myself by my looks, by the tones of my voice, by the eager joy that lights up my features whenever you appear? Must I put in words the feelings I can no more disguise than I can"—

"Mr. Whitgood," interrupted the young woman, "are you in earnest?"

"Glycerine McCurdy," he said, drawing himself up with injured dignity, "do you think I'm doing this on a bet?"—Chicago Tribune.

Don't allow yourself to become melancholy. Laugh once in awhile, whether you are tickled or not.—Chicago News.

Minorities lead and save the world and the world knows them not till long afterward.—John Burroughs.

History's Notorious Fault.

"I must insist," declared Diana, who was the acknowledged leader of the Olympian Woman's Suffrage party, "that the purity of the ballot would be conserved by allowing us to vote."

"Nonsense," protested Mercury, leader of the opposition. "You wouldn't be able to control the Muse of History. She's a natural born repeater."—Philadelphia Press.

A Drastic Measure.

A Spanish magistrate, shocked by the extent of the food adulteration, issued a proclamation, aflame with righteous wrath, that "all wines, groceries and provisions which upon analysis are proved to be injurious to health will be confiscated forthwith and distributed to the different charitable institutions."—Woman's Journal.

With the exception of Norway, there is no country in Europe whose area is so taken up by forests as Germany, more than a quarter of its surface being devoted to them.

The tongue is a little thing, but it fills the universe with trouble.

Buying Molasses.

She was newly arrived from the old country, and she went to the store for sirup.

"Give me a pound of treacle," she said to the grocer.

"Treacle!" repeated the grocer. "You mean molasses."

"Possibly."

"We don't sell it by the pound, but by the measure."

"Oh, then give me a yard!"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Confiscation In Morocco.

It is a custom in Morocco that all the property of an official reverts at death to the crown. The logic which leads to such a result is simple, for the government argues that all fortunes thus accumulated consist of moneys illegally retained by the authorities. A governor when appointed is probably possessed of no considerable fortune. When he dies, he may be a millionaire. Whence came his wealth? Squeezed most certainly from the tribes under his authority and therefore amassed only by the prerogatives of the position in which the sultan had placed him.

It has never struck the Moorish government that these great fortunes might more honorably be returned to the people from whom they were stolen. The result is entire confiscation to the crown, including often such private property as the governor may have been possessed of before his appointment and not seldom, too, of the property of his relatives.

When the mighty fall in Morocco, the crash brings down with them their families, even uncles and cousins and all connected with them, and it is not seldom that the sons of great governors, who have been brought up in the luxury of slaves and horses and retinues of mounted men, have to go begging in the streets.—Blackwood's.

A Horse's Blinders.

A horse's blinders are usually concave on the inside. True, the surface usually is a dead black, but not absolutely so, so that a glimmer of light may be reflected from them. By constant cleansing this dead surface is made more or less smooth if not actually glossy and shiny. Moreover, the blinders are usually set at an angle, so that as a result of the law of reflection rays of light concentrated by the convex surface are reflected into the eyes, not directly in the axis of vision, but more or less transversely or obliquely, the result being even more injurious. As a result of this reflection the vision is weakened if not destroyed.

Moreover, the mirrorlike blinders not only reflect sunlight, but they reflect objects as well, so that a "blinded" horse sees not only objects directly ahead of him, but has a more or less blurred vision of other objects, intermixing with and confusing the image of objects directly before him, and as a consequence he is rendered uncertain in his movements and is easily scared. No further proof of this is needed than the fact that a nervous horse with a reputation for shying and running away often becomes tractable if the blinders are removed, because he can then see distinctly what before he could only see indistinctly and confusedly.—Our Animal Friends.

A Puzzler.

An ancient epitaph in Latin in the chateau of Chantilly, France, may be translated thus:

Aelia Laelia Crispis
Neither man, nor woman, nor hermaphrodite,
Neither infant, young nor old,
Neither chaste, depraved, nor modest,
But all these.
Removed neither by hunger, sword or poison,
But by all,
She lies neither in the sky nor in the water, but everywhere.
Lucius Agatha Crispis.
Neither husband, lover nor friend,
But all these.
Neither weeping nor rejoicing,
But both.
Has erected this, neither a mausoleum, a pyramid nor a sepulcher,
But all three,
Both knowing and not knowing to whom he hath erected it.
This is a tomb that holds no body,
This is a body held in no tomb,
But is its own body and its own tomb.

The answer is not known, and so every nimble wit is invited to exercise itself on the tough old puzzle.

Whiter Than a Shirt.

Inventors have a power of abstraction which serves them a good turn on some occasions and is liable to betray them into strange statements on others.

"So you think you've perfected your little machine at last, do you?" asked the lawyer of his dreamy eyed client.

"Yes; it's all right now. There's not a flaw in it," said the inventor. "But I can assure you, sir, that when it came to making the final test I was frightened. I happened to see my face in a mirror when the thing was safely over, and it was as white as your shirt, sir. In fact," he added, bending an impartial gaze on the lawyer's shirt front, "it was whiter—considerably whiter, I should say."—Youth's Companion.

A Melodious Spot.

There is more melody in Andreasburg, Prussia, in the Harz mountains, than in any other town in the world. There 250,000 canaries are annually reared, and four-fifths of them are sent to the United States. "Professor birds," perfect singers, are placed among the young birds, so that the latter may imitate the trills of the experienced warblers.

A Two Edged Joke.

Sometimes a joke reacts, as the Bangor (Me.) Commercial proceeds to prove by relating that a young man in Auburn, to play a joke on a barber, paid him 35 old fashioned cents. Later, when he found that the barber had sold one of the coins for $35, he did not feel so well satisfied with his joke or at least thought it had become misplaced.

EXTRA SPECIAL

50 Japanese Silk Waists in all colors, worth $3.50 tomorrow and Monday only $2.19

Rainy Day Skirts.

25 rainy day skirts, cheap at $2.50, will go for $1.49.

25 rainy day skirts in black, brown and gray, worth $4.50, will go for $2.98.

50 rainy day skirts in all colors, with deep flounce and stitched, the best $5 skirt made, for $3.98.

Extra good rainy day skirts, with deep flounce and trimmed, worth $8, our special price $5.98.

Men's Furnishings.

A great line of shirts, 75c values for 49c.

Pleated bosom shirts, the best $1 grade, our special price 75c.

Balbriggan underwear for 22 1-2c.

Balgriggan underwear for 37 1-2c.

Fancy sox, worth 19c, for 12 1-2c.

Fine fancy sox, 25c grade, for 19c; three pairs for 50c.

Ribbons

25 pieces of fancy ribbon, the 20c grade, our price 12c.

Persian and other new ribbons, 35c and 39c grade, for 25c.

We show the largest line of velvet ribbons, in all widths, in which we will save you considerable.

A full line of taffeta ribbons in all widths, at the lowest prices.

Ladies' Underskirts.

Black mercerized underskirts, pleated and ruffled, cheap at $1.50, our special price 98c.

Fine mercerized underskirts, the newest style, worth every cent of $2.50, our price $1.75.

Better grades at $1.98, $2.49, $2.98 and $3.49.

Best gingham and percale underskirts for 50c, 75c and 98c.

Millinery

All the new styles in walking hats received this week, which we put on sale at special low prices. Be sure to see them before purchasing. A new line of shapes at great saving prices. A new line of ladies trimmed hats at fully one third less than anywhere in town.

A new line of childrens' trimmed hats and leghorns at matchless low prices.

EXTRA SPECIAL

20 pieces of 42 in. chiffon, always sold for 50c, will go for 29c a yard, and the 75c grade, in all colors, for 50c.

Star Bargain Store.

Exordinary offerings all through the store. Read every word of this advertisement for your benefit.

Special Offerings in Tailor-Made Suits

For Tomorrow and Monday which you do not want to miss.

25 tailor made suits in brown, castor and black, made of all Venetian cloth, nothing better sold for $10, tomorrow and Monday only at $6.98.

Four styles tailor made suits, in the newest Eton effects, in black, castor, blue, brown and red, $11.98 and $12.98 values, tomorrow and Monday only $8.98.

Collarless Eton suits in the latest style jacket, silk lined skirt and jacket nicely trimmed, the best $15 suit made tomorrow and Monday only $10.98.

All our other suits at special prices for tomorrow and Monday.

Dressing Sacques

Percale dressing sacques, ruffled and trimmed, worth 75c, our price 39c.

Fine lawn dressing sacques, with ruffle and lace trimmed, a $1.50 value, for 98c.

Children's Dresses

We received this week a great line of childrens' dresses which we offer at special prices. A full line of cashmere dresses at saving prices.

Ladies' Jackets

The latest style Eton jackets, in black and castor, worth $7, our special price $4.98.

Black cheviot Eton jackets, silk lined, lapels faced with peau-de-soie, worth $10, for $7.50.

Tan and black coats, lined all through, worth $7.50, for $4.98.

Muslin Underwear

Embroidery trimmed gowns, cheap at 50c, for 39c.

Fine lace trimmed gowns, 75c grade, for 59c.

Fine gowns, embroidery trimmed and hemstitched, $1.25 grade, for 89c.

Higher priced gowns at great saving prices.

Hemstitched skirts, cheap at $1, for 75c.

Fine lace or embroidery trimmed skirts, $1.50 values, for 98c.

Special values in skirts at $1.39, $1.75 and up to $2.98.

A Great Showing and Sale of Lace and Ruffled Curtains.

Now is your time and our store the place to buy your Curtains. We have them from 39c a pair up to $6.98. We show the best line of popular priced Curtains in tne city, and our prices are fully ¼ less than anywhere in town. Our Curtain department will convince you to that effect. Full line of Ruffled Curtains from 50c a pair up to $2.98 a pair. Special good values in Ruffled Curtains at 75c, 98c and $1.19 a pair. A great line of Swiss Goods by the yard from 10c up to 35c a yard. A full line of silk and cotton draperies.

Portieres and Rugs.

We can save you from $1 to $2 on your Portieres and we show the largest line of popular priced Portieres in town.

A full line of Mouquete and Symrna Rugs at saving prices.

A full line of Tapestry and Velour for furniture covering.

Deal at our store and save your hard earned dollars.

Star Bargain Store, 138 and 140 Fifth St.

25 Black Silk Waists

Tucked all over front and back and sleeves, cheap at $7.50, tomorrow and Monday for.....$4.98

Dress Skirts.

25 more of our black cloth skirts, nicely trimmed for $2.49. They are worth $4.

Another lot of our famous all-wool Venetian skirts at $4.98, nothing in town to match it for $7.

Very fine Venetian skirts, in black blue and castor, with three rows of taffeta bands, a $9 value for $6.98.

Black taffeta silk skirts, nicely trimmed, worth $12, our special price $8.98.

Beautiful black taffeta silk skirts at $10.98, $12.50 and $15 which you cannot match in town for our price.

A Great Show and Sale of Wash Goods

Our line this season is more than twice as large as ever before, and we are quite busy in our wash goods department. Now is the time to get the best selection.

Nice dimities, 7c grade for 5c.

25 pieces of dimity, worth 10c, for 7 1-2c.

A beautiful line of dimities and lawns at 12 1-2c and 15c.

25 pieces of fine dimities, as good as any shown at 25c, our special price 19c.

A beautiful line of mercerized Foulards at 25c.

A great line of ginghams at 15c and 25c.

Silk mouseline in stripes and dots, worth 75c, for 48c.

A full line of challies in beautiful patterns at 35c, 50c, 68c and 75c.

We show the best values in white India linen at 8c, 10c, 12 1-2c, 15c and 19c.

White Persian lawn at 25c.

White organdie, 50 inches wide, at 39c and 50c.

Shirt Waists.

Good wash waists worth 50c, our price 35c.

Percale waists, with two rows of embroidery insertion, real 75c grades, for 49c.

Best percale and gingham waists, the best $1 waists made, for 75c.

Fine mercerized waists, in pearl, blue and helio, tucked and hemstitched front and back, worth $1.50, for 98c.

A beautiful line of white waists, from 98c to $2.98.

Extra Special in Wash Goods.

Mercerized Cotton Pongee in beautiful patterns, looks like silk, the best 39c grade shown, will go for.....25c.

Two Painters.

During a holiday ramble Sir Frederick Leighton came across a little roadside inn, the signboard of which was being somewhat coarsely painted by a local artist. For some little time Sir Frederick watched the progress of the painting, till the rural artist, glancing down, remarked, "It be a foine day, masther?"

Leighton assented, adding that a figure on the signboard was out of proportion.

"Wheer be it out?" asked the aggrieved artist. "I'm thinkin yer've summer wrong in yer soight."

"If you get off that ladder, I'll put it right for you," replied the R. A. good humoredly.

"Eh, boot can ye paint?" queried the other doubtfully. "Ye ken I dinna want my work spiled."

"It's all right; I've done a little painting in my time," answered Leighton, as the other clambered down the ladder. Then, taking the palette, he climbed up and commenced to paint and did not desist until he had completed the signboard.

"Er, boot tha's nae so bad," was the rural artist's comment. "Art is nae so paying now; still if ye like to do mair work for me, I'll gie ye mair siller than I do as a rule."

"Thanks," replied Sir Frederick dryly. "My name is Leighton."

"Verra pleased to ken ye, Mr. Leighton," replied the man, ignorant of what the name meant. "My name is Tam."—St. James Gazette.

One of Webster's Drinks.

"Daniel Webster," said a Boston man, "as all the world knows, had a penchant for looking on wine when it glowed rosy red. At one time he was arriving to Cambridge from Boston. He was billed to make a speech at the home of Harvard, and his companion in the old fashioned gig was a member of the reception committee and a resident of the town.

"On the way to Cambridge Mr. Webster turned to his fellow traveler with an inquiry whether there was not some place in the neighborhood where they could obtain a drink. 'If you will drive a short distance out of your way to my house,' was the courteous response, 'I think I can promise you as good a drink of Jamaica rum as you ever tasted.'

"To the house the twain accordingly journeyed, and once there the host, true to his promise, set before the statesman a decanter of extremely fine rum. The great Massachusetts senator poured out a brimming beaker and quaffed it off without wincing. His host tentatively pushed toward him the water jug, but Senator Webster after eying it a moment said: 'Thank you, no. I wanted a drink, but I am not thirsty.' He then went on to Cambridge and delivered one of his masterly efforts."

Won by His Retort.

At one of their joint discussions which took place in Kentucky some years ago Tom Stuart, then editor of the Winchester Democrat, gave his opponent, I. N. Boone, a descendant of the great Daniel, a blow that fairly knocked him out of the race for the legislature.

Boone was making his regular speech, and at the proper place in it he referred to the matter of his relation to the toiling masses. "My friends," said he, holding up a pair of hands that looked as if they had not been washed in a week, "to let you see for yourself that I am a horny handed son of toil, I ask you to look at these hands, and," turning to Stuart, "I would ask my pale faced young friend from the city what he thinks of them?"

Stuart was on his feet in a minute. "I do not desire to embarrass my distinguished opponent, ladies and gentlemen," he said, with a bow, "but I would say that I think that they need soap and water."

It was such an apparent case that the crowd took hold at once with a shout, and Boone was completely floored, and later Stuart was elected.—Argonaut.

A Mean Interruption.

"Don't trifle with me, Miss McCurdy!" pleaded the young man desperately. "Wait till I have finished. Do I need to tell you, after all these weeks, how completely and absolutely your image fills my heart? Have you not seen? Do you not know? Have I not betrayed myself by my looks, by the tones of my voice, by the eager joy that lights up my features whenever you appear? Must I put in words the feelings I can no more disguise than I can"—

"Mr. Whitgood," interrupted the young woman, "are you in earnest?"

"Glycerine McCurdy," he said, drawing himself up with injured dignity, "do you think I'm doing this on a bet?"—Chicago Tribune.

Don't allow yourself to become melancholy. Laugh once in awhile, whether you are tickled or not.—Chicago News.

Minorities lead and save the world and the world knows them not till long afterward.—John Burroughs.

History's Notorious Fault.

"I must insist," declared Diana, who was the acknowledged leader of the Olympian Woman's Suffrage party, "that the purity of the ballot would be conserved by allowing us to vote."

"Nonsense," protested Mercury, leader of the opposition. "You wouldn't be able to control the Muse of History. She's a natural born repeater."—Philadelphia Press.

A Drastic Measure.

A Spanish magistrate, shocked by the extent of the food adulteration, issued a proclamation, aflame with righteous wrath, that "all wines, groceries and provisions which upon analysis are proved to be injurious to health will be confiscated forthwith and distributed to the different charitable institutions."—Woman's Journal.

With the exception of Norway, there is no country in Europe whose area is so taken up by forests as Germany, more than a quarter of its surface being devoted to them.

The tongue is a little thing, but it fills the universe with trouble.

Buying Molasses.

She was newly arrived from the old country, and she went to the store for sirup.

"Give me a pound of treacle," she said to the grocer.

"Treacle!" repeated the grocer. "You mean molasses."

"Possibly."

"We don't sell it by the pound, but by the measure."

"Oh, then give me a yard!"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Fished For Its Dinner.

"Looking over my neighbor's fence one day," says a lover of animals, "I was surprised to see on his doorstep these queer companions: A beautiful white sea gull and my neighbor's pet cat sitting quietly together.

"Becoming interested, I jumped the fence and asked Jones about his feathered pet. He told me that some boys had shot the gull a few days before and broken its wing, and as they were passing his house he noticed the poor, suffering thing and bought it. He bandaged the broken wing, and the gull, seeming to understand his kind intentions, became quite tame and nestled its pretty head against his hand.

"Jones entertained me by showing how the gull usually took his meals. Bringing a plate of oysters and a fork, he called 'Goosey, goosey, goosey!' and the bird came running to him. Then he held out an oyster on the fork and the gull seized it quickly with its yellow bill and ate it as demurely as if oysters had been served to it in this way all of its days.

"The oddest thing occurred one day when my neighbor gave the gull some small pieces of meat for dinner. He placed the meat on the ground near the gull, but the gull, espying a pan of water near by, took the meat piece by piece and, walking over, dropped it into the water. Then, true to its nature, it began fishing for its dinner."—Christian Advocate.

Our Last Cargo of Slaves.

Captain Foster was the commander of the slave ship Clotilda that brought the last cargo of slaves to the United States. The trip was made only after many thrilling scenes requiring weeks of skillful maneuvering and dangerous exploits. Just before the north and south engaged in war Captain Foster built the Clotilda and announced that he would make a trip to the gulf of Guinea despite the fact that United States war vessels had burned and sunk the ships of many who tried the voyage. He was warned repeatedly of the dangers attached to such an undertaking, but he equipped his ship and sailed away.

He reached the African coast after going out of his course many times and remained along the coast for a month. He succeeded in getting 100 negroes on board before he was detected by the watchful vessels of the United States. He was pursued, but easily outdistanced his pursuers, and two months later arrived in Mobile bay with his human cargo. A steamboat met the slaveship during the night, and the negroes were transferred in order to avoid the custom house officials. Captain Foster set his vessel on fire and passed through Mobile without being detected. The government authorities hunted for him for months, but he eluded them until the close of the war, when he retired from the sea.

Tipping the Butcher.

Did you ever buy your own steaks and get the worst in the shop nearly every time? An old friend has had that misfortune, and he is always willing to pay two or three cents more a pound than any other customer. Having listened calmly to his tale of woe, I inquired if he had acquired the practice of tipping the butcher. Tipping the butcher? No! He thought it was a sufficient tip to offer the two or three cents more a pound. "That offer," I tried to explain, "goes to the proprietor direct, or his block man thinks you are trying to make a thief of him by inducing him to hold out for himself the extra price. It will never work.

"Just say to your cutter: 'See here, old chap, I've been dissatisfied with my steaks for some time. Come out and take a drink, and tell me how to select good meat.' He's too busy. Then slip a dime into his hand and say, 'Have a glass of beer when you get out,' or a quarter and say, 'Have a smile with me when you have time.' Repeat this performance and presently your steaks are the delight of home. In the busiest private market in New York it is the rule to tip the butchers. You can get nothing fit to eat without it."—New York Press.

Not an Educated Dog.

In the "Floresta Espanola" of Melchior de Santa Cruz the author has an anecdote of Cardinal Pedro Goncalez. That prelate noticed that one of the priests in his retinue, a Biscayan, carried a short sword under his cloak. The cardinal reproved him and told him that it was wrong for a cleric to carry arms. The Biscayan replied that he carried the weapon to defend himself if he were attacked by a dog. The cardinal said that in case he saw a dog running at him he should begin to recite from the gospel of St. John. The priest acknowledged that this was a good way, but held to the dagger, "because there are some dogs who do not understand Latin."

Two Ways of Writing.

Mrs. Bibbs—I declare! You men can't write a letter unless you have a regular desk and office chair and big blotting pad and I don't know what all.

Mr. Bibbs—Yes, and a woman may have a $200 writing desk, with everything to match, and yet she'll sit down on a stool and write on an old book.—New York Weekly.

WHEN PERIL COMES.

Sudden and Extreme Danger the Test of True Courage.

It is when the unexpected happens that fatalism proves how fragile a prop it is, after all, for human courage. The soldier or the sailor can say to himself when he knows that he must take a supreme risk in battle or in a storm: "I am powerless against the fate which was decreed for me from the beginning of the world. If my time has come, I cannot help it; if not, all the forces of earth and sky and ocean cannot prevail to harm me." But when without an instant's warning a rock crashes through a ship's bottom and the waters rush into the gap, when confusion seizes the entire company aboard, when the fog is too thick for the captain to be seen or the roar of the sea drowns the sound of his orders a new test is applied. Then it is that the courage which rests on nothing firmer than a negation gives way, and in his greed to save his own life the stoic becomes as a madman.

There have been steamship disasters in which men of humble station, of all colors and faiths, have shown the finest quality of heroism, and there have been those in which the common sailors, all whites and Europeans, have earned eternal disgrace by their cowardice. The point we are making is not that it is possible to draw a hard and fast line between one religion and another or one race and another in the matter of bravery, but that the affirmative sense of responsibility for one's own acts, of the difference between right and wrong, between nobility and ignominy and of the grandeur of duty well done at the sacrifice of self, is a far surer dependence in the presence of sudden peril than all the stoical philosophers ever worked out by the mind of man.—Washington Post.

SYBARITES IN THE COLD.

Luxury as It Is Indulged In by the Arctic Traders.

So much has been written of the Eskimo ("husky") dogs and dog sleds of the north that they may well be mentioned here if only to show the idea of luxury which many of the factors and traders of the Hudson Bay company entertain. Seated or rather reclining in his cariole, swathed in furs, he is driven by an engage on foot who dashes along at a great pace. The cariole is painted gaudily. There are Russian bells on the collars of each of the long span of dogs, while the harness is a mass of beadwork and tassels.

No longer when he lodges at night at a post does he partake solely of the simpler fare it can furnish, nor even when he camps out in the wilderness must he be content with what his gun can bring down in addition to the pemmican he carries. For now, either under the cariole seat or in an additional sled behind, there is found a good supply of canned meats and vegetables, products of Chicago and Ontario, and, moreover, his driver is his cook. In the open a fire will be deftly kindled, tea will be made, bacon and even eggs will be fried, and hot "flapjacks," that delectable fritter of the bush, half an inch thick and swimming in grease and molasses will tickle the factor's palate.

At night, enveloped in his furs and maybe reposing on a hastily constructed bed of balsam boughs, the last vision before his eyes close upon the scenes of dreamland will be the scintillating splendors of the aurora borealis, whose purpling waves alternate with bars of vivid light so rapidly and in such volume as to make the beholder almost believe that nature speaks, mauger the silence, all penetrating, all pervading—Cornhill Magazine.

The "Picket."

The picket was generally inflicted on cavalry and artillerymen and was a singularly brutal bit of torture. A long post, near which stood a stool, was driven into the ground. The delinquent was ordered to mount the stool, and his right hand was fastened to a hook in the post by a noose, drawn up as high as it could be stretched, round his wrist. A stump the height of the stool, with its end cut to a round and blunt point, was also driven into the earth close to the post. Then the stool was taken away, and the sufferer had nothing to rest his bare feet upon but the stump, "which, though it did not usually break the skin," says Captain Grose, "put him in great torture, his only means of relief being by resting his weight on his wrist, the pain of which soon became intolerable." One can very well believe him, especially when he makes the addition that a man was not infrequently left to stand in this position for half an hour, although the orthodox period of endurance was 15 minutes.—London Graphic.

In Case of Fire.

In case of fire if the burning articles are at once splashed with a solution of salt and nitrate of ammonia an incombustible coating is formed. This is a preparation which can be made at home at a trifling cost and should be kept on hand. Dissolve 20 pounds of common salt and 10 pounds of nitrate of ammonia in 7 gallons of water. Pour this into quart bottles of thin glass, and fire grenades are at hand ready for use. These bottles must be tightly corked and sealed to prevent evaporation, and in case of fire they must be thrown near the flames so as to break and liberate the gas contained. At least two dozen of these bottles should be ready for an emergency.

In this connection it is well to remember that water on burning oil scatters the flame, but that flour will extinguish it. Salt thrown upon a fire if the chimney is burning will help to deaden the blaze.

If a fire once gets under headway, a covering becomes a necessity. A silk handkerchief moistened and wrapped about the mouth and nostrils prevents suffocation from smoke. Failing this, a piece of wet flannel will answer.

Should smoke fill the room, remember that it goes first to the top of the room and then to the floor. Wrap a blanket or woolen garment about you, with the wet cloth over your face, drop on your hands and knees and crawl to the window.

Bear in mind that there is no more danger in getting down from a three story window than from the first floor if you keep a firm hold of the rope or ladder. Do not slide, but go hand over hand.

One of Sothern's Jokes.

That inveterate joker, Sothern the actor, had made an appointment with Toole, the comedian, to dine at a well known London restaurant. The hour of meeting was fixed and Sothern arrived some few minutes before the appointed time. An elderly gentleman was dining at a table at some little distance from that prepared for the two actors. He was reading a newspaper which he had comfortably arranged before him as he was eating his dinner. Sothern walked up to him and striking him a smart blow between the shoulders said:

"Hello, old fellow! Who would have thought of seeing you here? I thought you never"— The assaulted diner turned around angrily, when Sothern exclaimed: "I beg you a thousand pardons, sir. I thought you were an old friend of mine—a family man whom I never expected to see here. I hope you will pardon me."

The old gentleman growled a reply, and Sothern returned to his table, where he was presently joined by Toole, to whom he said:

"See that old boy? I'll bet you half a crown you daren't go and give him a slap on the back and pretend you have mistaken him for a friend."

"Done!" said Toole, and done it was immediately with a result that may be imagined.

How Horses Rest.

"Have you ever noticed," asked a Germantown veterinarian the other day, "that every horse left standing by a curbstone for any length of time invariably turns around so as to place his fore feet on the sidewalk? He always does it if the road on which he is standing slopes the least bit in either direction. This shows that the horse has a great deal of plain, common sense. He will not allow himself to be worn out where it is not necessary. If people only had his wisdom, there would be a great deal less sickness in the world than there is at present. When a thoughtless driver leaves his horse standing on a slope or at an angle of the street, all the animal's weight is thrown upon one side, causing strain, and if left long enough painful exhaustion. Twenty minutes of such an ordeal will fatigue a horse more than a whole day's travel. But when he is able to plant his fore feet on the curbstone it gives him a better plant and adjusts his weight more equably. Many of the muscular ailments from which horses suffer are brought upon them by being continually obliged to stand by the gutter side on streets which slope decidedly. A good driver will always seek to rest his horse on a level when possible."—Philadelphia Record.

Arizona Forests.

Arizona is supposed to be almost an unbroken desert, but in reality it has the largest unbroken pine forest in the United States, covering an area of over 8,000 square miles. This timber is usually found at an altitude of between 5,500 and 7,500 feet. The total quantity of pine timber fit for sawing purposes within the boundaries of the territory amounts to 10,000,000,000 feet, which can supply the needs of a populous state for more than a century.

Highest Cross in the World.

The highest cross in the world is said to be that which caps the loftiest peak of the Harz mountains. The cross is in reality a tower, and it commands a magnificent view of the country around. The height of the tower is 120 feet, and it stands on a mountain 1,731 feet above the sea level. A stair of 200 steps leads to the top of the cross, but there is an elevator of which people may avail themselves who for any reason wish to avoid the long climb.

Earthquakes.

In 1881 the isles of Ischia and Scio suffered terribly from an earthquake, losing about 4,000 to 5,000 people. Ischia was again visited in 1883, but did not get off as easily as before, coming out of the wreck with 10,000 dead and missing. The great calamity of the nineteenth century was the great convulsion in Java in 1883, which is said to have killed not less than 120,000 persons.

Carpets

Are engaging the attention of the average housewife just now.

In buying Carpets, either

Brussels or Ingrains,

You do not want to experiment on untried and inferior makes. You want something that has been tried and found not wanting, such makes as the

Hartfords and Lowells

We carry these reliable makes and you are always safe in buying them.

For Anything in Furniture

Everything for any room in the house, you can best suit yourself at

FRANK CROOK'S

Pretty Wall Paper

Is the Light of the Home.

IT Cheers and Gladdens. Our patterns are the kind that have the light and shades, the tints and colors of the choicest 1901 designs. We control our designs absolutely for this territory. We never have any trouble in pleasing particular people, we're too particular about our buying for that. Our stock never was so complete as this spring. Won't you come in and see what we have

We are prepared to hang all Wall Paper sold from our store. Both Phones. 265 Broadway.

JAS. M. McDOLE,

No More Gray Hair.

Ladies, do you know you can get the latest transformation Pompadeur which can be used as a covering for gray hair or can take the place of the old fashioned wig?

Made of natural curly hair, only weighs one ounce and a half. Can be made in any style desired to suit face. Hair Switches $1 up, over one hundred to select from

New York Hair Parlor,

174 Sixth Street.

Try a News Review want ad.

New Lumber Yard

J. W. JOHNSTON

Will open one on the South Side on or about

April 15.

He will handle the best lines of Lumber, Building Materials, Doors, Sash, slate roofing, etc.

If you are going to build this summer it will pay you to wait until his yard is opened.

The news while it is new in this paper.

Fished For His Dinner.

"Looking over my neighbor's fence one day," says a lover of animals, "I was surprised to see on his doorstep these queer companions: A beautiful white sea gull and my neighbor's pet cat sitting quietly together.

"Becoming interested, I jumped the fence and asked Jones about his feathered pet. He told me that some boys had shot the gull a few days before and broken its wing, and as they were passing his house he noticed the poor, suffering thing and bought it. He bandaged the broken wing, and the gull, seeming to understand his kind intentions, became quite tame and nestled its pretty head against his hand.

"Jones entertained me by showing how the gull usually took his meals. Bringing a plate of oysters and a fork, he called 'Goosey, goosey, goosey!' and the bird came running to him. Then he held out an oyster on the fork and the gull seized it quickly with its yellow bill and ate it as demurely as if oysters had been served to it in this way all of its days.

"The oddest thing occurred one day when my neighbor gave the gull some small pieces of meat for dinner. He placed the meat on the ground near the gull, but the gull, espying a pan of water near by, took the meat piece by piece and, walking over, dropped it into the water. Then, true to its nature, it began fishing for its dinner."—Christian Advocate.

Our Last Cargo of Slaves.

Captain Foster was the commander of the slave ship Clotilda that brought the last cargo of slaves to the United States. The trip was made only after many thrilling scenes requiring weeks of skillful maneuvering and dangerous exploits. Just before the north and south engaged in war Captain Foster built the Clotilda and announced that he would make a trip to the gulf of Guinea despite the fact that United States war vessels had burned and sunk the ships of many who tried the voyage. He was warned repeatedly of the dangers attached to such an undertaking, but he equipped his ship and sailed away.

He reached the African coast after going out of his course many times and remained along the coast for a month. He succeeded in getting 100 negroes on board before he was detected by the watchful vessels of the United States. He was pursued, but easily outdistanced his pursuers, and two months later arrived in Mobile bay with his human cargo. A steamboat met the slaveship during the night, and the negroes were transferred in order to avoid the custom house officials. Captain Foster set his vessel on fire and passed through Mobile without being detected. The government authorities hunted for him for months, but he eluded them until the close of the war, when he retired from the sea.

Tipping the Butcher.

Did you ever buy your own steaks and get the worst in the shop nearly every time? An old friend has had that misfortune, and he is always willing to pay two or three cents more a pound than any other customer. Having listened calmly to his tale of woe, I inquired if he had acquired the practice of tipping the butcher. Tipping the butcher? No! He thought it was a sufficient tip to offer the two or three cents more a pound. "That offer," I tried to explain, "goes to the proprietor direct, or his block man thinks you are trying to make a thief of him by inducing him to hold out for himself the extra price. It will never work.

"Just say to your cutter: 'See here, old chap, I've been dissatisfied with my steaks for some time. Come out and take a drink, and tell me how to select good meat.' He's too busy. Then slip a dime into his hand and say, 'Have a glass of beer when you get out,' or a quarter and say, 'Have a smile with me when you have time.' Repeat this performance and presently your steaks are the delight of home. In the busiest private market in New York it is the rule to tip the butchers. You can get nothing fit to eat without it."—New York Press.

Not an Educated Dog.

In the "Floresta Espanola" of Melchior de Santa Cruz the author has an anecdote of Cardinal Pedro Goncalez. That prelate noticed that one of the priests in his retinue, a Biscayan, carried a short sword under his cloak. The cardinal reproved him and told him that it was wrong for a cleric to carry arms. The Biscayan replied that he carried the weapon to defend himself if he were attacked by a dog. The cardinal said that in case he saw a dog running at him he should begin to recite from the gospel of St. John. The priest acknowledged that this was a good way, but held to the dagger, "because there are some dogs who do not understand Latin."

Two Ways of Writing.

Mrs. Bibbs—I declare! You men can't write a letter unless you have a regular desk and office chair and big blotting pad and I don't know what all.

Mr. Bibbs—Yes, and a woman may have a $200 writing desk, with everything to match, and yet she'll sit down on a stool and write on an old book.—New York Weekly.

WHEN PERIL COMES.

Sudden and Extreme Danger the Test of True Courage.

It is when the unexpected happens that fatalism proves how fragile a prop it is, after all, for human courage. The soldier or the sailor can say to himself when he knows that he must take a supreme risk in battle or in a storm: "I am powerless against the fate which was decreed for me from the beginning of the world. If my time has come, I cannot help it; if not, all the forces of earth and sky and ocean cannot prevail to harm me." But when without an instant's warning a rock crashes through a ship's bottom and the waters rush into the gap, when confusion seizes the entire company aboard, when the fog is too thick for the captain to be seen or the roar of the sea drowns the sound of his orders a new test is applied. Then it is that the courage which rests on nothing firmer than a negation gives way, and in his greed to save his own life the stoic becomes as a madman.

There have been steamship disasters in which men of humble station, of all colors and faiths, have shown the finest quality of heroism, and there have been those in which the common sailors, all whites and Europeans, have earned eternal disgrace by their cowardice. The point we are making is not that it is possible to draw a hard and fast line between one religion and another or one race and another in the matter of bravery, but that the affirmative sense of responsibility for one's own acts, of the difference between right and wrong, between nobility and ignominy and of the grandeur of duty well done at the sacrifice of self, is a far surer dependence in the presence of sudden peril than all the stoical philosophers ever worked out by the mind of man.—Washington Post.

SYBARITES IN THE COLD.

Luxury as It Is Indulged In by the Arctic Traders.

So much has been written of the Eskimo ("husky") dogs and dog sleds of the north that they may well be mentioned here if only to show the idea of luxury which many of the factors and traders of the Hudson Bay company entertain. Seated or rather reclining in his cariole, swathed in furs, he is driven by an engage on foot who dashes along at a great pace. The cariole is painted gaudily. There are Russian bells on the collars of each of the long span of dogs, while the harness is a mass of beadwork and tassels.

No longer when he lodges at night at a post does he partake solely of the simpler fare it can furnish, nor even when he camps out in the wilderness must he be content with what his gun can bring down in addition to the pemmican he carries. For now, either under the cariole seat or in an additional sled behind, there is found a good supply of canned meats and vegetables, products of Chicago and Ontario, and, moreover, his driver is his cook. In the open a fire will be deftly kindled, tea will be made, bacon and even eggs will be fried, and hot "flapjacks," that delectable fritter of the bush, half an inch thick and swimming in grease and molasses will tickle the factor's palate.

At night, enveloped in his furs and maybe reposing on a hastily constructed bed of balsam boughs, the last vision before his eyes close upon the scenes of dreamland will be the scintillating splendors of the aurora borealis, whose purpling waves alternate with bars of vivid light so rapidly and in such volume as to make the beholder almost believe that nature speaks, mauger the silence, all penetrating, all pervading—Cornhill Magazine.

The "Picket."

The picket was generally inflicted on cavalry and artillerymen and was a singularly brutal bit of torture. A long post, near which stood a stool, was driven into the ground. The delinquent was ordered to mount the stool, and his right hand was fastened to a hook in the post by a noose, drawn up as high as it could be stretched, round his wrist. A stump the height of the stool, with its end cut to a round and blunt point, was also driven into the earth close to the post. Then the stool was taken away, and the sufferer had nothing to rest his bare feet upon but the stump, "which, though it did not usually break the skin," says Captain Grose, "put him in great torture, his only means of relief being by resting his weight on his wrist, the pain of which soon became intolerable." One can very well believe him, especially when he makes the addition that a man was not infrequently left to stand in this position for half an hour, although the orthodox period of endurance was 15 minutes.—London Graphic.

In Case of Fire.

In case of fire if the burning articles are at once splashed with a solution of salt and nitrate of ammonia an incombustible coating is formed. This is a preparation which can be made at home at a trifling cost and should be kept on hand. Dissolve 20 pounds of common salt and 10 pounds of nitrate of ammonia in 7 gallons of water. Pour this into quart bottles of thin glass, and fire grenades are at hand ready for use. These bottles must be tightly corked and sealed to prevent evaporation, and in case of fire they must be thrown near the flames so as to break and liberate the gas contained. At least two dozen of these bottles should be ready for an emergency.

In this connection it is well to remember that water on burning oil scatters the flame, but that flour will extinguish it. Salt thrown upon a fire if the chimney is burning will help to deaden the blaze.

If a fire once gets under headway, a covering becomes a necessity. A silk handkerchief moistened and wrapped about the mouth and nostrils prevents suffocation from smoke. Failing this, a piece of wet flannel will answer.

Should smoke fill the room, remember that it goes first to the top of the room and then to the floor. Wrap a blanket or woolen garment about you, with the wet cloth over your face, drop on your hands and knees and crawl to the window.

Bear in mind that there is no more danger in getting down from a three story window than from the first floor if you keep a firm hold of the rope or ladder. Do not slide, but go hand over hand.

One of Sothern's Jokes.

That inveterate joker, Sothern the actor, had made an appointment with Toole, the comedian, to dine at a well known London restaurant. The hour of meeting was fixed and Sothern arrived some few minutes before the appointed time. An elderly gentleman was dining at a table at some little distance from that prepared for the two actors. He was reading a newspaper which he had comfortably arranged before him as he was eating his dinner. Sothern walked up to him and striking him a smart blow between the shoulders said:

"Hello, old fellow! Who would have thought of seeing you here? I thought you never"— The assaulted diner turned around angrily, when Sothern exclaimed: "I beg you a thousand pardons, sir. I thought you were an old friend of mine—a family man whom I never expected to see here. I hope you will pardon me."

The old gentleman growled a reply, and Sothern returned to his table, where he was presently joined by Toole, to whom he said:

"See that old boy? I'll bet you half a crown you daren't go and give him a slap on the back and pretend you have mistaken him for a friend."

"Done!" said Toole, and done it was immediately with a result that may be imagined.

How Horses Rest.

"Have you ever noticed," asked a Germantown veterinarian the other day, "that every horse left standing by a curbstone for any length of time invariably turns around so as to place his fore feet on the sidewalk? He always does it if the road on which he is standing slopes the least bit in either direction. This shows that the horse has a great deal of plain, common sense. He will not allow himself to be worn out where it is not necessary. If people only had his wisdom, there would be a great deal less sickness in the world than there is at present. When a thoughtless driver leaves his horse standing on a slope or at an angle of the street, all the animal's weight is thrown upon one side, causing strain, and if left long enough painful exhaustion. Twenty minutes of such an ordeal will fatigue a horse more than a whole day's travel. But when he is able to plant his fore feet on the curbstone it gives him a better plant and adjusts his weight more equably. Many of the muscular ailments from which horses suffer are brought upon them by being continually obliged to stand by the gutter side on streets which slope decidedly. A good driver will always seek to rest his horse on a level when possible."—Philadelphia Record.

Arizona Forests.

Arizona is supposed to be almost an unbroken desert, but in reality it has the largest unbroken pine forest in the United States, covering an area of over 8,000 square miles. This timber is usually found at an altitude of between 5,500 and 7,500 feet. The total quantity of pine timber fit for sawing purposes within the boundaries of the territory amounts to 10,000,000,000 feet, which can supply the needs of a populous state for more than a century.

Highest Cross in the World.

The highest cross in the world is said to be that which caps the loftiest peak of the Harz mountains. The cross is in reality a tower, and it commands a magnificent view of the country around. The height of the tower is 120 feet, and it stands on a mountain 1,731 feet above the sea level. A stair of 200 steps leads to the top of the cross, but there is an elevator of which people may avail themselves who for any reason wish to avoid the long climb.

Earthquakes.

In 1881 the isles of Ischia and Scio suffered terribly from an earthquake, losing about 4,000 to 5,000 people. Ischia was again visited in 1883, but did not get off as easily as before, coming out of the wreck with 10,000 dead and missing. The great calamity of the nineteenth century was the great convulsion in Java in 1883, which is said to have killed not less than 120,000 persons.

Carpets

Are engaging the attention of the average housewife just now.

In buying Carpets, either

Brussels or Ingrains,

You do not want to experiment on untried and inferior makes. You want something that has been tried and found not wanting, such makes as the

Hartfords and Lowells

We carry these reliable makes and you are always safe in buying them.

For Anything in Furniture

Everything for any room in the house, you can best suit yourself at

FRANK CROOK'S

Pretty Wall Paper

Is the Light of the Home.

IT Cheers and Gladdens. Our patterns are the kind that have the light and shades, the tints and colors of the choicest 1901 designs. We control our designs absolutely for this territory. We never have any trouble in pleasing particular people, we're too particular about our buying for that. Our stock never was so complete as this spring. Won't you come in and see what we have

We are prepared to hang all Wall Paper sold from our store.
Both Phones. 265 Broadway.

JAS. M. McDOLE,

No More Gray Hair.

Ladies, do you know you can get the latest transformation Pompadeur which can be used as a covering for gray hair or can take the place of the old fashioned wig?

Made of natural curly hair, only weighs one ounce and a half. Can be made in any style desired to suit face. Hair Switches $1 up, over one hundred to select from

New York Hair Parlor,

174 Sixth Street.

New Lumber Yard

J. W. JOHNSTON

Will open one on the South Side on or about

April 15.

He will handle the best lines of Lumber, Building Materials, Doors, Sash, slate roofing, etc.

If you are going to build this summer it will pay you to wait until his yard is opened.

The news while it is new in this

EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

16TH YEAR. NO. 270. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1901—12 PAGES. TWO CENTS

FOUGHT ABOUT A YOUNG MAN

Three Chester Girls Landed In Court After an Exciting Conflict.

EACH OF THEM WAS FINED

They Demurred But Paid When They Found They Must Do So or Go to Jail—A Noisy Hearing Before the 'Squire.

The most sensational case ever brought before a justice in Chester was disposed of in 'Squire Johnson's court late last evening. Misses Mary Cole and Ethel Campbell were arraigned on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Mrs. Viola, mother of Mary Smith. She alleged that her daughter, Mary, had been grossly abused by the said Ethel Campbell and Mary Cole.

The two girls were arrested at their boarding house near the park by Constable Allison at 7 o'clock last evening. As soon as they reached the 'squire's office one of them swore out a warrant for Miss Mary Smith on the same charge. All three of the participants in the affair were now under arrest and Mrs. Viola Smith, who preferred the first charge, was very much out of humor. An eye witness states that she laid down the law to the justice in a very emphatic manner.

The girls then started to tell their troubles all at the same time, and neither constable nor justice could persuade one to keep quiet until the other had finished. The only facts developed were that Miss Mary Smith had asserted that a certain young man would keep company with her, but would not do so with the Misses Cole and Campbell. They took exception to this and gave Miss Smith a severe hair-pulling and thumping.

The justice lectured the girls severely and fined each $7.60. They said they couldn't pay and he said: "Ten days in the county jail." The girls all wept bitterly, but to no avail, and after a great deal of trouble paid their fines and were released.

ATTACKED BY A COW

A Child of George Allison Saved By the Father And a Hatchet.

A vicious cow belonging to John Boulton attacked a party of children who were playing near the Second street bridge and would doubtless have seriously injured the six-year-old son of George Allison had it not been for the timely interference of Mr. Allison.

The enraged animal was in pursuit of his boy and he saw that it would catch him before he could get between them. He had a hatchet in his hand, which he threw with full force and the edge of it struck the cow in the neck, inflicting a deep wound. The cow fell to the ground and the lad escaped.

MIGHTY CURT WELCH.

HOW HE WON A GAME THAT WAS MOST DECISIVE.

Disobeyed Orders But Made His Point And Made His Club World's Champions.

Mayor Davidson is in receipt of a letter from William Blythe, of Chicago, an old resident of this city, in which he recalls an incident that was one of the many extraordinary feats performed by the old-time champion, Curt Welch.

In a Chicago paper of Wednesday Mr. Blythe has marked the following:

"When St. Louis beat Chicago in the world's series of '85 the feeling was intense, and when the same teams won in their respective leagues it was agreed to play a series of first four in seven games for the entire gate receipts, losers to pay their own expenses.

"Chicago won two out of the three first games played here. Then Anson's men went down to St. Louis, where the Browns took two straight. The sixth game was thus all essential to the White Stockings. For nine innings the contest was even and the Browns went to bat in the last half of the ninth with the score 3 to 3. With one out and Bushong at bat Curt Welch got around to third, and the foxy Kelly and Tom Burns decided to catch him off the base by a quick throw.

"Kelly signaled Clarkson for a high in-shoot so as to make a better throw to third. Welch was playing way up, and Comisky on the coach lines saw the signal and warned him. But Welch was impetuous and refused the warning. Clarkson put on extra speed for the effort. The ball hit the end of Kelly's mitt and bounded about five feet away. Welch already had a big lead, and ran with a headlong dive for the plate and was safe. That passed ball decided the world's championship and the ownership of more than $20,000 gate receipts, half of which went to the club and half to the players, a matter of more than $800 each."

Scarcely a week passes during the base ball season that some reference is not made to Curt Welch, and the fact that Mr. Blythe took the trouble to forward the story, indicates that he has not forgotten East Liverpool and the days when she had the proud distinction of contributing to the national game the greatest base ball player who ever donned a uniform.

PROBATE MATTERS.

Executors And Administrators Named By Court.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—The will of the late Eliza T. Atchison, of Unity township, was admitted to probate this morning and Thomas and James A. Atchison are named as executors.

Frank H. Menough, late of Wellsville, left no will, and Mary A. Menough today qualified as administrator with $6,000 bond. H. B. Nicholson, J. C. Catlett and W. C. Morrow will make the appraisement.

John Close, as guardian of Ernest Hunter et al, was given an order of private sale for an 80-acre tract of land in Washington township.

BRIGHT WELLSVILLE LAD FALLS AND IS DROWNED.

Houston Kelly, son of Elmer S. Kelly, the well known newsdealer and stationer of Wellsville, was drowned this morning about 11 o'clock. He was a bright little lad, 6 years of age, and a general favorite with all who knew him.

Houston lost his knife this morning and felt very badly about it. He was crying over his loss when Fred McFall, about 10 years of age, came along. Fred had a basket and was going to carry dinner to some of the men at the rolling mill. Houston asked to go along and Fred, thinking it would divert the child's mind, consented. They proceeded along the railroad track. The little fellow was still grieving and appeared very much downcast. As they were crossing the railroad bridge over Little Yellow creek the McFall boy, noting that his companion was walking on the outer edge of the bridge and looking down, cautioned him to walk in the middle of the track, as he might stumble and fall.

Scarcely had he spoken when the Kelly boy struck his foot against the guard rail and in an instant had fallen into the water. Young McFall at once gave the alarm. He said Houston did not rise after he struck the water. Apparently his body was drawn under by the current and carried away. Half a dozen skiffs were soon out with men searching for the tiny corpse. The accident occurred at 11 o'clock this morning, but up to 2 the body had not been recovered.

OHIO WILL BE A MIGHTY SHIP

The New Battleship Will Be a Great Addition to Uncle Sam's Navy.

SISTER OF THE ILL-FATED MAINE

She Will Cost Almost $3,000,000 for Hull And Machinery—Her Complement Will Be 35 Officers And 511 Men—A Description of the Vessel.

Washington, April 26.—Another powerful addition to the navy will be the battleship Ohio, the launching of which President McKinley and cabinet are to witness, and she is expected to join the squadron of Rear Admiral Casey before the close of the present year.

A sister ship of the Maine, building at Cramps', and of the Missouri, building at Newport News, the Ohio will represent the most advanced stage of naval development and will have no equal afloat as a gun platform. Her battery will be a marvel of power, and, while her guns will not be mounted in superposed turrets, she will have most effective broadsides.

The occasion will be the first where any distinguished persons of the government have witnessed launches on the Pacific, and the Ohio will be the first warship the president has seen launched.

The Ohio is 388 feet long and 72 feet extreme beam and on a draft of 23 feet 6 inches displaces 12,230 tons.

The hull is protected abreast of the boilers and engines by a side armor belt extending 3 feet 6 inches above the loadwater line and 4 feet below it, having a thickness of 11 inches for a depth of 4 feet 6 inches, tapering to 7½ inches at the bottom of the belt, and by the casemate armor 6 inches thick, which extends from the side belt to the upper deck and is worked from the center of the forward to the center of the after barbette.

In the casemate are placed 10 of the six-inch guns. Above this, on the upper deck, four of the six-inch guns are placed, in the vicinity of which six-inch armo ris worked far enough forward and aft to afford protection to the crews of these guns.

Protection is afforded the vitals of the ship below the water line by a protective deck worked flat within the casemate and with slopes forward and aft of it. Cofferdams are built on the protective deck from the diagonal armor bulkheads to the bow and stern in the vicinity of the water line and on the berth deck for nearly the length of the vessel. All of these cofferdams are filled with cellulose.

The main battery will consist of four 12-inch guns, placed in two balanced turrets, and 16 six-inch rapid-fire guns.

The turrets are turned by electricity and the motors used for this purpose can revolve one of these through 360 degrees in one minute. The armor of both the turrets and barbettes is 12 inches thick.

Ten of the six-inch guns are within the casemate, two others are on the berth forward in six-inch armored sponsons and four are on the upper deck. Those in the sponsons forward and two on the upper deck can fire directly ahead and the other two on the upper deck can fire directly astern, in addition to having a broadside fire.

The secondary battery consists of six three-inch rapid-fire guns, eight six-pound rapid-fires, six one-pound rapid-fires, two Colts and two three-inch rapid-fire field guns.

A new feature introduced in the offensive power of this Ohio is the submerged torpedo tube. While they are not new abroad, German warships having been equipped with them for a number of years, the Ohio class is the first of our navy to be supplied with them. Prior to her construction many

Continued on Fifth Page.

BOY THIEF CAUGHT

ACCUSED OF STEALING BRASS RINGS FROM A POTTERY.

Junk Dealer Arrested for Receiving the Goods—Hearing This Evening.

Thomas McGuire, a 15-year-old lad, was arrested by Chief Thompson this morning on a charge of petit larceny.

Last Saturday five dozen brass cup mold rings were stolen from the C. C. Thompson pottery. The theft was reported to Chief Thompson on Monday and he immediately started to work upon the case. Today he landed the culprit.

Officer Dawson found 22 of the rings under the platform of the freight station on Monday and they have bten stored in the mayor's office ever since. The remaining 37 were located by Chief Thompson at the junk shop kept by Wesley Roberts at the foot of Broadway, and they also were deposited at city hall.

The chief concluded he had sufficient evidence to convict young McGuire and this morning arrested him. The boy will be given a hearing this evening.

A charge was also filed against Roberts for receiving stolen property, and Thompson arrested him this morning. The law is very strict on the regulation of junk dealers. The authorities have been greatly annoyed from time to time by reason of the junk men's alleged indifference as to the stuff they buy, and an attempt will be made in this case to make a lasting impression.

GRAND JURY CASES

Three More From East Liverpool to be Acted on, Making 73 for a Year.

The local police department now have three cases pending on which the grand jury will take action at the next setting. This makes a total of 73 sent over during the year.

Of the 70 that have already been passed upon 59 convictions have been secured. It is doubtful if any magistrate who ever occupied the position of mayor has had a record that will compare with it. Mayor Davidson and Chief Thompson are receiving credit for the caution and good judgment exercised in the conduct of criminal cases.

The prisoners now in the county jail awaiting the action of the grand jury are Dave Brown, Sam Dawson and Drexel Lowrey. It is more than probable that indictments will be found against all.

MRS. BARNES' COMPLAINT

Says She Is Not Allowed to Talk to the Child Frances Hewitt. Hearing Tuesday.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—The habeas corpus proceedings instituted in probate court today by John Barnes and wife, of East Liverpool, against Emma Vincent, has been set for a hearing next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The proceedings are brought to recover possession of Frances Hewitt, aged 11, adopted by Barnes and wife. The application states that Mrs. Vincent has taken possession of the child, confining her in her home in East Liverpool, and refuses to allow her to talk with the Barnes family. The girl was brought here this morning and is in charge of Sheriff Noragon.

HOW TO GET ON IN BUSINESS

Lecture to Young Men on the Subject by Charles T. Hard.

CHANCES FOR YOUTH GOOD

But the Man Who Would Succeed Must Be Earnest, Active and Honest—No Room for Triflers—Must Not Wait But Work.

The first of the free lectures to young people at the Second M. E. church in the East End was delivered last evening to a large and interested audience. The speaker was Charles T. Hard, of this city, and his theme, "The Young Man in Business," was handled by one fully familiar with the subject. Mr. Hard said in part:

"Perhaps you will say 'I am not in business, so this subject will not interest me.' But you are in business. Being in business is the state of being actively employed, and I don't think I'm talking to any one who is not employed at something, be it in factory or store, or office, or on the farm.

"So, as we are in business in spite of ourselves, let us see how to get to the top. In the first place it doesn't want blotches. It won't take any foolishness form any one. Life is real, life is earnest, is the unspoken sentiment of every successful business man and enterprise. The world is too full of clean-cut, earnest, thorough young men to waste any time on the happy-go-lucky careless youth, who either thinks life was made for him to have a good time in or who spends his time kicking because he is not lucky.

"You must be earnest, enthusiastic and ambitious. You must want to do something and be something. Unless you want to climb a tree no amount of boosting will put you up there. Then when you have decided what you want to do, you must have confidence enough in yourself to believe you can do it."

The speaker next dwelt on the importance of doing well whatever task one has to do. Another trait to be cultivated is speed, but thoroughness should never be sacrificed for it. If you cannot be both, be thorough first. Sir Benjamin West became the best painter of his day. His rule was: "First, I make every picture my best; second, I try to work a little faster every day."

Instead of there being no chance for a young man now, there are ten chances where there was one for his grandfather. To catch a chance one must be up with the times—up-to-date.

"Man made machinery and invented telegraphs and harnessed electricity. They are his servants, and servants cannot be greater than the master, unless the master wills it. So if you want one of these chances, take it. Don't ask for it, take it. Compel the world to recognize you. The world won't pay much attention to you unless you make it do so. Great brains are needed to guide the tremendous enterprises of the times, and the people who are risking the money are will-

(Continued on Fifth Page.)

ALL THE PRELIMINARIES HAVE BEEN ARRANGED.

The conference committees who have in hand the task of dealing with the controversy between the operative potters of the west and the manufacturers, met in the Potters' club last night. The session was a brief one, and the time was spent for the most part in arranging the preliminaries for a meeting to be held next Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

A full representation was present from both sides of the question, and each of the several requests made by the operatives was briefly outlined by the committee representing the Brotherhood in order that a start might be made in the matter of discussing the issues later on. The session lasted less than an hour, and while there was nothing accomplished that will affect the final decision, it is gratifying to many hundreds of potters here and elsewhere to know that a start has been made. The feeling throughout the meeting was most cordial and there is every reason for the belief that it will continue.

SHOES at WHOLESALE PRICES at GASS' We have some Big Bargains in SHOES. Too many styles to itemize, but they are all good, honest goods, and late styles in ladies' and gents'.

No. 1—Lot of Ladies' and Gents' Vici stock and st. Calf Lace, worth $1.25, go at..... 98c

No. 2—Lot Ladies' and Gents' Vici Lace, also st. Calf Lace, worth $2, go at $1.50

YOU CAN GET THESE AT OUR STORE ONLY.

W. H. GASS 220 Diamond W. H. GASS

EAST END.

NO WORD FROM THEM

The Two East End Boys And a Borrowed Boat Are Still Missing.

No word has been received in the East End of the whereabouts of John Patterson and Sam Cochran, who disappeared with Fred Riley's skiff Tuesday morning.

The rumor was circulated last night that the boys had been apprehended by the officers in Wheeling, but the officers here had heard nothing from that city. John Patterson has three brothers and one sister who reside here, but they know nothing of his whereabouts or the cause that prompted him to leave so suddenly.

TOOK CHANCES AND MISSED.

East End People Not Lucky in Lottery Business.

A number of employes at the National plant are looking in vain for the return of a smooth young lady, who, they say, sold 130 chances on an organ a few days ago and then concluded to keep the organ. They claim that they bought the chances and that the organ was to be turned over to the lucky man yesterday.

The lady failed to appear at the proper time and inquiry elicited the fact that she had left the city and taken her organ and other effects with her, so they say.

Decided in His Favor.

Henry Chambers has received a telephone message from Lisbon stating that his suit against the city of East Liverpool was decided in his favor. The action was brought to permanently enjoin the city from collecting an extra assessment for the paving of Pennsylvania avenue.

House Was Crowded.

At the Second U. P. church last night it was necessary to use the Sunday school room in addition to the church auditorium to accommodate the large audience in attendance.

EAST END BREVITIES.

The Dixonville base ball team will play at Georgetown tomorrow.

W. A. Orin is suffering from an attack of neuralgia of the heart.

Al Crider has purchased the draught horse "Jim Crow" from Joseph Anderson.

William Campbell, a kilnhand at the National plant, is very ill at his home in Smith's Ferry.

Mrs. Ed Riley, who was injured by a fall Tuesday evening, is somewhat improbed, but is unable to be out.

The first bear show of the season occurred in the East End this morning. Two Italians entertained the boys by making a large brown bear perform.

Business is so brisk at the National plant that it may be necessary to put on a night force to fill the orders which are more numerous now than at any time since this pottery was built.

Everything Good to Eat.

Strawberries, tomatoes, asparagus, cucumbers, green beans, parsley, water cress, lettuce, rhubarb and onions, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

We have many styles of hats shown in the windows, but if you don't see what you want step inside and ask for it. 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Cruikshank's Strawberry Preservene, best in the market. Geon Bros. 270-h

A novelty in ladies' fine cloth top shoes, fetching style, $3.00. Frank, Shumaker & Co. 270-h

Full line of Trimmed Hats at Perry's, 202 Market street. 270-i

Country butter, eggs, cabbage, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

WEST END MATTERS.

Small Boys in Danger of Arrest for Annoying Pedestrians—Personal Notes.

John Owens is ill at his home on Jethro street.

Benjamin Jones, of Pleasant Heights is ill with the grip.

Alfred Cartwright was in Salineville on business yesterday.

William Barton, Sr., of Lisbon road, is confined to his home with grip.

The West End Athletics baseball club will open the season at Irondale Saturday. Captain Hester will have charge of the team.

Edward Palmer, of Pleasant Heights is suffering from a very sore foot, the result of a slight accident in which a sagger fell upon the member.

Mrs. Sarah Day, of Lisbon street, who has been ill with consumption for some time, is worse. It is stated that she can live but a few days.

A number of West End ladies will be entertained at the home of Miss Mary Earle, of Fourth street, tonight, the occasion being Miss Earle's nineteenth birthday.

The residents of Jethro are growing very weary of the "fun" of a number of small boys who, they claim, assemble nightly on the bridge across Jethro hollow and amuse themselves by throwing dirt and stones at people who pass near in the hollow below. Last night about twenty lads gathered here and passed the time at throwing mud balls at the people who happened to pass. Several ladies were among those annoyed. It is stated that an older boy who tried to stop the trouble was "mud pelted" all the way back to his home. A resident stated today that the police would be informed of the nuisance, and the boys would probably be placed under arrest unless the practice was stopped at once.

AT THE NORTH END.

Personal Items And Other Matters of Interest—A Very Painful Accident.

Miss Emma Bennett is confined to her home on Avondale street by illness.

Mrs. George Barnish has returned to her home on Prospect street after a visit with friends at Sebring.

Miss Vallie Powell, who has been very ill at her home on Avondale street for the past week, is able to sit up.

Mrs. James Jones, who has been very ill at her home on Avondale street for several weeks with an attack of typhoid fever, is again able to be out.

W. C. Todd, of McKinnon avenue, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon. He was working at the new residence of R. McKinnon on Calcutta road when he stepped on a rusty nail, which penetrated the right foot for almost two inches. The foot was very sore today and although able to get around he will not be able to return to work for several days.

Our Dress Negligee Shirts are the wonder and admiration of every man, young or old, who has been fortunate enough to see these prices, 50c to $3.
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.
270-i

MILLER RECOVERING.

The Man Shot by Curtis Staub Last Week, is Likely to Get Well.

Minerva, O., April 26.—(Special)—Andrew Miller, the aged farmer who was shot last week by Curtis Staub, is steadily improving, and it is thought he will recover.

Sciatic Rheumatism Cured After Fourteen Years of Suffering.

"I have been afflicted with sciatic rheumatism for fourteen years," says Josh Edgar, of Germantown, Cal. "I was able to be around, but constantly suffered. I tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Palm, which I did and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured, and I am happy to say it has not since returned." Why not use this liniment and get well? It is for sale by Alvin H. Bulger, drug gist.

Just received, a nice lot of French patterns for Saturday and Monday. New flowers from 10 cents to $3.50 per bunch. Hats made of the best material at all prices, at
L. S. WILSON CO.
270-i 138 Sixth street.

Our Business Blouse and our Sailor Blouse Suits are the cutest things in the market, we have the blue sailor caps to match, at 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Hassey's Saturday Sale.

Fine mixed Bon Bons and Chocolates, 15c a pound at Hassey's. 270-h

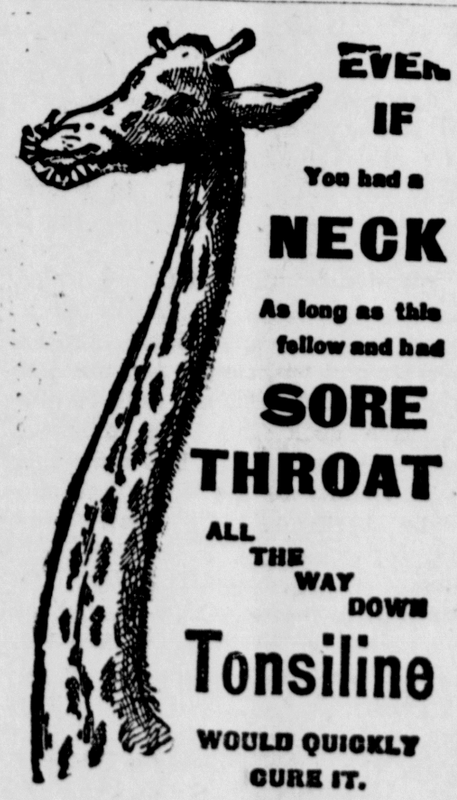
See our window display of fine shoes. FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Forever Settled.

She—I tell you the moral superiority of woman is recognized in the language itself. There isn't any feminine for "rascals," is there?

He—Of course not, but that's because—

She—That's because there are no feminine rascals!—Chicago Tribune.



WANTS $300,000,000.

Amount of Indemnity Conger Said China Should Pay—Arrived In 'Frisco With Family.

San Francisco, April 26.—Edwin H. Conger, United States minister to China, accompanied by his wife, daughter and Miss Pierce, arrived from China Thursday afternoon on the steamer Nippon Maru. He did not reach his hotel until about 5 o'clock last evening. When asked if he cared to make any expression as to the talked-of gubernatorial nomination in Iowa, he said:

"I do not care to make any public declaration at this time. I have not yet had time to read the correspondence which has met me here. So far as I am at present advised, I see no reason to change my position, as expressed about two months ago, before I left China. I received two telegrams from the United States. One asked me if I were a candidate for governor. I answered: 'I am not.' The other telegram asked if I would accept the nomination if tendered me. I replied that I would accept if the nomination came to me, but that I was in no sense a candidate. I do not care to, nor will I say anything further in the matter until I reach Des Moines. I do not know what the situation in Iowa is, and do not care to say anything definite until I am fully advised. My present intention and desire is to return to China and finish my work."

Mr. Conger was particularly anxious to know what had been done by the powers in the matter of indemnity. He was asked for his opinion as to the amount of indemnity China could pay. "Three hundred million dollars,' he replied, accompanying his answer by the statement that it would be necessary for the government to practice economy. The time of payment, too, should extend over a long term of years.

Concerning events in China, Mr. Conger said that there was nothing new to be said in that direction, as everything that happened had been told fully, together with many things that never occurred. Tales of brutality had, he thought, been exaggerated. Of course, there were cases of outrage by individual soldiers that were not sanctioned by officers. These were but incidents of war, which found some palliation in the fact that the Chinese had killed 40,000 native Christians and 100 Europeans.

THOMAS HAYES HUNG.

He Murdered William Lowden, Near Dunbar, Pa.

Uniontown, Pa., April 26.—Thomas Hayes was hanged here for the murder of William Lowden. He walked to the scaffold unflinchingly. He was pronounced dead in about 10 minutes and was cut down shortly after. He had nothing whatever to say. He refused religious consolation of any kind and met death phlegmatically.

The execution was witnessed by only about 50 persons, in accordance with the expressed wishes of Mrs. Hayes. Deputy Sheriff William German, of Allegheny county, assisted Sheriff McCormick in the preliminary arrangements for the execution.

Hayes apparently was not one bit daunted by the fact that he was facing death, and when on the scaffold was inclined to joke. He said to Deputy German, of Pittsburg: "Sheriff, if there is any message you want to send to the other side, tell me and I'll take it. Or if there is anything I can do for you across the way, just say so and I will do it."

Hayes was hanged for the murder of William Lowden, at Hill Farm mine, near Dunbar, on July 4, 1899. Hayes maintained that he had no intention of killing Lowden, but was preparing to fire a Fourth of July salute when his gun was accidentaly discharged. Several witnesses testified that Hayes complained that Lowden had abused him and called him a coward, and that he had said that he was satisfied that Lowden was done for. The plea of the defense was insanity and lack of motive.

Seven dates had been fixed for hanging Hayes. Governor Stone first set June 12, 1900. Pending failure of the pardon board to take final action the subsequent dates fixed were July 12, August 14, November 20, 1900, January 22 and April 25, 1901.

THE MARKETS.

Pitsburg, April 25.

WHEAT—No. 2 red, 72@73c.

CORN—No. 2 yellow shelled, 49@50c; No. 2 yellow ear, 51@52c.

OATS—No. 2 white, 32¼@32¾c; extra No. 3 white, 31¾@32c; regular No. 3, 31@31½c.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $15.50@15.75; No. 2, $14.75@15.00; No. 1 mixed hay, $13.50@14.00; No. 1 clover hay, $13.00@13.25; No. 1 prairie hay, $11.50@12.00.

BUTTER—Elgin prints, 23@23½c; tubery, 22½@23c; Ohio and Pennsylvania creamery, 20@20½c; dairy butter, 17@18c; country roll, 13@14c; cooking butter, 12@13c.

EGGS—Fresh at mark, 13½@14c; fresh candled, 14½@15c.

CHEESE—Ohio, three-fourths cream, 10½@10¾c; full cream, Ohio, 11¾@12c; New York state brand, 12@12½c; Limberger, new, 13½@14c; Wisconsin block Swiss, 15@15½c; Wisconsin ring Swiss, 14@15c; brick, five-pound average, 14@14¼c.

POULTRY—Live—Springers, 10½@11c; hens, 10½@11c; roosters, 5@6c; turkeys, 11@11½c; ducks, 10@11c; geese, $1.00@1.50 per pair. Dressed—Springers, 14@15c; turkeys, 15@16c; ducks, 15@16c; geese, 11@12c per pound.

Pitsburg, April 25.

CATTLE — Receipts light; market steady. We quote: Extra heavy, $5.60@5.75; prime, $5.25@5.50;; good, $5.00@5.20; heifers, $3.00@4.50; common to good fresh cows, $25.00@50.00; springers and common cows, $25.00@35.00.

HOGS—Receipts fair; 10 double decks; demand only fair; market slow at a decline of 5 cents. We quote: Best medium and heavy Yorkers, $6.15; light Yorkers, $6.05@6 10; heavy hogs, $6.10@6.15; pigs, $5.90@6.00; roughs, $4.00@5.00.

SHEEP AND LAMBS—Receipts 6 loads; market slow. We quote: Best wethers, $4.50@4.60; good, $4.25@4.60; mixed, $3.75@4.15; common, $2.00@3.50; choice lambs, $5.25@5.35; common to good lambs, $4.00@5.20; veal calves, $5.00@6.00; heavy and thin, $3.50@4.00; spring lambs, $5.00@9.00.

New York, April 25.

WHEAT—Spot market firm; No. 2 red, 83¾c f. o. b. afloat; No. 2 red, 80⅝c in elevator; No. 1 Northern Duluth, 88½c f. o. b. afloat; No. 1 hard Duluth, 92c f. o. b. afloat.

CORN—Spot market strong; No. 2, 53c in elevator and 52½c f. o. b. afloat.

OATS—Spot market firmer; No. 2, 31½c; No. 3, 31c; No. 2 white, 33¼@33½c; No. 3 white, 32¾c; track mixed western, 31@32½c; track white, 32@36½c.

CATTLE—Nearly all consigned direct; nothing doing; feeling steady.

SHEEP AND LAMBS—Market for sheep nominal; lambs steady to firm; wooled lambs, $6.25@6.40; clipped do, $5.00@5.75; spring lambs, $5.50@5.50.

HOGS—Feeling weak; quotations, $6.15@6.40.

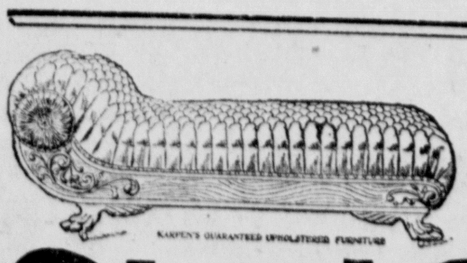
'Phone, your order for groceries to Ferguson. He has everything good to eat. 270-h

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50 Gloves $1.00
$1.25 " .79
$1.00 " .79

This week only.

THE LEADER,
Washington St.



Special Sale OF Steel Constructed Couches

The kind guaranted to stand firm and not lose its buttons.

YES, WE SELL ON PAYMENTS!
Ask Lewis Bros. About It.

KARPEN GUARANTEED COUCH

GIRL WIFE A SUICIDE

Miss Lloyd Van Epps, of Youngstown, Takes a Dose of Carbolic Acid.

TRAGIC END TO ELOPEMENT

A Bride of About Six Weeks Killed Herself While Suffering From Melancholia—Was Only 17—Husband Yet In His Teens.

Youngstown, O., April 26.—The girl wife of 19-year-old Lloyd Van Epps committed suicide in their apartment here by swallowing carbolic acid, presumably in a fit of melancholy to which she had been subject for two years or more.

The suicide, whose maiden name was Emma Smith, and who was not yet 17 years of age, eloped from her home in this city with young Van Epps only about six weeks ago, going to Warren, where they were married. Upon their return to this city they went directly to the home of the young man's step-father, Arthur G. Young, a prominent and wealthy contractor, where they remained until they took the apartments on Elm street.

Van Epps, who has been employed as a night recorder at the Ohio Steel works, was sleeping, when he was awakened by his wife falling upon the bed, exclaiming that she had taken carbolic acid. He hastily dressed himself and summoned a physician, but when the latter arrived the suicide was breathing her last. The following note, addresed to Mrs. Van Epps' mother, was found:

"Dear Mother—I have learned what married life is. When you get this I will be dead. Emma."

Van Epps was a victim in Pittsburg on Christmas night, 1899, of an accident which almost cost him his life. While sitting in his room he was overcome by fumes from a gas stove, and, falling against it, his arm slowly roasted until his plight was discovered. He was removed to the Mercy hospital, where the member was amputated close to the shoulder, and the victim hovered between life and death for many weeks.

ELEPHANT KILLED TRAINER.

Animal Poisoned With Arsenic and Then Shot.

Peru, Ind., April 26.—Henry Huffman, a well-known animal trainer, with the Wallace shows, met a horrible death here, being killed by "Big Charley," a monster elephant, while the animal was bathing in the Mississinewa river. "Big Charley" wound his trunk about Keeper Huffman and hurled him far into the stream. The man was uninjured, and when he returned he said: "Why, Charley, I didn't think that of you; aren't you ashamed of yourself?" The next instant Huffman was grabbed by the big elephant and thrown to the bottom of the river and held there by the forefeet of the animal. Then with a roar the elephant ran away.

Several showmen shot at him with no effect. He broke down fences and roamed about in a big field, keeping everybody at a distance. Apples loaded with strychnine were thrown near him and he ate one. An hour later he laid down and was in terrible agony. A rifle shot settled him.

DR. PARKHURST'S HOT SHOT.

Moral Men Needed at Head of New York Government.

New York, April 26.—Dr. Parkhurst, with a large party, including John D. Rockefeller, Jr., returned from his extended southern trip. He talked about the alleged insult offered to his wife by a New York policeman three weeks ago. He says he will give particulars to Commissioner Murphy if that official asks for them. He said among other things: "Give us good moral men at the head of the government and we will get good subordinates. There must be an upheaval. This thing cannot go on. I don't think that the chances for the anti Tammanyites next fall are particularly bright, for the reason that the Republican machine will be for sale next fall, as it was in 1897. The Republican machine is just as corrupt as the Democratic machine, and we can never get good government until we stamp and blot out both of them."

Mrs. McKinley Can't Attend Funeral.

Washington, April 26.—News of the death of Mrs. Saxton was received at the white house. Mrs. McKinley was very much attached to her aunt, but will be unable to attend the funeral, which occurs Saturday, owing to the departure of the presidential party for the western trip on Monday.

Presbyterian Creed Committee Met.

Pittsburg, April 26.—Some of the most eminent divines and laymen of the Presbyterian church in the United States came to the Monongahela house Thursday. The constitute the committee on the revision of the creed, appointed by the general assembly, meeting in May, 1900, in St. Louis. Each member absolutely declined to state the object of the session.

The Deer's Eyes.

A Canadian hunter tells this incident of how he once came face to face with his quarry and hadn't the heart to fire: "It wasn't a case of 'buck fever,' such as a novice might experience, for I had been a hunter for many years, and had killed a good many deer. This was a particularly fine buck that I had followed for three days. A strong man can run any deer to earth in time, and at last I had my prey tired out. From the top of a hill I sighted him a few miles away. He had given up the fight, and had stretched himself out on the snow. As I stalked him, he changed his position and took shelter behind a bowlder, and, using the same bowlder for a shelter, I came suddenly face to face with him. He didn't attempt to run away, but stood there looking at me with the most piteous pair of eyes I ever saw.

"Shoot? I could have no more shot him than I could have shot a child. Had the chance come from a distance of 100 yards, I would have shot him down and carried his antlers home in triumph, but once having looked into those eyes it would have been nothing less than murder. I have hunted deer since then, but I find the sport affords me little pleasure. Whenever I draw a bead, the picture of those mute, appealing eyes comes before me, and, though it has not prevented me from pulling the trigger, I have always felt glad somehow when my bullet failed to find its mark."—Washington Post.

How Lithuanians Play Dice.

A peculiar dice game is indulged in by the gambling element of Lithuanians in Baltimore.

Gathering about the dice tables in the saloons kept by their fellow countrymen they quickly lose all interest in everything outside of that which is transpiring upon the cloth before them. As they sit or stand about the tables the careworn features of old men contrast strongly with the ruddy faces of the youths. The eagerness with which the players seek the numbers upon the falling pieces is wolfish in its intensity. Comparatively small sums are placed upon the game, and side bets run from 5 cents to $1.

Although resembling in the manner in which it is operated the high dice game as played by the Anglo-Saxon races, the dice of the Lithuanians, instead of numbering from 1 to 6, run from 1 to 10, the numbering of the six sides being 1, 2, 3, 4, 8, 10. The game is played with four pieces, and a possible 40 is the point striven for instead of 24, which is high mark in the similar American game.—Baltimore Sun.

A Fiend Collector Snubbed.

Collectors of autographs, postcards, etc., are not always conscious of the importunacy of their demands, and the following anecdote, which comes from Triest, gives a striking example of their failing and of the humorous way in which the intended victim treated his tormentor. An Italian painter received a letter in the following terms:

Dear Sir—I should like to ask you a great favor and hope you will excuse the liberty I take. I am making a collection of painted postcards and should feel myself highly flattered if you would kindly send me one, with a little picture painted on it by yourself. It will certainly be the most treasured card of my collection, as I should be able to say that you were one of the first to honor me in this way. Hoping to receive one, I beg to thank you in advance.

The artist replied:

Dear Sir—I should like to ask you a great favor and hope you will excuse the liberty I take. I am making a collection of thousand franc notes and should feel myself highly flattered if you would kindly send me one. It will certainly be the most highly treasured thousand franc note of my collection, as I should be able to say that you were one of the first to honor me in this way. Hoping to receive one, I beg to thank you in advance.

Bread and Cheese.

A couple advanced in years got married lately.

The husband had a room in the house securely locked, the inside of which his wife had never seen, and, being curious as to its contents, she begged again and again to see the room.

At last he consented, and, lo and behold, the room was full of whole cheeses!

He explained matters by telling her that for every sweetheart he had in his young days he bought a cheese.

His wife began to cry.

"Don't cry, dear," he continued. "I've had no sweetheart since I met you."

"It's not that," she replied, still sobbing. "I only wish I had been as thoughtful as you and bought a loaf of bread for every man that kissed me. We could have had bread and cheese enough to last us all our days."—London Tit-Bits.

Wheels and Wheels.

The woman who had been abroad was describing some of the sights of her trip to her friends. "But what pleased me as much as anything," she continued, "was the wonderful clock at Strassburg."

"Oh, how I should love to see it!" gushed the girl in pink. "I am so interested in such things. And did you see the celebrated watch on the Rhine too?"—Kansas City Star.

Ferguson's coffees and teas are fine. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

NO ELECTION SINCE '86.

Black So Asserted as to Pennsylvania In Pennsylvania Senate—Urged Constitutional Convention.

Harrisburg, April 26.—Former Lieutenant Governor Chauncey F. Black, of York, was a visitor in the senate chamber Thursday. When his presence became known Senator Grady, of Philadelphia, the only senatorial survivor of the senate over which Mr. Black presided, moved a recess of 20 minutes so as to allow the members of the senate to greet the distinguished visitor and allow him to make a few remarks.

Mr. Black, after being escorted to the chair by Mr. Grady and Senator Haines, of York, made a short address, the burden of which was ballot reform. He said:

"It is about time that on certain vital questions party lines should be wiped out and walked over and that members of all parties come together for one service. You gentlemen of the Republican party have an enormous majority in the state. You want an honest vote and a fair count. We, of the Democratic party, want the same, and nothing else. You have bills before you now that pretend to be ballot reform bills. You have none. One is known as the Focht bill—it is Republican. There is another known as the Guffey bill—it is Democratic.

"We have no elections in Pennsylvania and have had none since I was defeated in 1886. The steam roads have 196,000 employes and add to that army the employes of other corporations and see what the people have to say at our elections. So long as thousands of voters go into the election booths under the lash of their employers you cannot have an honest election. Neither can you have such a ballot so long as the electors can go into a booth with another voter for the purpose of assisting him in the preparation of his ballot."

Mr. Black then went on to say that under the present constitution and remedies were to be found in a constitutional convention. He intimated that Governor Pattison had failed to advocate that remedy when he was elected governor. In conclusion he said:

"Do the right thing now. You can't agree on and pass any of the ballot bills you have before you, and you know it. Senators, it is either a constitutional convention or no ballot reform. I am in favor of ballot reform, a republican form of government and free elections."

DENIED BILL WAS TOO BIG.

Dr. Browning Talked on Services to Late Senator C. L. Magee.

Pittsburg, April 26.—Dr. W. C. Browning, the physician who attended the late Senator C. L. Magee, and, whose bill for services rendered to the senator, totals $190,000, arrived in Pittsburg to consult with attorneys in regard to the contest which the executors threaten against the bill. In speaking of the matter, the doctor said in part:

"I can and will produce at the proper time over 200 witnesses from this city, who have been attended by me and who will testify that I have charged at the rate of $20 an hour for office services and $40 an hour for outside visits, and that these figures were my regular prices.

"Many of these patients came from Bellevue and Sewickley and other towns in this neighborhood, and they will testify that I charged $5 for 15 minutes of office consultation and advice. During the time when I was in attendance upon Senator Magee, I was forced to turn away hundreds of patients and my practice was injured greatly. Nevertheless, as the senator was a very able man, with a wide circle of usefulness and hosts of friends, I thought it my duty to attend him, to the exclusion of other patients. There never was much thought of material consideration between us. The senator told me that I had saved his life for many months, during which he had been enabled to make large sums of money, and I could have named any figure for my services.

"At 2 o'clock the morning before he died he put his arms around my neck and said: 'Doctor, you have been more than a doctor to me; you have been a doctor and a mother combined. Your services can never be forgotten by me nor my friends.' The senator felt there was no price for my services and he O Ked all the statements I gave him without question, and told me himself that he had turned them over to a man who would see that the bills were paid. Who this man was I do not feel at liberty to say just now."

WEATHER FORECAST.

Ohio and Western Pennsylvania—Fair today and tomorrow; probably warmer tomorrow in nothern portion; fresh north to east winds.

West Virginia—Fair today and tomorrow; warmer tomorrow in eastern portion; north to east winds.

Everything Good to Eat.

Strawberries, tomatoes, asparagus, cucumbers, green beans, parsley, water cress, lettuce, rhubarb and onions, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

Fine Roquefort Cheese at Geon Bros. 270-h

Boys' tennis shoes 40c at Frank, Shumaker & Co. 270-h

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

Irondale pays its solicitor but $20 per year.

James M. Todd, of Lisbon, has been granted a pension of $24 a month.

The Ohio Press, Steubenville, is now a Republican daily newspaper.

There is now but one case of smallpox at Yorkville and the quarantine has been raised.

Mrs. George W. Roan ,who died at Massillon recently, was a cousin of Gen. Fred. Funston.

S. P. Stone, Esq., of Beaver, has been appointed U. S. Marshal of the Western District of Pennsylvania.

Wilson Ekey, a prominent farmer residing two miles south of New Alexandria, died Wednesday, aged 50 years.

Canton is to have a special election May 10 to vote on the question of bonding the city for $100,000 for park purposes.

H. H. Barnes, representing himself to be a lumber merchant, swindled esveral persons at Akron, by giving them worthless checks.

Philip Yost and Augustus Danemiller, of Canton, formerly of Company I, Eighth Ohio, have been appointed lieutenants in the regular army.

The Northern Ohio Traction company, at Akron, gave the motormen and conductors on all its local and suburban lines a voluntary advance of 10 cents per day.

The East Palestine town council proposes to enforce the law compelling each citizen of the village to do two days' work on the streets or pay its equivalent in cash.

R. G. Campbell, of Wilkinsburg, Pa., an official of the Knights of the Maccabees of the World, is alleged to be $5,000 short in his accounts with the order.

The Goulds have entered the Youngstown markets and placed with the National Steel company, a contract for about 30,000 tons of rails, which will be turned out at the Ohio Steel plant.

The Wellsville China company, now operating the old Pioneer pottery, is negotiating for the purchase of additional ground on which to build a switch. The company will have two switches, one on each side of the plant.

TIME TABLE OF C. & P. TRAINS.

Leave East Liverpool as follows, city time: East—4:56, 7:51 a. m.; 12:21, 4:06, 8.00 p. m. West—1:36, 8:05, 10:06 a. m.; 3:50, 7:13 p. m. Sunday—West, 10:06 a. m.; East, 6:25 p. m.

PANHANDLE—SOUTHSIDE.

East—6:57, 9:40 a. m.; 3:30 p. m.
West—7:05, 12:35 a. m.; 3:35 p. m.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING.

Wanted, For Sale, To Rent, Financial, Exchange, Personals, three insertions 25 cents, 50 cents the week, $1.50 the month. Weekly, 25 cents, one time; 75 cents the month. Cash, invariably in advance.

WANTED.

WANTED—A girl for general housework; good wages to right party. W. J. Day's restaurant, E. E., opposite Laughlin plant No. 2. 270-r

WANTED—A dining room girl. Apply at the Hotel Lakel. 269-r

WANTED—Male finisher at Smith & McNicol's pottery, Wellsville. Apply at once. 268-r

WANTED—A middle-aged lady with one or two small children, to take charge of house and one child 9 years old. Apply or address 104 Cadmus street, East Liverpool, O. 267-r

WANTED—General janitor work, by middle aged man. Address 312 Fifth street. 266-m

WANTED—An apprentice to learn dressmaking. Inquire of Miss Martin at the L. S. Wilson millinery. 245 tf

FOR RENT.

FOR RENT—Six room of suburban house within one mile of the city. Address P. O. Box 449, city. 266-j

TO LET—Furnished rooms, at 340 Walnut street. 268-r

FOR SALE.

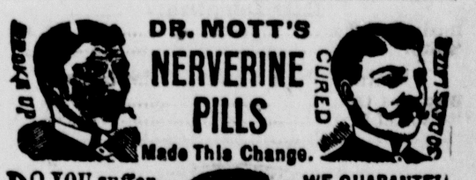
FOR SALE—Standard books, elegantly bound, at less than half price. Look at these: "Beacon Lights of History," by Lord; Victor Hugo's works, Fenimore Cooper's works, Gibbon's Roman History, Conquest of Mexico, Chamber's Encyclopedia, Lives of Sherman, Grant, Sheridan and McKinley. Other interesting miscellany. Harry Palmer, 133 Forest street. 270-r

When you have any parcels to go to any part of the city telephone for Brown's 5 and 10 Cent Express. Prompt service at lowest price.

Telephone No. 110.

John H. Brown,

250 Market Street.



DO YOU suffer from Nervous Prostration, Failing or Lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emission, Shrunken or Undeveloped Organs, Youthful Errors, Excessive Use of Tobacco or Opium? Sent by mail on receipt of price. DR. MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, Ohio.

WE GUARANTEE to cure you or refund money and we stand by our guarantee.

Sold at $1 per Box, 6 Boxes for $5.

For sale by Will Reed, C. F. Craig and O. F. Larkin.

New Era Restaurant,

Billiard Hall and Cafe,

J. C. WALSH, Prop.

110 and 112 Sixth Street,

East Liverpool, O.

Tobacco and Cigar department stocked with the finest cigars and Tobacco in the maaket. Dining room up to date. Table de hote meals 25c. Banquets a specialty. Best furnished billiard and pool room in the state. Lighted with electric lights. Bar open from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m.

Devine's Stag

IS THE PLACE.

125 and 127 Second Street. Next to the C. & P. R. R. Station.

The Coffee we serve has made this Restaurant famous.

FINE STEAKS A SPECIALTY.
OYSTERS R IN SEASON.

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50 Gloves $1.00
$1.25 " .79
$1.00 " .79

This week only.

THE LEADER,

Washington St.

PEK-ON TEA.

Possesses Great Strength. Rich and Full Flavor.

Our PEK-ON Tea is the result of skillful blending of high grade Teas, increasing their strength and retaining the fine rich flavor of each, making a most delicious drink. Put up in one-half pound packages and sold for 30 cents a pockage. Don't fail to give PEK-ON a trial and you will use no other. Sold only by us.

20 lbs. Light Brown Sugar.....$1

ATLANTIC TEA CO.

ABRAHAM BURLINGAME

Wucherer's Addition,

Up-to-date Carpet Cleaning, latest improved machinery. Will take up, clean and relay carpet at reasonableratea

The News Review

Published Daily Except Sunday by

THE EAST LIVERPOOL PUBLISHING COMPANY

LOUIS H. BRUSH, Manager.

The News Review, Daily, established 1885 By mail, one year, $5.00; six months, $3.00, three months, $1.75; by carrier, $5.00; ten cents per week.

The Saturday Review, Weekly, established 1880. By mail, one year, $1.00 in advance six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents.

Official Papers of the city of East Liverpool and Columbiana County.

OFFICE 196 WASHINGTON STREET.

Bell Telephone.

Business Office ..... No. 122
Editorial Room ..... No. 122

Columbiana County Telephone.

Business Office ..... No. 122
Editorial Room ..... No. 346

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL E. LIVERPOOL, O.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1901.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

COUNTY AND DISTRICT.

Common Pleas Judge—H. W. HARTER.
State Senator—CHARLES C. CONNELL.
Representative—SAMUEL BUELL.
Representative—D. W. CRIST.
Sheriff—SAMUEL D. NORAGON.
Auditor—J. F. ADAMS.
Treasurer—W. A. THOMPSON.
Commissioner—EDEN REEDER.
Infirmary Director—G. W. ARMSTRONG.

THE TAGALS GIVE IN.

The best news that has come from Manila in many a day is that contained in a dispatch telling of the complete pacification of the Tagals or Tagalogs. More important than the capture of Aguinaldo or the surrender of the rebel chiefs of Panay is the announcement that the Tagals have seen the error of their ways and enthusiastically welcome the efforts of the United States commission to establish liberty and government among them.

It was the Tagals who were the original insurrectionists. They are the most determined and best skilled fighters in all the Philippines. Bulacan, their old capital, was the seat and center of the insurrection. Malolos, the largest town of their province, was Aguinaldo's capital, and the hotbed of revolution. The commission has been sitting at Bulacan, and a Manila dispatch says of its work: "To the people of Bulacan and especially to the delegates from the Malolos district the sessions of the commissions were a revelation. They came cowed and curious, and departed many of them with tears in their eyes, full of confident hopes for the future of their country. They came in factions chiefly imbued with the idea of landing their respective candidates in the provincial offices; they left satisfied with the results and en rapport with American principles."

Only happy results can follow, for the other rebellious tribes have been following Tagal leadership. The Filipino war is at an end and the people of the islands will soon be enjoying a measure of liberty that would be impossible under any government save that of the United States. With peace will come prosperity, progress, education and all of liberty's priceless blessings. It is indeed good news to America, to Filipinos and to the world.

SCARCITY OF LABOR.

There is a scarcity of farm laborers, a scarcity of ironworkers, and a scarcity of kilnhands; in fact, according to accounts from all industrial centers, the demand for labor, both skilled and unskilled, is greater than was ever before known; greater than the supply. This means that millions of workingmen are all at work.

Theodore Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Association, talking the other day of conditions in the iron industry, said he had had calls for various classes of ironworkers and was unable to find a single man unemployed. He had received a call for plate mill workers for the first time since he had been in office. "There is every indication," said he, "of a prosperous condition of affairs in the iron and steel industries of the country." The cause is the resumption of long-idle mills and the opening of a big season among the builders.

And what is true of the iron business is true of other industries. Indeed, it is a recognized truth that when the iron industry flourishes, others follow suit. For the wage earners, the first year of the twentieth century is more than promising; it is already rich in results.

A ONE-MAN PARTY.

The Ohio Democrats need not hold any convention unless they want to get together for a good time, indulging in their faovrite amusement of abusing the party in power. As far as the ticket is concerned the bosses will decide it without asking the advice or consent of anyone. According to report it is all fixed already—fixed Tom Johnson's way. Might as well give him full discretionary powers; he will have his own way, anyhow.

Indiana proposes to honor the memory of ex-President Benjamin Harrison by erecting a $100,000 monument. It will be a fitting testimonial to a great man.

The towns along the Mahoning and the Shenango would rather see almost anything booming than the rivers.

Philadelphia grave diggers are on a strike and that poky town is as near being excited as it ever gets.

His eagerness for office leaves no room for doubt that ex-Attorney General Monnett is a Democrat.

OBITUARY

John Woodruff.

Wellsville, April 26.—John Woodruff, an aged and influential citizen, died at his home here Wednesday of Bright's disease. He was born in Youngstown in 1825 and upon attaining his majority went upon the road as salesman. He was a prominent politician and for more than half a century had been an Odd Fellow. He is survived by two sons, Charles and George, and one daughter, Mrs. Thomas Butler, all of whom reside in Wellsville. His wife died about six months ago.

Alice D. Sawyer.

Alice Doreen Sawyer, aged 6 years, died last week at Muskegon, Mich., and was buried on Sunday. She was an attractive child, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sawyer. Mrs. Sawyer was formerly Miss Myrtle Wilson, of this city, who has a host of friends here.

Death of an Infant.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. William Barlow died at their home on Calcutta road yesterday morning. It was buried at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

If you need a pair we want you to look at our trouser window on East Market street. 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Water cress and parsley at Oysters'. 270-h

Men's Foot Glove shoes beat competition and win trade, $3.00 and $3.50. FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Cut flowers and potted plants, at 270-h T. B. MURPHY & SON.

New potatoes and lettuce at Oysters'. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

Strawberries at Frank E. Oysters'. 270-h

Eloquence and the Pea.

Our worthy forefathers were fond of rhetoric—particularly of funereal rhetoric—and were not always quick to perceive the dividing line between the sublime and ridiculous. They seem, moreover, to have regarded the extraordinary as contributing an added and kindred element to the impressive. Many of their epitaphs show this, but few more completely than that of an estimable matron who perished untimely in Newburyport in the eighteenth century.

Her tombstone on the crest of the burying hill is yet easily legible, with no more trouble than scraping a bit of lichen here and there and kneeling to push away the long grass and intruding daisies. Thus it reads:

Sacred to the Memory of
Mrs. Mary McHard

The virtuous and estimable Consort of Captain William McHard of Newbury Port, who midst the laudable exertions of a very useful and desirable Life, in which her Christian Profession was well adorned, and a fair copy of every social virtue displayed, was, in a state of health, Suddenly Summoned to the Skies & snatched from ye eager embraces of her friends (and the throbbing hearts of her disconsolate family confess'd their fairest prospects of sublunary bliss were in one moment dash'd) by Swallowing a Pea at her own table, whence in a few hours she sweetly breathed her Soul away on the 8th day of March 1778, aged 47.

This Mournful Stone as a faithful Monument of Virtue fled to Realms Above and a solemn Monitor to all below the Stars, is Erected by her Husband.

—Youth's Companion.

Wealthy, but Couldn't Write.

"Hotels entertain a good many people who can't write," said the clerk of a large hotel, "and the bad pen comedy is enacted quite frequently. Of course the clerk has to be very careful not to let the guest suspect that he is on to the dodge, for such folks are very sensitive about their educational infirmities.

"I once knew a man who paid $1,200 a year solely to keep hotel clerks from knowing that he couldn't write his own name. He began life as a day laborer, drifted out west and made a fortune through leasing a supposed worthless mine in Montana. When he accumulated about $150,000, he sold out and started in to travel and have a good time. He was naturally shrewd, but he had never had a particle of schooling, and dodging registers at new hotels became the chief worry of his life.

"At first he used to tie up his hand in a handkerchief and pretend it was hurt, but he realized that the trick was pretty transparent, and at last he employed a young newspaper man at $100 a month to travel with him as his 'secretary.' The ex-miner never sent or received any letters, he didn't care for reading, and the secretary's one and only duty was to sign hotel registers. They would walk in together, and the young chap would say deferentially, 'Shall I do the registering for us both, colonel?' 'If you please,' his boss would reply, and he would thereupon write, 'Col. —— and secretary, Montana.'"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Force of Habit.

One of the neatest arrests on record was effected by a policeman near Bourne, England, not long ago. Suspecting two men of being deserters, he stepped up behind them and called out sharply, "Attention!" Taken unawares, the men sprang to position in true military style, only to find themselves the next moment in the arms of the law.

As to Gushers.

"My dear," said a careful mother to her daughter, "don't gush."

"Very well, mamma," replied the dutiful girl, "but you know that in the oil regions it is the gushing wells that are thought the most of."

"But you must also bear in mind that it is the unrefined oil which gushes."—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Reduced Rates to Northwest, West, South and Southeast.

The sale of special fare colonists tickets to California, and settlers' tickets to the Northwest, West, South and Southeast has been resumed via Pennsylvania lines. Particular information about fares, through time and other details will be furnished upon application to passenger and ticket agents

All Good to Eat.

New green beans, pineapples, asparagus, cucumbers, beets, rhubarb, parsnips, spinach, new cabbage, blood oranges, tomatoes, celery, radishes, onions, lettuce, apples, sweet potatoes and Natural Cry, at 270-h T. B. MURPHY & SON.

Kemp Goes to Jail.

Salem, April 26.—(Special.)—Harry Kemp, the negro burglar, was held for court in the sum of $500 and goes to jail.

Come and see the display of Fancy Fruits and Vegetables, at Heddleston Bros. 270-h

Latest styles in Millinery at Perry's. 270-i

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

Carrots and parsley at Oysters'. 270-h

If you have that tired feeling and have lost your appetite

You should have for breakfast some of our select Ham or Bacon with Fresh Eggs, or a Tender, Juicy Steak with a cup of Satisfaction Coffee.

For Lunch—Boiled Ham, Beef Loaf and Jagger's Maple Syrup.

For Dinner—a Prime Roast of Beef, Veal or Lamb.

Our high grade Columbus Butterine at all meals.

A. E. M'LEAN,
243 Fifth Street.
Both Phones 205.
Quick Delivery.

Best Values In Shoes at Bendheim's

This is an ideal shoe store. You may come here and select a pair of shoes and be sure of getting a style and shape that is up to date and furthermore you need not be an expert to insure yourself against getting poor qualities as none but reliable shoes are sold here and our guarantee for satisfactory wear goes with every pair.

Women's Genuine Patent Kid Shoe with cloth tops and flexible soles..... $3.00 a pair

Women's Patent Leather Shoes with kid tops, flexible soles..... $2.00 a pair

Girls' Patent Leather Shoes with cloth tops, sizes 11½ to 2½..... $1.50 a pair

Boys' Patent Leather Shoes, extension soles, sizes 13 to 5½..... $2.00 a pair

Women's Patent Leather Oxford Ties, extension welt soles and military heels $2.50 a pair

Women's Vici Kid Oxford Ties with patent leather tips, extension welt soles $2.00 a pair

Women's Juliet House Shoes, with elastic sides, plain and tipped toes

$1.00, $1.25, $1.50 a Pair.

Bendheim's.

Wanted His Full Share.

Little Willie, sitting down to tea with his grandmother, who is just about to cut the cake. Willie (hastily)—Grannie, before you cut my piece of cake I want to ask you a question.

Grannie—Well, dear, what is it?

Willie—I want to know if your spectacles magnify?

Grannie—Yes; a little, dear.

Willie—Well, then, will you please take them off while you cut my cake?

The Theory.

"So he regards himself as a senatorial possibility?" said one politician.

"Undoubtedly," answered the other.

"On what theory?"

"I don't know unless it's the theory that the unexpected always happens."

Men's patent leather Oxfords, snappy styles, $1.50 to $3.50, at FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Our "No-Name" Hats will go a long way to help you put on the finishing touches to look real swell. 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Pure, Clean And Wholesome.

Mother's bread; no mother's bread as good. Sold by Heddleston Bros. 270-h

The Telegram Came.

Bingo—Has a telegram come for me?

Mrs. Bingo—Have you been expecting one?

Bingo—Oh, no; of course not. (Sarcastically) You don't suppose I would ask you that question if I expected one, do you?

Mrs. Bingo (sweetly)—You might, dear. What would you say now if I should say that a telegram has come for you?

Bingo—Aha! I knew it. I've been expecting that telegram all the afternoon. (Impatiently) Where is it?

Mrs. Bingo—I'll get it. But, dear, I thought it best to open it. You didn't mind, did you, dearest?

Bingo—Certainly not. It's only a matter of business. From Jack Enslow, isn't it?

Mrs. Bingo—Yes, dear.

Bingo—Important meeting tonight. Says I must be there, doesn't he?

Mrs. Bingo—Yes, dear.

Bingo (rubbing his hands)—I knew it. Well, I'll have to rush off after dinner. Sorry for you, my dear, but, you know, business must be attended to.

Mrs. Bingo—Oh, that's all right, darling. But don't you want to see the message?

Bingo—Why should I? You opened it like a good wife that you are, and of course I can trust you. Jack wants me (delightedly), that's all, and I must go.

Mrs. Bingo—But there was one thing more he said, my pet.

Bingo (suspiciously)—Oh, there was. Well, what was it?

Mrs. Bingo (all smiles)—He says he's got front row seats.—Pearson's.

Do You Eat?

Let us supply you with a nice cake for Sunday dinner. Baked by expert bakers; nothing but the best of material used. Heddleston Bros. 270-h

Call and see our layout for Saturday. We are prepared to please you. 270th GEON BROS.

Your spring suit won't be the real thing unless you get it at 270-i
THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

A new fine shoe that every lady admires for $2.50, at FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Nobby Trimmed Hats at Perry's. 270-i

Big Plant for Warren.

Warren, April 26.—The McMyler hoisting works, now being removed from Cleveland to Warren, will incorporate with a capital of $500,000. It it calculated by those in a position to know that within a year 700 to 800 men will be employed where six months ago was a stumpy wood lot.

STRIKING THE RIGHT SPOT.

That's the Great Secret of East Liverpool Praise Given to Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills.

There come times to every life when a lack of strength—failing appetite—poor circulation—weak heart action and many other symptoms may break in. They are not diseases—the person may not be laid up until they have existed a long time. The influence of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills is to create nerve force, and immediately people find themselves getting well because nerve force controls every vital organ of the body.

Mr. W. S. Gaston, of No. 264 Fifth street, East Liverpool, O., says: "Owing to a functional or nervous trouble and an impaired digestion my heart action was weak and irregular. The condition was far from pleasant and I was induced to get a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets. I am pleased that I did so, as the medicine has so strengthened the nervous system and digestion that the heart action is regular and strong and feel otherwise well and generally pleased with the result."

Dr A. W. Chase's Nerve pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medical company, Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signiture of A. W. Chase,, M. D., are on every package.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS.

Mrs. John Carran, of the West End, is ill.

Jesse Fisher was in Beaver yesterday on business.

E. B. Hawkins was a Pittsburg business visitor today.

Frank Bright, of Salineville, was a city visitor yesterday.

E. W. Rosensteel spent the day in Pittsburg on business.

J. P. Hernan, of Summitville, was in the city yesterday calling on friends.

Mrs. Henry Davis left yesterday afternoon for a visit with relatives at Irondale.

Mrs. William Barlow is confined to her home on Calcutta road with a severe illness.

Frank O'Hanlon left yesterday afternoon for a visit with relatives at McKees Rocks.

Mrs. George Switzer returned home yesterday afternoon after a visit with relatives at Toronto.

Miss Mary Brown returned home yesterday afternoon after a visit with relatives at Steubenville.

W. Morris left yesterday afternoon for a western trip in the interest of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery.

Homer J. West returned home last night from Denver, Col., where he has been spending two months with friends.

Miss Mary Alice Buckley has resigned her position with Job R. Manley, and her place is being filled by Miss Harriet Owens.

Mrs. W. L. Kingsley and daughter, Miss Helen, of La Belle, Wyo., left yesterday for New York, after a visit of several days in this city.

Mrs. Dr. Beane and little son have returned to their home in Calcutta after a visit with Mrs. Beane's mother, Mrs. M. F. Edwards, Third sreet.

A little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. D. Shea is afflicted with measles.

Mrs. G. W. McConnell has returned to her home in Carrollton after a visit with relatives in this city.

RIGHT FOR COAL BOATS.

Shipments By River Are Again Looked For.

The marks at the wharf this morning registered 22 feet and falling. The Lorena and Greenwood passed up yesterday afternoon and the Ben Hur passed down. The Greenwood will be down tonight.

As the river is now just about right for a coal boat stage, it is thought a large amount of coal will be shipped from Pittsburg tomorrow for southern points.

Work Still Unfinished.

The committee of council to secure the property of the city which still remains in the hands of ex-City Engineer George, have not yet completed their work. Several meetings of the committee have been held, but nothing has been accomplished. At 3 o'clock this afternoon Messrs. Cripps, Bullock and McLane will make another attempt to finish up the work.

Left Substantial Orders.

E. C. Knox, one of the largest buyers who visits East Liverpool, was here this week placing orders. Substantial ones were left with the Taylor, Lee & Smith, Dresden, United States and National. Mr. Knox left this morning for his home in St. Paul.

Making Repairs.

W. Griffis and a force of men left for force of men left this morning for Salineville, where they today repaired the damage done to lines of the Columbiana County Telephone company by the storm last Saturday.

Verdict for Defendant.

Judgment was given the defendant in the sum of $17 in the case of Prosser versus Sterling, which was heard by Justice Johnson yesterday afternoon.

Jumped the Track.

The shifting engine jumped the track in the upper freight yards this morning and the wreck train was called from Wellsville to again place the engine on the rails.

A Changed Man.

"It's funny how marrying changes a man," said Spriggs' caller.

"Yes," replied Spriggs dreamily. "It used to be that I was devoted to baseball and football and basket ball, and now I give all my spare time to baby's bawl," and he arose hurriedly and went into the adjoining room.—Detroit Free Press.

HOW TO GET ON IN BUSINESS

Continued from First Page.

ing to pay for the men who have them.

"You say there are not many of these places; and plenty of men to fill them. True, but go after them, anyway. The man who receives the highest salary in the world was a laborer 20 years ago; you have as much chance as he had. If you can't get a $100,000 place, you may get one at $10,000 or perhaps even $1,000 a year, which is more than your grandfather received."

The speaker cited a numbtr of examples of success in business life and how success in business was won. Promptness in work and promptness in meeting financial obligations are requisites. On the question whether higher education is of any use in business, Mr. Hard said: "Yes, if it is correctly used. High schools and colleges do not teach a man business, but they train the mind and show you how to think and how to learn. The educated lad will learn a business twice as rapidly as another, equally bright, but without schooling, and at the end of three years will be getting twice the pay of the other, because he will be worth it.

"Be honest and work faithfully; be careful of others' property; don't lie for yourself or any one else; be polite, and be careful in dress and personal appearance. Don't think you know it all; it is self-conceit which makes people think, if they don't get along, it is lack of luck.

"No matter what your habits are, no matter what your age, no matter what opportunities you have neglected—stop trifling. Resolves that from this on you will make use of the talents God gave you; that you will be a successful man. You can do it. You can do it with your own strength. But you can do it easier and quicker if you ask God's help."

POLITICAL MATTERS.

Hon. William B. Crew, of McConnelsville, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for supreme judge, to succeed Judge T. A. Minshall, of Chillicothe. While not a word can be said derogatory to Judge Minshall, Judge Crew's friends urge that much can be said in favor of his nomination. For the last 12 years Judge Crew has held the position of common pleas judge in the subdivision, comprised of Morgan, Muskingum, Guernsey and Noble counties, in the southeastern section of the state. Judge Minshall will, at the expiration of his term, have served 16 years—three consecutive terms.

On Saturday, May 4, the Republicans of Stark county will hold their primaries for the nomination of county officers. For sheriff there are five entries and the names are: O. F. Wilson, L. L. Down, Thomas J. Bidwell, Frank McKinney and James W. Calhoun. In the treasurer's race are J. Royal Snyder, the present deputy; Ephraim Pickens and Aaron S. Stoner. For clerk of courts there are three entries: Jacob J. Wise, John F. Spitler and Harry L. Keys. The contest for county auditor has dwindled down to two candidates, J. H. McConnell, the present city clerk, of Alliance, and M. W. Oberlin, of Massillon.

Defiance county has always been noted as one of the Democratic strongholds, but the general prosperity is ameliorating partisan spirit. The good times from 1897 onward caused many a voter, politically arrayed as an opponent of the Republican party, to vote for McKinley and the whole ticket last fall. This spring the two parties "broke about even" in the Defiance city election, and the sterling Republicans are encouraged to hope that they may eventually redeem the county as well.

The latter half of June will be early enough for the Republican state convention. Ohio Republicans know their business this year and can whip the Democratic party on short notice.—Toledo Blade.

By a very decisive vote, the Lincoln club, of Toledo, passed a resolution, requesting ex-Senator A. D. Fassett to resign his membership, because he has voted and worked against Republican candidates.

Cleveland is making a strong bid to secure the Democratic state convention.

OHIO A MIGHTY SHIP.

(Continued from First Page.)

vessels of the navy were fitted with torpedo tubes above the water line. The Ohio will have two of these tubes, one on either side, situated about 50 feet from the bow and about 10 feet 6 inches below the water line.

The magazines and shell rooms can stow 240 rounds of twelve-inch ammunition, 3,200 rounds of six-inch ammunition, 9,600 rounds of six-pound and 4,000 rounds of one-pound ammunition. The forward magazines are located immediately forward of the dynamo rooms and the after ones just abaft the engine rooms.

There are two military masts fitted with the usual signal yards, tops and topmasts; two tops are built to each of these masts. The armor of the forward conning tower is 10 inches thick, and that of the after or signal tower is 6 inches thick. A steel tube 12 inches in diameter inside and 7 inches in thickness extends from the forward conning tower down to the protective deck, and protects the voice tubes and telegraphs from the commanding officer to the important stations in the vessel.

The Ohio will carry 14 boats, of which one is a forty-foot steam cutter and another a thirty-six-foot steam cutter of the usual naval type.

Hydraulic gear is used in steering the vessel, and can put the rudder from hard aport to hard astarboard in 20 seconds when the vessel is moving at full speed.

Four powerful searchlights, two of which are placed on the top of the pilot house an dtwo on the mainmast above th upper bridge, will give warning ofthe approach of hostile vessels, and for night signaling the ship carries two sets of electric signaling apparatus.

The normal coal supply is 1,000 tons, and the capacity of the bunkers is 2,000 tons.

The Ohio and her class are the first battleships of the United States navy in which water tube boilers were provided. Steam for the propelling machinery is supplied by the water tube boilers of the Thornycroft type, placed in four water-tight compartments. There are three smokepipes.

The collective indicated horse-power of the main engines, with their air and circulating, is about 16,000 when the vessel is making a speed of 18 knots. It should be stated here that the Ohio ranks next to the Georgia class of battleships in our navy in regard to speed.

The Georgia and class, which will have the greatest speed of any battleships yet authorized by congress, are designed to make 19 knots.

The construction of the Ohio class was authorized by congress on May 4, 1898, when the Spanish war demonstrated the wisdom of a greater increase in the navy. The keel was laid on April 22, 1899, and the contract price of hull and machinery is $2,899,000. Her complement is 35 officers and 511 men.

Died Very Suddenly.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—Miss Sallie Armstrong, the crippled daughter of the late Andrew Armstrong, died at the home of B. A. Young, in Elk Run township yesterday. She was 48 years of age and was ill only a few minutes. This makes the third death in the family within a year.

Arranging for the County Fair.

Lisbon, April 26.—(Special.)—The Columbiana County Agricultural board met in the petit jury room this afternoon for the purpose of revising the premium list and arranging for the annual fair next September.

AMERICAN GAMES YESTERDAY.

Chicago 7, 10, 2. Sullivan and Shopec. Cleveland 3, 5, 2. Yeager and Moore. Umpire—Connolly. Attendance, 2,800.

Detroit 14, 19, 7. Buelow, Miller and Frisk. Milwaukee 13, 16, 4. Leahy, Hawley, Dowling and Husting. Umpires—Sheridan and Manassan. Attendance large.

Baltimore-Boston, rain.

Philadelphia-Washington, rain.

No League Games Yesterday.

No league games yesterday—rain or wet grounds.

Western Games Yesterday.

Louisville 2; Indianapolis, 7.
Dayton, 14; Columbus, 1.
Grand Rapids, 2; Marion, 3.
Toledo, 8; Ft. Wayne, 0.

New Baseball League.

A league composed of the independent baseball teams of Youngstown, Warren, Kent, Canton, Painesville and Ashtabula, O., and Jamestown and Dunkirk, N. Y., was organized at a meeting of representatives of the cities named, held at Youngstown. A schedule will be arranged providing for games from May 15 to July 15. If the venture shall prove successful the schedule will be extended to the autumn. The American league rules and ball were adopted.

HIGH GRADE READY TAILORED SUITS

HAVE the same good qualities as a Suit made to measure. The coat is hand made and padded. The shoulder, collar and lapel of coat are made so as to set close and at the same time hang gracefully. The front of coat is lined with canvas and haircloth so that the coat holds its shape and the lapel stays to its proper place when unbuttoned.

All These Good Qualities We Have in Our Ready Tailored Suits.

The tailor gives you no more, only an increased price. The day for tailors to charge such exorbitant prices is past. You will believe it when you see the stylish made suits that we are showing this spring. Prices range from $10 to $18.

THE CLOTHING THAT MADE Rochester Famous

Solomon Bros. & Lempert

This firm's make we ask particular people to examine. Their line of suits is the finest beyond question. Men who want the best will consult their interests in looking at this noted line of ready tailored Suits.

Boys' Suits

Two and Three piece Suits, Knee Pants, age 3 to 8 years, all the newest styles; prices $1.25 to $6.00.

Boys' Suits

Two and three piece Suits, age 4 to 16 years; prices $1.50 to $7.00.

Hats

New styles we are showing this week. Hats of an individuality style that have just come out---first showing in the city.

Knox Hats

Everybody knows the Knox make, all hatters copy their styles: Knox's stands foremost in quality and style.

We have the exclusive sale of this hat in our city for ladies' and men's wear.

JOSEPH BROS.

TALK WITH CUBANS

Delegation of Islanders Sees the President and Confers With Root.

PLATT AMENDMENT STANDS

Secretary Assured Them Executive Department Couldn't Interfere—Intervention Proposition Caused Most Discussion—Dinner at White House.

Washington, April 26.—The Cuban delegation from the convention framing a constitution for the new island republic saw President McKinley twice, once when there were introductions and a formal exchange of expressions of friendship between the United States and Cuba, and again at night, when the members of the delegation were the guests of honor at a state dinner at the white house.

The real business which brought the delegation here was transacted with Secretary Root, at the war department, the president in the first interview at the white house saying to the delegation that he would confer with the secretary, who would act as his representative in conferences over the Cuban situation. Afterward the delegation and Secretary Root were closeted for some hours in a discussion of the relations of the island to the United States.

Conference With Secretary Root.

The most important meeting of the day was a conference in Secretary Root's office. This was the first business meeting, the others having been social and formal. Those present were the five Cuban delegates, their interpreter, Secretary Root, General Wood, Assistant Secretary Sanger, Senor Conzalez, General Wood's secretary, who acted as interpreter a great portion of the time. The army officers who are acting as escort for the Cubans also were present. When the meeting adjourned no official statement was made as to the proceedings, but it can be said that the result was considered satisfactory, both by the Cubans and Secretary Root. The business was not completed and the conference will reassemble this afternoon. The fact that the entire conversation had to be through interpreters made it necessary to proceed slowly.

It was made plain to the Cubans by Secretary Root that no modification of the Platt amendment could be made by the executive department of the government, and the Cubans themselves understand that there is little possibility of congressional action in that direction, so the conference was devoted largely to the construction which could be placed upon the amendment. The law states that the propositions contained in the amendment shall be "substantially agreed to by the Cubans and the discussion revolved chiefly around what will be considered "substantial" agreement to the Platt amendment requirements. There was some very fine legal sparring between Secretary Root and Senor Capote, the president of the constitutional convention, and chairman of the delegation, as to the meaning of certain proposed drafts of the different propositions that were considered. Both the secretary and Senor Capote expressed their views quite freely. The intervention proposition caused the most discussion, and as this had received much consideration in the convention in Havana, the Cubans were familiar with all phases of the construction that might be placed upon it. All members of the delegation took more or less part in the discussion and the attention by Secretary Root.

Impressed With Desire to Deal Fairly.

It was understood that the Cubans are impressed with the desire on the part of this government to deal fairly by Cuba and the belief was expressed that the delegation will take home favorable reports of our intentions.

The delegation made no complaint of the present military government under General Wood.

After the conference adjourned the Cubans called on General Wood at the Richmond. Today Secretary Root will entertain the delegates at luncheon.

General Wood expected to leave here tonight, going to New York, thence to Cuba. It is not known when the Cubans will return, but the belief was expressed that the business which brought them here would be concluded at the conference today.

Cleveland Capitalists Secured Control.

Cleveland, April 26.—Cleveland capitalists secured control of the electric road now building between Springfield and from Xenia to Lebanon into Cincinnati. The company has a capitalization of $500,000. The road will go into Cincinnati along the Little Miami valley. The syndicate also owns the Southern Ohio Traction company, which already has entrance into Cincinnati.

Pineapples, oranges, bananas, apples, at FERGUSON'S. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound at Hassey's. 270-h

He Got the Business.

"There are tricks even in our trade," said the old life insurance man. "About ten years ago a couple of respectable old parties, man and wife, came to town with $100,000 or so that they wanted to put into an annuity. They had neither chick nor child, kith nor kin, and they wanted to finish their lives in as much ease and luxury as could be bought. So they made the rounds of the life insurance companies getting their annuity figures and had all the actuaries in town making calculations in the case.

"The head mathematician of the Blank Dash company was a little better than a mere figurer. He happened to hear what town the old parties came from, and he suddenly remembered that he had an old friend, a doctor, who lived there, whom he hadn't seen for years. He invited the medicine man down at once, took him out and showed him a real good, decent time. Then he edged around to the annuity hunters, and, lo and behold, the doctor was their family physician! Without appearing to pump him, the actuary learned enough about the old couple to enable him to make a most glittering inducement to the pair, and they bought their annuity of his concern. They were both dead inside of two years. I forgot just how much the company netted. I think it had paid out about one-tenth of what the old folks had paid in. The company was a gainer, and there were no losers except the other companies as a result of the actuary's shrewd move."—New York Sun.

"Spellbinders'" Ways.

"Spellbinding" is the happy name given to the platform speaking which plays such an important part in every campaign. The national chairman determines who shall be the stars in this department. An ex-president is most in demand, a speaker or an ex-speaker comes next as a rule, and senators and representatives are invited to speak in the order of their usefulness. One speech by an ex-president is worth half a dozen efforts by other men, though they may be more logical and eloquent.

The candidate himself, when an orator, will draw greater crowds than anybody else, but if he is wise he will let the national committee arrange his itinerary and schedule. Headquarters are always overrun with volunteers for the stump; the star, or man with a reputation, waits to be invited or urged. Most of the lesser men are laborers for hire, but others are ambitious to make a reputation as a stepping stone to political office, and some are intensely in earnest and eager to be useful to their party.

The national committee settles for the expenses of spellbinders, unless they insist on paying their own way, which is unusual. Some of the great orators receive handsome sums for their services and travel in state.—Home Magazine.

Senatorial Repartee.

Once in the senate chamber John J. Ingalls was directing some remarks to Senator Hoar of Massachusetts. The other senator from that state, Mr. Dawes, having come in while Mr. Ingalls was speaking, thought the words were meant for his ear, and so, interrupting, he asked Ingalls if he was directing the remarks at him. The tall senator turned slowly around, for Mr. Dawes sat behind him, and then, with delicious intonation, but an instant wit, he said, "I was directing my remarks to the successor of Charles Sumner and not to the successor of Daniel Webster."

The repartee has become traditional, and the utterance was at once placed alongside of that reply of Conkling to Senator Thurman, which is also traditional in the senate chamber.

Conkling was speaking, and Thurman had said, interrupting him, "Does the senator aim his remarks at me; he constantly turns to me?" when Mr. Conkling, with delicious gravity, bowing to Thurman, with whom he was very friendly, said: "When I turn to the senator, I turn as the Mussulman turns to Mecca; I turn as I would turn to the common law of England—the world's most copious fount of jurisprudence."

When Li Hung Chang Grinned.

Once during a dry season in China the viceroy, Earl Li Hung Chang, called on the American minister, Mr. Conger, and spoke of the weather.

"Yes," said Mr. Conger, "it seems to be dry everywhere. It is dry in my country too. I read in one of our papers the other day that in many places in the west the people were praying for rain."

"What!" said the earl. "Do your people pray to their God for rain?"

"Oh, yes," said the minister, "they often pray for rain."

"And does their God send it when they pray for it?" asked the earl.

"Yes, sometimes their prayers are answered, and sometimes they are not."

"All the same like Chinese joss, hey?" said the earl, with a grin and a chuckle

Everything good to eat at FERGUSON'S. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

A Few Drops Of Rain

Won't hurt thoroughly good Shoes. At this time of year you will often be caught in a shower without rubbers. You should wear Shoes that will stand a few kinds of variable weather. We sell them. They are neat, dressy, durable and moderate priced.

Ask to see our $3 Men's Shoes, guaranteed to wear as good as any $3.50 Men's Shoe made. Kilnmen's special shoe $2.50.

The Sleepless Shoe Firm,

C. H. BENCE, Manager.

SYMPATHY FOR CATHOLICS.

Rev. Dr. Parker, Congregationalist, Spoke of Despicable Insult In King's Oath.

London, April 26.—In delivering the presidential address at the Congregational union to the City Temple, Dr. Parker somewhat astonished the meeting by his reference to King Edward, prefacing his remarks with the discriminatory words:

"God be thanked for Queen Victoria and God save her son, the king."

Dr. Parker proceeded to express the deepest sympathy with Roman Catholics under the "despicable insult" inflicted on them by the oath of accession. The non-conformists, said Dr. Parker, recognized the king as sovereign of the empire, but would never hail him as head of the church or defender of the faith.

J. FRANK CONDON SUICIDED.

He Was Official Court Reporter For Blair and Cambria Counties, Pa.

Altoona, Pa., April 26.—J. Frank Condon, for the past 20 years official court reporter for Blair and Cambria counties, committed suicide in his office in this city probably during Wednesday afternoon by blowing out his brains. His body was not found until Thursday. On his desk was a telegram addressed to his son in Johnstown, saying:

"Father is dead, come."

Sealed letters to friends were also found in his desk. Mr. Condon had been in poor health for a long time. He was 47 years of age.

Found Entombed Men Dead.

Shamokin, Pa., April 26.—The rescuing party at Luke Fidler colliery penetrated the breasts worked by Anthony Marcavich and Anthony Sharacavish, who were entombed in a gangway since noon Wednesday by a fall of coal. The men were found dead near the place where the rescuers broke through and from the condition of their bodies it is likely they were suffocated by gas soon after they had been entombed.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE

Making Preparations for the Annual Convention Here Next Summer.

The local Sons of St. George are to attend St. Stephen's church next Sunday morning, along with the Daughters of St. George. This lodge has initiated a large number of men this term and now has over 150 members.

Preparations are being made for the Grand Lodge convention next August. The reception will be held on Monday night, August 19. The famous Jaba Wah degree will be conferred on Tuesday night, and Rock Springs Park has been engaged for Wednesday, August 21. The convention is composed of delegates from the district of Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia.

To Abolish Grade Crossings.

Ravenna, O., April 26.—Pennsylvania railroad officials before the county commissioners yesterday asked Portage county to contribute $10,000 to help defray the expenses of abolishing grade crossings in this county. This met with a refusal and the company will pay the entire expense. Eight grade crossings on the new line from Ravenna to the Summit county line will go.

Florida oranges, naval oranges and seedless oranges, at Schmidt's Cash Grocery. 270-h

Big boys' suits, double breasted, square cut and the new style 3-piece suit, coat, pants and vest, at 270-i THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

MISSIONARIES MALIGNED.

Conger Pronounces Stories of Looting False—Dr. Ament Lied About.

Chicago, April 26.—A special to The Record-Herald from San Francisco gave the following expressions from Minister Edwin H. Conger, with reference to the alleged looting by missionaries in Pekin:

"Dr. Ament is the most lied-about man in China, unless it is myself.

"The stories of looting by missionaries and their collecting indemnities by force are absolutely false.

"The missionaries acted with nobility and heroism during the Pekin siege, fighting bravely alongside the soldiers and the rest of us."

San Francisco, April 26.—Dr. Ament, the missionary, arrived here.

Mrs. Maria G. Saxton Dead.

Canton, O., April 26.—Mrs. Maria G. Saxton, aunt of Mrs. McKinley, died here. Mrs. Saxton was with Mrs. McKinley at the white house for several weeks after the first inauguration. Deceased was the widow of Thomas Saxton, who established the Canton Evening Repository.

Funny Freaks of Yvette Guilbert.

Mlle. Yvette Guilbert in the heyday of her American success was in splendid spirits. In crossing a certain district on Sunday she was unable to get a bottle of claret.

"If I give it to you, madame," said the waiter, "I shall have to go to jail."

"Then go," said Mlle. Guilbert cheerfully, "but first get me my claret."

One afternoon in Chicago two blank cards were sent up to her by callers desiring her autograph. On the one she wrote, "Yvette Guilbert is a very good singer," and on the other, "Yvette Guilbert is a very naughty singer."

"Now," she said airily as she dropped them on the tray, "let them choose wheech is wheech."

Her wisdom was of a worldly description. "For who will give me bread when I no longer please by my songs, the dear publeee? No. Therefore I come to America, and I come high."—Saturday Evening Post.

The Source of Wisdom.

"I wonder how Solomon became the wisest man on earth?"

"That's easily explained," replied the man with the intellectual but worried face. "You see, Solomon had a large number of families, and of course his children asked questions, just as all children do. I have no doubt Solomon was like anybody else and had a certain dislike to exposing his ignorance. When one of the children would ask him something he didn't know, he'd make believe he wanted a drink of water and then go out and look in the back of the dictionary. I shouldn't be surprised if he were compelled to do this 50 or 60 times a day. Under such conditions a man couldn't help getting wise."—Washington Star.

An Awful Loss.

At a fire in Cambridge, Mass., an occupant of the damaged house was bewailing the loss of her purse. Several firemen joined in a search for the missing pocketbook, but after spending some time in their quest were still unsuccessful. Finally the chief said to the woman:

"How much was in the pocketbook?"

As she answered, "Fifty cents," the look of disgust on the chief's face was too evident to be mistaken.

Water.

Boiled water or distilled water should not be used either by grown people or children unless there is danger from contamination from the water in ordinary use. Pure cold water is preferable. A child may be given a glass of cool (never ice) water the first thing in the morning—say half an hour before breakfast, and may also take a glass on retiring.

Men's linen shoes, big values, $1. FRANK, SHUMAKER & CO. 270-h

Feed on Arsenic.

The practice of taking arsenic in minute doses is very prevalent among the peasantry of the mountainous districts of Austria-Hungary and France. They declare that the poison enables them to ascend with ease heights which they could not otherwise climb.

The women have a great deal to say about the necessity of a young married woman "beginning right with her husband," as if she ought to go at him like a horse trainer goes at a young colt.—Atchison Globe.

EAST LIVERPOOL MONUMENT WORKS

C. N. Everson, Prop.

Manufacturer and dealer in Granite and Marble Monuments and other Cemetery Work.

154 Third St., East Liverpool, O.

ORDER YOUR SPRING SUIT.

All the latest patterns now in to select from. All kinds of Clothing Cleaned, Pressed and Repaired.

Our Prices are Always the Lowest.

East Liverpool Tailoring and Cleaning Co.
224 Washington St., C. C. Phone 257.

S. J. MARTIN, RESTAURANT,
175 BROADWAY.
CHOICE MEALS. Only 25c.

Water Consumers' Notice

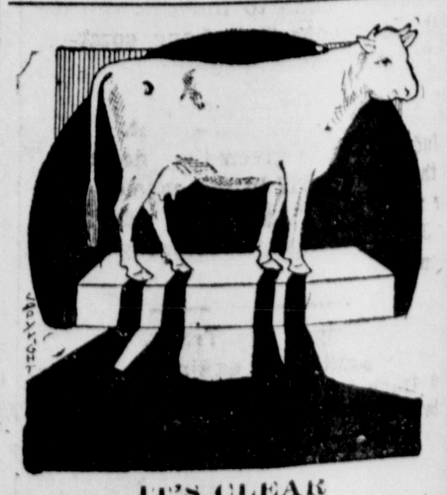
Water rents are due and payable semi-annually, in April and October of each year. April rent now due. Save the 10 per cent by paying promptly. Office open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., and Saturday evening.

J. W. GIPNER,
248-1mo Secretary.

THE Crockery City Plumbing Co.

Have opened a first class plumbing, gas, steam and hot water heating shop on Walnut street, near the corner of Calcutta Road. Will cheerfully furnish estimates on all contract work. Jobbing promptly attended to. Bell telephone No. 29.

Walter B. Faulk,
MANAGER.



IT'S CLEAR

to any one who examines closely into the matter that our

MEATS

are of the most desirable quality. They look attractive and are every bit as good as they look. The flesh is firm, tender and delicious. Contains the highest percentage of nutrient juices because cut from young, well fed animals.

CHAS. A. TRAINER,
274-2 East Market, 273 Broadway,
Col. 203. Bell, 334-2.

NEARLY 200 VICTIMS

Fears That This Number Were Either Killed or Injured In Germany.

BOILERS IN FACTORY EXPLODED

Occurred Near Griesheim, In Smokeless Powder Works—Hard Fighting to Keep Flames From Spreading to Benzine Tanks In Neighborhood.

Frankfort, April 26.—A disastrous explosion occurred at the Electro Chemical works, near Griesheim, where smokeless powder is manufactured. Most of the boilers exploded. The noise was so tremendous that it was heard at great distances, including Frankfort and Mayence.

The factory became a mass of flames, and a northeast wind carried the sparks to neighboring villages, where several houses were also set on fire.

Eighteen cylinders, each containing about 100 hundred weight of smokeless powder, were in the room where the explosion occurred.

Troops were ordered to Griesheim to prevent the fire spreading to the large benzine reservoirs nearby. Fire brigades from places in the neighborhood hurried to the scene, but owing to the dangerous nature of the disaster and the fear of a renewal of the explosions, the greatest difficulty was experienced in stopping the progress of the flames. Only after about five hours of strenuous effort was the conflagration to some extent controlled and the danger passed, so as to make it possible to begin the work of extricating the bodies. It is feared that nearly 200 persons have been killed or injured.

ATTITUDE OF BRYAN.

No Present Intention of Seeking a Third Nomination—Has No Enemies to Punish.

Lincoln, Neb., April 26.—In a statement given publicity W. J. Bryan said in effect that he had no intention of seeking a third nomination for the presidency. Mr. Bryan's announcement is in answer to an article in an eastern paper speculating on his plans as a political leader. Mr. Bryan said:

"I am not planning for another presidential nomination. If I were I would not be editing a paper. If I ever become a candidate again it will be because it seems necessary for the advancement of the principles to which I adhere, and that does not now seem probable. I shall, however, take an interest in politics for several years yet, if I live, and can be relied upon to support those who as candidates advance Democratic principles and who can be trusted to enforce them if elected.

"I have no enemies to punish. No matter what a man may have said or done against the ticket in 1896 or in 1900, that man becomes my friend the moment he accepts Democratic principles. Neither have I any disposition to reward political friends at the expense of our cause. No matter what a man may have said or done for the ticket in 1896 or in 1900, that man becomes an opponent the moment he turns against Democratic principles. Political battles are fought not in the past or in the future, but in the present. The heretofore cannot be recalled, and the hereafter cannot be anticipated, but the now is all important."

FLOOD ABOUT STATIONARY.

Reached Height at Cincinnati and Some Points Above—Great Suffering In West Virginia.

Cincinnati, April 26.—The high water mark of the flood passed down this part of the Ohio valley earlier last night than was expected and the stage of water became almost stationary from about 6 to about 10 o'clock at fractions above 59.1 feet, and afterwards at about 59.2 feet, when it became stationary here and at upper points. Early in the evening the temporary rise in that district, caused by the Kanawha and Big Sandy, swelled the water at Portsmouth, but it was soon over, and may lose its force before it shall reach Cincinnati.

A careful estimate placed the number of men thrown out of employment in Cincinnati by the flood at about 2,000, and about half as many in Covington and Newport, Ky.

At Ironton it was reported that about 1,500 men had been thrown out of employment. Similar conditions existed at Cattlettsburg, Portsmouth and Huntington. An estimate was made at Huntington that more than 3,000 families are homeless in the southern part of West Virginia, and about 8,000 men are idle, and that the loss by the flood in that part of the state will exceed a million dollars.

Try the new remedy for costiveness, Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Every box guaranteed. Price, 25 cents. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

It Is Money

saved on clothing to store it in a Moth Proof Cedar Chest.

The moths do not like it.

Rainy, damp spring moths are more plentiful than usual, so we have just received a lot of these moth proof chests that you may protect your winter clothing.

We have two sizes at $10 and $12 and will be pleased to show them to you.

THE S. G. HARD CO.

THE BIG STORE

Wounded Soldier Returns.

Lisbon, April 26.—James Farrell, for two years a soldier in the Third regular infantry in the Philippines, has returned to his home in this city, having been discharged by reason of disability resulting from a gunshot wound, received by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of a comrade. The ball struck him in the stomach and passed entirely through his body, emergin at the back. He was in the hospital for two months.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE.

All members of Josiah Wedgewood Lodge, No. 235, (and members of sister lodges also), are requested to meet in their hall on Sunday morning next at 10 o'clock, to attend St. Stephen's church.

Very important business next Wednesday night. CYRUS BAYLEY,
270-h Secretary.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Conrad Seibert, an aged resident of Johnstown, Pa., hanged himself to a bed post

The Pennsylvania railroad station at Miller's farm, near Titusville, Pa., was burned.

Joseph Serf, of Latrobe, Pa., developed a case of smallpox and had been quarantined.

Mrs. George McCracken was fatally wounded by the accidental discharge of a revolver at Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

Edward L. Irvin was on trial at Bellefonte, Pa., charged with the murder of Mrs. Ella B. Williams.

Fireman Lierd, standing on the pilot of his engine, saved the life of Mary Johnson, aged 5, at Driftwood, Pa., by snatching her from the track.

Rose and Emma Gilson, Martha Shaffer and Ella Mishow, of Williamsport, Pa., were attacked by tramps. They put their assailants to flight by the use of hat pins.

A search was being made for the relatives of Charles P. Hawk, a Baltimore and Ohio brakeman, of Keyser, W. Va., who was killed some time ago. He was insured for $1,500, and no beneficiaries have been found.

At Cambridge, O., a car on a Pennsylvania coal train jumped the track near the Baltimore and Ohio target house, completely demolishing the building. Engineer Frederick Johnson, of the Baltimore and Ohio, of Newark, was instantly killed. The operator, F. E. Coke, and Engineer Woodford, of the Baltimore and Ohio, were badly injured.

The jury in the case of J. C. Robinson, former secretary of the Cash, Globe Mutual and Industrial Building and Loan associations, who had been on trial on the charge of embezzlement, brought in a verdict at Pittsburg finding the defendant "not guilty" and placing the costs on the prosecution in the three cases against Robinson. There are still eight indictments upon which Robinson can be tried.

Albert C. Schroth, the former bookkeeper of the First National bank of Birmingham, Pittsburg, appeared before United States Commissioner W. T. Lindsey to answer the charges against him for embezzling $34,999.96 and falsifying the books of the bank. The defendant waived a hearing and gave bail in the sum of $10,000 for his appearance at the May term of the United States district court, which meets in Pittsburg the first Monday in May. Robert Phillips, who went on his bond when he was arrested, was his bondsman.

Strawberries, cucumbers, sparagus, radishes, lettuce, spinach, onions, rhubarb, etc., at FERGUSON'S.
270-h

BURLINGTON MERGER.

Announcement of Details Apparently Had Little Effect on That Stock.

New York, April 26.—Speculative sentiment showed a decided improvement Thursday over that which prevailed Wednesday, although the movement of prices continued very irregular and at times erratic. The heavy speculation liquidation which was accomplished Wednesday and on previous days of the week, relieving the overcongestion of the speculative holdings, doubtless had a great deal to do with the better tone of the market. The sustained strength of Union Pacific, even after Wednesday's remarkable spurt, and a disposition to take more account of the many rumors of actual developments concerning the property, relieved the feeling of uneasiness over Wednesday's extraordinary transactions in that stock, which in themselves led to some liquidation owing to the suspicion aroused that they were designed to cover heavy profit taking in other quarters of the list. There were further developments of strength Wednesday as a supplement to the Union Pacific movement, and the strength of the market was more generally diffused than at any previous time this week. The manner in which the market received the formal announcement of the terms of the Burlington merger had an encouraging effect on sentiment. There was little effect on Burlington itself, which moved narrowly by comparison with other stocks; but was very firm all day.

The most conspicuous movements of the day were distinctly the outgrowth of the current conviction that the perfecting of the Burlington deal will be followed by similar arrangements on the part of other railroad systems as an offset.

The strength of the Southern Pacific was due to the supposition that it will share in any advantages which accrue to Union Pacific. The official denials which were given of many of the rumors of Wednesday and Thursday were without the slightest effect on the market. Special strength was shown by the Chicago Terminal Transfer and Colorado Fuel stocks at advances of 3¾ to 5½ without news to explain it. Smelting broke 4½ on the announcement of another injunction against the stock issue proposed to take up the Guggenheim interests. The stock rallied 2½. The ease of call money precluded any anxiety over the money market.

The large buying of Union Pacific convertible bonds continued and the market generally was strong. Total sales, par value, $7,105,000.

U. S. refunding 2s declined ⅛ and the 3s, registered, ¼ per cent on the last call.

Guessed Wrongly.

"What do you expect to do with all your money?" asked the multimillionaire's spiritual adviser. "You can't take it with you where you are going."

"Yes, but I can," answered the multimillionaire. "I am going to Europe."—Chicago Tribune.

April 30, THE LAST DAY

That you can take advantage of Spencer's offer to secure

$5.00 Cabinet Photos For $3.00 a Dozen.

I have used up the stock card-mounts bearing the imprint of the old firm and if you desire to take advantage of this low price you must leave your order before close of month.

R. E. Spencer.

First National Bank Building.

G. R. PATTISON,

Bargains in Jewery.

Notice our window display of Brooches, Cuff Buttons, Scarf Pins, Hat Pins, Watch Chains, Bracelets, Hair Berrettes, Chatelaines, Watches, Charms, Sterling Silver Spoons, Plated Silverware, Sterling Silver Novelties, Brushes, Photo Frames and many other useful articles too numerous to mention.
Remember any article in the window for only $1.
This special sale will last for only a few days. Do not fail to take advantage of it.
We are also headquarters for Columbus Phonographs and Records.

G. R. Pattison,
JEWELER & OPTICIAN,
IN THE DIAMOND.

An Abbreviation.

A colonel of a British regiment in South Africa who was repairing a railroad after one of General De Wet's many breakages discovered a fine empty house, which he proceeded to occupy as headquarters.

When the news of the colonel's comfortable quarters reached Bloemfontein, he received a telegram which read:

"G. T. M. wants house."

The colonel was unable to make out what "G. T. M." meant and inquired of officers, who translated it "general traffic manager."

"All right," said the colonel. "If he can use hieroglyphics, so can I."

So he wired back:

"G. T. M. can G. T. H."

Two days later he received a dispatch from Bloemfontein ordering him to attend a board of inquiry. On appearing in due course he was asked what he meant by sending such an insulting message to a superior officer.

"Insulting?" repeated the colonel innocently. "It was nothing of the kind."

"But what do you mean," demanded his superior, "by telling me I can 'G. T. H.?'"

"It was simply an abbreviation," replied the colonel—"G. T. M. (general traffic manager) can G. T. H. (get the house)."

After a preacher has made a married couple one they each immediately set to work to find out which is the one.—Kansas City Times.

The Vaults of the Potters' National Bank are the strongest and best in Eastern Ohio and afford absolute protection for all kinds of valuables.
Rates Reasonable.

THE FIRST NATIONAL.... BANK

OF EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

President—David Boyce.
Vice President—J. M. Kelly.
Cashier—N. G. Macrum.
Asst. Cashier—Thos. H. Fisher.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

David Boyce, W. L. Thompson;
J. M. Kelly, O. C. Vodrey
B. C. Simms, Jno. C. Thompson,
Jas. N. Vodrey.

CAPITAL - - $100,000
SURPLUS - - $100,000

General Banking Business.

Invites Business and Personal Accounts.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT.

193 Washington Street.

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50 Gloves $1.00
$1.25 " .79
$1.00 " .79

This week only.

THE LEADER,
Washington St.

FRANK ALLEN'S O. K. Barber Parlors.
222 Washington Street.

Nothing but first-class Workmen Employed.
Hot and Cold Baths. Having just put in an instantaneous heating appliance there is no limit to hot water.

EXTRA

Men's and Boys Negligee Shirts.

With separate cuffs to match, some with collars to match as well, warranted to be the usual 50c qualities, this week, limiting 3 to each customer, at..... 25c

Wm. Erlanger & Co.

Cor. Fifth & Washington St. E. Liverpool, Ohio.

EXTRA

Boys' and Children's All Wool Sweaters

In Maroon, Oxford and navy, warranted the usual 75c qualities, limiting two to each buyer, at each..... 39c

SPECIAL VALUES IN OUR CUSTOM TAILORING DEPARTMENT. MEN'S $25 SUITS AND TOP COATS. To Order $18.50

EAST LIVERPOOL'S JUVENILE STORE,

Has the pleasure of announcing a capture of about 200 Sample Suits, 5 or 6 of each kind, and more than 50 kinds, boys', youths' and children's Suits, the newest and the best obtainable. All spring 1901 ideas.

All the choicest and most fashionable. from one of the best factories in America. The sale of which starts tomorrow and continues indefinately.

Boys $3 Suits for $2

Vestee styles for little lads, and double breasted styles for bigger boys wearing knee pants, choice assortments, in all sizes from 3 to 16 inclusive, neat patterns, and 50 per cent. underprice $2

Boys' Elegant $7 Suits for $5

We say $7 suits, because they will fully average that value. Some are however worth more. Some cost regularly $6 wholesale. All styles, novelty 3 picce suits and blouse suits, and Russian suits, high art goods, choice..... $5.00

Young Men's $12 and $13 Suits for $10

6 of each style and many styles, a rare chance for good dressers, some worth $1, or $2 or $3 more than others, but one round price for choice of all the sample Suits, an average $3 saving choice..... $10

Boy's 20c seamless ribbed black hose, spliced heels and knees, 11c.

Boy's 35c odd knee pants, all new spring colorings and patterns 17c.

Boys 25c fancy webbing suspenders, with leather ends, 15c.

Boys' blue bib Overalls ages 3 to 14, double seamed, 18c.

Boy's 50c Mother's Friend Percale and Cheviot Shirt waists, 31c.

Young Men's good $6.50 and $7 Suits for $5

$5 cheap for a good Suit you say, and well you might say so. Samples, 6 of each kind or pattern, including sizes from 13 to 20 years, double or single breasted, plain or mixtures, stylish, serviceable..... $5

In this line we can supply your wants and satisfy you in prices. You must have the goods and we want to sell them to you at

BULGER'S Pharmacy.

Sixth and West Market St.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Married on Wednesday—Clarence Douglass and Miss Lena Johnson were married in this city on Wednesday. They will reside here.

"Pinkeye" Prevalent — "Pinkeye" has made its appearance in East Liverpool, and a large number of people have contracted the malady.

Pension Increased—Josiah Greene, of this city, has been granted an increase in his pension from $6 to $8 per month.

Circus License Issued—Mayor Davidson yesterday issued a license for the Robinson circus, which exhibits here next month.

Buying Ware Here—John E. West, of New York, is here buying crockery ware for a store which he is about to open in Minneapolis. He is a brother of George West, traveling salesman for the Vodrey plant, and formerly lived here.

Taken Suddenly Ill—Mrs. Clements, teacher at the Grant street school, was taken suddenly ill yesterday afternoon and had to be taken home in a carriage.

Fans Will Be There—A number of base ball enthusiasts of this city will go to Pittsburg on Monday to witness the first league game of the season in that city.

Postponed Until Tuesday—The hearing in the Barnes-Hewitt case has been postponed until next Tuesday. The testimony will be taken by Probate Judge Boone.

Awaiting a Challenge — Manager Weston, of the Taylor, Lee & Smith pottery base ball team, is anxiously awaiting a challenge from Manager Woodburn, of the E. M. Knowles pottery team.

Circus in Chester—James Rigby yesterday afternoon closed the deal with Agent Wood, whereby the John Robinson circus will show on the Rigby tract on the Southside. The lot is becoming popular as a show ground, Ringling Bros. having occupied it last year.

Quick Dessert easily prepared with JELLYCON

REQUIRES no cooking, no baking, but only the labor of a minute. It is composed of purest calfs-foot gelatine, powdered sugar and pure flavor, all carefully combined to save housekeepers trouble, delay, labor and doubt. Only necessary to dissolve the contents of a package in hot water and set away to harden.

Flavors: Lemon, Peach, Orange, Strawberry, Raspberry and Wild Cherry.

Order a package from your grocer

Bilge Water.

I am quite well aware that there are objections to hospital ships in the tropics. When they are moored, there is the burning question of bilge water. I will not discourse on the subject of bilge water, as inexperience thereof might make the explanation wearisome. Any one acquainted with the bilge water question knows it is of engrossing interest. Bilge is a prince among smells, and if you have ever fallen under its power you will always think that every terrific thing in smells is a manifestation of bilge water.

I remember on one occasion when on board a moored hulk, not a hospital ship, smelling in the evening something that called for mention, so I mentioned it. "Oh," said my companions, more under the sway of bilge water than I was, from their greater knowledge of its power, "it's only our bilge water." In the morning we found it was the rotting carcass of an elephant that had floated down the river and now hung in the mooring chain.

After a considerable time was spent in getting rid of the carcass I said, "For goodness' sake, gentlemen, stir up your bilge water, and let the smells fight it out together while we go ashore for a spell." "No," said my companions, terror stricken at the suggestion. "You do not know our bilge water when its back's up. It would stretch you if you were half way across Africa. This elephant is mere lavender water to it."

This was a more dreadful bilge water than a hospital ship would have. Still, though bad, bilge water is not necessarily fatal under proper management. —Chambers' Journal.

Dance tonight, at Rock Springs. Nowling's full orchestra. Everybody invited. 270-h

Rhubarb and mint at Oysters. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

Pineapples at Frank E. Oysters'. 270-h

Dance tonight, at Rock Springs. Nowling's full orchestra. Everybody invited. 270-h

Cucumbers and beets at Oysters'. 270-h

TRICKS IN THE SILK TRADE.

How Shoppers Are Fooled—Tests Which Show the Pure Material.

Pure silk, when it has been through all the processes necessary to bring out all its good qualities, is worth its weight in silver, said an expert the other day. Therefore the women who expect to buy pure silk at little more than the price of cotton must expect to be fooled, and there are lots of ways by which the manufacturer gets even with them.

They make stuff that is called silk and passes for it with credulous persons who don't know any better out of nearly any old thing now. One favorite imitation silk is made of cellulose treated with chemicals. It isn't a good material to get on fire in. Then there are south sea island cottons and some mercerized cotton which after treatment look something like silk, though of course they wear very differently, and their silken appearance soon vanishes.

But it is in adulterating goods which really have some silk in them that the greatest skill is exercised to deceive the buyer. To obtain the required rustle and body rough floss is often used for the woof of the material. This soon causes it to wear shiny.

Another trick is to increase the weight and apparent solidity of a flimsy silk material by using metallic salts in the dye vats. Pressing with some kinds of silk increases the weight also, but at the sacrifice of strength. Cheap, crackly, stiff silk which has heavy cords is good silk to avoid. It won't wear.

There are several tests which reveal readily the purity of a piece of silk. The microscope of course will show it at once, even to an unpracticed eye. Pure silk has the appearance of fine, smooth tubes. Another good test is by burning. Pure silk burns slowly, with a slight odor. Cotton flares up quickly and would throw off a decidedly disagreeable smell.

Then the tongue will readily reveal the presence of metallic salts. There is no mistaking their taste. But all these may be disregarded, said the expert, when silk is offered for the price of cotton. You need not bother to test that stuff.—New York Sun.

Asparagus and radishes at Oysters'. 270-h

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

George III and the Wigmakers.

When George III ascended the throne of England, his wealthy subjects were beginning to leave off wigs and to appear in their own hair, "if they had any." As the sovereign was himself one of the offenders, the peruke makers, who feared a serious loss of trade, prepared a petition, in which they prayed his majesty to be graciously pleased to "shave his head" for the good of distressed workmen and wear a wig, as his father had done before him.

When the petitioners walked to the royal palace, however, it was noticed that they wore no wigs themselves. As this seemed unfair to the onlookers, they seized several of the leading processionists and cut their hair with any implement that came most readily to hand.

From this incident arose a host of curious caricatures. The wooden leg makers were said to have especial claims on the king's consideration, inasmuch as the conclusion of peace had deprived them of a profitable source of employment; hence the suggestion that his majesty should not only wear a wooden leg himself, but enjoin the people to follow his laudable example.

Little boy's vestee suits that will make your boy feel proud, at THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE 270-t

Peanut Brittle, 7c a pound, at Hassey's. 270-h

For everything good to eat go to Oysters'. 270-h

KID GLOVE SALE.

$1.50	Gloves	$1.00
$1.25	"	.79
$1.00	"	.79

This week only.

THE LEADER, Washington St.

IMPORTANT AND INTERESTING

IN all the years of our business experience we have never seen such bargains as we are offering to the people of East Liverpool, and also to those who come to our city to do their buying.

WHEN ARE YOU COMING IN?

SPECIAL inducements are offered to early buyers of Spring and Summer Clothing, not only as a matter of selection, but on account of the lateness of the season, we are offering extraordinary Bargains.

STEINFELD AND VINEY

SELL THE BEST CLOTHING SELL THE BEST

And our line of spring and summer suits for the men and young men outclass anything ever placed on our counters. They enable men in every walk of life to acquire meritable, serviceable and stylish garments, the like of which cannot be bought elsewhere short of from two dollars and fifty cents to five dollars more than our marked prices. We call particular attention to those we sell at..... $10 $12 $15

We have a great many nobby suits at prices ranging from $5 to $9.50 which in some instances are the equal of suits that are usually sold by other dealers at $10 to $15, and we are enabled to fit all sizes and different shaped men.

INTERESTING TO PARENTS.

We have completed one of the best stocks of Boy's Suits from which you can possibly select suitable wearing apparel, and all the latest dress effects such as Jacket and Pant Suits. Vestee, Russian Blouse and Sailor Blouse Suits, and ranging in prices from $1.50 to $5. We have the largest department of this kind in the city.

EXTRA PANTS.

The best Jean Pants in the United States for.....$1.00

Scotch Tweed Trousers at.....$1.50

New stripes in Worsted Trousers...$2.00

Dress Pants, extra well tailored...$3.00

Fine Worsted Fabrics, all the new stripes and checks.....$4.00

Our line of Boys' Long Pants, also Knee Breeches at 50c, 75c $1. are great values.

HATS AND CAPS

Extra good wool Crush Hats at..50c

Fine Fur Crushes at.....$1.00

Newest Derbys.$1.50

Pearl, Mode and Black Alpine Hats at $2.00

Exclusive styles in Men's Stiff Hats, made by leading manufacturers at $3.00

See our line of Men's and Boys Caps at .....25c and 50c

Dress Shirts

at
50c	Pleated
75c	Puffed Percales
$1.00	Madras
$1.25	Silks
$1.50	Bedfords with extra Collars
& 2.00	Cuffs for Men and Boys

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

Summer Underwear Gauze, Balbriggan, Lisle Thread and Silk Finished at.....25c, 50c 75c $1.00 and $1.50.

All kinds of Men's Hosiery from 5c to 50c per pair.

NECK WEAR

New, Nobby @ 25c

Rich, Stylish @ 50c

Quality, Excellent, @ 75c

In Silks and Satins.

New Shapes in Collars & Cuffs.

A complete line Washable Neckwear.

OVERALLS AND WORKING SHIRTS.

Don't forget the Boy's or Little Man's Overalls. We have them at 25c, 35c and 50c.

The best white Demin. The best blue Drill Men's Overalls at 50c

We have some at 35c also for men.

We carry only the best makes of Working Shirts.

Call on us at your earliest convenience. We aim to please our customers.

STEINFELD AND VINEY,

Corner Sixth and Diamond,

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS

Satisfaction Guaranteed,

Or Money Cheerfully Refunded.

Garrick and Murphy.

Conferring the "freedom of the playhouse" on playwrights and men of letters was common in Garrick's day, and without doubt the good natured manager was often pestered for the same favor by persons who had no such claim. It was evidently Garrick's custom to give tickets of admission, permanent orders, to those whom he desired to honor. It is recorded that the Irish writer, Murphy, annoyed at what he thought ill treatment or neglect, returned the ticket with the words, "As I do not foresee any further occasion for this obliging passport, I am not willing to trespass too long upon your civility."

Garrick's answer was such as to reflect the greatest possible credit upon himself: "If you choose to relinquish your right to the freedom of Drury Lane playhouse, you certainly will do as you please. But without the ticket, I imagine, Mr. Murphy will find the doors open to him, as usual, and be it further known to you, sir, that as I thought you were above an undue influence I never meant the ticket as the least tie upon the liberty of your pen or conversation."

It may be safely inferred that Garrick presented the same permanent passport to his gruff but faithful friend, Dr. Johnson. It is hardly too much to say that the great player's generosity was as notable as his acting, and his acting was probably such as the world has never surpassed.

How Foxes Get Rid of Fleas.

By an old hunter and naturalist of local repute a story has been told here confirming as absolutely true and trustworthy the published account, which has had few believers until now, of how foxes rid themselves of fleas. The fox, according to the book narrative, simply backs slowly into a stream of water with a portion of the pelt of a rabbit in his mouth after the fox has made a meal off the rabbit. The water drives the fleas first up the fox's legs and then toward his head and finally out on the piece of rabbit fur, and then the fox drops the fur, and his pests are done for.

The local hunter and naturalist referred to, strange to say, had never heard or read this story when he told of the actions of the fox which he observed in the waters of the Patapsco river. The little animal, he stated, backed into the river slowly with so much deliberation that he wondered what it meant. It carried something—he did not know what—in its mouth and dropped the something when out in deep water. Then the fox hurried away. The object left floated near to the observer, and he hauled it ashore with a stick. Fleas literally swarmed through the object, which was found to be a bit of raw rabbit fur. The observer had a puzzling mystery explained to him. He says his admiration for the shrewdness of the fox grows more and more as he grows older and learns his ways.—Baltimore Sun.

It Troubled the Customer.

"A funny thing occurred here the other day," said a barber as he was putting the finishing touches on a hair cut. "A fellow came in to be shaved who was somewhat under the influence of intoxicants. He took his place in the chair, and all proceeded well till I had shaved one side of his face, when he stopped me.

"'Hold on,' he cried. 'I want this thing 'splained.'

"I asked him what was the matter, and he replied: 'There's a fly on my cheek, and you have shaved the lather and whiskers off, but the fly didn't move. Now, what's the mazzer with him?'

"I told him there was no fly on him, but he pointed to the mirror and said: 'You think I can't see him. I ain't so drunk that I can't see a fly.'

"I turned to the glass, and there stood the fly on the mirror and in such a position that from my customer's range of vision it seemed to be on his cheek. He afterward said that he had felt that fly tickling him all the time and wondered how I could shave under it and not cut its legs off."—London Tit-Bits.

Wants a Diagram.

"That Fuddlethwait girl makes the flattest remarks of anybody I ever saw. And people laugh at them too. I can't understand it. It must be because she has money."

"What's she been saying now?"

"I was telling her the other evening that my parents had 13 children."

"Yes."

"Well, she looked at me awhile and said, 'Oh, are you the thirteenth?' Then everybody snickered. Now, will you kindly tell me what there was funny about that?"—Chicago Times-Herald.

Made Sure of the Pie.

A young girl who carried her dinner was observed to eat her pie first. When asked why, she replied, "Well, if there's anything left it won't be the pie, will it now?"—Boston Christian Register.

The typical Moro is never unarmed. He fights equally well on foot, on horseback, in his fleet war canoe or in the water, for he swims like a fish and dives like a penguin.

Before the discovery of sugar drinks were sweetened with honey.

His Opinion.

Fiddleback—Are you going around to Miss Muffin's tomorrow night, Mrs. Von Blumer?

Mrs. Von Blumer—She gives a chafing dish party, doesn't she?

Fiddleback—Yes.

Mrs. Von Blumer—We may. Are you?

Fiddleback (smiling)—Well, hardly.

Mrs. Von Blumer—Why, I thought you were fond of Miss Muffin.

Fiddleback—I am, but not of her chafing dish parties.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You mean—

Fiddleback—I mean the chafing dish part.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You don't like that?

Fiddleback—Well, I can stand a good deal, but the concoctions Miss Muffin gets up in that instrument of torture are too much for me.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You are too hard on her, I am sure.

Fiddleback—Hard on her, do you say! Well, I guess she is pretty hard on the rest of her victims.

Mrs. Von Blumer—What particular dish of hers don't you like?

Fiddleback—Well, I can't say that I am partial to any of them. I've tried them all, and there isn't much choice. Her lobster Newburg can produce about as much complex agony as anything else. But I think for suffering long drawn out, for steady, unintermittent, ablebodied pain, her Welsh rabbit takes the blue ribbon. Have you ever tried Miss Muffin's Welsh rabbit?

Mrs. Von Blumer—Oh, yes, indeed! Why, I have been giving her cooking lessons for the last six months!—Harper's Bazar.

His Moments of Joy.

Did you ever hear of the strange man who went out to a summer hotel once for a holiday? He impressed on the clerk the first day he was there that it was of vital importance that he be called at 6 o'clock next morning. He was called. He didn't come down stairs till 2 in the afternoon. The injunction to the clerk was repeated every day, and every day the mysterious guest staid in his room till late in the afternoon. When he had been at the place a week and was about to leave, the clerk said to him:

"I beg your pardon, sir; it's none of my business, but why have you left orders to be called at 6 o'clock every morning and never got out of bed till several hours later?"

"Well," he replied, "I'll tell you. Back in the city I've got a job that compels me to get up every morning, summer and winter, at 6 o'clock. This is my first vacation for five years. Every day when your bellboy has come up stairs and banged at the door I've started up to dress and get down to the office and then suddenly let the conviction steal blissfully over my brain that I didn't have to. Then I've gone back to bed, hugged the pillow and dreamed that I was in the Elysian fields. That moment of joy that has followed the banging on my door every morning has been worth three times the price of the bill."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Sympathy Misplaced.

One day during a cold snap last winter I saw an old man in a grocery acting rather suspiciously, and soon I saw him steal a potato from a barrelful of the tubers that stood outside the counter. The old fellow slipped out of the house as soon as he could conveniently and limped away. I followed him, thinking to give him what change I could spare, for I thought he must be desperately poor if he must steal a potato.

When I caught up with him and offered him a little money, the old man roared with laughter. When he had got his breath again, he said:

"You saw me steal the potato, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir, I did."

"Well, lemme tell you, my son, I've got potatoes to sell. I raise thousands of bushels of them. I've got the biggest market garden in this county, and I've got more money than you ever saw. Carryin a potato in your pocket will cure the rheumatiz, but for it to do any good you've got to steal the potato. See?

I saw. And I sawed wood.—Will Visscher in Woman's Home Companion.

All His Fault.

"Women beat the world."

"What's the matter now?"

"When my wife wants anything pretty to wear, she hints around until I persuade her to buy it, then after she has worn it out she pitches into me for encouraging her to be so extravagant."—Chicago Record.

Dimes to Offset Dollars.

"I can always tell when Harry has indulged himself in an extravagant luncheon down town."

"How do you tell?"

"He always comes home and wants to treat me to a trolley ride."—Detroit Free Press.

Impossible.

The Prosecutor—By the way, weren't you once arrested for horse stealing in Arizona?

The Witness—Fer horse stealin? In Arizony? I'm still a-livin, ain't I?—Indianapolis Press.

Uncle Bob's Hailstone Story.

"An old countryman I used to know when I was living in south Georgia," remarked a college professor apropos of sudden changes in the weather, "was in at least one respect a very remarkable character. To a casual listener he appeared to be a fluent and unconscionable liar, yet when you came to scrutinize any of his statements closely it was impossible to catch him in the slightest deviation from the truth."

"One day in early spring we had an unusually severe fall of hail, and next morning while driving down the road with a friend we happened to encounter the old fellow at his gate. 'Well, Uncle Bob,' I said, 'that was a pretty bad hailstorm we had yesterday.' 'I should say it was,' he replied. 'You just oughter seed some of the stones that come down in my back yard.' 'How big were they?' I asked. ''Bout as big as small watermelons,' said he. 'Well, we've caught him in a whopper at last,' chuckled my friend as we drove on. 'No, we haven't,' I groaned. 'As usual the old rascal has secured all the advantage of a fine, large lie and at the same time has adhered rigidly to the truth. Look at that vine.'

"An early watermelon vine was festooning the bottom rail of a fence by the roadside, and here and there it was studded with minute green spheres about the size of gooseberries. My friend made no comment. I never tried to catch Uncle Bob again."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

An Arab's Parlor.

A woman traveler in Egypt is amazed at the dearth of the natives' household goods, says a correspondent of the Chicago News. There is little furniture because the Arab needs little. His life is spent out of doors, and he can sleep in any handy gutter as peaceably and happily as a child, while most of his meals are eaten in the open air.

In one exceptionally luxurious house, that of a charwoman, the traveler found a parlor. It was regarded as a sort of shrine by Fatima. She had made it a fetich, devoting to its embellishment all the money she could spare and sacrificing to it even her children's wants. The visitor was shown through a broken down doorway into a squalid passage, where two rooms at either end revealed perspectives of greater squalor beyond. Children teemed from every entrance.

Arrived at the holy of holies, the door had to be unlocked. It was a brand new Birmingham lock. Distant Manchester had supplied a carpet blazing with roses and small creton curtains of brilliancy to match. Such things are in Cairo called "fellah" (vulgar), as none but fellahin are found to be purchasers of them, but poor Fatima's horrors are not yet quite catalogued. From some common shop in the Muski she had captured two or three glass vases, and in them—the last touch of triumph—were artificial flowers.

Chinese Superstition.

When General Grant was visiting China, Chester Holcombe, for many years secretary of the American legation at Peking, secured for him a privilege never before that time accorded to a foreigner, the privilege of admission into the sacred precincts of the Temple of Heaven in Peking.

Now, it is contrary to the settled belief of the Chinese to admit a member of the female sex, old or young, even to the temple ground, under any circumstances. It is said that should a Chinese guard venture even to carry a baby girl in his arms within the forbidden lines he would probably be punished with death. Not knowing of these restrictions, a number of ladies in General Grant's party ventured to follow him when he visited the sacred edifice.

Realizing the seriousness of this action, Mr. Holcombe afterward apologized to the emperor's representative for the conduct of his countrywomen and was informed that the intrusion would be overlooked, but must be kept as secret as possible, for should the populace learn of it an antiforeign outbreak would be likely to follow. They would not forgive such a pollution of their most sacred building.—Leslie's Weekly.

To Clean and Polish a Piano.

In cleaning and polishing a piano go over the woodwork with a cloth wet with paraffin oil, being generous with the oil where the woodwork is very much soiled. Let this remain two or three hours. This is to soften the dirt. Then wash with soap and water and a soft cloth, being careful not to let any water touch the works inside the piano. Use a good white or a white castile soap. Wipe dry with a soft cloth and polish with soft, old linen or chamois leather.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Marconi Objected.

There was a little dinner once given to William Marconi, of which one incident is still remembered by some of the guests. An oratorical member of the company, growing enthusiastic over a toast to the inventor of wireless telegraphy, made this climax to his peroration: "Gentlemen, I give you Marconi, the Franklin, the Faraday and the Helmholtz of Italy." When the toast had been drunk, the distinguished guest thanked the party for the honor and added, "But I must protest against the action of the preceding speaker in making me triplets."—Leslie's Monthly.

J. B. ROWE'S
Restaurant and Dining Hall
Board by Day or Week.
Single Meals, 25 Cents.
160 Washington St.

DR. WM. J. TAYLOR
HAS ADDED TO HIS OFFICE
Static and X-Ray Apparatus
To examine for all Fractured Limbs, Bullets and Needles, or any foreign substance in the human system.
OFFICE: COR. SECOND AND UNION STREETS

Incandescent Gas Lamps and Mantles.
For the best Mantles in the city and first class Plumbing and Gas Fitting call on Arbuthnot Bros.
PRACTICAL PLUMBERS,
Cor. Broadway and Fifth, City.
Mantles from 12½c to 30c.

The Willis H. Kinsey Plumbing Co.,
131 Sheridan Ave.,
Opened for business on
MONDAY, April 15.
Estimate furnished on all kinds of Plumbing Work, Gas or Steam Fittings. Satisfaction and reasonable prices guaranteed.
Public Patronage Solicited.
THOS. F. STARKEY,
Secy. and Treas.

J. D. WEST,
76 SIXTH STREET,
Undertaking and Livery
In all its departments. Services prompt, day or night. Both phones, No. 38 at office. House. Bell phone No. 274.

Removed.
The Bon Ton Meat Market, formerly of Sixth street, has its new quarters at 250 West Market street where it will be pleased to meet all the patrons and as many new ones as may see fit to call.
BORING & COGSWELL.

A RECEIPT FOR EARNING AND SAVING MONEY.
For the next few days the Columbiana County Building Loan & Savings Co., will issue paid up stock and pay the highest rate of interest to be had anywhere. Will also accept small deposits in any amount. Make your money work for you.
The Columbiana County Building Loan & Savings Co.
COR. Fifth and Market Sts.

Night School
STUDENTS are given individual instruction. Now isa good time to enter. Special rates of tuition will be given night students who register before April 23, for a term of two months.
Ohio Valley Business College.

C. C. Bird Store,
192 Sixth Street.
Canaries, Parrots, Belgian Hares and Minnows.

FURNISHED ROOMS FOR RENT.
WITH USE OF BATH.
THE ANDERSON HOUSE
Cor. Walnut and Robinson Sts.

THE CRITERION DINING ROOM
having been removed to No. 176 Washington street, postoffice building, we are prepared to serve our patrons better and quicker than ever. The best Meal in the city for the money.
W. E. LYTLE.
Banquets and Suppers a Specialty.

ANY Time you are desirous of opening a bank account with us you will find a number of accommodating clerks who will give you any information you may desire, furnish you with a Bank Book, and show you what excellent facilities we have in the way of Safe Deposit Boxes for taking care of your valuables, important papers, jewels, etc,
CITIZENS' NATIONAL BANK,
East Liverpool, Ohio.

Life Insurance.
If you are going to take Life Insurance it would pay you to look at the Contract of the Northwestern.
To get Northwestern dividends you must carry Northwestern Insurance. Call and see Contracts and get rates.
Geo. H. Owen & Co.
General Insurance and Real Estate Agents.
FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING,
Both Phones 49.

NEW LINE OF Ice Boxes,
Refrigerators,
Hot Plate,
Gasoline Stoves and Bakers.
Iron Beds and Furniture of all kinds.
John Schleiter,
130 2nd Street, opposite Passenger Depot.
BIG STOCK—LOW PRICES.

Call In and See . . .
The very latest styles of Hats, Shapes and Trimmings.
Everything up-to-date
No trouble to show Goods.
MRS. E. M. LEASURE,
Fifth St.

Confiscation In Morocco.

It is a custom in Morocco that all the property of an official reverts at death to the crown. The logic which leads to such a result is simple, for the government argues that all fortunes thus accumulated consist of moneys illegally retained by the authorities. A governor when appointed is probably possessed of no considerable fortune. When he dies, he may be a millionaire. Whence came his wealth? Squeezed most certainly from the tribes under his authority and therefore amassed only by the prerogatives of the position in which the sultan had placed him.

It has never struck the Moorish government that these great fortunes might more honorably be returned to the people from whom they were stolen. The result is entire confiscation to the crown, including often such private property as the governor may have been possessed of before his appointment and not seldom, too, of the property of his relatives.

When the mighty fall in Morocco, the crash brings down with them their families, even uncles and cousins and all connected with them, and it is not seldom that the sons of great governors, who have been brought up in the luxury of slaves and horses and retinues of mounted men, have to go begging in the streets.—Blackwood's.

A Horse's Blinders.

A horse's blinders are usually concave on the inside. True, the surface usually is a dead black, but not absolutely so, so that a glimmer of light may be reflected from them. By constant cleansing this dead surface is made more or less smooth if not actually glossy and shiny. Moreover, the blinders are usually set at an angle, so that as a result of the law of reflection rays of light concentrated by the convex surface are reflected into the eyes, not directly in the axis of vision, but more or less transversely or obliquely, the result being even more injurious. As a result of this reflection the vision is weakened if not destroyed.

Moreover, the mirrorlike blinders not only reflect sunlight, but they reflect objects as well, so that a "blinded" horse sees not only objects directly ahead of him, but has a more or less blurred vision of other objects, intermixing with and confusing the image of objects directly before him, and as a consequence he is rendered uncertain in his movements and is easily scared. No further proof of this is needed than the fact that a nervous horse with a reputation for shying and running away often becomes tractable if the blinders are removed, because he can then see distinctly what before he could only see indistinctly and confusedly.—Our Animal Friends.

A Puzzler.

An ancient epitaph in Latin in the chateau of Chantilly, France, may be translated thus:

Aelia Laelia Crispis
Neither man, nor woman, nor hermaphrodite,
Neither infant, young nor old,
Neither chaste, depraved, nor modest,
But all these.
Removed neither by hunger, sword or poison,
But by all,
She lies neither in the sky nor in the water, but everywhere.
Lucius Agatha Crispis.
Neither husband, lover nor friend,
But all these.
Neither weeping nor rejoicing,
But both.
Has erected this, neither a mausoleum, a pyramid nor a sepulcher,
But all three,
Both knowing and not knowing to whom he hath erected it.
This is a tomb that holds no body,
This is a body held in no tomb,
But is its own body and its own tomb.

The answer is not known, and so every nimble wit is invited to exercise itself on the tough old puzzle.

Whiter Than a Shirt.

Inventors have a power of abstraction which serves them a good turn on some occasions and is liable to betray them into strange statements on others.

"So you think you've perfected your little machine at last, do you?" asked the lawyer of his dreamy eyed client.

"Yes; it's all right now. There's not a flaw in it," said the inventor. "But I can assure you, sir, that when it came to making the final test I was frightened. I happened to see my face in a mirror when the thing was safely over, and it was as white as your shirt, sir. In fact," he added, bending an impartial gaze on the lawyer's shirt front, "it was whiter—considerably whiter, I should say."—Youth's Companion.

A Melodious Spot.

There is more melody in Andreasburg, Prussia, in the Harz mountains, than in any other town in the world. There 250,000 canaries are annually reared, and four-fifths of them are sent to the United States. "Professor birds," perfect singers, are placed among the young birds, so that the latter may imitate the trills of the experienced warblers.

A Two Edged Joke.

Sometimes a joke reacts, as the Bangor (Me.) Commercial proceeds to prove by relating that a young man in Auburn, to play a joke on a barber, paid him 35 old fashioned cents. Later, when he found that the barber had sold one of the coins for $35, he did not feel so well satisfied with his joke or at least thought it had become misplaced.

EXTRA SPECIAL

50 Japanese Silk Waists in all colors, worth $3.50 tomorrow and Monday only $2.19

Rainy Day Skirts.

25 rainy day skirts, cheap at $2.50, will go for $1.49.

25 rainy day skirts in black, brown and gray, worth $4.50, will go for $2.98.

50 rainy day skirts in all colors, with deep flounce and stitched, the best $5 skirt made, for $3.98.

Extra good rainy day skirts, with deep flounce and trimmed, worth $8, our special price $5.98.

Men's Furnishings.

A great line of shirts, 75c values for 49c.

Pleated bosom shirts, the best $1 grade, our special price 75c.

Balbriggan underwear for 22 1-2c.

Balgriggan underwear for 37 1-2c.

Fancy sox, worth 19c, for 12 1-2c.

Fine fancy sox, 25c grade, for 19c; three pairs for 50c.

Ribbons

25 pieces of fancy ribbon, the 20c grade, our price 12c.

Persian and other new ribbons, 35c and 39c grade, for 25c.

We show the largest line of velvet ribbons, in all widths, in which we will save you considerable.

A full line of taffeta ribbons in all widths, at the lowest prices.

Ladies' Underskirts.

Black mercerized underskirts, pleated and ruffled, cheap at $1.50, our special price 98c.

Fine mercerized underskirts, the newest style, worth every cent of $2.50, our price $1.75.

Better grades at $1.98, $2.49, $2.98 and $3.49.

Best gingham and percale underskirts for 50c, 75c and 98c.

Millinery

All the new styles in walking hats received this week, which we put on sale at special low prices. Be sure to see them before purchasing. A new line of shapes at great saving prices. A new line of ladies trimmed hats at fully one third less than anywhere in town.

A new line of childrens' trimmed hats and leghorns at matchless low prices.

EXTRA SPECIAL

20 pieces of 42 in. chiffon, always sold for 50c, will go for 29c a yard, and the 75c grade, in all colors, for 50c.

Star Bargain Store.

Exordinary offerings all through the store. Read every word of this advertisement for your benefit.

Special Offerings in Tailor-Made Suits

For Tomorrow and Monday which you do not want to miss.

25 tailor made suits in brown, castor and black, made of all Venetian cloth, nothing better sold for $10, tomorrow and Monday only at $6.98.

Four styles tailor made suits, in the newest Eton effects, in black, castor, blue, brown and red, $11.98 and $12.98 values, tomorrow and Monday only $8.98.

Collarless Eton suits in the latest style jacket, silk lined skirt and jacket nicely trimmed, the best $15 suit made tomorrow and Monday only $10.98.

All our other suits at special prices for tomorrow and Monday.

Dressing Sacques

Percale dressing sacques, ruffled and trimmed, worth 75c, our price 39c.

Fine lawn dressing sacques, with ruffle and lace trimmed, a $1.50 value, for 98c.

Children's Dresses

We received this week a great line of childrens' dresses which we offer at special prices. A full line of cashmere dresses at saving prices.

Ladies' Jackets

The latest style Eton jackets, in black and castor, worth $7, our special price $4.98.

Black cheviot Eton jackets, silk lined, lapels faced with peau-de-soie, worth $10, for $7.50.

Tan and black coats, lined all through, worth $7.50, for $4.98.

Muslin Underwear

Embroidery trimmed gowns, cheap at 50c, for 39c.

Fine lace trimmed gowns, 75c grade, for 59c.

Fine gowns, embroidery trimmed and hemstitched, $1.25 grade, for 89c.

Higher priced gowns at great saving prices.

Hemstitched skirts, cheap at $1, for 75c.

Fine lace or embroidery trimmed skirts, $1.50 values, for 98c.

Special values in skirts at $1.39, $1.75 and up to $2.98.

A Great Showing and Sale of Lace and Ruffled Curtains.

Now is your time and our store the place to buy your Curtains. We have them from 39c a pair up to $6.98. We show the best line of popular priced Curtains in tne city, and our prices are fully ¼ less than anywhere in town. Our Curtain department will convince you to that effect. Full line of Ruffled Curtains from 50c a pair up to $2.98 a pair. Special good values in Ruffled Curtains at 75c, 98c and $1.19 a pair. A great line of Swiss Goods by the yard from 10c up to 35c a yard. A full line of silk and cotton draperies.

Portieres and Rugs.

We can save you from $1 to $2 on your Portieres and we show the largest line of popular priced Portieres in town.

A full line of Mouquete and Symrna Rugs at saving prices.

A full line of Tapestry and Velour for furniture covering.

Deal at our store and save your hard earned dollars.

Star Bargain Store, 138 and 140 Fifth St.

25 Black Silk Waists

Tucked all over front and back and sleeves, cheap at $7.50, tomorrow and Monday for.....$4.98

Dress Skirts.

25 more of our black cloth skirts, nicely trimmed for $2.49. They are worth $4.

Another lot of our famous all-wool Venetian skirts at $4.98, nothing in town to match it for $7.

Very fine Venetian skirts, in black blue and castor, with three rows of taffeta bands, a $9 value for $6.98.

Black taffeta silk skirts, nicely trimmed, worth $12, our special price $8.98

Beautiful black taffeta silk skirts at $10.98, $12.50 and $15 which you cannot match in town for our price.

A Great Show and Sale of Wash Goods

Our line this season is more than twice as large as ever before, and we are quite busy in our wash goods department. Now is the time to get the best selection.

Nice dimities, 7c grade for 5c.

25 pieces of dimity, worth 10c, for 7 1-2c.

A beautiful line of dimities and lawns at 12 1-2c and 15c.

25 pieces of fine dimities, as good as any shown at 25c, our special price 19c

A beautiful line of mercerized Foulards at 25c.

A great line of ginghams at 15c and 25c.

Silk mouseline in stripes and dots, worth 75c, for 48c.

A full line of challies in beautiful patterns at 35c, 50c, 68c and 75c.

We show the best values in white India linen at 8c, 10c, 12 1-2c, 15c and 19c.

White Persian lawn at 25c.

White organdie, 50 inches wide, at 39c and 50c.

Shirt Waists.

Good wash waists worth 50c, our price 35c.

Percale waists, with two rows of embroidery insertion, real 75c grades, for 49c.

Best percale and gingham waists, the best $1 waists made, for 75c.

Fine mercerized waists, in pearl, blue and helio, tucked and hemstitched front and back, worth $1.50, for 98c.

A beautiful line of white waists, from 98c to $2.98.

Extra Special in Wash Goods.

Mercerized Cotton Pongee in beautiful patterns, looks like silk, the best 39c grade shown, will go for.....25c.

Two Painters.

During a holiday ramble Sir Frederick Leighton came across a little roadside inn, the signboard of which was being somewhat coarsely painted by a local artist. For some little time Sir Frederick watched the progress of the painting, till the rural artist, glancing down, remarked, "It be a foine day, masther?"

Leighton assented, adding that a figure on the signboard was out of proportion.

"Wheer be it out?" asked the aggrieved artist. "I'm thinkin yer've summer wrong in yer soight."

"If you get off that ladder, I'll put it right for you," replied the R. A. good humoredly.

"Eh, boot can ye paint?" queried the other doubtfully. "Ye ken I dinna want my work spiled."

"It's all right; I've done a little painting in my time," answered Leighton, as the other clambered down the ladder. Then, taking the palette, he climbed up and commenced to paint and did not desist until he had completed the signboard.

"Er, boot tha's nae so bad," was the rural artist's comment. "Art is nae so paying now; still if ye like to do mair work for me, I'll gie ye mair siller than I do as a rule."

"Thanks," replied Sir Frederick dryly. "My name is Leighton."

"Verra pleased to ken ye, Mr. Leighton," replied the man, ignorant of what the name meant. "My name is Tam."—St. James Gazette.

One of Webster's Drinks.

"Daniel Webster," said a Boston man, "as all the world knows, had a penchant for looking on wine when it glowed rosy red. At one time he was driving to Cambridge from Boston. He was billed to make a speech at the home of Harvard, and his companion in the old fashioned gig was a member of the reception committee and a resident of the town.

"On the way to Cambridge Mr. Webster turned to his fellow traveler with an inquiry whether there was not some place in the neighborhood where they could obtain a drink. 'If you will drive a short distance out of your way to my house,' was the courteous response, 'I think I can promise you as good a drink of Jamaica rum as you ever tasted.'

"To the house the twain accordingly journeyed, and once there the host, true to his promise, set before the statesman a decanter of extremely fine rum. The great Massachusetts senator poured out a brimming beaker and quaffed it off without wincing. His host tentatively pushed toward him the water jug, but Senator Webster after eying it a moment said: 'Thank you, no. I wanted a drink, but I am not thirsty.' He then went on to Cambridge and delivered one of his masterly efforts."

Won by His Retort.

At one of their joint discussions which took place in Kentucky some years ago Tom Stuart, then editor of the Winchester Democrat, gave his opponent, I. N. Boone, a descendant of the great Daniel, a blow that fairly knocked him out of the race for the legislature.

Boone was making his regular speech, and at the proper place in it he referred to the matter of his relation to the toiling masses. "My friends," said he, holding up a pair of hands that looked as if they had not been washed in a week, "to let you see for yourself that I am a horny handed son of toil, I ask you to look at these hands, and," turning to Stuart, "I would ask my pale faced young friend from the city what he thinks of them?"

Stuart was on his feet in a minute. "I do not desire to embarrass my distinguished opponent, ladies and gentlemen," he said, with a bow, "but I would say that I think that they need soap and water."

It was such an apparent case that the crowd took hold at once with a shout, and Boone was completely floored, and later Stuart was elected.—Argonaut.

A Mean Interruption.

"Don't trifle with me, Miss McCurdy!" pleaded the young man desperately. "Wait till I have finished. Do I need to tell you, after all these weeks, how completely and absolutely your image fills my heart? Have you not seen? Do you not know? Have I not betrayed myself by my looks, by the tones of my voice, by the eager joy that lights up my features whenever you appear? Must I put in words the feelings I can no more disguise than I can"—

"Mr. Whitgood," interrupted the young woman, "are you in earnest?"

"Glycerine McCurdy," he said, drawing himself up with injured dignity, "do you think I'm doing this on a bet?"—Chicago Tribune.

Don't allow yourself to become melancholy. Laugh once in awhile, whether you are tickled or not.—Chicago News.

Minorities lead and save the world and the world knows them not till long afterward.—John Burroughs.

History's Notorious Fault.

"I must insist," declared Diana, who was the acknowledged leader of the Olympian Woman's Suffrage party, "that the purity of the ballot would be conserved by allowing us to vote."

"Nonsense," protested Mercury, leader of the opposition. "You wouldn't be able to control the Muse of History. She's a natural born repeater."—Philadelphia Press.

A Drastic Measure.

A Spanish magistrate, shocked by the extent of the food adulteration, issued a proclamation, aflame with righteous wrath, that "all wines, groceries and provisions which upon analysis are proved to be injurious to health will be confiscated forthwith and distributed to the different charitable institutions."—Woman's Journal.

With the exception of Norway, there is no country in Europe whose area is so taken up by forests as Germany, more than a quarter of its surface being devoted to them.

The tongue is a little thing, but it fills the universe with trouble.

Buying Molasses.

She was newly arrived from the old country, and she went to the store for sirup.

"Give me a pound of treacle," she said to the grocer.

"Treacle!" repeated the grocer. "You mean molasses."

"Possibly."

"We don't sell it by the pound, but by the measure."

"Oh, then give me a yard!"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Fished For His Dinner.

"Looking over my neighbor's fence one day," says a lover of animals, "I was surprised to see on his doorstep these queer companions: A beautiful white sea gull and my neighbor's pet cat sitting quietly together.

"Becoming interested, I jumped the fence and asked Jones about his feathered pet. He told me that some boys had shot the gull a few days before and broken its wing, and as they were passing his house he noticed the poor, suffering thing and bought it. He bandaged the broken wing, and the gull, seeming to understand his kind intentions, became quite tame and nestled its pretty head against his hand.

"Jones entertained me by showing how the gull usually took his meals. Bringing a plate of oysters and a fork, he called 'Goosey, goosey, goosey!' and the bird came running to him. Then he held out an oyster on the fork and the gull seized it quickly with its yellow bill and ate it as demurely as if oysters had been served to it in this way all of its days.

"The oddest thing occurred one day when my neighbor gave the gull some small pieces of meat for dinner. He placed the meat on the ground near the gull, but the gull, espying a pan of water near by, took the meat piece by piece and, walking over, dropped it into the water. Then, true to its nature, it began fishing for its dinner."—Christian Advocate.

Our Last Cargo of Slaves.

Captain Foster was the commander of the slave ship Clotilda that brought the last cargo of slaves to the United States. The trip was made only after many thrilling scenes requiring weeks of skillful maneuvering and dangerous exploits. Just before the north and south engaged in war Captain Foster built the Clotilda and announced that he would make a trip to the gulf of Guinea despite the fact that United States war vessels had burned and sunk the ships of many who tried the voyage. He was warned repeatedly of the dangers attached to such an undertaking, but he equipped his ship and sailed away.

He reached the African coast after going out of his course many times and remained along the coast for a month. He succeeded in getting 100 negroes on board before he was detected by the watchful vessels of the United States. He was pursued, but easily outdistanced his pursuers, and two months later arrived in Mobile bay with his human cargo. A steamboat met the slaveship during the night, and the negroes were transferred in order to avoid the custom house officials. Captain Foster set his vessel on fire and passed through Mobile without being detected. The government authorities hunted for him for months, but he eluded them until the close of the war, when he retired from the sea.

Tipping the Butcher.

Did you ever buy your own steaks and get the worst in the shop nearly every time? An old friend has had that misfortune, and he is always willing to pay two or three cents more a pound than any other customer. Having listened calmly to his tale of woe, I inquired if he had acquired the practice of tipping the butcher. Tipping the butcher? No! He thought it was a sufficient tip to offer the two or three cents more a pound. "That offer," I tried to explain, "goes to the proprietor direct, or his block man thinks you are trying to make a thief of him by inducing him to hold out for himself the extra price. It will never work.

"Just say to your cutter: 'See here, old chap, I've been dissatisfied with my steaks for some time. Come out and take a drink, and tell me how to select good meat.' He's too busy. Then slip a dime into his hand and say, 'Have a glass of beer when you get out,' or a quarter and say, 'Have a smile with me when you have time.' Repeat this performance and presently your steaks are the delight of home. In the busiest private market in New York it is the rule to tip the butchers. You can get nothing fit to eat without it."—New York Press.

Not an Educated Dog.

In the "Floresta Espanola" of Melchior de Santa Cruz the author has an anecdote of Cardinal Pedro Goncalez. That prelate noticed that one of the priests in his retinue, a Biscayan, carried a short sword under his cloak. The cardinal reproved him and told him that it was wrong for a cleric to carry arms. The Biscayan replied that he carried the weapon to defend himself if he were attacked by a dog. The cardinal said that in case he saw a dog running at him he should begin to recite from the gospel of St. John. The priest acknowledged that this was a good way, but held to the dagger, "because there are some dogs who do not understand Latin."

Two Ways of Writing.

Mrs. Bibbs—I declare! You men can't write a letter unless you have a regular desk and office chair and big blotting pad and I don't know what all.

Mr. Bibbs—Yes, and a woman may have a $200 writing desk, with everything to match, and yet she'll sit down on a stool and write on an old book.—New York Weekly.

WHEN PERIL COMES.

Sudden and Extreme Danger the Test of True Courage.

It is when the unexpected happens that fatalism proves how fragile a prop it is, after all, for human courage. The soldier or the sailor can say to himself when he knows that he must take a supreme risk in battle or in a storm: "I am powerless against the fate which was decreed for me from the beginning of the world. If my time has come, I cannot help it; if not, all the forces of earth and sky and ocean cannot prevail to harm me." But when without an instant's warning a rock crashes through a ship's bottom and the waters rush into the gap, when confusion seizes the entire company aboard, when the fog is too thick for the captain to be seen or the roar of the sea drowns the sound of his orders a new test is applied. Then it is that the courage which rests on nothing firmer than a negation gives way, and in his greed to save his own life the stoic becomes as a madman.

There have been steamship disasters in which men of humble station, of all colors and faiths, have shown the finest quality of heroism, and there have been those in which the common sailors, all whites and Europeans, have earned eternal disgrace by their cowardice. The point we are making is not that it is possible to draw a hard and fast line between one religion and another or one race and another in the matter of bravery, but that the affirmative sense of responsibility for one's own acts, of the difference between right and wrong, between nobility and ignominy and of the grandeur of duty well done at the sacrifice of self, is a far surer dependence in the presence of sudden peril than all the stoical philosophers ever worked out by the mind of man.—Washington Post.

SYBARITES IN THE COLD.

Luxury as It Is Indulged In by the Arctic Traders.

So much has been written of the Eskimo ("husky") dogs and dog sleds of the north that they may well be mentioned here if only to show the idea of luxury which many of the factors and traders of the Hudson Bay company entertain. Seated or rather reclining in his cariole, swathed in furs, he is driven by an engage on foot who dashes along at a great pace. The cariole is painted gaudily. There are Russian bells on the collars of each of the long span of dogs, while the harness is a mass of beadwork and tassels.

No longer when he lodges at night at a post does he partake solely of the simpler fare it can furnish, nor even when he camps out in the wilderness must he be content with what his gun can bring down in addition to the pemmican he carries. For now, either under the cariole seat or in an additional sled behind, there is found a good supply of canned meats and vegetables, products of Chicago and Ontario, and, moreover, his driver is his cook. In the open a fire will be deftly kindled, tea will be made, bacon and even eggs will be fried, and hot "flapjacks," that delectable fritter of the bush, half an inch thick and swimming in grease and molasses will tickle the factor's palate.

At night, enveloped in his furs and maybe reposing on a hastily constructed bed of balsam boughs, the last vision before his eyes close upon the scenes of dreamland will be the scintillating splendors of the aurora borealis, whose purpling waves alternate with bars of vivid light so rapidly and in such volume as to make the beholder almost believe that nature speaks, mauger the silence, all penetrating, all pervading—Cornhill Magazine.

The "Picket."

The picket was generally inflicted on cavalry and artillerymen and was a singularly brutal bit of torture. A long post, near which stood a stool, was driven into the ground. The delinquent was ordered to mount the stool, and his right hand was fastened to a hook in the post by a noose, drawn up as high as it could be stretched, round his wrist. A stump the height of the stool, with its end cut to a round and blunt point, was also driven into the earth close to the post. Then the stool was taken away, and the sufferer had nothing to rest his bare feet upon but the stump, "which, though it did not usually break the skin," says Captain Grose, "put him in great torture, his only means of relief being by resting his weight on his wrist, the pain of which soon became intolerable." One can very well believe him, especially when he makes the addition that a man was not infrequently left to stand in this position for half an hour, although the orthodox period of endurance was 15 minutes.—London Graphic.

In Case of Fire.

In case of fire if the burning articles are at once splashed with a solution of salt and nitrate of ammonia an incombustible coating is formed. This is a preparation which can be made at home at a trifling cost and should be kept on hand. Dissolve 20 pounds of common salt and 10 pounds of nitrate of ammonia in 7 gallons of water. Pour this into quart bottles of thin glass, and fire grenades are at hand ready for use. These bottles must be tightly corked and sealed to prevent evaporation, and in case of fire they must be thrown near the flames so as to break and liberate the gas contained. At least two dozen of these bottles should be ready for an emergency.

In this connection it is well to remember that water on burning oil scatters the flame, but that flour will extinguish it. Salt thrown upon a fire if the chimney is burning will help to deaden the blaze.

If a fire once gets under headway, a covering becomes a necessity. A silk handkerchief moistened and wrapped about the mouth and nostrils prevents suffocation from smoke. Failing this, a piece of wet flannel will answer.

Should smoke fill the room, remember that it goes first to the top of the room and then to the floor. Wrap a blanket or woolen garment about you, with the wet cloth over your face, drop on your hands and knees and crawl to the window.

Bear in mind that there is no more danger in getting down from a three story window than from the first floor if you keep a firm hold of the rope or ladder. Do not slide, but go hand over hand.

One of Sothern's Jokes.

That inveterate joker, Sothern the actor, had made an appointment with Toole, the comedian, to dine at a well known London restaurant. The hour of meeting was fixed and Sothern arrived some few minutes before the appointed time. An elderly gentleman was dining at a table at some little distance from that prepared for the two actors. He was reading a newspaper which he had comfortably arranged before him as he was eating his dinner. Sothern walked up to him and striking him a smart blow between the shoulders said:

"Hello, old fellow! Who would have thought of seeing you here? I thought you never"— The assaulted diner turned around angrily, when Sothern exclaimed: "I beg you a thousand pardons, sir. I thought you were an old friend of mine—a family man whom I never expected to see here. I hope you will pardon me."

The old gentleman growled a reply, and Sothern returned to his table, where he was presently joined by Toole, to whom he said:

"See that old boy? I'll bet you half a crown you daren't go and give him a slap on the back and pretend you have mistaken him for a friend."

"Done!" said Toole, and done it was immediately with a result that may be imagined.

How Horses Rest.

"Have you ever noticed," asked a Germantown veterinarian the other day, "that every horse left standing by a curbstone for any length of time invariably turns around so as to place his fore feet on the sidewalk? He always does it if the road on which he is standing slopes the least bit in either direction. This shows that the horse has a great deal of plain, common sense. He will not allow himself to be worn out where it is not necessary. If people only had his wisdom, there would be a great deal less sickness in the world than there is at present. When a thoughtless driver leaves his horse standing on a slope or at an angle of the street, all the animal's weight is thrown upon one side, causing strain, and if left long enough painful exhaustion. Twenty minutes of such an ordeal will fatigue a horse more than a whole day's travel. But when he is able to plant his fore feet on the curbstone it gives him a better plant and adjusts his weight more equably. Many of the muscular ailments from which horses suffer are brought upon them by being continually obliged to stand by the gutter side on streets which slope decidedly. A good driver will always seek to rest his horse on a level when possible."—Philadelphia Record.

Arizona Forests.

Arizona is supposed to be almost an unbroken desert, but in reality it has the largest unbroken pine forest in the United States, covering an area of over 8,000 square miles. This timber is usually found at an altitude of between 5,500 and 7,500 feet. The total quantity of pine timber fit for sawing purposes within the boundaries of the territory amounts to 10,000,000,000 feet, which can supply the needs of a populous state for more than a century.

Highest Cross in the World.

The highest cross in the world is said to be that which caps the loftiest peak of the Harz mountains. The cross is in reality a tower, and it commands a magnificent view of the country around. The height of the tower is 120 feet, and it stands on a mountain 1,731 feet above the sea level. A stair of 200 steps leads to the top of the cross, but there is an elevator of which people may avail themselves who for any reason wish to avoid the long climb.

Earthquakes.

In 1881 the isles of Ischia and Scio suffered terribly from an earthquake, losing about 4,000 to 5,000 people. Ischia was again visited in 1883, but did not get off as easily as before, coming out of the wreck with 10,000 dead and missing. The great calamity of the nineteenth century was the great convulsion in Java in 1883, which is said to have killed not less than 120,000 persons.

Carpets

Are engaging the attention of the average housewife just now.

In buying Carpets, either

Brussels or Ingrains,

You do not want to experiment on untried and inferior makes. You want something that has been tried and found not wanting, such makes as the

Hartfords and Lowells

We carry these reliable makes and you are always safe in buying them.

For Anything in Furniture

Everything for any room in the house, you can best suit yourself at

FRANK CROOK'S

Pretty Wall Paper

Is the Light of the Home.

IT Cheers and Gladdens. Our patterns are the kind that have the light and shades, the tints and colors of the choicest 1901 designs. We control our designs absolutely for this territory. We never have any trouble in pleasing particular people, we're too particular about our buying for that. Our stock never was so complete as this spring. Won't you come in and see what we have

We are prepared to hang all Wall Paper sold from our store.
Both Phones.
265 Broadway.

JAS. M. McDOLE,

No More Gray Hair.

Ladies, do you know you can get the latest transformation Pompadeur which can be used as a covering for gray hair or can take the place of the old fashioned wig?

Made of natural curly hair, only weighs one ounce and a half. Can be made in any style desired to suit face. Hair Switches $1 up, over one hundred to select from

New York Hair Parlor,

174 Sixth Street.

Try a News Review want ad.

New Lumber Yard

J. W. JOHNSTON

Will open one on the South Side on or about

April 15.

He will handle the best lines of Lumber, Building Materials, Doors, Sash, slate roofing, etc.

If you are going to build this summer it will pay you to wait until his yard is opened.

The news while it is new in this paper.